POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

The coal sold by V. W. Nash, Sr., of Park avenue, gives entire satisfaction and the price is quite low.

None of those who have ever entrusted A. E. Hoagland, of Park avenue, with express business regretted it.

George F. Brown, of Somerset street, represents only first class properties. He has many bargains on his list.

Have you a job of carpenter work to be done? Call in M. D. O'Keeffe. A big contract? M. D. O'Keeffe again. West Fourth street.

E. B. Maynard, the North avenue barber, prides himself on the fact that his shop is strictly sanitary. Only first class work done.

If you trade with John A. Koch, the Watchung avenue butcher, you will always get the best fresh and salt meat, sausage as well as poultry.

If you have a touch of a cold and are afraid it will grow on you, take a Turkish bath and sweat it out of you. Brookside Sanitarium, Somerset street.

Expertness and care mark the dyeing and cleaning done by Mary A. Brown, West Second street. Worn and shabby skirts and suits made to look like new.

When you send your clothes to H. W. Marshall's laundry you can depend upon it that they will be washed clean and froned to perfection. No better work is possible.

Too much cannot be said in favor of Marchant Brothers' cream and milk. Richer than rich, and as pure as purity itself. Absolutely fresh eggs; as many as you want.

There is a special savings department at the Plainfield Trust Company. It will pay you to investigate it and learn what it offers you. It will make you feel like saving and like keeping on when you have started.

There is an undiminished volume of business done daily at the Peck store, West Front street, and the business shows no signs of ever diminishing. There is a good reason. You will discover it if you deal there.

COINCIDENCES.

"I wonder whether any one else has discovered that Rudyard Kipling appears to be indebted to Ralph Waldo Emerson for one of the best lines in his 'Recessional?' The resemblance is, at any rate, very remarkable. Kipling writes:

Beneath whose awful hand we hold
Dominion over palm and pine.

"The following is a couplet from Emerson's 'Wood Notes:'

And grant to dwellers with the pine
Dominion o'er the palm and vine."

The City Temple can, or at any rate could until recently, claim a curious ornithological connection. A correspondent writes: "A pew was rented by three persons; at one end was Miss Wren, at the other end Mr. Nightingale, and in the centre a family of Robins.

"I wonder, with you, why these coincidences run chiefly to birds," says a correspondent. "I remember a household in Clifton in which there were in domestic service Mrs. Pidgeon (cook), Mrs. Partridge (lady's maid), and Mrs. Hawke (charwoman). But that is trifling compared to the case of the old Congregational chapel ta Faversham, where the Rev. H. J. Rook used to officiate. Sparrow and Cuckoo were the names of two of the deacons in his time; Mrs. Martin was the chapel keeper; Mr. Lark, Miss Crow and Miss Nightingale were members of the congregation, and the chapel was, and is, situated in Partridge Lane."

Inland Revenue writes: "It may interest you to hear that on our lists of publicans for the county of Oxford there appeared some years ago the names of Samuel Johnson and James Boswell consecutively." — London News.

Falling Tree Breaks Wires.

The Misses Snyder, of Bound Brook, have been the guests of friends in this city for a short time.

Jesse H. Lounsbury, of Plainfield avenue, who is detained at home with an attack of scarlet fever, is much improved.

REAL ESTATE AS A BUSINESS.

BY WM. JEFFERY.

The real estate business is unlike other kinds of business, in that it requires not merely ordinary business training, but a knowledge of matters which appertain specially to that business. A real estate agent should know not only what sales have been made that tend to fix prices, but what negotiations there have been. Not only must he judge of what land and houses are worth today; but he must be a good judge of what increase there will likely be in the value of the land, so that his client may profit by the labor of others. He should thoroughly understand the equitable adjustment of the many differences that arise between buyer and seller, giving each a "square deal." He should see that his customers when buying property get what legally belongs to them; and that when selling property they do not part with more than they know they are selling. He should realize thoroughly the importance of not tangling titles and know how to avoid doing so.

The real estate agent should know from practice how to draw all forms of contracts, deeds, bonds and mortgages, assignments of mortgages, leases, liens, etc., dates when taxes, water rates and assessments come due, and he should always advise the purchaser to have the titles searched by some competent lawyer or title company.

No one would take a horse to a jeweler to be shod or a watch to a druggist to be repaired; and yet some people think that any one can attend to the vastly more important matter of the purchase or sale of real estate.

An illustration of the effect of oversight is related in Wednesday's New York Times. A widow in Rochester, Ind., rented a property for a term of years and forgot to reserve the right of entrance through a hallway to rooms she retained upstairs. She had to pass through the tenant's parlors to get to the stairs. He therefore protested and later served her with a trespass notice, and she and her son now have to climb a ladder to the roof and enter through the attic.

To the person who has never bought property or been "stuck" all real estate men look alike; but, as the widow discovered, there is a wide difference between the agent who gives a real service and the agent who merely makes a commission.

At the closing of a title, the seller should exhibit his receipt for taxes and arrears of taxes and assessments, if any. He should produce his fire insurance policy covering the improvements, if there is a mortgage on the property the holder of the mortgage should have the original policy and the buyer should receive a duplicate of it, allowances for the permiums should be calculated, and upon the closing of the title the new owner's name should be substituted for the old owner's name on both policies. When there is a mortgage on the property, receipts for the last payments of interest should be submitted.

In case of tenancy an assignment of the rents to the new owner should be obtained in writing. An assignment of the lease should also be made and the rents pro-rated. Where no lease exists, then, at the option of the buyer, the seller should put the buyer in possession at the closing of the title, or guarantee to do so unless this point is waived.

Remember, that after the title is closed the buyer has recourse only to such warranty as is definitely recited in the deed. A bargain and sale deed gives no redress whatever. A quit-claim deed conveys nothing; it only shows that some one who is not the owner relinquishes some real or alleged claim against the property.

Finally, those who purchase should remember that a "sufficient" title is not enough. Accept only one that is absolutely clear except for such encumbrances as are recited in detail and of which the purchaser has already been informed and may assume and agree to pay as part of the purchase price.

It takes a good many years of study and experience to develop a first class real estate agent, so he can earn money for himself and get money for his client.

NEW PROVIDENCE VAMPS WORK DURING THE NIGHT TO BUILD A NEW FIREHOUSE

New Providence, Jan. 15.—Can $300 build a firehouse? This was the question that was asked when a little over a month ago the Borough Council appropriated that amount for the construction of a building for the use of the fire company. This question did not seem to perplex the firemen, however, who immediately called a meeting and decided to begin work with that small amount in their treasury. They also decided to lay the foundation themselves, and, night after night, any one passing Springfield avenue and South street might notice in a vacant lot nearby a bonfire and some lights. On closer inspection he would see men with shovels and picks working industriously. They were digging a trench twenty-five feet by fifty feet and about two feet deep. In this way they laid a solid cement foundation extending about a foot above the ground. The space inclosed was filled with cracked stone up to the level of the cement wall and a foundation strong enough for a five-story building was completed with little or no expense. George Ronerts, a contractor from Paterson, has drawn up plans for the building, which, if carried out, will give to the borough a substantial two-story firehouse at a moderate cost. The lower story will be used for the storage of the company's apparatus, while the upper story will be a clubroom for the firemen.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, will meet tonight and install the officers-elect.

Mariola Lodge, No. 9, Knights of Pythias, of Woodbury, has unanimously voted to surrender its charter. The lodge is one of the oldest in the city, having been instituted April 2, 1868. Thousands of dollars have been expended in aid of its members, and at one time Mariola was one of the wealthiest lodges in South Jersey, but there were heavy drains on the treasury and the membership diminished until the steps of the past week were taken. It is understood that steps are being taken towards the organization of another K. of P. lodge at Woodbury by a younger element.

It is expected that several persons will present themselves for membership at the mid-week prayer meeting of the First Baptist church Wednesday night.

The first of a series of three entertainments will be given in the Sunday-school room of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow night under the auspices of the Young People's Society. Miss Ellen Bowick, an English monologist, will present the programme.

NARROWLY ESCAPED DROWNING

Seven Young Men and Women Break Through Ice at South Plainfield.

Seven young men and women from this city, who were skating on Spring Lake, South Plainfield, Saturday night, narrowly escaped drowning, through the ice breaking. The group accidentally met on a part of the lake where the ice was in a dangerous condition and it gave way beneath their weight.

They were about thirty feet from shore at the time, but the water at that point was over their heads, and all seven were submerged. The young men proved themselves heroes by retaining their presence of mind and holding the young women up. By degrees all seven managed to reach the shore, although greatly exhausted.

A chill East wind was blowing at the time and all seven contracted colds before reaching home, otherwise there were no serious consequences.

EASY ON C. E. REED.

Former Rahway Tax Collector Settles for Shortage.

The case of the City of Rahway against Charles E. Reed, former tax collector of that place, has gone over for the present term of court. Mr. Reed recently paid over a check for $5,140 to cover any shortage that might appear in the accounts of the collector while he held the office, but there were strings attached to it to the effect that if the auditor should discover the accounts to be in Mr. Reed's favor, the difference was to be returned to him.

This morning all rights were waived by Mr. Reed and it is understood that he has permitted his check to go through to cover the shortage found in the accounts. At any rate it is believed that the case is settled and will not be re-opened.

HIT WRONG WOMAN.

Mrs. Suydam Makes Statement That Straightens Out Assault Case.

Mrs. George Suydam terminated her own trial for assaulting Mrs. John V. Taylor, on Pond place two weeks ago, in the city court this morning, by stating that she hit the wrong woman. The assault was brought on by Mrs. Suydam's suspicions that her husband was interested in another woman. She informed Judge Runyon as soon as court opened that she had learned since the trial began that Mrs. Taylor was not the woman she took her for.

Judge Runyon fined her $8 or twenty days. She paid the fine.

Asks $500 to Catch Alleged Defaulter

Freehold, Jan. 15.—Prosecutor Nevius has requested the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Monmouth county to offer a reward of $500 for the arrest of Benjamin B. Ogden, of Keyport, the alleged defaulter, whose whereabouts since September, 1903, are unknown. Prosecutor Nevius says he is in communication with certain people who claim that they know of Mr. Ogden's whereabouts, and for $500 will deliver him over to the county authorities. They will not undertake to effect Mr. Ogden's arrest, they assert, as it will necessitate the expenditure of considerable money to reach him. The Board of Freeholders has taken no action on the matter, and it is understood that they have no authority to offer a reward merely for the arrest of a person, as the person with whom Prosecutor Nevius is in communication demands.

Cut Through Horse's Kick.

Morris Geary, a farmer, of South Plainfield, rubbed his horse down with liniment last night. The horse kicked the bottle in his hand, and the glass cut two fingers so severely that he had to have them dressed at the hospital.

INJURED WOMAN SETTLES FOR $15 AND MAY BE HURT PERMANENTLY.

Through activity on the part of its claim agent, the Public Service Corporation has probably saved itself being made defendant in another damage suit which might have been brought by a former local resident.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Eugene Reid, of Dunellen, who was formerly Miss Mary Honan, of West Fourth street, this city, fell from a trolley through the conductor's negligence, and was badly hurt. She was taken hom and a physician attached to the company's staff arrived soon after and made an examination. He informed her relatives that the injuries were only slight and that she would recover within a few days. His statement was accepted and when the claim agent arrived and offered $15 in settlement the amount was accepted. Mrs. Reid signed a paper that she would not bring suit, believing that she was merely bruised.

Since then her injuries have manifested themselves and there is a possibility that they are of a permanent nature. She is now confined to her bed and is being attended by her regular physician.

Appellate Court is Deliberate.

Trenton, Jan. 15.—Judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals have been here during the last few days in a more or less disturbed mental condition. It seems the court has been in conference, but when the judges met it has been found that somehow or some way there have been absentees who made the sessions ineffective. "One would imagine that the court was desirous of producing the impression that amendments to the constitution were necessary at once, to prevent a congestion of business," said a lawyer here this morning. "The fact is, if everybody in the court attended all the conferences there would be few of the dalys which now cause complaint." The law judges of the court are anxious to have an independent Court of Appeals, without lay judges, and seem to be willing to have the impression go abroad that the court is unable to cope with the business before it.

Damage Along Coast.

Sandy Hook, Jan. 15.—Unusually high tide and the storm of Saturday night did more damage along the New Jersey coast than has occurred in two years before. Two hundred feet of the Central Railroad's track at Highland Beach is gone.

C. D. Taylor, of Dunellen, well known as manager of Taylor's hotel, is seriously ill at Muhlenberg Hospital.

ROSELLE EXPRESS JUMPS THE TRACK

PLAINFIELD ENGINEER SAVED HIS LIFE BY JUMPING.

Passengers on the Roselle express of the Central Railroad of New Jersey were thrown into a panic last night when a spreading rail overturned the engine and one of the cars at Elizabethport. Charles Foster, of this city, the engine driver, saved his life by jumping to the ground, and Thomas Cavanagh, of Elizabethport, the fireman, was hurled from the tender into a bank of mud and escaped injury.

Men, women and children crowded the two cars which made up the train when it left Roselle. The train was due at the Elizabethport station at five minutes to eight o'clock, and five minutes earlier, when it was on the Broadway division, near Division street, the accident accurred.

Panic and confusion started in the cars, the passengers attempting to climb out of windows. The engine was thrown over on one side and the first car toppled partly over. The rear car held the rails and trainmen applied the brakes promptly and brought it and other other one to a stop.

Reports that a disastrous wreck had occurred brought ambulances from two hospitals in Elizabeth. Physicians found, however, that none on the train was seriously injured, though many of the women suffered from shock and fright.

NO HALL LARGE ENOUGH FOR BOARD OF TRADE DINNER.

Only Half the Members Can Attend the Banquet at Newark—The Board's Activity.

Late Saturday afternoon the table arrangements were completed for the annual dinner of the Newark Board of Trade, which is to be held in the New Auditorium in Orange street, Newark, Thursday night. More than five hundred tickets have been taken and it is not likely that another person can be accommodated with one. The seating capacity of the big hall for the purposes of a dinner will be taxed to the utmost, even after the most careful planning, with a view to economizing in space.

At the main guests table, with the president of the board, Dr. Samuel Robertson, will be seated the speakers of the evening. They will be United States Senator Charles Dick, of Akron, Ohio; United States Senator John F. Dryden, of Newark; Congressman Charles A. Towne, of New York, and Governor Edward C. Stokes, of New Jersey.

At the annual meeting of the Board last Wednesday night reports were made by the board of directors and several committees, all of which tended to show the great activity of the board in many fields and its wide and growing influence. It has today 953 members. The new officers were installed.

Public Service Happy.

The directors of the Public Service Company at a meeting last week authorized the officers of the company to prepare and make public a statement of the company's finances for the last year. The figures are understood to show a handsome increase in receipts of all kinds and a comparatively small advance in expenditures. The gas and electric light companies are understood to have increased their profits materially, while the trolley company is approaching a profitable basis. The net revenue for the last three months of the Public Service Company is said to have approached $300,000. President McCarter was asked last night if the statement had been prepared, but said it had not and he could not say when it would be. All the officers of the company were out of town yesterday.

Marshal Field Near Death.

The family of Marshall Field, the Chicago merchant who is ill of pneumania at the Holland House, New York, gathered at his bedside early this morning, for the end was momentarily expected. The physicians in attendance and the family have given up all hopes of the patient's recovery. This bulletin was issued at 9 o'clock this morning by Drs. Janeway and Billings: "Near the end of the seventh day of his illness Mr. Field's condition is critical. There is yet no improvement."

Patrick's Last Plea.

Albert T. Patrick may know tonight whether he will die in the electric chair or whether the Governor has heeded his appeals for mercy, for today comes the last step in the long legal fight that has been waged on behalf of the condemned man—the hearing before the Governor of those who protest against the execution of the death sentence. Denial of the appeal means the carrying out of the death sentence just after midnight on January 21.

Envoy Recalled.

Paris, Jan. 15.—The Foreign Office declares that the statement that the diplomatic relations between France and Venezeula have been severed is premature. M. Taigny, the French Charge d'Affairs, remains at Caracas. A rupture, however, is imminent. There is reason to believe that orders recalling M. Taigny have been sent.

HE PREDICTS "OPEN DOOR"

Dr. Bostwick Just Back From Morocco Talks Entertainingly of That Country.

A CONFERENCE IS ON

From the land of sunshine, flowers and a delightful climate to that of mid-winter, and a poor specimen at that, Dr. Frank Brown Bostwick arrived in Plainfield yesterday from Algeciras, Morocco, just at a time when the eyes of the world are centered on his home, in view of the Moroccan conference, which opens there today and which will settle the question of the "open door" for Germany. Dr. Bostwick has come to Plainfield to prepare for his marriage to Miss May Eoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Eoff, of Crescent avenue, which takes place on January 23.

Dr. Bostwick is a native of Ohio, a graduate of the dental department of the University of Pennsylvania, class '02, and has been practicing dentistry in Gibraltar and Morocco for four years. For a time he was a dentist at the Court of Madrid, and in his profession he has met nearly all of the notables.

When seen by a reported for The Daily Press last night the doctor was found to be very willing to talk about affairs in his interesting country. In his opinion, Germany will triumph in her contention for the "open door" in Morocco, for he says that it is recognized that once France gets control of affairs it will virtually be a "closed door," and the natives are against this. When the doctor left home he says that elaborate preparations were being made for the conference, the city hall being practically refurnished with carpets and furniture for the occasion.

When questioned as to Morocco, the doctor painted a glowing picture. He described it as one of the most fertile countries upon which the sun shines. He thought that aside from the influence exerted by others, the Sultan was very fair and not half as bad as described. "The trouble is," said the doctor, "he wants to modernize Morocco too fast and the natives object seriously. It is his wish that his country keep apace of others in the way of improvements, and his people will not stand for it. His power is absolute as to the enforcement of laws and in this respect he rules with an iron hand."

Referring to internal affairs in Spain, Dr. Bostwick said that it would not be surprising to hear that King Alfonso had been invited to leave his throne and the government turned over to the militia. He said that before he sailed there was strong intimation of this, not that the King himself is unpopular, but that the people do not like those about him. He declared that the King is a much-abused person and that it has been his aim to give his people a government that will please them.

The doctor was very pronounced in his declaration about the men who represent this country in Spain as consuls, and told of the contempt that a majority of the people have for them. They think that they should be representative of the American citizen, and when these consuls allow their freedom to exceed good manners, the natives are disgusted. Dr. Bostwick communicated with the State Department about the action of a consul general, and he was informed that if he would give details it might be investigated. He let the matter drop, although the representative's action was the talk of the community in which he lived.

The doctor gave an interesting description of Gibraltar, its strong fortifications and of the peculiar military rules governing it. Unless a special permit is obtained no outsider can remain within the fort after 7 o'clock at night, and, in fact, a permit has to be secured to visit the place from day to day.

The future home of Dr. Bostwick and his bride will be at Algeciras, where he has a delightful residence. They will arrive there early in February. Sometime ago Miss Eoff, accompanied by a party of friends from Boston, took a trip abroad and visited Gibraltar and her future home at Algeciras. Therefore, the country will not be strange to her. She becomes very enthusiastic when telling of the country and its peculiar customs and says that there is always something novel and attractive to interest one.

Justice Hand's Case Adjourned.

The case of Hezekiah Hand against M. J. Ginsburg, set down for trial in the Supreme Court yesterday, was adjourned to February 14, owing to the illness of the defendant. At that time the case will be tried before Judge Vail, without a jury. William Newcorn represents the plaintiff.

SAW NEGRO PICK UP MONEY HE DROPPED IN TROLLEY CAR.

James Derry, a Westfield negro, nearly got away with $50 belonging to Alfred Snowden, of this city, on a westbound main line trolley car last night. His failure to succeed will cost him thirty days of liberty.

Snowden and Derry were sitting side by side in the car, which was due at the Watchung avenue depot at 8:45. Near this city Snowden put his hand in his trousers pocket to get some change and pulled out a roll of bills amounting to $50. The money fell to the floor and Derry fastened his eye on it. Apparently he was the only one who did notice it. A minute later he stooped and picked it up.

The movement undid Derry, the covetous. Snowden saw it and the suspicion that the negro was picking up something he had dropped flashed into his mind. While Derry was hurrying down the car aisle Snowden thrust his hand in his pocket and discovered the absence of the bills. Then he got up and chased very rapidly after the negro. He caught Derry just as he swung off the car. The negro protested his ignorance, but didn't put up a fight. Snowden clung to him with an unbreakable grip, and when the car reached this city he took him to police headquarters. As soon as Sergeant Frederickson heard the story he had Derry searched. The roll was found in an inside pocket.

He was arraigned before Judge Runyon this morning under a charge of disorderly conduct. The magistrate made it thirty days straight.

D. A. R. WILL CELEBRATE BATTLE ANNIVERSARY

ANNUAL MEETING OF LOCAL CHAPTER AT MRS. D. P. HALL'S HOUSE.

Continental Chapter, D. A. R., held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. P. Hall, Madison avenue. The session was postponed from last fall.

Officers were elected as follows: Regent, Mrs. D. P. Hall; first vice regent, Miss Mary Brown; second vice regent, Mrs. D. H. Rowland; registrar, Mrs. Addie Dietrich; secretary, Mrs. N. W. Currie; treasurer, Mrs. F. H. Andrews; board, Mrs. Charles McCutchen, Miss Sarah Manning, Miss Harriet Manning and Mrs. C. P. Leggett.

The following candidates for State office were endorsed: Regent, Mrs. Ellen Mecum, of Salem; vice regent, Mrs. Gaylord Putnam, of Elizabeth; vice president general, representative of the State in the national body, Mrs. Kearfoot, of Montclair.

Mrs. Hall was designated as the delegate to the Continental Congress at Washington, D. C., April 16. Mrs. Rowland, Mrs. J. G. Foster and Miss Dietrich were named as alternates.

The chapter decided to mark the anniversary of the Battle of Lexington with an entertainment after Easter. The proceeds of the affair will be applied to the fund for the erection of a monument at Washington Rock.

In accordance with an annual custom, the chapter will offer a prize for an essay on an American historical subject to the High School pupils. The competition this year may be extended to the borough High School, with two prizes.

MAYOR'S FATHER-IN-LAW BREAKS LEG BY FALL.

John Becker, Aged 78, Badly Hurt at N. B. Smalley's Home.

John Becker, aged seventy-eight years, fell on the back cellar steps at the home of his son-in-law, Mayor Newton B. Smalley, in Mercer avenue, at 6 o'clock last night, breaking his right leg and sustaining severe bruises. He was carried up to his room by the mayor, who summoned Drs. Carmen and Pittis.

The broken bones were set and the injured man is resting quietly. The attending physicians believe that owing to his advanced age he will never fully recover the use of the leg.

Mayor Smalley heard the noise of the fall and at first believed that Mr. Becker had fallen out of a rear second story window. Owing to his condition, the injured man was not questioned as to the cause. It is believed now that he slipped and fell while closing the cellar door.

Senior Class Play.

The committee from the senior class of the High School is considering the advisability of giving as its annual play, "The Taming of the Shrew." A meeting will be held within a few days to decide the matter.

PERKINS BILL PRESENTED

An Equal Taxation Measure Popped into Legislature by Union Co. Assemblyman.

LOCAL OPTION PLAN

Assmblyman Miller Sponsor for Referendum License Proposition—Nominations Made by Governor.

The big batch of bills predicted came last night at Trenton, and when the rush was over there was a sigh of relief in both houses of the Legislature, and adjournment until today hurriedly followed.

It was a bleak, stormy night, yet the galleries of the House were well filled. There was a strong impression that the fight over Martin's resolution to amned the House rules so that measures could not be held beyond four weeks, except by special resolution, would be resumed, but this turned out to be a mistake. Mr. Perkins was not ready to fight such a popular resolution. So the matter comes before the Committee on Rules at a special meeting tomorrow morning.

Mr. Perkins offered a resolution that advance calendars should be prepared each day telling the members the condition of bills, etc., for the day, a sort of bulletin of events. Then he moved that the motion he referred to the Committee on Rules, and presumably it will be considered with the Martin motion.

The first bill popped into the House was by Perkins. It was a bill regarding equal taxation, and it was said by some to be inspired by the Governor, but this was denied. While it follows the Governor's message to a large extent, it does not provide for the method of distribution. It computes what is called an average rate of taxation, and leaves the way in which the proceeds of the tax shall be divided up to the provisions of what is known as the Stokes act. It was referred to the Committee on Judiciary, of which Perkins is chairman. The same reference was made when Martin followed with his taxation measures.

In addition to these bills Mr. Martin put in a limited franchise bill, one on the taxation of public corporations, one on the incorporation of street railways, one on safe grade crossings and one amending the Railroad acts of 1896 and 1903.

Besides Mr. Martin's ten bills, he introduced two joint resolutions, the one for the appointment of an insurance investigation committee and one arranging for the expression by the voters of their choice for United States Senators.

Assemblyman Miller, of Cumberland, introduced the local option bill as was predicted. The bill provides that when 30 per cent. of the legal voters of a town or city petition the judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the holding of a special election to ascertain whether license or no license shall prevail, he shall order an election, to be held at least sixty days before or after the holding of a regular or general election. After such election is held, no other on that subject shall be held for two years. Mr. Miller introduced the bill at the request of the Anti-Saloon League.

Mr. Berg, of Hudson, put in the old quo warranto bill enabling Jersey City to carry the trolley cases to the courts without the consent of the Attorney General, and also a bill abolishing hanging as a death penalty.

Mr. Cruther put in a bill to incorporate the borough of Roosevelt, in Middlesex county. Mr. Mareli got a measure that permits municipal ownership of electric light plants, while Mr. Wright, of Passaic, introduced one providing for the establishment of schools of detention.

In the Senate everybody gave way to Senator Jackson, and he introduced what will be the salary bill in place of all other measures talked of for the abolishment of fees. The bill makes the salary scale for county clerks as follows: Cities of 150,000 to 200,000, $6,500 a year; cities of 100,000, to 150,000, $6,000 a year; 75,000 to 100,000, $4,500; 50,000 to 75,000, $3,500; 25,000 to 50,000, $2,000. Places of less population, $1,500 a year.

Francis S. Lloyd, chief of the new department established by the railroads for the promotion of their interests, opened headquarters last night at the Hotel Sterling, Trenton. Thomas Hulme, the expert railroad statistician, who took charge of the tax bill for the roads last year, will render assistance again this year.

The Governor sent the following nominations to the Senate last night, all of which were referred: Robert H. Ingersoll, district judge for Atlantic City, reappointment; Jay Teneyck, president judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Essex county; James B. Dill, judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals for the full term, to suc-

MR. FISK NOW CHAIRMAN

Former Mayor Chosen as Head of the Republican City Executive Committee.

DR. JENKINS RETIRES

Two Additional Members From Each Election District Provided For —John W. Murray, Jr., Resigns.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk was elected chairman of the City Republican Executive Committee, last night. Dr. O. L. Jenkins has held this position for five years and now retires.

The meeting was called by William Newcorn, who acted as temporary secretary and F. H. Smith was made temporary chairman. In the re-organization of the committee these officers were chosen: Chairman, Charles J. Fisk; vice chairman, Dr. O. L. Jenkins; secretary and treasurer, William Newcorn.

The resignation of John W. Murray, Jr., as a member was accepted. A resolution was passed adopting the constitution and bylaws under which the old committee worked.

Another resolution was adopted changing a section and providing for two additional members from each election district, making an increase of eighteen members or a total of thirty. The names of the new members will be announced at the meeting to be held Tuesday night, February 6.

The secretary was authorized to draft suitable resolutions to be presented to Dr. Jenkins, showing the appreciation of the committee for his faithful work during the five years he was chairman. Action on these resolutions will be taken at the next meeting.

WANT THE THEATRE CLOSED ON SATURDAYS

SEVERAL MERCHANTS SAY IT HURTS THEIR BUSINESS.

Several merchants have interested themselves in a plan to increase their business on Saturday afternoons and nights. They claim that since the new theatre has opened its doors, their Saturday trade has fallen off, and to restore it is the object they seek.

A representative of one of the largest retail stores in the city said today that a petition to Manager Counihan would be made by a number of merchants. They want him to close up on Saturday so that they can make more money.

It is extremely unlikely that the New Plainfield theatre's management would pay any attention to such a request. The Saturday business at this, as at all other playhouses, is the best of the week. Manager Counihan, like all other managers, depends upon the receipts of the last day of the week to defray most of his expenses.

The merchants say that at least 1,000 people who formerly shopped Saturday nights spend that time now at the theatre.

FIGHTING FOR $10,000 FOR HER SON'S DEATH

DUNELLEN WOMAN'S SUIT AGAINST CENTRAL ROAD ON TRIAL TODAY.

The last case for the term to be tried before Judge Fort in the Supreme Court, Elizabeth, is that of Mrs. Mary Schwalbach, of Dunellen, against the New Jersey Central, which was called this morning. Mrs. Schwalbach sues the defendant company for $10,000 for the loss of her son, Henry Schwalbach, who was killed at the Dunellen round-house on February 19, 1905. She is a widow and he was her only support.

The dead man was one of four employed at the round-house and on February 19, an engine in backing into the house, struck a pier which collapsed and buried Schwalbach. His life was crushed out.

The plaintiff is represented by William C. Gebhardt, and the company by R. V. Lindabury. The case wil occupy all of today and part of tomorrow.

At Home for Fiancee.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. William Barlow, Miss Barlow and Miss Maude Chandler for an at home on Saturday, January 27, from 4 until 6 o'clock at their residence, 40 Prospect place. Miss Chandler is the fiancee of Charles Barlow, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Barlow.

DENIAL FOR SHOEMAKER

HAD NO CERTIFICATES

Promoter Told The Press by Telephone This Morning That It Could Get a Statement from Mrs. Shoemaker.

A story published from the New York World yesterday, referring to the alleged complicity of "W. A. Shoemaker, an attorney disbarred in Philadelphia nine years ago," in the Norfolk & Western stock forgery case, called forth a telephone message to The Daily Press from William A. Shoemaker, of Berkley avenue, this morning.

"I suppose you are aware by this time," said Mr. Shoemaker, "that the story in your paper yesterday, evidently taken from the World, is not true. You may see my wife this morning and get the whole truth so far as I am concerned."

A reporter did see Mrs. Shoemaker at the Berkley avenue house. She made a very complete denial of everything alleged or intimated, so far as the stock swindle was concerned, in the World article.

"My husband did not tell me to make a statement," she said, "but I know that the story published about him is not true, and I know his side of the whole thing from what he has said.

"Mr. Shoemaker was never disbarred, he never saw one of the forged Norfolk & Western certificates, and there are no warrants out for him. He called up the district attorney's office in New York yesterday, and they told him that they had no warrant for his arrest, and had not connected him with the case. They said it was all a newspaper affair."

The reporter called Mrs. Shoemaker's attention to an article in the Herald of this morning, which asserts that Mr. Shoemaker promised to go to the district attorney's office, but did not do so.

"When Mr. Shoemaker called up the district attorney," explained Mrs. Shoemaker, "Mr. Jerome was not in, and neither was the man next in authority. The office did not appear to care at all whether he came and he thought it better to wait until someone in real authority was on hand.

"Mr. Shoemaker denies positively that he ever went into Baird's office with Mr. Humphries to sell a Norfolk & Western certificate. He never owned one of the certificates and never even saw one. Some months ago —about ten months, I think—Mr. Shoemaker did sell some old bonds of the Norfolk & Western Railway, but he sold them for what they were. Anybody can sell old bonds or stocks, if they sell them for what they are. Mr. Shoemaker got his bonds from a man named Smith, who handles such things—R. W. Smith, I think it is—and he holds receipts for them.

"Mr. Shoemaker told me last night that Mr. Humphries had denied the World article. He saw Humphries' lawyer, Mr. Zeigler, and the latter said Humphries declared yesterday, in his presence and that of others, that Mr. Shoemaker was innocent. These are the words Humphries used, Mr. Shoemaker says:

"'Did you see what they say in the World about Shoemaker? It's outrageous. Shoemaker is just as innocent a man, Mr. Zeigler, as you are.'

"My husband has no idea how his name came to be connected with the case. He called up the World yesterday and a reporter told him that he had been taking care of the Seton case, but didn't write the article about Mr. Shoemaker. Another reporter brought that in. I suppose it was one of those crazy reporters you don't care about who never gets anything straight. I think it is just shameful the way such things are done. I just wish we had a censor for newspapers like they have in Europe. My husband wants a retraction of that article from every paper that used it, and he intends to get it."

"You say your husband was not disbarred?" asked the reporter.

"Yes; he was never disbarred."

"He was counsel for H. H. Holmes, the murderer, in Philadelphia, wasn't he?"

"Yes.'"

"Didn't District Attorney Graham move his disbarment?"

"Yes, he did; but my husband was not disbarred. He was suspended for one year. There is a great difference between disbarment and suspension.

"He was reinstated at the end of the year, and practiced law in Philadelphia after that for three or four years. He gave up his practice not because, of that matter, but because of his health. He has always been delicate and couldn't stand the strain. He spoke of giving up the law before the Holmes case. Mr.

APOPLEXY FATAL TO JAMES DEGRAW

BROTHER OF CHARLES DEGRAW DEAD AFTER TWO DAYS ILLNESS.

James DeGraw died early this morning, following a stroke of apoplexy late Saturday night. Prior to that time he was enjoying good health. He retired to his room about 10:30 o'clock Saturday night and fifteen minutes later was found in an unconscious condition by his brother, Charles DeGraw.

Mr. DeGraw was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus DeGraw. He was born at New Brunswick sixty-seven years ago. His father died here about ten years ago, and his mother is still living. Mr. DeGraw lived with his parents in New Brunswick for several years, where his father was proprietor of the Whitehall Hotel for a long time. About thirty-five years ago the family moved to Plainfield, where the father engaged in the mineral water business on West Second street. James was also employed in this business, selling mineral water throughout the section.

Later, when his father retired, James engaged in the restaurant and candy business, first on Front street, opposite Park avenue, and then on Park avenue. After that he lived in retirement.

Mr. DeGraw is survived by his mother and two brothers, Charles DeGraw, of the firm of Putnam & DeGraw, of West Front street; Edward DeGraw, of Philadelphia, and one sister, Mrs. A. D. Cook, of West Seventh street.

The funeral services will be held from the home of Mr. DeGraw's sister, Mrs. A. D. Cook, in East Seventh street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and will be private. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church, will officiate and the interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

STRUCK BY EXPRESS; APPARENTLY UNINJURED

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE OF ALDENE MAN AT CRANFORD CROSSING.

Struck by a Royal Blue Line express at Mix's Crossing, near Cranford, yesterday afternoon, James Sonning, of Aldene, apparently suffered no more harm than a few bruises. He was hurled twenty feet in the air and landed at the foot of an embankment in a confused heap, but was quickly on his feet.

The train left New York at 2:45 and was bowling along at full speed near Cranford, when the engineer noticed a man directly ahead of him on the track. He blew the whistle and reversed the brakes, but the fellow appeared to be totally unconscious of his danger. The cylinder head on the right side hit him squarely and to all appearance he was killed.

The express was stopped and the crew rushed back expecting to find a corpse, but instead they found Sonning bemoaning the loss of his pipe. He was taken to his home and unless internal injuries develop, he will be all right within a few days.

Passengers who went to Sonning's assistance state that he was intoxicated and that he did not realize that he was on the track.

CANEPARO FINED AGAIN

ASSAULTED D. DEMOLLI

Arraigned in the borough police court last night for the third time within a few months, Joseph Caneparo, who keeps a delicatessen store on Somerset street, was not only fined by Mayor Smalley, but was given a verbal raking over that made cold perspiration stand out on his brow.

He was haled before the magistrate on complaint of David Demolli, the caterer, who charged him with disorderly conduct and assault. Lawyer Fred J. Huff made an eloquent plea for the prisoner and probably saved him from going to jail, as the Mayor let him off with a $10 fine and the scathing lecture.

Caneparo and Demolli have been exchanging business courtesies in the way of lending money and materials and Saturday night Demolli called at Caneparo's store for some dishes that belonged to him.

"Say," said Caneparo, "when are you going to pay me that $15 I loaned you?"

"If you'll settle up that bill I sent you a few days ago," replied Demolli, "I guess you'll find I don't owe you anything."

A hot argument followed and both were raking up each other's past history and telling what they knew about one another when Caneparo lost all reason. He seized a heavy butcher's steel and brandishing it about his head yelled to Demolli to "clear out." Before the caterer could take the hint and vacate the steel was brought down on the back of his cranium with force enough to make him think the Fourth of July had arrived. He had a friend with him named Joseph Milam and the latter shoved Caneparo back until Demolli could collect his scattered senses and adjourn to the sidewalk.

Caneparo admitted the truth of Demolli's testimony when brought into court, and through his counsel declared his hot temper had gotten the better of him. He handed up the fine as soon as it was imposed and promised that he would try to curb himself. The first time he was arrested he was fined $10 by Recorder Doud and about a month ago he contributed $27 to the borough treasury for selling liquor illegally.

"Now remember," called Mayor Smalley as Caneparo started to go out, "high fines have been the rule in the borough, and we're going to leave it that way; be a wise man and profit accordingly."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AS CHURCH TREASURER

W. F. ARNOLD RESIGNS AFTER LONG AND FAITHFUL SERVICE.

Under the laws of 1905 governing the Presbyterian churches, all trustees of that church were legislated out of office the first of the year and others had to be re-elected on a basis of three or a multiple of three. This rule, in common with others, affected the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, where the number was seven.

A meeting of the re-election of trustees was held last night, Charles F. Abbott presiding. These trustees were chosen: One year, Townsend Rushmore, William A. Garrigues; two years, H. G. Runkle, James W. DeGraff; three years, Charles F. Abbott, Joseph W. Sandford.

By the declination of George H. Strong, Ernest R. Ackerman and William F. Arnold to serve longer as trustees, a change will be necessary in the treasuership. It is likely that Joseph W. Sandford will be elected to that office.

Mr. Arnold has served the church as trustee for twenty-seven years and twenty-five years as treasurer. Owing to this long service and upon the advice of his physician, he decided to retire. A resolution offered by E. H. Ladd, Jr., expressed the appreciation of the board of trustees for Mr. Arnold's lang and faithful services.

An auditing committee, comprising Stuart H. Patterson, H. C. Munger and George H. Goddard, was also elected to serve for the coming year.

Horace Cunningham Dead.

Horace Cunningham, formerly of this city, died at Readville, Mass., on Sunday, in the eightieth year of his age. Funeral services will be held from the residence of his nephew, 351 Marlborough street, Boston, tomorrow morning at 11:30.

FORMER PASTOR OF GRACE M. E. CHURCH FAVORS MORE STRINGENT MARRIAGE LAWS

Hoboken, Jan. 16—"Marriage laws in New Jersey, and, in fact, throughout the entire country, are entirely too lax, and I am heartily in favor of new ones being enacted if it is seen that they are more carefully prepared than those now in force."

This statement was made by Rev. H. F. Randolph, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, of Hoboken, and formerly pastor of Grace M. E. church, North Plainfield, when he was asked what he knew of a movement among the clergymen of New Jersey to have the law repealed which makes it necessary for non-residents of New Jersey to procure licenses in order to be married in this State.

A clergyman, who asked that his name be not used, stated that in the opinion of the majority of the New Jersey clergy the present law making it necessary to procure a license was passed to satisfy the men who were affected when racing in this State was abolished, and that the law is not good in many ways.

Rev. Mr. Randolph said that he had not heard of the starting of such a movement, but that he was of the opinion personally that the law was bad and should be changed.

"I do not care about the matter of fees, but the law is not a fair one and if I could have my way it would not only be necessary for marriage licenses to be procured by persons living without the State, but also everyone who desired to be married, whether they lived in New Jersey or not," he added.

WISH THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY TO BUY PROPERTY AS A FRANKLIN MEMORIAL

Perth Amboy, Jan. 16.—Assemblyman Crowther, of this city, expects to introduce a bill early in the session of the Legislature providing for the purchase by the State of the property in this city known as the Westminster, the object being the preservation of this historic property. It is argued that the time for such action is opportune this year, owing to the celebration, on January 17, of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, and of the connection of the name of Franklin with this old house.

The advocates of the bill point out that while Franklin passed through this State several times he did nothing to hold his name to New Jersey excepting at Perth Amboy, when he visited his son, who was the last colonial governor of New Jersey, and who had his headquarters at the Westminster. An all-night interview took place in this building, between the father and son, the father advocating the American cause, and young Franklin remaining loyal to the Crown. The room in which this historical interview took place is still pointed out to visitors.

In this way, it is argued, New Jersey has a passing claim upon the name of Franklin, and that the proper way to show it would be to make the property a lasting historical landmark.

The building has passed through many hands. Some years ago it was used as a Presbyterian home for aged ministers of that denomination. Then it passed into the possession of J. R. Holm, the Danish consul of this city, who planned to cut it up into building lots. There is a strong sentiment here in favor of preserving the property, and Assemblyman Crowther will be backed up in his efforts to have his bill passed.

HOBOKEN MAN IS THE OWNER OF A DOG THAT REFUSES TO EAT MEAT ON FRIDAY

Hoboken, Jan. 16—Principal William J. Wyse, of School No. 7, has a fox terrier that will not eat meat on Fridays. The dog is three years old, and, like the members of the family, has eaten fish on Fridays ever since he entered the household. Recently Principal Wyse gave the animal a piece of meat one Friday, and at the same time gave it a piece of fish. The dog ate the fish, but left the meat. It was thought that the dog might have just preferred the fish, but the next Friday, as a test of his orthodox principles, he was given a piece of meat only. He refused to eat it and was given fish. This same feat has been repeated three Fridays, and each time Tag has refused the meat. Mr. Wyse is now fully convinced that the dog reckons out the one day in seven, after three years of habit, and wants fish on that day.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

An unusual incident, concerning which the old wives of the congregation and the young girls who confess to superstitious beliefs are apprehensive, occurred during the evening service at the Presbyterian church Sunday night. A blackbird flew into the church and circled the edifice three times. The bird's entrance did not interrupt the service, except through the attention it drew from the worshippers, but the women who know old superstitions say it means a death in the congregation shortly.

Port Jervis, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Benjamin Whittaker, of Deckertown, recently received a letter which informed him that he was one of the beneficiaries of the last will of a son-in-law whom he had never seen. He was notified that he would share in an estate of many thousands and that he has been appointed guardian of his granddaughter, fifteen years old. The girl's mother was Mr. Whittaker's third daughter, who had died in London, and her father, a son of noble family.

Mr. Whittaker had not heard from his daughter in thirten years, and had given her up for dead. She was twice married. Her first husband, who lived near Newburg, N. Y., died a few months after their marriage. After his death the young widow became a trained nurse. She was a remarkable student and an attractive woman.

She visited Cambridge, Mass., and in a professional way was called to the bedside of a wealthy student at Harvard University. Then followed a friendship which ripened into love, and after the young man's graduation he married his nurse and went immediately to his native city. This was the last Whittaker heard of his daughter.

The letter received by Mr. Whittaker was dated late in December. Other important necessary ones are expected.

Odd Trolley Mishap Near Cranford.

Cranford, Jan. 16.—A trolley car bound for Newark on Saturday night, while on the trestle that spans the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks, slipped the pole from the speed wire. The feed wire broke and fell to the roof of the car, where it became entangled with the stove pipe, short circuiting the current through the stove, which gave off a display of electrical fireworks, tongues of flame and explosions. This threw the passengers into a panic and some tried to escape through the windows. An inspector who was on the car climbed to the roof and cleared the wire from the pipe. No one was injured.

Mrs. Andrew Jennings, of North avenue, has been quite ill for the past few weeks.

Mrs. M. A. Furman has returned to her home in Englewood after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Warnock, of Craig place.

DOES NOT APPROVE OF STOKES' SUGGESTIONS.

Highway Protectors' Association Takes Exception to His Utterances on Automobile Law.

New Brunswick, Jan. 16.—The Highway Protectors' Association, whose headquarters are in this city, has prepared an exhaustive compendium of the arguments of the association for the revision of the automobile law, the imposition of more stringent restrictions upon owners and drivers of the machines, and for a change in the system of licensing automobiles. It also discusses fully the shortcomings of the present legislation, and recites the hardships to which the farmers and dwellers in the rural districts are subjected as a result of the use of the roads by automobiles driven at an excessive rate of speed.

The association intends to make a vigorous fight at the present session of the Legislature to secure some consideration for the reforms it advocates.

The association expresses disapproval of the automobile law suggestions in the Governor's message and in the recent utterance of the State road commissioner on the subject.

"Both reports as we read them," says the bulletin, thus prepared, "desire to protect the surface of the roads and no desire is shown to protect life, limb or property.

"The commissioner wants the roads watered, so that the speed of the fast-going machines will not be noticed. The Governor says: 'A license fee in proportion to the speed of the cars should be charged and devoted to the repair of our damaged highways.' We take it that he means if you pay for it you can go fast, and that going fast hurts the roads, but going fast does not hurt you or your property."

A final suggestion is that all sorts of vehicles using the public highways of the State be compelled by law to carry lights at night.

The association considers the bulletin of importance as the official utterance of an organization which represents many classes.

SHE COULDN'T SAY "NO."

So Mrs. Jameson Had Guardian for Her Fortune Appointed.

Shelbyville, Ind., Jan. 16.—Being unable to refuse money when it is asked from her for charitable and benevolent institutions, Mrs. Jesse Jameson presented herself before Judge Sparks and asked that a guardian be appointed to take care of the fortune left to her by her husband, and suggested Dr. Edward Rowis, Presiding Elder of the Southern Indiana Methodist Episcopal church, as the appointee. After listening to her story Judge Sparks granted the petition.

Mrs. Jameson, who is sixty-eight years old, has always been known as a kind-hearted woman, who would never refuse to subscribe money for charitable and benevolent institutions. Her husband, Jesse Jameson, was a dentist. He died a few years ago leaving $25,000 in bonds. On his death the bonds were sold and the money was placed in a bank subject to check by Mrs. Jameson.

Little by little the cash was slipping away, and Mrs. Jameson finally realized that if she continued her generosity she would soon have to depend upon charity herself.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The sale of seats for the Elks' minstrel show will start Thursday morning at the New Plainfield theatre box office and not Wednesday morning as stated yesterday.

Digby Bell is at Philadelphia this week and James O'Neill in New York. Plainfield had 'em both last week, which reveals the fact that Plainfield is a "regular" show town and gets the goods.

There are still plenty of good seats to be had for both matinee and night performances of "Little Johnny Jones." This is mentioned to correct a rumor that the house had been sold out for the night.

Manager Counihan was in New York yesterday and arranged for the olio numbers that are to be included in the Elks' big jubilee. They are among the best in the business, the Elks' slogan being "No pikers or four flushers."

As a panacea for the blues, we recommend a seat at the New Plainfield when "Johnny Jones" is presented. There is a laugh every minute and when Tom Lewis, "The Unknown," comes on the stage, Sober Sue herself would have to giggle.

Manager Counihan is the owner of a thoroughbred bull dog which he has made the mascot of the New Plainfield. The animal is known as "Happy," because he was a member of the "Happy Hooligan" company for two seasons, appearing in one of the scenes with his teeth buried in "Hooligan's" trousers. "Happy" has intelligence far beyond one of his years and can spot a "dead-head" the moment he appears at the box office window. In dog language he has asked his master to give him a place on the programme in the Elks' minstrels and will probably be used as a bloodhound in a revised version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Victor Herbert, the composer of the music for "Babes in Toyland," was born in Dublin, Ireland, February 1, 1859. On his mother's side he is a grandson of Samuel Lover, the Irish novelist. He received his musical education in Germany and came to this country in 1886. Among his compositions are "Prince Ananias;" "The Wizard of the Nile;" "The Serenade," the comic opera version of "Cyrano de Bergerac," in which Francis Wilson starred half a dozen years ago; "The Ameer;" "The Viceroy;" "The Idol's Eye," "The Fortune Teller," in which Miss Alice Nellson played the prima donna role; and "Wonderland," lately at the Majestic theatre in which Miss Bessie Wynn, who was formerly Tom Tom in "Babes in Toyland," sang a leading role.

Military Order Dinner.

The Military Order of Foreign Wars, of which General Joseph W. Plume is the commander, will have its annual dinner and election of officers at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York tomorrow evening. Rev. Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, Captain Robert L. Patterson and Dr. Charles H. Schlichter, all of Elizabeth, are members of the order.

Woman Preaches on Financial Evils.

Elizabeth, Jan. 16.—Mrs. A. B. Blackwell, the first woman ordained a minister in this country, preached Sunday in the Unitarian church here. She is now sixty-five years old, but spoke well and clearly. She said the reason men did such things as had been revealed by the insurance investigation and similar revelations was that men too seldom in these days had a personal conscience. They let others set up the standard of action.

Miss Maizie Gray, of Elmwood place, has about recovered from a recent illness.

CLOSE VICTORY FOR Y. M. C. A. FIRST FIVE

BEAT OUT FAST ORIOLES, OF NEW YORK, BY TWO POINTS.

Using every ounce of strength and all the tricks they know, the Y. M. C. A. first team managed to nose out a two-point victory over the Oriole basketball five at Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night. The score was thirty-five to thirty-three.

It was their familiarity with the gym floor that saved the Y. M. C. A. men. They shot goals all around the New Yorkers, but the latter were faster on their feet, quicker in passing and more resourceful. They had six chances at the basket to the Plainfielders' one. The latter chance usually counted, and there lay all the difference in the going. Scull and Leary made some especially fine shots, but Downs, with seven to his credit, surpassed them.

Score and line up:

Y. M. C. A.		ORIOLES.
Smith	forwards.	Downs
Thompson		Cook
Scull	center.	Stuart
Leary	guards.	Seward
Letson		McMillan

Goals from field—Smith, 2; Thompson, 3; Scull, 5; Leary, 6; Downs, 7; Cook, Stuart, 2; McMillan, 3; Seward, 2. Goals from foul—Thompson, 3; Cook, 2; McMillan. Umpire—Morse. Scorer—Sanderson. Timer—Phillips.

Between halves the High School five toyed with the Business Men. The latter worked hard, but fell down in crucial instances, which is polite diction for unable to make good. The score was twenty-nine to ten. Collier and Smith played star games.

The line up and summary:

High School.		Business Men.
Smith	forwards.	Spicer.
Collier		Miner
S. Freeman	center.	Browning
H. Freeman	guards.	Utzinger
Doane		Loizeaux
Caldwell		Haynes

Goals from field—Smith, 6; Collier, 4; S. Freeman, 2; H. Freeman, Doane, Spicer, 2; Utzinger, Loizeaux. Goals from fouls—S. Freeman, Browning, 2.

MEDICINE DOWNS THE DOCTOR.

Spelling Bee Disastrous for Physician When He Tried to Spell Ipecac.

Trenton, Jan. 16.—Simple words floored scores of prominent people at Cadwallader School recently, when an old-fashioned spelling bee was given under the direction of the Mothers' Club. The teams were made up of Princeton and University of Pennsylvania graduates. The first prize for the women was won by Mrs. Edwin Cook. Thomas Holmes carried off the palm for the men. Mrs. E. F. Wilgus and Walter Firth, superintendent of the crematory, were presented with spellers, as they were the first to fall in the fray.

Mr. Firth's downfall was caused by the word "alphabet." Dr. Henry Kummel, State geologist, met his Waterloo on "acknowledgment." Dr. E. H. Ginnelly, president of Common Council, fell down on "license." He has worked for a school in the Thirteenth Ward. Washington E. L. Sperry never lived in the country and could not spell "heifer." Clinton J. Swartz, manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, never had "privilege" in a telegram. He sat down. The limit was reached when Dr. E. C. Condict misspelled "ipacac."

Was With Custer in Massacre!

Rahway, Jan. 16.—Frederick F. Pommerehne, fifty years old, died yesterday at his home on Grand street, leaving a widow and two daughters. He was the only soldier living in Rahway who was a member of the late General Custer command at the time of the Little Big Horn massacre. He enlisted when but fifteen years old in Company I, Second United States Artillery, serving his three years' term and coming home a corporal. The date of the funeral will be announced later. He was taken ill Thursday night. Friday morning in attempting to rise from his bed he fell, striking his head, causing concussion of the brain. A blood clot formed on his brain from the effects of which he died.

Finds the Bridge Trouble.

Perth Amboy, Jan. 16.—Director F. H. Pownall, of the new Board of Freeholders, visited Woodbridge Creek bridge last week and made an examination of it. The bridge has never worked properly, and recently the freeholders decided that it would be economy to have an expert examine it and tell them what could be done to make possible its operation by one man, as originally planned. Director Pownall, who is a machinist by trade, went under the bridge to see for himself what the trouble was. In a few minutes he discovered a wheel that was out of place, and the lack of which in the operation of the bridge caused all the trouble. The request for an expert was countermanded.

Perth Amboy saloon has been robbed. The proprietor should have no ground for complaint. Honors are even.

If it be true, as reported, that Charles Schanz or any one else intends to apply for a license to conduct a saloon at No. 100 West Second street, he might as well save his money. His effort would be a fruitless one for no self-respecting Common Council would grant such a petition. In the first place, the location adjoins the theatre and would surely tend to spoil its business. A further and greater reason is that it is altogether too near a house of worship, Trinity Reformed church being less than 200 feet away. Moreover there is no need for any more saloons, the present number being entirely sufficient for the community. There are now thirteen legalized liquor establishments. Let the number be a hoodoo to anyone who wishes a new license.

STEEPLE JACK SURPRISED.

Wages Garnisheed by Doctor While Man Was on Lofty Perch.

Trenton, Jan. 16.—Seeing a crowd gazing at a Steeple Jack repairing the cross on St. Mary's Cathedral, 300 feet above the street, Dr. William S. Hawke followed the gaze of the others and recognized the form of William Fletcher, a former patient.

"He owes me $21 for services rendered when he was here before, I'll fix him," said the doctor to a friend. The officers of the City District Court were immediately hunted up and attachment proceedings were instituted. Sergeant-at-Arms Alfred Packer was despatched to the cathedral and the wages of Fletcher were garnisheed in the hands of the rector, Rev. John H. Fox. Fletcher was a much surprised man when he descended from his lofty perch.

MUST NOT CHARGE STORAGE.

Railroad Baggage Master Who Applied Rule Loses Damage Suit.

Mount Holly, N. J., Jan. 16.—Persons using the five-cent package express system conducted by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have been interested in a suit against the baggage master at Pemberton, in which the plaintiff has been awarded damages amounting to $23. Notice of appeal has been given.

The new rule, which went in force several months ago, calls for a storage fee of five cents a day on all packages not called for within twenty-four hours after arrival. Most persons who have forgotten or neglected to call for their packages, have paid their fines, while others have permitted packages of little value to be confiscated by the railroad company.

ICE MAY BE A CENT A POUND.

None Has Been Harvested Because of Mild Weather.

Wholesale ice dealers in the northern part of New Jersey have about abandoned all hope of gathering a sufficient supply of ice for summer. At Greenwood Lake, which is controlled, so far as the frozen product is concerned, by the American Company, the ice had attained a thickness of four or five inches, when it was spoiled by the rains of Sunday and yesterday.

One wholesale dealer declared that he would not be surprised to see the price of ice rise to a cent a pound during the coming summer. The Mount Pocono Ice Company is in the same predicament, as are the Slayback Brothers, who control the ice at Verona Lake.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will meet next Tuesday night for the first time since the installation of the new-elected officers.

The Senate held a short session, marked by no incident other than the introduction of the numerous bills and resolutions. Mr. McKee, of Passaic, put in a resolution providing for a commission to investigate the practicability and probable cost of the acquisition by the State to the title to the potable waters of the State. He also wants the Governor to appoint a commission of three persons to report to the present Legislature on the taking of salt water fish and the better protection thereof.

Mr. Hillery introduced a bill providing that petitions for municipal franchises shall be presented to the governing board of any city at one meeting and passed upon at a subsequent meeting, and the term for which such franchises are to run shall not exceed twenty years, unless otherwise decided by the voters at a special election for the purpose.

Mr. Colby introduced a repealer of the Hillery bill, and also duplicates of the bills and resolutions other than equal taxation put in the House by Mr. Martin.

Senator Minturn introduced a bill which makes it unlawful for the person from whom divorce has been obtained to marry again in this State; also unlawful to reside in this State after marrying elsewhere. Persons violating this act shall be in contempt of court and subjected to the penalties thereof.

CAR SHOP THEFTS MAY REACH $50,000.

Four Arrests Made in Connection with Robbery of Public Service Corporation.

Officials of the New Jersey Public Service Corporation endeavored yesterday to ascertain the value of the property stolen from the Newark car barns and repair shop during the last two years, in which thefts four employes of the company are implicated.

The officials believe the loss to the company may reach $50,000. A small portion of the booty, consisting of field plates of copper, brass journals and armatures and motor trimmings, has been recovered. Most of it is believed to have been melted and disposed of.

The arrest of the four men involved was brought about through the work of Detective Sergeant Frank W. Tuite, a former newspaper man. He was given the case when Auditor Matthew T. Boylan, of the Public Service, reported to his superiors that a new system of account keeping, which he had devised, had revealed that systematic losses of quantities of valuable stock were being encountered by the company.

Tuite worked until he learned enough to cause him to suspect John Catlett, fifty-one years old, of 381 South avenue, and Joseph Newcombe, forty, of 82 Arlington avenue, Newark. Catlett has been employed by the company twenty-two years, and was trusted implicitly. He was engaged at times in the stock department and at other times as motorman of a distributing car, which carried stock and motor parts to the various car barns throughout the system.

Newcombe has been employed for more than two years as the driver of a supply wagon.

Detective Sergeant Tuite followed Newcombe and saw him unload a quantity of stock at the junk yard of Edward Mendel, 322 Fifteenth avenue. Tuite ascertained the nature of the stuff left. Gradually, the police say, the plan of the company's looters became clear to the detective, and last Saturday night he made his first positive move when he arrested Newcombe. The prisoner first protested against arrest, asserting his innocence. Afterward, it is said, when the detective convinced Newcombe that certain acts of his, involving the spending of considerable more money than he could possibly have earned, were known to the sleuth, the accused told enough to bring about the arrest, first of Catlett and later of Mendel, the junkman, and George Foder, a manufacturing chemist, whose establishment is adjacent to the Plank road car shops.

The police say they have positive evidence that for two years Catlett had been taking valuable plates, journals and other fittings and turning them over to Newcombe; that the latter secreted the stolen stuff in boxes and barrels and delivered the booty, ostensibly getting rid of empty boxes and barrels to Foder and Mendel.

The four accused men were arraigned yesterday before Judge Sweeney in the First Criminal Court. Charges of grand larceny were preferred against Catlett and Newcombe and of receiving stolen goods against Mendel and Foder. Bail in $1,500 was demanded for all but Newcombe, whose bond was placed at $1,000. Newcombe and Mendel furnished bondsmen.

Clue to the Naftal Jewels.

It is said that the Asbury Park police have a fairly reliable clue to the jewelry stolen from Mrs. Morris Naftal, who was murdered in her apartments on December 13. It is believed the jewelry was carried to a small Connecticut town by a third accomplice in the mysterious crime and carefully secreted. It is understood the detectives are now working with every hope that the identity of the third person will be disclosed and the jewelry recovered.

DOGS PREVENTED ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

After Prisoner Had Sawed Cell Bars And Lowered Himself to Yard Barking Dogs Aroused Keepers.

Mount Holly, Jan. 16.—Archie Edwards, a noted criminal, made a break for liberty at the county jail Sunday night. On Friday he was brought here from the Eastern Penitentiary, Philadelphia, where he had served a term for burglary.

As the dogs in the jailyard began to bark at midnight the men sleeping in the kitchen were awakened and they called Deputy Sheriff Joseph B. Fleetwood, who found Edwards crouching by the side of the bakehouse. Covering Edwards with a revolver, the deputy put handcuffs on the prisoner, put him in a cell in murderers' row and shackeled him.

A small steel saw about four inches long and a half-inch wide was found in the cell occupied by Edwards and on his person the deputy found two other saws. As the prisoner has been in communication with no one since his arrival here, it is the belief that the saws were in his possession when he left Philadelphia. Edwards sawed a bar out of the small window in his cell. Making a rope with his bedclothing, the man lowered himself to the yard, but the dogs prevented him from making an escape.

Dies As Result of Joke.

New Brunswick, Jan. 16.—Ex-Freeholder Martin J. Cauley died here Sunday from blood poisoning At the last meeting of the old Board of Freeholders, on December 30, there was considerable horseplay among the members, who threw waste baskets at each other. A waste basket was jammed down over Cauley's head, and one of the pieces of cane was jammed into the side of his face, cutting the skin. He washed the scratch off and thought nothing of it until blood poisoning developed. Every possible effort was made to save his life, but the scratch ended in his death Sunday. Cauley was elected by the Board of Aldermen to succeed Freeholder Smith, who defeated Cauley at the polls, but died soon afterwards.

TO DIG INTO INSURANCE

FOLLOWS NEW YORK.

Members of Legislature Reticent About the Bill—Referred to Committee—Text of Bill.

Assemblyman Martin, of Essex county, caused something of a surprise at Trenton last night by introducing a joint resolution asking for a committee to investigate insurance in New Jersey. As indicated in the resolution, the investigation is planned to follow closely the paths made by the one in New York. Both Asblymen and Senators were reticent last night in expressing opinions on the resolution, and no line whatever could be obtained as to its fate. It was referred to the Committee on Banking and Insurance.

The resolution says:

"Whereas, The recent investigation of insurance companies in the State of New York has caused doubts to arise as to the conduct and management of such companies and allied corporations, such as trust companies, savings banks and State banks, and the sufficiency of the supervision and control of said companies and the safeguards provided by law; and

"Whereas, Some of the investments permitted by law to be made by insurance companies, trust companies, savings banks and State banks have been charged to be unsafe, and

"Whereas, The State Department of Banking and Insurance is limited in its power to examine the officers and agents of insurance companies, trust companies, savings banks and State banks, and it is expedient that as a basis for legislation the operations of such companies should be investigated as fully and promptly as may be; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved (The Senate concurring), That a joint committee be appointed consisting of three members of the Senate and five members of the General Assembly with power and authority to investigate and examine into the business and affairs of life insurance companies, trust companies, savings banks and banks doing business in the State of New Jersey, the investments of said companies, the relations of the officers thereof to such investments, the relation of such companies to subsidiary corporations, the government and control of such companies, the cost of transacting business, the expenses of said companies and other phases of the business of each of said companies, in the discretion of the committee, and also to investigate and report the operations of the State Department of Banking and Insurance, its supervision and control of said companies, and any other matter in relation to said department or companies which the said committee may deem proper, for the purpose of reporting a revision of the laws regulating the business authority and affairs of said companies as said committee may deem proper. And it is further

"Resolved, That said joint committee be and hereby is authorized and empowered to sit during and after the session of the Legislature to require and enforce the attendance of witnesses, te production of books and papers, to administer oaths, to employ counsel, stenographers, clerks and such other employes as may be necessary for the purpose of the investigation."

Contract Cases.

The contract case of the North Jersey Nurseries against Vincent Wisniewski will be tried before Justice Hand Friday morning at 10 o'clock, and on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the same court the contract case of Drifoos, Blume & Co. against J. BROADWAY MASHER WHIPPED BY WOMAN.

Binghamton Man, Sixty Years Old, Chastised for Unwelcome Advances Made in the Street.

Badly battered, a well dressed, dignified man, apparently about sixty years old, was led into the "Tenderloin" police station, New York, late yesterday afternoon by Policeman O'Flaherty, and behind the two came a handsomely dressed woman about twenty-five years old. The woman's hands were diamond-bedecked, and an expensive set of furs set off to advantage her costly black tailor-made gown.

Policeman O'Flaherty led the man to the desk, and on the woman's complaint a charge of disorderly conduct was registered against him by Sergeant Himmel. The woman explained to the sergeant that the man had addressed her at Broadway and Forty-first street, in that city, with the salutation, "Hell, bright eyes!"

What followed is the woman's story, borne out by the condition of the man when he landed in the police station.

"Sergeant, I didn't give him time to repeat his salutation," she said. "I landed squarely on his nose, and just as I was about to give him another blow this policeman came along."

"I want to apologize to you," faltered the man in reply.

"But you say you have a wife and children?" said the woman. "You have just told the sergeant so. Any man of your age and apparent respectability who cannot let women alone on the street deserves just what I gave you. I wish the policeman had given me one more minute with you!"

By this time the man explained to the sergeant that he was a business man from Binghamton, N. Y., that he had just reached New York, and he was sorry for his action.

"Go down to court, madame, and appear against time man," said the sergeant to the woman.

"Me go to court!" gasped the woman. "Oh, no, I am too well known to do that, and my family is too prominent to permit such a thing. I wouldn't have my name known in this connection for any amount of money." Then turning to the man she said: "I guess I have punished him enough."

As the woman refused to proceed further in the case the man was discharged, and she left the station house without disclosing her indentity.

NO PAY FOR BLAINE BUST.

Sculptor Notified That the Work is at His Disposal.

Bangor, Me., Jan. 16.—From a letter which has been sent by direction of Governor Cobb to Prof. G. Trentanove, of Florence, Italy, the sculptor who carved the marble bust of James G. Blaine, which rests on a pedestal on the south side of the rotunda of the capitol at Augusta, the inference is drawn that the State will not pay for the bust. The letter also states hat certain members of the Blaine family are dissatisfied with the work as a likeness, and that it would be impossible to get an appropriation from the Legislature for the purpose of paying for the bust.

The Governor has informed Prof. Trentanove that the bust is at his disposal and may be removed at his pleasure.

NEW CAPE MAY CHARTER.

Conflict of Laws, Owing to Repealers, Causes Desire for Change.

Cape May, Jan. 16.—A number of Cape May citizens will ask the present Legislature for the incorporation of Cape May into a city, under the "12,000 City Act," and thus do away with the present charter, which was passed before the present constitution of the State was adopted.

More than three-quarters of the present charter has been repealed by different Legislatures, and there is such conflict of opinion as to the proper laws for Cape May that the new move will be taken. There will no doubt be considerable opposition to a change.

Centennial of a Landmark.

In celebration of its one hundredth anniversary the owners and employes of the tobacco factory in Bloomfield avenue, West Caldwell, will hold a banquet next week. Up to 1860 tobacco was carted by wagon from Newark in hogsheads. The staves, which were made of black walnut and other hard woods, were sought by residents for miles around to build fences. The business was started by Nathaniel Douglass in 1806, and has changed hands many times. Last month the business was incorporated as the Lane-Lockward Company. The present frame structure has been altered very little since it was first erected.

Boy Stole Valuable Rings.

Max Krahnert, sixteen years old, employed as a plumber's helper, is being held at Red Bank for the Grand Jury on his own confession of stealing two valuable rings from the jewelry store of Leon DeLa Reussille, on Broad street, that place. The prisoner made a confession in court yesterday. He says he took the diamond rings, which are valued at about $1,000, and hid them in the plumber's shop, as he was afraid to be seen with them. He was suspected of the theft and arrested. The rings have been recovered.

USE "TAINTED MONEY" ON CHURCH SHEDS.

Pleasant Grove Parish Decides to Spend the Funds Collected at Mrs. Apgar's Dance.

Pleasant Grove, Jan. 16.—The Grove Presbyterian church needed money to meet its obligations and money making ideas were scarce. Mrs. Susan Apgar, widow, and one of the best business women in the congregation, originated the idea of holding a dance, and she took up the matter lone handed. The dance was held at her cosey farm house, and it was a great success. After paying the fiddler, something like forty dollars was netted.

The Rev. J. W. Lowder, the pastor, said the money was tainted and refused to take it when Mrs. Apgar tendered the donation. Most of the trustees stood by the pastor in the stand he had taken. For a month Mrs. Apgar held the money while the subject was discussed and debated by the congregation, who seemed about evenly divided, but within a few days a compromise has been effected.

It can do no harm, both sides believe, if the money is applied to repairing the church sheds, which have needed some "expense" on them for a long time. So the money will be used for this purpose, although the question of dances for church benefits has been permanently settled in the negative.

HUNT TRAIN ROBBERS IN VAIN.

No Clue to Men Who Are Supposed to Have Robbed a Freight Train.

New Brunswick, Jan. 16.—A posse of deputies, hurriedly sworn in, searched the country within a five-mile radius of Deans Station Sunday night in a hunt for train robbers. They found hoof tracks and wheel tracks, but no robbers. A fast freight, west bound, and loaded with valuable freight, the nature of which the railroad authorities would not disclose, was brought to a sudden stop last night near Deans Station by the application of the air brakes.

When the members of the crew investigated they found the door of one of the cars had been forced open. Whether anything had been taken or not they could not tell. Word was sent to Jersey City and the train proceeded. Detectives were sent out at once from Jersey City, and word was sent here to have the detectives met by a posse. Five men were secured by Detective McCarthy and they joined the Jersey City squad.

Arrived at the scene of the supposed robbery, they found wheel tracks and the marks of hoofs and feet around the place where the train had stopped. After searching the woods and finding nothing the party split up and made a search in the vicinity, stopping at farmhouses and asking questions, but discovering no clue to train robbers. In several places they were mistaken for desperadoes, and in two places guns were drawn on them by farmers. The men returned to this city without having located any clue to robbers or robbery.

CLEVELAND AND PARKER TALK.

Favor a Movement to Reorganize the Democratic Party.

A meeting of leading Democrats was held at the Lawyers' Club in New York yesterday. Ex-President Grover Cleveland and ex-Judge Alton B. Parker had luncheon there together and discussed party matters at length. It was considered advisable to start a national movement for the reorganization of the Democratic party, and it was thought the movement would be aided by the action of Mayor McClellan in breaking away from Tammany in most of his appointments.

Ex-Controller Grout was at the club, but did not take part in the Cleveland-Parker conference. Mr. Grout came out openly yesterday for the downing of the political bosses and for the establishment of "councils of leaders" as their successors, along lines outlined on Sunday as the plans of Mayor McClellan, Mr. Grout, Mr. Littleton and Fire Commissioner O'Brien.

MAY MAR BEAUTY OF CAPITOL AT TRENTON.

Feared Economical Legislation May Put an Addition on the Symmetrical Structure.

Trenton, Jan. 16.—So badly overcrowded that many of the State departments and bureaus have to be "doubled up" or moved away entirely when the Legislature convenes, the capitol in this city is to be partially remodelled and enlarged, if the law makers now in session can be induced by the State House Commission to make the necessary appropriation. It is feared, however, that the architectural beauty of the building may be lessened or destroyed. The capitol is regarded as one of the handsomest buildings in the country.

To the west of the capitol the city's Riverside Park extends for a considerable distance and now there is a plan on foot to use some of that for State purposes. Another suggestion is that the Commonwealth purchase a tract of land adjoining Riverside Park and use it for the erection of a building that can be used by some of the State departments. Still another plan is to build an additional story on the Assembly chamber to the left from the front.

HARVARD'S DEFICIT $30,743.

Third Year of Loss, with Guarantee Fund Nearly Exhausted.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 16.—Harvard University failed by $30,743 to pay running expenses for 1904-1905. Its deficit for the previous year was $35,000. The deficit was incurred last year despite an increase in available funds of $1,280,272, making a total of $12,036,025.

Harvard has faced a deficit for three years, but each year it has fallen away about $5,000. The deficit is met from a permanent fund known as the insurance and guarantee fund, but one more deficit of $30,000 will wipe that fund out.

The teachers' endowment fund of $2,400,000, which the graduates have undertaken to raise, and of which $736,225.28 has been paid, and the increase of tuition and charges for extra courses, are expected to reduce the deficit. The law school was the best paying of all the departments of the university last year, clearing $41,351.

—Frank Snyder, of Mountain avenue, has taken a position at Woodhull & Martin's store, and will have charge of the shade and awning department.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"Save up your laughter," says Tom Lewis, as the "Unknown" in "Little Johnny Jones," and that's what folks had better begin to do, for this tremendously successful play from the pen of Geo. M. Cohan will be with us at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, and it will be the original production, too, direct from its long run of six months in New York City.

"No Mother to Guide Her" is the title of the new melodrama written by that versatile artists, Miss Lillian Mortimer. It will have its first presentation in this city at the New Plainfield theatre Thursday night, with Miss Mortimer in the star role. Miss Mortimer's new effort is said to abound in stirring scenes and sensational climaxes. A competent supporting company will be seen with Miss Mortimer.

Arnold Daly, one of the most brilliant actors on the American stage, will appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday matinee and night in Bernard Shaw's bright and merry comedies, "You Never Can Tell" and "Candida," which had runs of over 150 nights each at the Garrick theatre, New York. "You Never Can Tell" is positively fascinating in many respects and tells a very interesting and consistent story. The character drawings and the dialogue are in Shaw's best style. The supporting company is not equalled by any in the country and includes Miss Katherin Grey, Miss Isabelle Urquhart, Miss Hungerford, Miss Bruna, John Findlay, George Farren, Dodson Mitchell, Fred Tyler, Joseph Maddern, etc. The production will be the same in every respect as in New York.

Theatre patrons here will soon have an opportunity of seeing Henrietta Crosman's charming portrayal of Rosalind in "As You Like It," for the artist is to appear in this city in the Shakespearian comedy in the role in which she has won her greatest fame. She is regarded as the most fascinating Rosalind of the present generation of dramatic stars. None who has essayed this fascinating character has received the praise or won the approval that has been bestowed upon Miss Crosman.

JERSEY PETITIONERS GALORE IN CONGRESS.

Many Documents Sent to Federal Body Telling What People In This State Want.

Washington, Jan. 16.—New Jerseyites are availing themselves to a large extent to their constitutional right to petition Congress for anything they want or anything any of their friends want. Senator Dryden has, accordingly, filed petitions and resolutions as follows:

From citizens generally of the State, from the general synod of the Reformed Church in America, from the W. C. T. U., of Collingswood, and from Dr. J. C. Currier, of Beverly, all for the unseating of Senator Smoot.

From citizens of New Jersey generally, from the Municipal Art League, of East Orange and from Eugene C. Meyer, of the Meyer Scale and Hardware Company, of Newark, for the preservation of the falls of Niagara.

From the Woman's Club, of Glen Ridge, for more stringent child labor laws.

From the Political Study Club, of Orange, for the passage of the pending pure food legislation.

Senator Kean has also filed a petition asking for the unseating of Senator Smoot, from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of Collingswood, and one from the Orange Political Club for child labor laws.

The Senate has just passed the bill introduced a few weeks ago by Senator Dryden to increase to $50 a month the pension of Mrs. Elizabeth T. Carpenter, of Montclair, widow of the late Brigadier-General Gilbert S. Carpenter, United States Army.

Senator Dryden has secured a pension for Margaret M. Brinkhoff, of Jersey City, at the rate of $8 a month from July 29, 1905.

Both New Jersey Senators have filed similar petitions and protests, as follows:

From the Village Improvement Association, of Cranford, for pure food legislation.

From the Cigarmakers' International Union No. 138, of South Orange, protest against the bill to reduce the tax on all cigars made in the Philippines.

From the organization of the General Slocum Survivors, memorial asking for support for Representative Sulzer's bill for the relief of the victims of the Slocum disaster.

Congressman Howell has recommended the appointment of C. E. Gildersleeve as postmaster at Sayerville, Middlesex county.

Mr. Howell has also recommended the appointment of W. H. Hamilton as postmaster at Ocean Grove.

Congressman Loudenslager has secured a favorable report on his bill to increase to $24 a month the pension of Chalkley Petit, of Camden.

George Beebe, of the Island of Formosa, is visiting his parents on Madison avenue for several weeks.

Miss Minnie Brokaw, of this city, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Brokaw, of Harlingen.

YOUR HAT
May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.
A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.
Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.
When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.
There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Axienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Axienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." WRITERS AND MUSICIANS.

Prof. Claude Halstead von Tyne, author of "The American Revolution," is a noted athlete as well as an eminent scholar.

Sir Edward Elgar, the distinguished composer, was at one time, like the immortal Wagner, glad to earn a few shillings by putting together quadrilles from operas and popular airs.

Information from Calcutta is to the effect that Kipling did not write stories about India. "Save as an official unit in the British empire, there is no such place as India." Mr. Kipling's theme was the corner of the Punjab, which he knows.

In 1853 the German novelist William Raabe wrote a story in which one of the characters remarked that the time would come when there would be an "England of the Pacific ocean," which would then be very animated. "We call it to-day Japan and stand before it as before a dark riddle."

Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia is working steadily on the writing of the memoirs of Gen. Jubal A. Early, the distinguished confederate leader. The senator has but recently returned to his home in Washington from an extended trip in search of material for notes and additions to the book.

The late Julius Stinde, one of the greatest wits in recent years in the German book world, went to Berlin in 1876 and for some time no attention was paid him. He brought out "Buchholzens" in Italian, and all Germany laughed with him, and tens of thousands of copies were sold.

Senator Tullo Massarini died recently in Milan at the age of 78. He was extremely wealthy and noted for his charitable bequests. He had a reputation as a painter and writer on literary subjects, and through his work the German poet Heine exercised considerable influence in Italian belles lettres.

Some of the world's greatest singers have been discovered accidentally. Once upon a time Wachtel, the greatest tenor of his day in Germany, was cracking his whip and hailing fares in a musical rondo. Mme. Scalchi, the greatest of contraltos, is said to have called her wares in the street before she was found for the opera stage. Campanini, the king of tenors, was a blacksmith, but was heard singing like an angel and was enabled to desert the forge for the footlights.

ODDITIES OF INVENTION.

In Germany clocks have been run by wireless telegraphy. Portable wireless stations, so light that they can be carried by men, have also been devised by German inventors.

A recent French invention which utilizes electroplating for the deposit of extremely thin coatings of precious metals is said to make possible the gold plating of lace, without stiffening the fabric. Silver is used in the same way.

A machine has been invented for manufacturing cotton automobile tires. The tires are woven something like lampwicks, only they are heavier and of coarser texture. They are said to resist a pressure of 6,000 pounds to the square inch.

Although not yet perfected, the Majorama telephone bids fair vastly to extend the field of usefulness of the long-distance telephone by rendering audible vibrations too faint to actuate the disk of the ordinary receiver or even the microphone instruments.

An automatic fire alarm recently patented in England sounds an alarm in a hotel office 12 seconds after a fire starts in any of its rooms. The apparatus is simply an application of the fact that heat causes expansion, sufficient in this case to complete an electric circuit.

Aluminum is being used in France to make alloys of brass for the construction of submarine boats. It has been found that the admixture of aluminum produces extraordinary changes in the color of the compound. A little aluminum makes it deep gold, and at a point where between five and ten per cent. of aluminum is used it becomes rose-red. Over ten per cent. of the lighter metal makes the alloy white.

RELIGIOUS REPORT.

Next year's German Catholic congress will be held at Essen-Ruhr.

The third European Christian Endeavor convention will be held in Geneva next year, July 28-August 1.

The Epworth League of Springfield, Ill., district will support a missionary in Borena, and is raising $1,000 for that purpose.

The Christian Endeavor has now 67,003 societies. This is an increase of 231 since the convention held in Baltimore in July.

A pension of at least $120 a year was voted to its lay home missionary workers by the recent Wesleyan conference of England.

Leaders of the Methodist church in Brooklyn are expecting a great revival this fall. They claim that there is a remarkable religious awakening in the city, which they hope to see greatly stimulated by the personal efforts of Bishop Mallalieu of Boston.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

"Before and After" has entered its sixth week at the Manhattan theatre, New York, and maintains a popularity well deserved. It is one of the most amusing farces—Leo Ditrichstein, its author, calles it a "laughter play," and aptly—seen in New York in years. The fun in "Before and After" begins at once and runs continuously, and thus the play is a sure prescription for the blues or any feeling that relates to the blues. There is a very large part of the public that goes to the theatre when it can be assured that it will see something amusing, and this play is just the sort of entertainment for that sort of people. Therefore, those who like laughter should make it a point to go to the Manhattan while this play is running there. "Before and After" presents a company of comedians that would make a set of by-laws interesting and amusing, and when such a company has sympathetic material to wor kwith—as this company has in Mr. Ditrichstein's play—the result is inevitable. Fritz Williams, George C. Boniface, Jr., Thomas A. Wise, Leo Ditrichstein, Roy Fairchild, Frederick Barton, John Daly Murphy, Katherine Florence, Georgie Lawrence, Kenyon Bishop, Jean Newcombe, Grace Quackenbush and Mabel Findlay, who make up this organization, have capital opportunities, and their assembled names mean something out of the ordinary. Suburban theatre lovers who cannot find other times to see "Before and After" may take advantage of the Saturday matinees at the Manhattan.

LITERARY.

Good woodcock shooting in the Middle States, and especially in New York State, is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. Nowadays when a sportsman goes out for a day's hunt, no matter how good his dog may be, if he brings home even a few woodcocks he is considered lucky, and even then he will generally bring home all that he has seen. So that now our day's sport in the woods is mostly dependent upon the wily old grouse, who very often allures even the best of our sportsmen. It is now generally considered by the majority of naturalists and sportsmen that the woodcock are fast beoming extinct, and a sad thing, too, it is to believe; however, when we stop to consider that they simply run the gauntlet from the State of Maine to the Gulf, and from September to April a hunter can go into one State or another where he will find an open season, then perhaps we ought to realize one great reason why our choice little game bird is becoming scarcer every year. This fact has really been quite noticeable for the past few years, through the central part of New York State, where I have regularly, each fall, visited holds some ideal woodcock cover.—L. B. Cooper, in Recreation for January.

The January number of the new magazine, Interior Decoration, is especially interesting. An article on Mosaics is followed by a fully illustrated story of the work of the Swedish Cottagers, while a third treats on "Mission Furniture and its Environment." The "Ideal Kitchen" is the subject of a well illustrated article, and in another, the perplexing question of "The Treatment of the Floor," is carefully considered. "Comfortable Furniture" and "The Modern Library" are two other stories, with good illustrations. "In the Shops" is a department which will appeal to every one. It is full of new ideas and suggestions taken from the various prominent stores. The number costs ten cents and may be had from all newsdealers. It is published at 19 Union Square, New York City.

CORDOVA WANTS HIS "JULIA."

Former South River Minister May Be Mentally Unsound.

Trenton, Jan. 16.—Rev. Frank Cordova, the former pastor of the Methodist church at South River, who is serving a term in State prison, in this city, is said to be in a semi-deranged condition. The keepers say that he sits the entire day without muttering any sound, and that frequently he will rave that he is being unjustly treated and ought to be a free man. Often in his rambling he will clamor for "My Julia," meaning Miss Bowne, with whom he eloped. He frequently receives letters from his children, but positively refuses to read them, and Keeper Osborne is compelled to return them. Around new year the children sent him their photographs, but he refused to even look at them.

While he gives the keepers very little trouble, some persons think he is not in his right mind. It is said his friends will present an application to the Court of Pardons for his release.

May Publish Their Names.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Attorney General Moody has rendered an opinion for Secretary Wilson, holding that it will be lawful for the head of the Department of Agriculture to publish the names of dealers who sell adulterated seed. The question arose because the Secretary of Agriculture had an impression that if he did publish such names he would be liable for damages in actions for libel.

IRELAND BURIED IN PARLIAMENT.

Elections Indicate Great Liberal Majority, and Churchill Predicts Upheaval.

London, Jan. 16.—Early returns of the English elections indicate the return of sixty-six members to Parliament up to date. Fifty-two of them are Ministerial, of which thirty-six are Liberals, nine Laborites and seven Nationalists. The Ministerial gain is estimated at twenty-one.

There will be less than one hundred and fifty Unionists if the same ratio is maintained throughout the general election. The Liberal majority will be sufficiently large to warrant Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman conducting matters independently of and without regard to the Irish members.

Incidentally a third party is rising. There are eighty Labor candidates, and if their success is as great throughout the elections as the early returns indicate they will be sufficiently strong in Parliament to be a reckoning faction.

In a speech Saturday night Winston Churchill said:

"We have killed protection. This is the beginning of such a political upheaval as has not been seen in England since the days of the great Reform bill. Manchester has saved herself by her exertions; she will save England by her example."

Pollings are fixed for today in twenty-one London districts and forty-seven provincial boroughs.

Liquor at "Mrs. Wiggs'."

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 16.—To the sale of liquor the home of Mrs. Mary Bass, the latter made known to the literary world by Alice Hegan Rice as "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," will hereafter be devoted—that is, if the license board grants the application of David Klotter for a license. Mrs. Bass said that some of her neighbors were inclined to object to the contemplated change, but she had lived there too long not to know that she could "twist 'em round her finger like a ring."

Contest for Police Head.

Paterson, Jan. 16.—There promises to be a lively time at the Board of Aldermen's meeting tonight over the selection of a new chief of police to succeed Chief Graul, who died a few weeks ago. The two prominent candidates for the place are Capt. Bimson and Detective Sergeant Taylor. Bimson is the choice of the Republican Aldermen and Taylor will receive the eleven Democratic votes. He must get one Republican vote besides to beat Bimson.

Big Price for Cranberries.

Mount Holly, Jan. 16.—Cranberry growers who held a portion of their stock, most of which was shipped at less than $2 a crate, are now getting a price that has not been known during the last twenty years. The rise in prices has been gradual since the crop was marketed, and the berries are bringing $5 and $6 per crate. But few berries, however, were held for speculation, as the rule is almost invariable.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

As Bayonne expects to have a semi-professional team this summer and play Sunday ball, Manager Frank Burke, of the Elizabethport Stars, will be obliged to secure another team, as his last season's aggregation will move to Bayonne.

After three months' reflection, Manager Denman, of Westfield, confessed to "Dave" Driscoll on a ferryboat in midstream, this week, that the team representing Plainfield last season was the strongest combination that ever took a field. Mr. Denman's verdict is just, in view of the fact that the heretofore invincible Westfield team was soundly trounced in six games out of nine played during the season.

The uncertainties of baseball was illustrated at Elizabeth last fall in a game the Plainfield team played against the Stars. "Red" Waller pitched both contests for the Stars. In the first game he struck "Pete" Kiernan out four times. In the second game Kiernan larruped the ball every time he came to the bat and plugged out a total of four hits for twelve bases, two home runs, a three bagger and a single.

Following the inspection supper was served in the banquet hall.

Last night they smashed the benches in their cells, and, thrusting the pieces between the bars, managed to wreck the washstand in the corridor and to do other damage, in all amounting to $30. Judge Mahon fined the prisoners $10 each and costs. Not having the money they were committed to jail for nine days.

JACKSON RENEWS FIGHT FOR FREE ANTI TOXIN.

Would Have Diphtheria Cure Within Reach of All—To Make State Board Manufacturers.

Senator Jackson, of Middlesex county, last night renewed the fight for free diphtheria anti toxin by introducing a bill in the Legislature covering the question. It follows:

"An act to provide for the free distribution of diphtheria anti toxin to the inhabitants of this State.

"Whereas, the preparation known as diphtheria anti toxin has become of vital importance in the treatment and prevention of the spread of diphtheria; but by reason of the cost at which the same may be purchased, it is impracticable to use same to any great extent; therefore,

"Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

"1. The State Board of Health shall provide such laboratory or laboratories, apparatus, materials and other requirements necessary to make or prepare and distribute diphtheria anti toxin to the inhabitants of this State.

"2. The State Board of Health shall make or prepare and distribute, without charge, in sufficient quantities, to supply the inhabitants of this State, diphtheria anti toxin in such manner, through local boards of health, or otherwise, as the said State Board of Health shall by rules determine.

"3. This act shall take effect immediately."

ARRESTED HIM ON A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Held Under Bonds in Connection With the Burning of Two Houses at Perth Amboy.

Perth Amboy, Jan. 16.—Frederick Christiansen was last Sunday placed under $500 bonds, pending an investigation of the charge that he started a fire which consumed two dwelling houses at Forestdale Heights, a suburb of this city, early Sunday morning.

The houses were owned by Albert Nelson, whose loss is about $4,000, covered by insurance. Three families were made homeless, their furniture being all destroyed, and of the three Christiansen was the only one who carried insurance.

He admits leaving a wedding party about 11 o'clock Saturday night, and says he rejoined the merrymakers about midnight. He was home in the meantime, and says he lay down on the bed and smoked a cigar. The fire was discovered about ten minutes after he left the house. Christiansen bears a good reputation and the charge has created a stir here.

W. G. DeMeza Gets Defendant Off.

Mr. DeMeza entered a plea of not guilty for his client, and showed that the complainant was one of the strikers and was the aggressor. After the court heard the evidence of the defendant's witnesses it dismissed the case.

Shoemaker was very unjustly used in that suspension matter. It was all a game of George Graham's, and people know it now. He didn't want Holmes to have counsel, in order to close up the case unopposed, and he set out to revenge himself on Mr. Shoemaker because he took the case. You know they plotted to entrap Mr. Shoemaker, and did it by sending a woman to his office to give him a false affidavit. George Graham has been shown up since and people know things about him now that they had no inkling of then. That affair made a lot of friends for Mr. Shoemaker; a good many people seemed to see through Graham's game.

"My husband is ready to answer any question he can about the case, and to say anything that is right about it. He is in New York today but will be home tonight at his regular time, between 6 and 7 o'clock. He will be in Philadelphia tomorrow, to see his mother, who is very sick. He should have gone there today, but has business to attend to."

"What is Mr. Shoemaker's business?" asked the Press man.

"He sells stocks and bonds."

"Has he an office in the city?"

"No, he has no office."

Merry Masqueraders Dance for Benefit of Local Society.

The annual masquerade ball of the Germania Beneficial Society was held in Saengerbund Hall last night. The committee in charge consisted of August Wolff, chairman; George Zepp, Vincent Wisniewski and Rudolhp Wuergler.

DEMANDS REMOVAL OF FAST LINE RAILS.

Freeholders To Take Up Case of Brunswick Pike Gas Main—Claim Damage Won't Be Repaired.

A notice has been sent to the Trenton and New Brunswick Fast Line company by Mercer County Solicitor Conard demanding the removal of rails from the Mercerville and Hamilton Square road. The rails were laid without permission of the authorities and definite action will be taken on the matter at a special meeting of the Board of Freeholders today.

The Mercer county board is to meet today to hear the report of the road committee concerning the plan of the Public Service Corporation in laying a gas main under the Brunswick pike. Action will be taken in regard to giving permission to the company to do the work. Since permission was asked last Tuesday at the regular monthly meeting of the board, much indignation has been aroused because some claim that the road, which was recently macadamized, would be damaged and the county would lose money, as the contractor who built the road has made an agreement to keep it in repair for a year. If the permission is granted, the contractor will not have to live up to his agreement.

Want Roosevelt Present.

Woodbury, Jan. 16.—The New Jersey State Commission on Red Bank Battle Monument yet hope to have President Roosevelt at the dedicatory ceremonies, which will take place at Red Bank in June next. At the recent conference with the President, the commission, composed of W. H. Albright, president; Wilson T. Jones, secretary, and Edward G. Miller, was informed that he could not promise to come, but gave the visitors the impression that he would consider carefully the invitation.

Property-Owners Receive Notices.

Property-owners in Park avenue, Stebbins place and Sycamore street, affected by the proposed improvements, received their notices today, informing them of the amounts assessed as benefits and damages. In certain quarters there was some fault-finding, but no serious trouble is anticipated. It is believed that a majority of the property-owners will abide cheerfuly by the decision of the commissioners.

Probation Officer in Attendance.

At the request of City Judge William N. Runyon, the probation officer will be in the police court here every Saturday morning. Either Mrs. Williamson or her assistant, Captain Irwin, will be present.

'VARSITY MEN'S PROGRAM

Mc Cready Sykes, Henry L. Hall and William N. Runyon to be the Speakers.

RESPONSES COMING IN

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the college smoker to be held at the Casino on Friday night, February 9, wishes it understood that the affair is not held for the purpose of forming a university club, but simply to bring together the college graduates and undergraduates in the city for a good time.

The programme, as thus far arranged, includes as speakers City Judge William N. Runyon, Harry L. Hall and McCready Sykes, while others from out of town are expected. There will be plenty of good music, vocal and instrumental. VanEps brothers will furnish a banjo quartette to enliven the occasion, while it is expected that vocal music will be furnished by quartettes from Yale, Cornell, Harvard and possibly Princeton.

Samuel St. John McCutchen, a Yale graduate, has consented to be the toastmaster, and he is now engaged in arranging the "toasts." Thus far it has been ascertained that there are 340 college graduates and undergraduates in town, and the list is not yet complete. Responses have been received from over seventy-five, and it is hoped to have more than twice that number at the smoker.

The committee is particularly anxious that all college fellows who intend to be present send their name and the necessary $1.75 to Owen Fleming, chairman, at the earliest possible date, so that it will be known definitely how many to provide for. The plan is to make the smoker the best thing of the kind ever given here and the committee feels as though it is up to every college man to help make it so.

COURT WATCHUNG, I. O. F., ENJOYS A GOOD TIME.

Has Entertainment and Smoker After Regular Order of Business.

Following the regular meeting, during which there was initiation, the members of Court Watchung, Independent Order Foresters, enjoyed an entertainment and smoker, last night, to which they invited their friends.

Music for the entertainment was furnished by two dark faced artists on a mandolin and guitar, and a programme of lively selections were given. A feature was the sleight-of-hand work of E. Warren Rankin, of Sandford avenue, who amused and mystified his audience with a great many clever tricks. Another enjoyable features was an acrobatic performance by Bert Hansen, of the Gesang and Turn Verein team. He gave a clever exhibition of his ability and received great applause.

While the programme was being enjoyed cigars were passed around and a social time enjoyed. Chief Ranger Hayes was in charge of the programme. Court Watchung now numbers over 100 and is steadily increasing in membership.

FLAG FOR HIGH SCHOOL.

Jr. O. U. A. M. to Make Gift for New Building.

Benevolent, Franklin and Somerset councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., will present a large American flag to the Plainfield Board of Education, to be displayed from the new High School when completed.

A joint committee from the three councils called on the board three months ago and suggested that they would like to furnish the flag for the new building. The offer was accepted and the committee was told that it would be notified as to the time of dedication of the building. The flag will be presented at that time.

Frank Bergen Will Speak.

In addition to those already mentioned as speakers for the annual banquet of the Board of Trade to be held at the Casino on Thursday night, January 25, Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, will respond. This banquet is not exclusively for the Board of Trade members, but interested citizens in general and as there are a limited number of tickets an early request is urged.

Joint C. E. Meeting.

There will be a joint meeting of the Intermediate, Junior and Senior Christian Endeavor Societies at the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday night. The leaders will be Mrs. W. S. Lowry and Miss Elinore Stutsman. The subject will be "Christ's Life."

JUNIOR COUNCILS PLAN BIG BANQUET

WILL BE HELD AT LOCAL HOTEL ON FEBRUARY 28.

For the purpose of increasing the interest among the members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. in this city a joint committee from Benevolent and Franklin councils is now perfecting arrangements for a banquet to be held at one of the local hotels on Wednesday night, February 28. It will be known as "The American Banquet of the Jr. O. U. A. M." and it is proposed to make it a great success.

The State officers, prominent officials in the State and county, as well as the city officials, will be among the invited guests and subjects of a public interest will be assigned to them. The speechmaking will be brief and to the point. Good music will be provided and it is hoped thereby to arouse the order to even greater things than heretofore attempted. There are about 700 members of the order here and of necessity tickets to the banquet must be limited. The control of the tickets will be in the hands of three members, to avoid any difficulties that might arise otherwise.

The committee in charge of the affair comprises Albert Honeyman, chairman; H. C. Runyon, secretary; T. E. Currin, treasurer; John G. Bicknell, Ephraim Compton and Alfred R. Tranchard. A meeting was held last night when considerable progress was made in perfecting the details.

The Parks took the second game by a score of 828 to 817, and the third game was lost by one pin, Cranford winning by a score of 845 to 844. In this game Barlow rolled 204. The work of the Parks throughout was strong and showed steady improvement. The scores:

MRS. MARGARET STONE DEAD.

Passed Away This Morning at the Home of Her Son on Putnam Ave.

Mrs. Margaret Stone, widow of Jacob Harvey Stone, died this morning at the home of her son, J. J. W. Stone, of Putnam avenue. She had been ailing for some time, but death was indirectly due to old age, having been in her ninety-first year.

Mrs. Stone came to this city from Hamilton, Ont., in 1886, and had made many friends during her local residence. She was a Methodist in faith and attended church regularly until infirmities prevented. Beside Mr. Stone, who is a lawyer practicing in New York, there are two daughters surviving—Mrs. Bartindale, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Jeffery, of New York.

The funeral service will be held at the convenience of the family, and interment will be made at Hamilton, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reinhart, of Belvidere avenue, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Anderson Reinhart, and William Maury Corbin, of Cincinnati, which will take place Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Grace church, to be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents at 9 o'clock. It will be a brilliant affair and largely attended by society people from this city and many distant points.

W. L. Saunders Likely to Dwell On Consolidation—Father Bogan's Subject Not Announced.

Details for the annual banquet of the Board of Trade to be held at the Casino on Thursday night, January 25, are being perfected and it is expected that the affair will exceed that of last year.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, will be the toastmaster, and it is understood that he will have something to say on the subject of the consolidation of Plainfield and the borough.

One of the principal speakers will be Senator T. J. Hillery, of Boonton, Morris county, who will talk on "Equal Taxation." "Good Roads" is the subject assigned to Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth. Father Bogan, of St. Mary's church, another speaker, has not yet announced his subject. It is understood that Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, who was invited, will not be able to attend.

The tickets for the dinner are limited and the committee is anxious that all who intend to be present make application as early as possible. An orchestra from New York will furnish music throughout the evening.

BOY CUT IN HALF.

School Child Killed by Trolley at Elizabeth.

Raymond Devine, aged seven years, of Elizabeth, met a horrible death shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, while on his way to school. He attempted to cross East Broad street and ran directly in front of a Jefferson avenue trolley car. The child was struck with such force that the body was cut in half and thrown to either side of the tracks.

The motorman did all in his power to avert the accident, but the boy was so close to the car that it struck him before he could fully apply his brakes.

Schwalbach Case Still On.

HIGH SCHOOL OPENING

Handsome New Structure is to be Dedicated on Washington's Birthday.

A FORMAL AFFAIR

Hundreds To Be Invited—$300 Subscribed for Alumni Reception—Public to Inspect Building.

After several disappointments, the city Board of Education has been informed that the new Plainfield High School will positively be completed next month and February 22 has been set as the date on which to carry out the plans for the formal dedication. The time was agreed upon last night and all arrangements are to be completed by the building committee, which was instructed to assume charge and select the speaker, preferably a graduate of the present High School.

The greater part of the regular adjourned meeting was taken up with a discussion of the new building and its opening and an active part was taken by Andrew McClean Parker, who was present as a representative of the Plainfield Alumni Association. He said it was the purpose of the organization to take charge of the reception in the evening and to have present, so far as possible, all the members of former Boards of Education, former superintendents, former teachers, graduates, present students and faculties. Letters had been sent out, he said, and more than 200 replies had been received and $300 subscribed. The money would be turned over to the board for its use in meeting reception expenses and indications point to the amount being doubled.

The board informed Mr. Parker that the building was to be open all day on the twenty-second and the public would be invited to inspect it.

It was thought the building could have been gotten ready for use by January 1 and the opening was originally planned for that date. Difficulty in obtaining materials held the contractors up and they were unable to complete the work but they stated positively that it will be done the first part of next month. Classes will be transferred from other buildings directly after the dedication.

Johnson had been on the run only since last summer.

SHOEMAKER IS CLEARED

District Attorney's Office Says It is Satisfied He Had no Part In Swindle.

HE EXPLAINS ALL

Promoter Talked Over the Case With Assistant District Attorney Garvan for Two Hours Yesterday.

William A. Shoemaker talked with Assistant District Attorney Garvan, of New York, for two hours yesterday, for the purpose of making it plain that he had nothing to do with the counterfeiting of the Norfolk and Western stock. After the interview Mr. Garvan said he was satisfied Mr. Shoemaker was innocent of any complicity in the counterfeiting plot.

He said, however, that he had evidence tending to show that Shoemaker had been dealing for a long time in old certificates of the company, which have been worthless since the reorganization of the Norfolk and Western in 1896.

The detectives say that Shoemaker went to Frank Bell & Co., brokers at No. 1416 South Penn Square, Philadelphia, about ten months ago and there presented one of the old certificates. He offered this as well as one of the old issue of the Baltimore and Ohio and a 5 per cent. bond of the State of South Carolina, both of which were practically worthless, and asked for a loan of about $400 on them. This was refused by the brokers.

In the statement made by Mrs. Shoemaker yesterday, it was voluntarily acknowledged that the promoter had sold old N. and W. bonds. Her husband, Mrs. Shoemaker said, had sold them for what they were.

CRAWLED HALF A MILE DRAGGING BROKEN LEG

PLAN ADOPTED BY FRANK MARIENSCHENCK TO REACH HIS HOME.

Suffering the most excruciating pain and at times half conscious from its effects, Frank Marienschenck, who resides on Jefferson avenue at the city line, dragged himself half a mile along a frozen road with his right leg broken just above the knee. At times he was compelled to stop from exhaustion, but after an hour's effort reached the porch of his home and attracted his wife's attention by shouting and pounding on the steps. She was unable to lift him up and had to call on neighbors for assistance to get him into the house. Dr. Gaston, of Dunellen, was summoned and after setting the limb took steps to prevent his suffering from the effects of exposure.

Marienschenck had been buying chickens from farmers at the foot of the mountains and was returning home by way of Jefferson avenue. Half a mile from where he resides there is a small bridge, and as he was crossing his his feet slipped, causing his right leg to double under him. The break was clean and it was several minutes before Marienschenck could recover himself sufficiently to know what to do. The road is frequented but little and knowing there was no chance of some one happening along he decided to crawl to his house.

He was resting easily today and to all appearances will recover fully.

The Narragansett Machine Company was awarded the contract for furnishing forty-two open lockers for $263 and the same concern is to supply the paraphernalia for the gymnasium.

GIFT OF EDUCATION BOARD'S FIRST REPORT

DOCUMENT DATED 1848 TO BE EXHIBITED IN NEW HIGH SCHOOL.

The city Board of Education received a communication from Counsellor William M. Stillman, last night, in which he made an offer to the members to present a framed copy of the first annual report of the Plainfield Board of Education, dated February 14, 1848. Mr. Stillman's family for three generations has been identified with local educational affairs and the Stillman High School was named after his father, Dr. C. H. Stillman, who was the first superintendent. Counsellor Stillman is a graduate of the class of 1872.

The report he mentioned is one that has been preserved in the family and is one of the few in existence. It is signed by Zachariah Webster, William Sutton, Jeese Vail, Robert Anderson, William Dunn, W. P. Williamson and Dr. C. H. Stillman. The members of the present board could not help making a contrast when it was stated that the report showed the expenditures for school purposes in Plainfield for the year ending February 1, 1848, were $629.25. The cost of the local schools last year was $118,000.

Mr. Stillman's offer was accepted with thanks and the report will be displayed in a conspicuous place in the new High School to be opened next month.

W. R. CODINGTON GETS STANBERY AUTOMOBILE

PAID $340 FOR IT AT ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF PERSONAL EFFECTS.

The home of the late William R. Stanbery, in Fanwood, was crowded yesterday when the administrator's sale of all the household goods and personal effects of the dead man was held. Among the things sold was the $1,400 Rambler touring car in which Mrs. W. A. Westphal was fatally hurt in Dunellen last summer, when Mr. Stanbery and Oscar Harrison came into collision.

The auto was bought by William R. Codington. He secured it for $340. The machine was run up and down the yard and in the road, and it acted as if gentle and healthy.

All the other effects were sold rapidly and at good prices. An unusual feature of the sale was the presence of more men than women. There were enough of the latter, however, to take up all the dishes, pictures and other household goods as fast as they were offered.

The sale was held to close up the estate. P. H. Latourette was auctioneer. E. M. Laing, the administrator, was in charge.

Garwood Strikers Return.

Owing to the failure of the Union to support them in their contentions, the men who left the Hall Signal Works at Garwood on strike Saturday, have returned to their places. According to the officials, the trouble was caused by a few dissatisfied employes, who induced others to join them in going out after making excessive demands that were refused. As the Union was not advised of the trouble until the men had struck, the organization refused to take any part in it. The company took back most of the strikers, but the leaders were told to look elsewhere for employment.

FOR ARMORY PROJECT

Company K. Will Put Proceeds of Annual Fair In Building Fund.

BANQUET AFTER FAIR

Many Five-Year Service Medals Will Be Presented at the Dinner—Re-enlistments Expected.

Company K has two big annual affairs on its mind. On February 17 it will start a week-long fair, and the company banquet will be held on February 26.

In the company councils the banquet is regarded as the biggest thing of the two, but more real interest, from the standpoint of the command's welfare, lies in the fair. The banquet will come and go and be more or less forgotten, but from the fair, it is expected, renewed impetus to the armory project, in which the company is very much wrapped up, will come.

Every cent netted from the fair will be placed in the armory fund. The company is determined to have a home of its own, and if the bazaar is as successful as it can easily be made, the hopes of the command will be vastly strengthened and put in a fair way to be realized.

The exercises at the opening of the regimental armory in Trenton last week, awoke renewed desires on the part of the company for a building all its own. Gov. Stokes spoke of the armory as the regiment's home, but the Plainfield command regards the place as nothing more than the armory of the Second battalion. The jubilation of the Trenton men made them more anxious than ever to build a place for themselves.

The dinner will be a great affair. Military guns of large calibre will grace it, and make impressive post prandial noises.

A feature of the occasion will be the presentation of five-year veteran medals to the men whose terms of service entitles them to the decoration. Many of the members will finish their periods of enlistment the night after the banquet. Very nearly all of them will re-enlist for a year.

RETURNED TRAVELLER TELLS OF FAIR SICILY.

Interesting Lecture Before Congregational Church Men's Club by J. M. Whiton.

J. M. Whiton lectured on Sicily before the Men's Club of the Congregational church last night. The meeting was open to the women of the congregation, and a large audience heard Mr. Whiton's very interesting discourse.

Mr. Whiton spent three months in Italy, last fall, and some of the fifty Sicilian views, with which his lecture was illustrated, were taken by himself. Just before he sailed for home from the port of Naples he met G. H. Frost, of this city, who is still touring in Italy.

Before the pictures were thrown on the screen, Mr. Whiton told what Sicily is, the character of her scenery and people, what she stands for in history and archaeology. The pictures included views of Palermo, Messina, Taormina, Catania Syracuse, of Mt. Aetna in various aspects, of Grecian temples and other scenes archaeologically interesting.

Other features of the entertainment besides the lecture were whistling solos by Mrs. C. A. Rice and piano solos by Miss Ida Lie, a pupil of Prof. Janke. Refreshments were served. The committee was made up of William McIntosh, G. T. Rhoades and A. R. Miller.

AGAINST NEW ELECTION LAW IN ORANGE.

Trustees Take Up the Question of Re-establishing Local Spring Voting.

South Orange, Jan. 17.—South Orange has taken the initiative in a determined movement to abolish the anti-spring election law, the successor of the iniquitous Meeker law, which consolidated the spring municipal with the fall general elections. At the recent election in South Orange the voters plainly expressed their disapproval of the law, which civic reform workers say stifles the good intentions of the independent voter with slightly partisan leanings.

Voters say the law drags into the field of partisan politics the local affairs of a municipality which should normally have no connection whatever with county, State or national politics.

The matter was discussed at the session of the South Orange village board of trustees last night. Village President Robert S. Sinclair, in his annual message, recommended that steps be taken to obtain the repeal of the law and the restoration of spring elections.

The trustees took up the matter before the meeting adjourned, and after some discussion decided to request the local Assemblymen and State Senattor to work for the repeal of the law. Mr. Sinclair was also instructed to get the other municipalities in Essex county interested, with the idea that the several governing bodies might work in concert in killing the iniquitous measure. Mr. Sinclair announced that he proposed to begin an aggressive campaign against the law.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Plainfield People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Plainfield.

G. R. Leland, of 423 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered as much as any person on earth from severe bachache, pains in my head and limbs, occasional dizzy spells, sensation of all goneness and a general loss of ambition and strength. I doctored but none of the medicines I used seemed to benefit me. On being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills I did so, and am glad to say that I met with most satisfactory success, as they drove away all my aches and pains and made me feel like a new man. I can but recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly and also willingly."

That merry, jingling, tuneful musical comedy, "Little Jhonny Jones," is playing to a capacity audience at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon. It will be presented again tonight, and the ticket sale indicates that the house will again be crowded. It is one of the largest shows of its kind on the road and should be missed by no one.

Tomorrow night at the New Plainfield theatre there will be given for the first time in this city the thrilling melodrama novelty, "No Mother to Guide Her," which Lillian Mortimer has written for her starring vehicle this season. It tells a story of a young girl betrayed under promise of marriage, her child stolen from her, and finding that death is preferable to her present condition, at this moment finds a friend true and steadfast in a girl of the streets, who gives her that aid and comfort that is so valuable to a woman in her condition. This new-found friend helps her to win the fight in the battle for existence and it is in this creature of the crowded tenements of the city that Miss Mortimer will no doubt add many friends to the host she has in this city.

The New Plainfield theatre will have one of the biggest successes of the season next Saturday afternoon and night, when the Arnold Daly company will present George Bernard Shaw's two most brilliant comedies, "You Never Can Tell" and "Candida." These two plays enjoyed a run of a season each at the Garrick theatre, New York, their production proving the noteworthy events in metropolitan theatricals during the past two years. Mr. Daly will appear in his original roles and will have the support of a company whose excellence is not exceeded by that of any other in the country. It includes Miss Katherine Grey, Miss Isabelle Urquhart, Miss Hungerford, Miss Bruna, John Findlay, George Farren, Dodson Mitchell, Fred Tyler, Joseph Maddern and others. "Candida" will be given at the matinee.

Wherever Ezra Kendall has appeared with "The Vinegar Buyer" he has been hailed with laughter and applause. Mr. Kendall will appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night. In this case it is the actor not the play that is the thing. Of course the "Vinegar Buyer" has a story, but what the audience really wants to hear are the quaint sayings and droll anecdotes which the comedian tells in his role as the general utility man of an Indiana village. Mr. Kendall has a large number of new tales in the budget which he will open for the entertainment of his Plainfield friends.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Ezra Kendall, the "comedian you all know," who is to appear at the New Plainfield theatre Monday night in "The Vinegar Buyer," has written the following "Kendallishs" exclusively for The Daily Press:

Coming from my home to the city one day on a local train a lady came into the car where I was.

She was followed by six children. Th' conductor says: "Excuse me, madam, is this your family or a picnic?" She says: "This is my family, and it's no picnic."

From where I stood the chicken looked like a test case to me.

I says: "Mister, when was the chicken cooked?"

He says: "This morning—it's cooked fresh every day." I says: "I don't doubt that, but when was it killed?"

Once, for a half hour, I stood at a front gate talking to a dog on a door step, without even making him wag his tail.

Finally th' lady of th' house raised th' window and I says: "Excuse me, madam, what kind of a dog is that?" She says: "It is zinc with a little iron mixed."

I had my eyes examined after that.

Before I forget it, let me call your attention to a city in this country, in which you have to keep sober to find your way home—Washington, D. C. "All th' streets, you know, are lettered from "A" to "Z".

I arrived there one morning about 4 o'clock. I couldn't remember the alphabet, and had to hang around until a school house opened up, then go in and learn my A-B-C's all over again before I could find my way home.

While standing on the corner of th' next street to "V" a lady came along and says to me: "Is this "U?" I says: "Yes(ma'am, I think it is." "Well," she says, "for an hour I've been looking for "U."

You all know where the Turkish bath is?

It's where all the blue bloods go for reincarnation after being assassinated with mixed drinks th' night before.

Were you ever aboard a buckboard? There's no box on the wagon, just a long board running from one end to the other, about the width of a circus seat, for you to sit on, if you can.

You sit sideways, slideways, and finish strideways—every time.

Whenever we struck a rut in th' road I bounced up into the air about ten feet, and spread out like a pair of scissors.

I looked like a flying machine.

I spent th' most of my time in th'

air riding on th' buckboard.

Once while I was in th' air th' old man says: "How do you like the buckboard?"

I says: "Great; I wouldn't miss it for th' world."

For I wasn't just sure where I would hit the world, if I missed th' board.

Now, how are you going to get a mix-up to hit anything like that all at once? Unless you travel with your feet out of th' window and your head on th' floor.

One rainy afternoon I had my loose change on a horse called Umbrella.

Then some one says: "See Umbrella closing up."

I couldn't see anything; everyone was standing up. As th' horses came under the wire a large, stout lady in front of me yelled, "Murder, watch, police!"

I says: "Is that the way they finished?"

I couldn't find those names on my programme at all. I could understand Murder being first, but I couldn't understand Police being one, two, three.

I always go to the Zoo on Sundays.

I feel more at home there than anywhere else.

As I was about to leave a gentleman says: "Don't be in a hurry, they're going to feed the animals now; it won't cost you anything." I says: "I'm just as much obliged, but I've had lunch."

Did you ever stop in one of those hotels where, instead of numbering th' room they name them after different cities and States—like "New York," "Boston," "Ohio," and so on?

I stopped in one last week, and at first I didn't know where I "was at." While I was registering my name th' clerk called a bellboy and says: "Here, boy, take these letters to Kansas City and take some drinking water to Missouri."

To another boy he says: "Show that lady in th' parlor to South Dakota and start a fire in Cincinnati."

Then he called another boy and says: "Bring the empty beer bottles out of Milwaukee."

Have you observed how the barber shop business has been expanding lately?

It used to be confined to the cranium, and narrowed down to shaving, shampooing and haircutting. But now from th' head see how it has spread.

From a clean shave to a Turkish bath.

And if you take the full course it costs you almost as much to get through a barber shop as it does to get through college.

One evening a composition of brightness and interestedness, in the person of a small boy, says to me: "Say, mister, will you let me in to see your show for a pineapple?"

"Well," I says, "most everything goes, but we ain't up to pineapples yet."

I says: "Here's a quarter, you buy yourself a ticket and I'll eat th' pineapple."

After th' show I met him again.

I says: "Johnnie, that pineapple was rotten."

He says: "So was the show."

And that held me for awhile.

TO TRY M. O. LIGHTING.

South Orange to Ask Privilege to Build Plant.

South Orange, Jan. 17.—Tired of paying homage to the Public Service Corporation, this village has at last decided to take steps toward establishing a municipal electric light plant for lighting the streets of the village and furnishing current to private consumers on the same basis as water is supplied to householders. The legislative committee of the village board of trustees has been instructed to proceed without delay to draw up a bill for introduction in the State Legislature which will give the village authority to construct and maintain a municipal plant.

Recently the village authorities have been allowing the Public Service Corporation to lay conduits and do a flourishing business in the village without a franchise or without paying the village anything or even guaranteeing it against harm. The company already has a lot of wires and conduits here, and those citizens who have severely criticised the trustees for their unbusinesslike course are beginning to predict that there will be a big fight when the municipal plant is established and the Public Service Corporation is called upon to vacate the streets.

Band of Girl Thieves.

According to the police of Gloucester City, Bella Pine, thirteen years old, now under arrest, has confessed that she is a member of a band of girl robbers which has committed many depredations. Among its offenses, the police say, was the robbery of the home of John O'Donnell last Sunday and the holdup of a child who was robbed of $6. The girl was held by Mayor Casey for further examination. The police are seeking the other members of the band.

WOULD ABOLISH FOOTBALL AT YALE

RADICAL ELEMENT IN THE FACULTY WANTS TO FOLLOW HARVARD'S PLAN.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 17.—An element at Yale wishes to follow Harvard's lead in reforming college sports, and especially football. A secret faculty meeting was held last Saturday, it was learned today, at which demands were made for action looking to general college changes, even to abolishing football and all college sports and gate receipts. The meeting was stormy and lasted nearly four hours. No vote was taken on any feature of athletic reform, the matter being left for a second meeting to be held next week.

The reform element took the lead in demanding changes quite as radical as that just put into effect at Harvard. A leading member of the faculty said today:

"The general conduct of athletic sports will be much changed at Yale, but I doubt whether football will be abolished."

If the movement in the Yale faculty for athletic reform goes through the action will amount to a turning against Walter Camp, Yale's athletic adviser and director for eight years, and will be virtually a repudiation of Yale's position before the Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee. The stand which has been taken by the Yale faculty is a surprise to the alumni in general, and many of them are expected to utter a protest before the faculty action is crystallized in a formal vote next Saturday.

Gets Damages in Assault Case.

Hackensack, Jan. 17.—The jury which has been hearing the evidence in the suit for damages because of an alleged assault brought by Miss Annette Coyen, of West Hoboken, against Cyprian Goussett, the candy manufacturer, of 139 Prince street, New York, whose country home is at Allendale, yesterday afternoon, brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $4,000. Miss Coyen sued for $100,000. Within an hour after the jury had rendered its verdict Gussett was served with notice that his wife had filed a suit for divorce.

Plainfield, N. J., January 17, 1906.

John L. Moody, of Cranford, wants the Democratic party in New Jersey reorganized. Reborn would be better.

Be it recorded that Ernest R. Ackerman introduced his first bill in the Senate. May Union county's representative introduce many more and may they all be good ones.

Today marks the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, whose services were second only to George Washington's in the cause of American Independence. In his day he was more familiarly known abroad than even the father of these United States.

Should the anti-fee bill, which Senator Jackson has introduced in the Legislature, become a law, Register Frank H. Smith, Surrogate Parrot, Sheriff Lawrence and County Clerk Calvert will each receive $6,000 a year. Some of these offices pay the incumbents more than that today.

Support will undoubtedly be given by the merchants and townspeople generally to the Board of Trade dinner, but to make the affair a decided success, every business man in the city should be present. The tickets can be had from any member of the committee, which includes Eugene M. Laing, Harry W. Marshall, DeWitt C. Ivins, L. B. Woolston and Amos Andrews. "Now is the time to subscribe."

SERVANT GIRLS' UNION.

Toledo to Regulate Hours of Work for the Country—Age Limit at 45.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 17.—Working women of Toledo have organized a labor union to be known as the Servant Girls' Union. The idea of unionism among servant girls is to be disseminated throughout the State and eventually the country. The head of the local union is Miss Lina E. Rochte, a servant employed in a Toledo family. In an interview today Miss Rochte said:

"We are going to solve the servant girl problem for ourselves. We are tired of selling flesh and blood for $3 a week. We are also going to decide who hours we shall have and see that the child labor law is enforced. No girl or woman under fourteen years of age or over forty-five will be admitted to the union. We are going to build a home so that when a girl gets out of work she will have a place to go."

WINS $4,000 AT ROULETTE.

Richard Carle, an actor, whose company closed its engagement in New York last week, took away with hime something more substantial than merely pleasant memories of Broadway in the shape of $4,000 won at roulette, which he played in O'Brien's gambling house, in Thirty-sixth street, New York.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday he watched the ball go 'round, and when he left the place he was never less than $1,000 winner. He used no system. When he showed any partiality in his play it was usually in favor of Nos. 28, 11 and 17, with a parting bet each day on No. 23. Red was his favorite color, and it "turned up" for him with surprising regularity.

Wants a Divorce.

Morristown, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Sarah Edith Porter, wife of Robert H. E. Porter, and daughter of the late Thomas Nast, the famous caricaturist, is suing her husband for divorce on the grounds of desertion and non-support. Mr. and Mrs. Porter were married at the home of the bride's parents, in this city, September 30, 1891, it being also the thirtieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Nast.

LIBRARY NOTES.

To many of the users of the Public Library, especially those living at a distance, it will be welcome news that a telephone has been installed in the library building. This has been decided upon with the object of adding to the library's efficiency in its service of the public.

To prevent possible disappointment, it should be stated at the outset, that this is an office telephone, and that inquiries as to whether or not a given book is "in," or whether or not some new novel has been added to the library cannot be answered, neither can books be reserved by telephone, thus eliminating such calls as, "Will you reserve Bernard Shaw's plays for me?" "Is the house of mirth in?" To undertake to answer such inquiries would make necessary the employment of an additional attendant, which is not practicable at present. Having made clear the nature of the questions which we cannot answer, we want the public to feel free to use it for any serious information which it is in our power to give. For example, such questions as whether the library contains anything on a given subject, or by a given author (provided it is not fiction, and it is especially wanted); for requests to have material gotten out on any given subject (thus saving the user's time, and enabling attendants to have all the material at the student's disposal when he calls); for requests to mail books, not fiction, when cards are at the library, in which case the borrower pays postage; for renewal of books, (though this is preferably done by mail); for use of teachers in public and private schools. It is especially desirable that teachers contemplating sending a class or large portion of a class to look up a given subject, should give timely warning to the library, both that the pupils may be better served, and for the prevention of cruelty to library assistants.

Anyone desiring to present money or books, or endow departments, or a children's library need not hesitate a moment as to the propriety of calling us up!

Seriously though, we want all citizens of Plainfield, whether library users or not, to feel free to make use of the library by this means for any serious purpose. In short, in addition to such business as is usually done by telephone, all questions ordinarily brought to the reference department; all that would save a busy man or woman a possibly unnecessary trip to the library, or time when there, all these may very properly be asked over the telephone.

It is especially hoped that requests at the library, for the use of the telephone, will not be made, as all such requests can be met only with refusal.

The necessity of refusing such requests will be obvious, as well as those relating to the asking of questions belonging to the delivery work.

IN STATE'S EMPLOY 40 YEARS.

Trenton, Jan. 17.—When Colonel Edward Fox, chief clerk of the executive department, entered his office yesterday morning he found on his desk a magnificent floral horseshoe bearing the figures 1866-1906.

This reminded him that yesterday was the fortieth anniversary of his entrance into the employ of the department. Mr. Fox was a drummer boy in the Union Army during the Rebellion, and in 1866 Marcus L. Ward, then Governor, appointed him chief clerk of the executive department, an office which he has filled ever since.

Governor Stokes was among the first to congratulate Mr. Fox on his long period in the service of the State. All day he was kept busy responding to the pleasant words said to him by members of the Legislature and prominent men from all parts of the State.

GOLD-LADEN MASHER.

Looked Like Common Wooden Instrument.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris, of Evona avenue, entertained a number of friends on Monday night, in observance of their fifth wedding anniversary. Music and refreshments were the features.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris received a wooden potato masher from Edward Lyman, of Newark, father of Mrs. Harris. A note accompanying the masher read: "Unscrew the handle." When Mrs. Harris did so, a big auger hole filled with $5 gold pieces, ten in all, was disclosed.

Murder Trial on January 29.

Freehold, Jan. 17.—The January grand jury made the first presentments yesterday, when it came before Justice Charles E. Hendrickson and handed up forty-nine bills of indictment. Among the bills found were indictments against Michael and Annelio Delauro and Joseph Scott, for the murder of Frank Rozzo at West Asbury Park, June 12 last, which indictment was quashed last week, on technical grounds. Annelio Delauro and Joseph Scott, who are in custody, were immediately arraigned. They again entered pleas of not guilty and trial date was set for Monday, January 29. The grand jury has not yet adjourned.

Harry Blimm is confined to the house by rheumatism. It is the second bad attack in two weeks.

CHURCH WON'T TRUST THOSE PASSING PLATES.

Each Factor Has Collectors, But Each Is So Suspicious Chancery Court Is Called In.

The Court of Chancery at Trenton was called upon yesterday to adjudicate the taking of a church collection, and the suit is one of the most unique in the history of Jersey litigation. Differences between factions of St. Peter and St. Paul Green Catholic church, Jersey City, led to the bringing of the suit.

As the result of the bill filed in chancery Vice Chancellor Garrison yesterday named, in an order from chancery, Frank A. Logan and Mitchell Bradley to take up the collections next Sunday in the church and turn the money over Monday to Frank P. McDermott, master in chancery, by whom it is to be held until further orders from the court.

This unusual proceeding is the outcome of a split in the congregation of the church, which resulted in the appointment of two sets of collectors.

After the naming of the collectors by the congregation a feeling of distrust grew and then the whole matter was sent into the Court of Chancery.

USE OF DECOY LETTERS.

Judge Lanning Urges Careful Consideration on Improper Use of Mails.

In charging the grand jury at the opening of the January term of the United States District Court at Trenton Monday morning Judge William M. Lanning referred to the use of the United States mails for sending improper literature and postal cards.

Judge Lanning said that heretofore grand juries have refused to indict cases brought before them because the defendants had been trapped by decoy letters, and that this method was considered unfair by the jurors. The judge commented that the Federal postal authorities have found the improper use of the mails a growing evil, and suggested that if cases of this character are given the grand jury careful attention should be accorded.

Elections in England.

London, Jan. 17.—There were a few bits of cheer for the Conservatives in the election returns last night, but there was no important change in the course the election had followed in the preceding days. When the polls closed last night 247 members of the House of Commons had been chosen, of whom only fifty-two are Conservatives. The 195 Ministerialists are made up of 127 Liberals, thirty Laborites and thirty-eight Nationalists.

HUDSON RIVER SPANS ARE WANTED.

Joint Resolution Appears for Joint Jersey-N. Y. Commission to Suggest Legislation.

Trenton, Jan. 17.—Senator Minturn, of Hudson county, introduced a joint resolution yesterday morning setting forth that since the necessities of interstate commerce and the convenience and safety of the people residing in the neighborhood of the Hudson River demand a more modern, rapid and economical system of transit to the city of New York than by the slow, antiquated and dangerous system of ferryboats, the Governor of the State of New York and with the Legislature of the State of New York during its present session, for the purpose of securing the passage of an act by the Legislature of the State to provide for the appointment of a joint commission, under proper legislation in both States, for the purpose of purchasing the necessary land and water rights and of securing the necessary Federal consent to the construction of one of more bridges over the Hudson River from the cities of Jersey City and Hoboken to the City of New York, at the joint expense of the two States.

The resolution provides that the commission shall report to the next session of the Legislature and shall present such form of proposed legislation as may be desirable and necessary for the purpose. The commissioners shall receive the sum of $100 each for their disbursements and expenses for clerk hire, which latter expense shall not exceed $100.

TROLLEY EXTENDED TO UNION.

Morris County Traction Company Opened Easterly Line Monday.

The Morris County Traction Company, which has built and is operating a trolley line through Main street, Millburn, from the Lackawanna Railroad station to Morris avenue, Springfield, Monday afternoon opened the line east to the old Meeker Inn in Union, a distance of about two and one-half miles. Two cars made the initial trip, one in charge of Assistant Manager W. H. Trapwell, Chief of Police Oliver and General Superintendent John Crox, the other with Freeholder William H. Swain, B. L. Farrell and Ernest Hopler in charge.

Luncheon was served at the Meeker Inn prior to the return trip and pictures of both cars and their occupants were taken. From now on cars will be run over this line on regular schedule.

CLERGY WOULD SAVE GIRLS FROM RUIN.

Monsignor Sheppard Consults Priests About Bill Regulating Places Where Misses Drink.

Monsignor John Sheppard, of St. Michael's Catholic church, Jersey City, vicar general of the diocese of Newark, and Father Ryan, of St. Bridget's church, Jersey City, went to Trenton Monday afternoon and met with Bishop McFall at the episcopal residence, in conference over the question of proposed legislation on the liquor traffic. The committee of priests came to consult with the bishop at the request of Bishop O'Connor, of the Newark diocese.

Monday evening Bishop McFaul gave to a reporter this statement in regard to the conference: "The whole question was discussed in every detail with Counselor Peter Backes, of this city, as legal adviser, and the conclusion reached was that other denominations should be requested to assist in the drafting of a suitable bill to regulate the sale of intoxicants and the suppression of places where young girls are ruined by the excessive use of liquor."

The movement for a greater restriction of the liquor traffic in this State originated in Hudson county. The Catholic rectors of Jersey City and Hoboken formed a union, of which Monsignor Sheppard is president, the object of which is to work for the correction of abuses in the liquor traffic through restrictive legislation. A tentative bill has already been drawn and on this will be based the measure which will be presented to the present Legislature.

The bill defines as an intoxicating liquor any drink or beverage containing 1 per cent. or more of alcohol, which includes spirituous liquors, wines, beer, porter, cider and cordials.

In all cities of the first, second and third classes the bill provides that there may not be more than one saloon for each 1,000 inhabitants and the license fee shall be $1,000.

No intoxicating liquor within the definition specified shall be sold in any saloon from 11 p. m. to 6 a. m. on week days and from 11 p. m. on Saturdays to 6 a. m. Mondays.

Exception is made in the case of hotels, genuinely licensed as such, in which intoxicants may be sold to guests only from 6 a. m. to 11 p. m. Sundays and on week days between the same hours.

As a further precaution for the strict enforcement of Sunday closing the bill provides that the interior of licensed premises must not be obscured from outside view by any shade, curtain, stained glass, screen or partition of any kind, or other obstruction.

The proposed penalty for violation of any of the foregoing provisions is forfeiture of license and a fine of not less than $50 or more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one month or more than six months. Such licensee shall also be disqualified from obtaining a new license for a period of one year after the date of his conviction.

No one holding a license shall permit a person under eighteen years of age behind his bar to sell liquor under a penalty of not more than $100. Any holder of a license who shall sell liquor to a minor, either for the use of the latter or for that of his parents, or other person, or who shall permit a minor to loiter on the premises, shall be liable to a fine of $100 for each offense.

World's Richest Merchant Dead.

Marshall Field, of Chicago, the richest merchant in the world, the largest individual taxpayer in the United States, and, perhaps, the third wealthiest citizen in the country, died at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Holland House, New York, of exhaustion following pneumonia. Nearly all of the great merchant's relatives and friends were with or near him when the end came. Not long before his death he lapsed into a state of coma, and remained unconscious to the end. He was born a poor boy and died worth $150,000,000.

A SOLDIER'S ACT ONLY BOYISH PRANK.

Dryden Bill to Correct Newark Man's Civil War Record—An Asbury Park Bill.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Senator Dryden has introduced a bill to remove the charge of desertion standing against the record of Charles H. Callin, of Newark. Mr. Callin enlisted when only seventeen years old in Company F, Eighty-seventh New York Infantry. A few months thereafter he was seriously sick in a hospital, at which time, he claims, his captain visited him and advised him to go home and remain until he was fully recovered. He went home, and four months later re-enlisted in the First New Jersey Cavalry. Still later he learned that he was charged on the records of the War Department with desertion from the New York regiment. As he served faithfully and almost continuously, Mr. Callin believes he should be forgiven for his boyish mistake, and have his record cleared of any real intention to desert.

Senator Dryden has also introduced a bill to increase to $25 the pension of Helen C. Anderson, of East Orange.

Congressman Howell has introduced a bill providing for a public building at Asbury Park, to cost $75,000.

Mr. Howell has also introduced bills to increase the pension of Wesley Layton, of Long Branch, from $10 to $24 a month, and of Mrs. Martha W. Wright, of Asbury Park, from $8 to $12 a month.

Mr. Howell has presented petitions from citizens of New Brunswick and Ramsey for the restriction of immigration; also a remonstrance of the Cigar Makers' Union of New Brunswick against the passage of the pending Philippine tariff bill.

Mr. Howell has also filed a letter from Professor J. M. Green, of the State Normal School of Trenton, asking for Congressional support of the bill for the incorporation of the National Educational Association.

BEATTY NOT ABUSED IN MORRIS ASYLUM.

Freeholders Find Charges of Broken Ribs False—Hospital May Be Investigated.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Five members of the Warren County Board of Freeholders went Monday to Morris Plains Hospital as a special investigating committee in the case of ex-Mayor Jacob H. Beatty, of Hackettstown, who asserted he was beaten by attendants and had some of his ribs broken.

Dr. Hoagland, county physician of Warren county, had Beatty stripped, and he and Dr. Van Syckle, presen Mayor of Hackettstown, examined Mr. Beatty and found no evidence of broken ribs nor any bruise whatever. Beatty is utterly irresponsible and his mind is gone.

Dr. Evans, superintendent of the asylum, courted an investigation. The Freeholders were convinced there was nothing in the charges, but Dr. Van Syckle says a petition will be presented to Senator Cornish asking the Legislature for a thorough investigation of affairs at the State Hospital and Dr. Evans' methods and treatment of patients.

Order of Heptasophs Loses.

Chief Justice Gummere filed in the Supreme Court at Trenton Monday an opinion giving judgment for the plaintiff on a demurrer in the suit of Mrs. Margaret Sautter, of Newark, against the Supreme Conclave, Improved Order of Heptasophs. The decision is important in that it has a bearing upon the contracts of insurance-paying fraternal orders of the State. Under the decision, Mrs. Sautter wins the preliminary round in the litigation, and the suit must now be tried on its merits.

Charles L. Turrill, of Grove street, sailed today on the steamship Carpathia for Naples. He will spend a month in Italy, Switzerland and Germany.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Business Bulletin, No. 2.

Books for Printers.

Inland Printer: a monthly periodical.

It aims to furnish the latest and most authoritative information on all matter relative to the printing trades and allied industries. It has departments devoted to machine composition, press room, job composition, lithography, proof room, electrotyping and stereotyping, newspaper work, ascertaining cost, advertising, question box, specimens, process engraving, correspondence, etc.

The library circulates unbound numbers of this periodical (except current numbers), and the volumes when bound. This is a periodical with which everyone engaged in any branch of printing should be familiar.

An illustrated dictionary of printing terms, and of practically everything connected with the subject of printing. More than a mere dictionary, as it goes into methods and systems, and gives much space to historical matter.

De Vinne, T. L.—Modern methods of book composition. 1904.

A treatise on type-setting by hand and by machine, and on the proper arrangement and imposition of pages. Written since the common use of the linotype machine:

"There is nothing else just like it, and it has been highly commended by every expert and critic who has seen it. Mr. De Vinne is everywhere recognized as the highest authority on the subject about which he writes."

By the founder of the De Vinne press. Every chapter has been reviewed by experts in the different branches of printing. Contains an illustrated description of the tools, processes and systems of typemaking, the names and descriptions of all sizes of book types, with specimens of each, also illustrations of the more important styles of Roman, italic, black and display letters for book printing. Contains information not to be found in the ordinary grammars of printing.

Gould, Joseph. — Letter-press printer, a comprehensive guide to the art of printing, containing practical instructions for learners at case, press and machine. Ed. 5. 1898.

Contains chapters on book work, job work, color printing, technical terms, etc.

Chapters on composition, jobbing work, newspaper work, proof-reading, press work, papers, etc. Written since the introduction of the linotype machine.

Urquhart, J. W.—Electrotyping, a guide to the reproduction and multiplication of printing surfaces and works of art by the electrodeposition of metals.

Interesting to those who wish to know something of the evolution of the printing machines. Too early for a description of the linotype machine.

Historical Works on Printing.

Those interested in the historic of printing will care to read:

Humphrey's, H. N.—History of the art of printing from its invention to the middle of the 16th century.

Phillimore, C. M.—Prince printers of Italy.

Accounts of some of the familiar early Italian printers, Aldo Manuzio, Paolo Manuzio and the Giunti family. Of interest to those who wish to know something of the history of the art.

Prof. Fisher Mayor.

Middletown, Conn., Jan. 17.—Full returns from the city election held here Monday show that Prof. Willard C. Fisher, of Wesleyan University, was elected Mayor on the Democratic ticket. He took the oath of office Monday evening. He won out by forty votes over the Republican candidate, Capt. T. McDonough Russell. The Democrats elected the whole of their ticket with the exception of the assessor, which fell to the Republicans. The total vote cast for Mayor was: Democratic, 809; Republican, 769.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Antenna Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Antenna Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." FOR THE GENTLER SEX

ADVICE TO WOMEN WELL WORTH READING

GIVEN BY A "MERE MAN" WHO THINKS HE KNOWS THE SEX.

Here is some carefully thought out advice for the unfortunate woman of pet hallucinations who imagines she is the victim of oppression and especial persecution at the hands of fate; who believes that she has been mismated and that marriage is, after all, a failure of the dismal dyed-in-the-wool sort; who thinks her husband's sole ambition is to deny her everything she desires, including the right to be happy in her own sweet way, says the San Francisco Call.

They are written by a mere man of common experience, a bald head and a mite of wisdom, whose mother, a true woman of the old school of rawhide and no-nonsense-around-the-house amenities, early trained him in the noble art of knowing his place in the domestic circle:

Take in that washing.
Be ladylike.
Don't trump your partner' ace.
Don't snore.
Carry your own tally punch.
Read the "Simple Life."
Forget it.
Blame it on central.
Step telling people that you haven't a bug in the house.
Don't bite your nails.
Quit talking over the backfence.
Do your manicuring in private.
Remember you promised to obey him.
Ring off.
Remember you're not a Gibson girl.
Sell the punch bowl.
Quit the C. O. D. habit.
Give the parrot a chance.
Remember not to smile when your false teeth are at the dentist's.
Chuck the kimono.
Keep that stocking pulled up,
Stop sassing the gas man.
Learn to knit like grandma.
Leave the peroxide alone.
Make a cake once in a while like mother made.
Or a pie.
Or some biscuit.
A doughnut or two.
Or even a bean stew.
Let the dead past bury its dead.
Don't play euchre for charity.
Don't whistle at the milkman.
Dust off your Bible.
Don't take beauty naps before the dishes are washed.
Chew your food thoroughly.
Chew it thirty times.
Chew it forty times.
Chew it fifty times.
By doing this you will give your husband a much needed rest and at the same time cure that dyspepsia.
Shed that red wrapper.
Take your physical culture in the kitchen.
Don't buy what you don't need, even if it is a bargain.
Look your prettiest at all times.
Don't argue with the cook.
Remember that even your friends have feelings.
Lay the duster down before you take up the novel.
Save your smiles for your husband; the letter-carrier his a wife of his own.
Try to look wise.
Quit calling at the top of your voice from the front window for "Hennery" when the minister calls in the afternoon.
Don't let small things annoy you; not even the instalment man.
Use a button-hook for those top buttons.
Shake the matinees.
Do something.
Do nothing.
Do as you like.

WHAT A WISE WOMAN KNOWS.

That to be witty at the expense of somebody else is positive cruelty.

That the ability to keep a friend is of much more value than that required to gain one.

That personalities are not always interesting and very often tiresome as well as offensive.

That a kind word put at interest brings back an enormous percentage of love and appreciation.

That to talk and talk and talk about herself and her belongings is very tiresome to people who listen.

That, though a loving thought may not seem to be appreciated, it has yet made her braver and better because of it.

That to learn to talk pleasantly about nothing in particular is a great art and prevents saying anything she might regret.

That to be always polite to the people at home is not only more womanly and sweet, but more refined than having "company" manners.—New York Press.

MOTOR CYCLIST IS MULCT $200 BY HORSE OWNER.

Newton, Jan. 17.—The first action to be brought in Sussex county under the automobile act, passed by the Legislature in 1905, was tried before Justice of the Peace Gabriel B. Dunning, in this place, Monday, and resulted in a decision in favor of the plaintiff claiming damages.

The suit was brought by James H. Ayres, of Branchville, and was to recover damages for the loss of a horse and the smashing of a carriage in a runaway accident caused, it is alleged by the plaintiff, by the horse becoming frightened by a motor cycle, operated by George Fulboam, of Branchville.

The accident took place in Washingtonville, between Newton and Branchville, on November 13. Mrs. Ayres and a neighbor were on their way to Newton, driving. According to their story, they met the defendant in Washingtonville, and while in the act of passing, Fulboam did not have the power turned on his machine. Just as he had passed, however, it was claimed that he turned on the power, and the noise of the explosions greatly frightened the horse, which began to plunge.

The plaintiff's witnesses went on to say that just after Fulboam had passed a rider of a bicycle of the ordinary type came along and met the horse, which turned abruptly, upsetting the carriage and throwing the occupants out. They were not badly hurt, but the carriage was wrecked, and the horse received such injuries that it had to be shot.

The defendant's story, substantially, was that he had passed Mrs. Ayres and her companion quietly, and had gone a little distance beyond them when he had turned on his gasolene. He went on toward Branchville, not knowing of the accident until informed of it later.

The plaintiff testified as to the horse being gentle and not afraid of automobiles, or so far as was known, of motor cycles, and in the present case had not showed more than a little nervousness as Fulboam passed, until the power was turned on. The plaintiff insisted that the accident was caused by the defendant's negligent operation of his machine.

Two lawyers appeared for each side, and the trial drew a number of interested spectators, including several automobilists. Squire Dunning gave his decision in favor of the plaintiff for $200. A notice of appeal was immediately filed by the defendant's counsel, and the matter will be further contested in a higher court.

NEWSPAPERS.

Striking Things That Great Men Have Said About Them.

A correspondent requests that we print some of the striking things great men have said about newspapers—that is, sayings that embody the purpose and doings of the press. With pleasure.

Bryant said: "The press is good or evil, according to the character of those who direct it. It is a mill that grinds all that is put into its hopper. Fill the hopper with poisoned grain, and it will grind it to meal, but there is death in the bread."

James Parton said: "The newspaper press is the people's university. Half the readers in Christendom read little else."

Jefferson said: "The basis of our government being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right, and were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers with a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."

Cardinal Gibbons said: "The dread of exposure in the public press keeps many a man sticking close to the path of rectitude who otherwise would stray off into the byways of graft."—Chicago Journal.

Conscience Money.

Comptroller Herman A. Metz, of New York, received yesterday by mail, in an envelope directed "Department of Finance, City of New York, 57 Chambers street, New York," $12 in bills and 22 cents in stamps, with the following memorandum: "In making a return of personal property for 1905 about $800 was overlooked. Amount due on same, with interest at 7 per cent., is handed you with this, say $12.22." Comptroller Metz turned the contribution into the city treasury.

Colonel Collins Gets Silver Gavel.

Elizabeth, Jan. 17.—Colonel Dennis F. Collins can evidently count upon the support of the women of his ward during his term of office as president of the City Council, because when he took his seat in Council Monday night he not only had his desk decorated with pink roses, but also has a fine new silver gavel, both of which were presented to him by "the ladies of the Wednesday Night Club," of which the colonel and his wife are members.

Party Needs Followers.

In the opinion of the Summit Record, which ought to know what it is talking about, the Democratic party in Union is urgently in need of followers more than leaders. Now let Chairman Moody take the hint and produce the right kind of music to attract the multitude. He can't get followers by drafting.—Newark News.

STOLEN GOODS RECEIVER JUMPS $2,000 CASH BAIL.

Bernard Ehrlich Leaves Country in Preference to Standing Trial.

Bernard Ehrlich, of 143 Broome street, New York, who was indicted by the Essex county Grand Jury for receiving goods stolen from the Singer Manufacturing Company, at Elizabeth, and was held in $2,000 cash bail to answer the charge, has fled the country, and is now supposed to be in Austria. The stolen goods, which consisted of sewing machine parts, were filched from the stock room of the Singer plant by Frederick Merker, who was in the employ of the company close to thirty years, disposed of by him to Samuel Neuwirth, a saloonkeeper in Summer avenue, Newark, and sold by the latter to Ehrlich.

Both Ehrlich and Neuwirth were to have stood trial in the Court of Quarter Sessions in Newark yesterday morning. When Ehrlich's name was called Assistant Prosecutor W. A. Mott announced that the defendant was not in court, and that it was pretty definitely known he had left the country after selling his real estate and all his other property. Judge Ten Eyck then ordered his bail forfeited.

The case against Neuwirth was postponed to a later date because of the illness of his counsel, Louis Hood. Neuwirth was in court. He has been at liberty since the indictment under $2,000 bail.

LOVER KILLS HUSBAND.

Confesses That He Put Body of Victim on Railroad Track.

Bloomfield, Jan. 17.—Frank Banasik is under arrest here on the charge of having murdered Thomas Hoff on January 7 last. The victim's wife is also under arrest, and the police say that both she and Banasik have made confessions. The woman, according to the police, was the first to break down; then Banasik, on being confronted with her statement, told the whole story of how he had plied his victim with liquor until he was helpless, then brained him with a mallet and afterward placed his body on the Lackawanna tracks.

The body of Hoff was found on the tracks about 300 yards below the station here January 7. The police say that in his confession Banasik stated that it was his love for Mrs. Hoff, whom he desired to marry, that caused him to commit the crime.

—Albert Koch, formerly with R. H. Keenan, of East Fifth street, is now employed by his brother, John Koch, the Watchung avenue butcher.

—The gas and electric light offices of the Public Service Corporation are now located on East Front street, in the store formerly occupied by Horace Sherwin, the shoe merchant.

TO SELECT A SITE FOR INTERCOLLEGIATE TRACK MEET

Philadelphia, Jan. 17.—The question as to where the next intercollegiate track meet will be held is troubling the officers and the executive committee of the I. A. A. A. A.

The executive committee last year decided that the games should not be continued at Franklin Field, Philadelphia; but further than that nothing has been done. The matter is in abeyance, and will have to remain so until the next executive committee is elected, at the annual meeting of the association, the last Saturday in February, the present executive committee having no power to award the meet of 1906 to any city or otherwise direct its management.

The problem for the new committee is a serious one; there are so many conflicting interests. It is generally felt that New York ordinarily should have the meet, being central. But New York has no suitable accommodations for track athletes.

The sentiment is growing that the meet should be held on some college field. When the Harvard Stadium was built, capable of seating nearly 30,000 persons, Cambridge was looked upon as an ideal place for the contest. In fact, the 1904 executive committee recommended Cambridge, but the next committee turned the proposition down and selected Franklin Field. Yale objected to any advantage being given to Harvard. It is thought now that it will be a good idea to hold the meet at a different college each year.

BASKET BALL.

The first of a series of games between the girls teams, P. H. S. 2d and the Whittier School, will be played in the Hope Y. M. A. gymnasium tomorrow afternoon. This will be the first game when outsiders will be admitted.

ONE ANTI-FEE BILL SURVIVES.

Senator Jackson Introduces It After Two Others Withdraw Measures.

Trenton, Jan. 17.—The poker-like tactics which Senators Hutchinson and Jackson have been indulging in over the bill to place all county officers on a salary, have been abandoned. Monday afternoon the two Senators got together her and were joined by Assemblyman Wright, of Passaic, who also had a salary bill which he intended to introduce. The three concluded that better results could be accomplished by having only one instead of three bills before the Legislature, and after some Alphonse and Gaston business it was decided that Senator Jackson should introduce the measure. Mr. Jackson did so Monday night with grateful acknowledgments of the magnanimity of his fellow-Senator and the gentleman from Passaic.

The bill which Mr. Jackson finally placed before the Senate differs somewhat in the schedule of salaries from the one he had prepared. It abolishes the fee system of paying surrogates, registers of deeds and mortgages, county clerks and sheriffs, and provides salaries as follows: In counties having 150,000 to 200,000 inhabitants, $6,500; in counties of from 100,000 to 150,000 inhabitants, $6,000; in counties of from 75,000 to 100,000 inhabitants, $3,500; in counties of from 50,000 to 75,000 inhabitants, $3,500; in counties of from 25,000 to 50,000 inhabitants, $2,000; in counties of less than 25,000 inhabitants, $1,500.

Boy Pupils Intoxicated.

Trenton, Jan. 17.—On the charge of Dr. R. W. Swetland, head master of Peddie Institute, a Baptist preparatory school at Heightstown, that young boy pupils of that institution were being made intoxicated by liquor sold them at the hotel of Fannie Lantz, in Hightstown, that woman's application for a renewal of her license was held up yesterday by Judge John Relistad, in the Mercer County Court. The Judge also increased the borough's license fees from $300 to $400, the latter being done at the request of the Common Council of that place.

Cleveland Sick of Job.

Friends of Grover Cleveland said yesterday that he was heartily sick of his $12,000 a year position as rebate referee for the Equitable, Mutual and New York Life Insurance companies. Mr. Cleveland, it is said, told Paul Morton, president of the Equitable, on Monday, that he would like to be released from the position. Mr. Morton, it was stated, begged him to remain and give the place a further test.

DITCH THE CAUSE OF CLASH OF AUTHORITY.

Hot Battle Waged Between Contractors and Township at Bernardsville Ends in Arrest.

Bernardsville, Jan. 17.—The usual quietude of Bernardsville was disturbed Monday by an exciting conflict of authority between J. Westlecraft & Sons, carpenters and builders, and the Township Committee. For some time the former have been engaged in constructing a row of nine stores, with flats overhead, on the northerly side of the park. Monday a force of about twenty Italians was employed by Westlecraft to break ground for the purpose of laying drain pipe near the store of William R. Bromfield, in Main street, covering a distance of about 200 yards. The work of opening the ditch was in charge of Charles Westlecraft, junior member of the firm, assisted by H. W. Hoffman, superintendent.

The Township Committee was called together, and after a brief conference Westlecraft was ordered to desist. This was met by him with the statement that he was operating under a privilege granted by the former committee, by virtue of which he was justified in his procedure. The operating force was therefore ordered to go ahead with its picks and shovels. David Buist, chairman of the Township Committee, pressed into service about a dozen Italians, who lost no time with their shovels in an endeavor to replace the earth that had been excavated, while the Westlecraft force was doing its best to throw the dirt out faster than it was thrown in.

While this was transpiring the committee telephoned to Richard V. Lindabury, its legal adviser, in Newark, for instructions. At this juncture young Westlecraft repaired to Basking Ridge, the home of the township clerk, to obtain from him a copy of the minutes wherein the alleged privilege had been granted.

In an interview with Chairman Buist he explained that although the former committee had not issued a permit to Westlecraft, it had by resolution indicated its willingness to authorize the work, provided no objections were raised by adjoining property owners, and that the matter be again referred to the committee for final action. The chairman maintained that as these requirements had not been complied with, and in view of the present

NOW.

If you have hard work to do,
Do it now.
Today the skies are clear and blue,
Tomorrow clouds may come in view,
Yesterday is not for you;
Do it now.

If you have a song to sing,
Sing it now.
Let the notes of gladness ring
Clear as song of bird in spring,
Let every day some music bring;
Sing it now.

If you have kind words to say,
Say them now.
Tomorrow may not come your way,
Do a kindness while you may,
Loved ones will not always stay;
Say them now.

If you have a smile to show,
Show it now.
Make hearts happy, roses grow,
Let the friends around you know
The love you have before they go;
Show it now.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, addressed the pupils of the North Plainfield High School this morning, his remarks being appropriate to the observance of the 200th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin. He gave a general account of the early life of Franklin, his rise and achievements and the part he took in politics, science and literature. JAGUAR AND ALLIGATOR.

Supposed to Be the Only Animal That Knows How to Attack the Saurian.

The most interesting thing about crocodiles and alligators, declares the author of "The Romance of the Animal World," is the way they get their food. This they do mostly, and by preference, in the water; but they have also a habit of lying in wait upon the mud of river banks until some animal approaches sufficiently near to be within their reach.

Lying sunk in the mud, and of the color of mud themselves, they may well be mistaken for a log. A wild pig or some other animal fond of rooting in the mud, sees the long, shapeless object, but is not disturbed by it as he roots happily among the reed beds. He looks up suddenly to find that the log has moved. One end of it, the longest, thinnest end, the tail, is gliding away in a curve; but like an arrow loosed, it flies back and meets the body of the pig with a tremendous sideways blow and the poor pig falls in a heap.

With a sudden, swift rush the alligator is upon him, and seizing the body by the skin, which it holds puckered up between its front teeth, it shakes it furiously, as a terrier would a rat, and then half drags, half pushes it before it as it crawls through the mud to the water's edge.

There is only one wild animal, says the author, that will purposely attack an alligator, anad that is the jaguar of South America. The jaguar springs on the back of the alligator and with all his might tears at the roots of the reptile's tail. This, possibly, is with the idea of paralyzing that member and thus rendering it incapable of rendering those mighty sweeps from side to side which are more to be feared than even the great armed jaws.

The fear of both these weapons may deter the Jaguar from clawing the throat of the saurian, for were he to be shaken off in the latter struggles, he would be more exposed to either than if he fell farther back.

Instances of the jaguar's success in destroying the alligator are given by various observers.

WAS PAST RESUSCITATION.

The Court Could Not Err, So the Claimant Was "Extinctus Defunctus."

In the days of the first settlers in the Chickasaw country, when Davy Crockett still frequented the Big Hatchie, "Old Man Giddings" was a prosperous citizen of the Forked Deer settlement. One day he started on a trip to Arkansas, and thenceforth for several years Forked Deer knew him no more.

As travel in Arkansas was dangerous, and as nothing was heard of Giddings, he was officially declared dead by the court, and his estate divided among his heirs. A year or so later, however, he turned up and tried to get possession of his property. He was promptly seized and taken into court.

"What do you mean by coming round here, trying to take this property?" roared the court at him.

"It's my property," asserted Giddings. "Everybody knows it's mine."

"Not at all," replied the judge. "I'll admit your case seems a hard one, but it can't be helped now. This court has decided that you are extinctus defunctus, which is Latin for dead. This court cannot err. Dead you are. If you want any property around here you must take another name and set to work to earn it. Mr. Sheriff, adjourn this court, and we will all go and see that wrestling match you spoke of."

WHEN NATURE AWAKES.

Hour Between Midnight and Daybreak That Is a False Dawn.

There is one hour of the night between midnight and morning—two o'clock, to be accurate—when all nature is astir. The cowboys and the shepherds and the old country folk tell us about it. This hour is heralded by the rooster crowing, not this time to announce the hour of dawn, but as though he were a watchman speeding the course of night. Cowboys assert that the entire herd of cattle wake up and walk about and lie down and rest in a new lair. The sheep rouse themselves and crop the grass, the birds stir in their nests, the cowboys' horses and the shepherd's dog open their eyes to see that all is well. The shepherd and the cowboy open their eyes, too, to look for a moment at the stars and become for the time bieng mere animals in nature's flock; yet there is no accounting for the inaudible summons, the gentle touch of nature that recalls all the sleepers to life at precisely the same hour. Even to those deepest read in these arcana this rythmical nightly resurrection remains a mystery.

Zululand Opening.

The Natal government has decided to throw open a part of the Ngwavuma district in Zululand to European settlers willing to lease lands for the purpose of tapping the large numbers of rubber vines which abound in this hitherto unknown district. The rubber is of good quality, but unfortunately the natives in collecting it very often destroy the vines, one of the chiefs recently having felled over 3,000 trees to form a new stockade for his royal kraal.

Philadelphia, Jan. 17.—In the death of "Countess" Anita de Bettancourt McMurrow, who had entertained Presidents and Emperors, and who, posing as the daughter of a Spanish grandee, had taken great fortunes from men who fell to her fascinations and beauty, the police believe today they have a murder to solve.

WANT NEGRO'S RELEASE

White Friends of James Derry Appear to be Numerous In Westfield.

SAY HE IS GOOD MAN

Runs Two Oil Wagons, Is Carpet Expert and a Leader of Colored Society—Judge Runyon Appealed To.

Friends have arisen in Westfield for James Derry, the negro sent to jail for thirty days by Judge Runyon, Tuesday morning, for picking up and running off with $50 belonging to Albert Snowden. Several communications from "some of the best people" of Westfield have been sent to the magistrate asking for a remission of sentence or the substitution of a fine in place of imprisonment. One young man saw the judge in court this morning and gave Derry a lovely character as a workingman and a leader of colored society.

Derry, it appears, has always borne a very good character in Westfield. He is an authority on carpet laying and runs two oil wagons. The people in Westfield who know him can't understand how he could have been caught in the game that sent him to jail. When the news first came to them they were sure some mistake had been made and bombarded Judge Runyon with letters and protests. Later, when they heard how Derry had been caught with the goods on, after persistent denials, they abandoned the mistake notion, but clung to the hope of leniency on the score of a respectable past.

There is no doubt in the minds of the police and Judge Runyon that Derry took the money to keep and tried to lie out of the trouble his covetousness wrought for him. He said in court that he picked up the bundle without knowing what it was, and merely in response to an instinct to let nothing go to waste. When Officer Martin started to search him, however, he held his arm in a very peculiar way, and when the roll was disclosed up his sleeve, the cops had no hesitancy in assuming that the negro knew what he picked up and wanted to keep it.

Judge Runyon promised to look into the case this morning. The young man who called on him offered to pay any fine that was imposed on Derry, and the negro may be released on that basis.

Derry's business threatens to go to pieces. One of his oil wagon drivers is away and his wife doesn't know anything about thetrade.

MEETING OF CIRCUS STARS.

Men Who Took Part in Last Y. M. C. A. Show to Plan Coming One.

Active preparations for the circus have been started by the Y. M. C. A. physical department. A meeting of all the men who took part in last year's show will be held next Monday night, and the programme and features of the coming event will be outlined.

It is planned to make the show bigger by a good deal than last year's performance. One of the features tentatively planned is a side show. It could be held in the small hall and add a good deal to the fun and verisimilitude of the affair. There is talent enough in the association to make it a great success.

Everett Case Entertains.

Everett Case, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Case, of Duer street, entertained twenty of his boy and girl friends yesterday afternoon and all had a jolly good time. Features of the party were games of all kinds, including a peanut hunt and putting the tail on the donkey. At the conclusion of the games, Mrs Case, who arranged the party, invited the little folks to the dining room, where refreshments were served.

DREW KNIFE ON GUARD IN THEATRE GALLERY

NOISY NEGRO OBJECTED TO BEING THROWN OUT—TWENTY DAYS.

Roy Johnson, colored, eighteen years old, joined the crowd in the gallery at the New Plainfield theatre last night to see "Little Johnny Jones." He brought a jag and a bad temper with him. The jag got him into trouble with the gallery guards, and the temper led to a rumpus, in which a knife and a wild dash through the crowd for the exit figured. Johnson will mediate on his share in the excitement for the next twenty days in the county jail.

Johnson drew the attention of John Rafferty, one of the theatre attaches, with audible remarks of a character not allowable in well conducted galleries. Johnson refused to be silenced, and when Rafferty started for him the negro drew a knife.

"I'll cut you to pieces if you monkey with me," he said, and bolted for the exit. The crowd made the going slow, but he got there before Rafferty, and started for the street on the jump. Word of the row was sent to the management, and when Johnson reached the street he ran into the arms of two husky stage hands. They took his knife away and sat on him until Roundsman Flynn relieved them of the prisoner.

Judge Runyon gave Johnson fits and fined him $8 or twenty days in the city court this morrning. His mother said she couldn't afford $8 at this time, and Johnson was hustled back to the coop.

BASKETBALL GAMES ON Y. M. C. A. FLOOR

EX-SCHOLASTICS AND WANAMASSA MATCHED FOR SATURDAY.

The ex-scholastics, made up of old-time basketbaH players of the P. H. S., N. P. H. S. and Leal's School, have arranged to play the Wanamassa Boat Club team on Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. This contest will be played between the halves of the game between the Plainfield and Yorkville Y. M. C. A. teams.

The ex-scholastics have not played here this season, but have been practicing for the coming game and hope to be successful in maintaining the honor of the alumni of the three schools.

As the Columbia College basketball team was disbanded this week by the college faculty, the Yorkville team was secured to take its place on the Y. M. C. A. schedule for Saturday night. The Yorkville team is considered stronger than Columbia, having defeated Brooklyn Central, Newark and Montclair Y. M. C. A., the New York A. C., and the Xaviers. This will be one of the hardest games for the local team on the schedule this season and it will have to play its best game to win.

GATHERING FUND FOR A KITCHEN ADDITION

PROFITABLE TEA HELD BY THE GUILD OF HOLY CROSS CHURCH.

Renewed interest in the kitchen addition for the parish house is being taken by the Guild of Holy Cross P. E. church. Every effort is being made to get money enough for the addition, and in pursuance of the general campaign for funds a tea and cake and candy sale was held at the rectory, Washington avenue, yesterday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The affair was well attended and passed off delightfully. The rooms were prettily decorated.

Mrs. A. T. Converse and Mrs. Stevens received. Mrs. Murray poured tea, the Misses Davis and Moore were at the candy table, and the Misses Burt and De Mezria presided over the cake. Percy Watson and Raymond Kenyon, choir boys, wearing their cassocks and Eton collars, took tickets and money at the door. The affair was very profitable, and added a substantial sum to the building fund.

Hasbrouck Team Cancels Game.

The basketball game which was scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. between the P. H. S. and Hasbrouck Heights teams, has been cancelled by the visitors. Some time ago the local school boys defeated this team decisively and it is thought that for this reason the Hasbroucks have called the game off. An effort is now being made to fill the date with the Rahway High School team.

NURSERY OPENS TUESDAY

King's Daughters Completes Plans For Its New Institution.

DONATIONS DESIRED

Mrs. C. A. Reed and Other Prominent Charity Workers to Receive—Tea to Be Served.

The Day Nursery committee of the City Union, King's Daughters, met at the Y. M. C. A., this morning, to complete arrangements for the formal opening of the nursery at 444 West Third street on Tuesday afternoon, January 23, from 3 to 6 o'clock. Everyone interested in charity work is invited to inspect the nursery and enjoy a cup of tea. They are also requested to bring dry groceries, excepting tea and coffee, for the store-room.

Donations of chairs, tables and other furnishings which will tend to make the nursery an attractive and comfortable place to carry on this work, will be appreciated by those in charge. Already applications have been received from several women who desire to place their children in the nursery by the day while they go out to work and judging by the support being given toward the charity, it will be a success. There is also much enthusiasm being shown in the forthcoming production of "The Pirates of Penzance," to be given in February at the New Plainfield theatre for the benefit of the nursery.

Mrs. Charles A. Reed, president of the City Union, and the following women members of the day nursery committee will receive: Mrs. A. E. Faber, Mrs. Duncan L. S. McLaren, Mrs. Anna Most, Mrs. C. C. Burke, Mrs. R. Willard Ware, Miss DeLany, Miss Harman, Miss Phillips and Miss Holly.

Possession of New Building May Be

While Architect Thompson assures the officers of The Plainfield Trust Company that possession of the new bank building on Park avenue will be possible April 1, it is generally believed that it will be a month later before all work is completed. Excellent progress is being made in the interior work. Within a short time the furniture, which will be quite ornate, will be selected so as to be ready when the building is completed.

SUES BUBBLE BUILDERS

F. L. C. Martin Company Wants $10,000 Damages From the Pope Corporation.

CARS BAD, THE CLAIM

Plaintiffs Allege That They Lost Customers and Time Through Improper Equipment of Pope-Hartford Models.

The F. L. C. Martin Automobile Company, of this city, has filed papers in a suit for $10,000 against the Pope Manufacturing Company in the Supreme Court at Trenton. The suit is based on a claim that cars sold to the plaintiffs by the automobile manufacturers were of a character to cause loss of trade, and other inconvenience and damage.

It is alleged by the Martin company that ten or twelve Pope-Hartford cars sold to them this year by the defendant company were so poorly constructed that they caused much dissatisfaction among the purchasers and resulted in the loss of valued customers to the local concern. It is claimed also that the cars necessitated much repair work, causing loss of time, as well of money, to the Martin concern.

The latter alleges that the Pope-Hartford cars were improperly fitted; that the engines were too light for the cars. It is also claimed by the Martin company that the Pope-Tribune cars were faultily constructed, but against those cars they do not enter complaint.

Reed & Coddington, of this city, are counsel for the plaintiff. The action is on contract.

TINY BABY DIES IN PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE

EXPIRES OF PULMONARY CONJESTION ALMOST IN ITS MOTHER'S ARMS.

Mrs. John Staats, of Columbia avenue, brought her three-months' old child to Dr. W. K. Browning's office on Park avenue Tuesday afternoon, for treatment for a cough. The physician was just on the point of going out, but he turned back to examine the infant. Mrs. Staats placed it on a table. It died there just two minutes later, before the doctor could reach its side. Pulmonary congestion is supposed to have caused death.

Mrs. Staats was very much shaken by the death. Dr. Browning notified the county physician, and called up George Cole, an undertaker. The latter took the body to his parlors in a carriage. The child was buried today.

JURY GIVES $1,900 TO MRS. SCHWALBACH

DAMAGES AGAINST RAILROAD FOR THE LOSS OF HER HUSBAND.

Mrs. Schwalbach, of Dunellen, who instituted a suit for $10,000 damages against the New Jersey Central, for the loss of her son, Henry Schwalbach, who was killed in the roundhouse at Dunellen in October of last year, was given a verdict of $1,900 in the Supreme Court, Elizabeth, this morning.

The case was concluded yesterday afternoon, the jury going out at 3:20 o'clock. It reamined out all night and returned at 10 o'clock this morning with a verdict.

Henry Schwalbach was one of four men employed in the roundhouse at Dunellen and was the only support of a widowed mother. He was in the roundhouse on the day of the accident, when an engine, in backing in, struck one of the main supporting piers, causing it to collapse. A portion of the roof caved in and Schwalbach was crushed to death.

The defendant company claimed contributory negligence, alleging that Schwalbach was partially responsible in not seeing that the big door to the roundhouse was pushed back in place before the engine backed in.

Play Drew Record Crowd.

The biggest crowd, by actual numbers, that has ever attended a performance at the New Plainfield theatre, saw "Little Johnny Jones" there last night. The matinee drew almost as big a house. The comedy did not please the audience as well as "Running for Office," but enjoyment enough for ordinary purposes was derived from it.

Several women from the Congregational church attended the regular neighborhood missionary meeting held in the Congregational church, Jersey City, yesterday.

SHOEMAKER NOT DISBARRED.

Respected Plainfielder Member in Good Standing.

W. A. Shoemaker, who conclusively proved to District Attorney Garvin, of New York, Tuesday that he had no connection whatever with the Seton case, has been a respected citizen of Plainfield for nearly five years. The report started by the World that he had been disbarred in Philadelphia is untrue, and Mr. Shoemaker has been completely exonerated by the District Attorney's office.

Mrs. Shoemaker is well known in certain social and religious circles. She is president of the Young Friends' Society.

WM. F. M'LAUGHLIN DIED THIS MORNING

WELL-KNOWN BOROUGHITE CARRIED OFF BY HEART DISEASE.

William F. McLaughlin, aged thirty-one years, son of Mrs. Lizzie A. McLaughlin, died at his home, 258 Somerset street, at 5:30 o'clock this morning, after a long illness with heart trouble. He was confined to the house since the first of January, and during the past week failed rapidly.

Mr. McLaughlin was born in the borough and always lived there, where he had a large circle of friends. For several years he was employed as a grocery clerk for J. Fred MacDonald, and later he was employed by Brooks Carson, the florist. He was a member of the borough Board of Registry and Election for a number of years.

A few months ago he opened the old Crescent Club bowling alleys in East Second street, and prior to January 1 was the proprietor of the place. Since then his brother, Warren C. McLaughlin, has been in charge.

He is survived by a mother, four brothers, John G., Warren C., Louis A. and Eugene McLaughlin, also two sisters, Miss May McLaughlin and Miss Hattie McLaughlin.

The funeral services will be held from the late home Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

FEAR THE ICE CROP WILL BE QUITE SHORT

FANCY PRICES IF COMMODITY HAS TO BE IMPORTED.

The local icemen are beginning to feel a little uneasy about this year's crop of ice and unless the cold weather gets busy congealing the waters in local ponds, consumers will have to pay a fancy price for the commodity during the coming summer. In case there is no local supply the dealers will be obliged to export it. The plant formerly run by the Plainfield Hygeia Ice Company cannot meet the demands of the city and borough.

The daily capacity for this plant is twenty tons, while during extreme warm weather the dealers have been known to sell 100 tons a day. The hygeia plant could be started again and no doubt would help to meet the demands, but another important factor is the cost of operation, which is said to be too much to allow for a fair profit.

The dealers are not wholly discouraged. They say that with a few weeks of freezing weather they will be able to harvest a fair size crop.

LOG CABIN CLUB'S ANNUAL SESSION

SAMUEL HUNTINGTON CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF THE ORGANIZATION.

The annual meeting of the Log Cabin Gun Club was held at the Casino on Tuesday night, when plans for the coming season were discussed and officers elected. This club, which meets Saturdays and holidays near the Plainfield Country Club, now numbers nearly fifty and is steadily increasing in membership.

It has been the custom of the club to offer a cup to be competed for on the range. These tournaments are arranged for two months' duration. Robert Rushmore won the trophy for the best average score during November and December, and another cup for January and February shooting has been put up by the club.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: President, Samuel Huntington; vice president, Henry C. Irons; secretary, Howard Huntington; treasurer, David G. Weims; field captain, A. L. Otterson.

The members will meet at the range Saturday afternoon to continue shooting for the trophy. Occasionally, the club has a spread and the social features are greatly enjoyed.

Surprised by Ladies' Aid.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel tendered a surprise party to Mrs. George Wallace, of Stebbins place, last night. The affair was arranged in honor of Mrs. Wallace's birthday. Music and refreshments were the features.

NEW CORPS FOR N.G.N.J.

Plainfielders No Longer Eligable For as Applicants in Hospital Enlistment.

REASON FOR CHANGE

Members Scattered About the State—New Plan Is to Have Trenton Applicants Only.

The present hospital corps of the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., is to be disbanded because the members live in different portions of the State, and it has been impossible to give them the proper instructions in their duties. A new hospital corps will be formed, all the enlisted men to be residents of this city.

Dr. W. K. Browning, of Park avenue, is chief of the retiring board. Dr. P. B. Cregar, of Grant avenue, has been a member of the corps for nearly two years.

Heretofore the enlisted men in the corps have lived in this city, Lambertville, New Brunswick and Freehold, thus making it impossible to get them together to be instructed. When the men did assamble at regimental affairs they were not familiar with their duties.

The plan which Colonel Collins and Captain John M. Rogers have now arranged is to have the corps efficient in every way. The present members of the companies will not be transferred to the new corps. Captain Rogers will receive applications from any men of Trenton between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, tomorrow and Tuesday evening of next week.

The new corps will have its own organization and will be assigned quarters in the new armory at Trenton. The members will not be expected to attend any drills, but will report for instructions, which will be given as to their duties, twice a month.

Dr. William J. Condon has been assigned as hospital steward of the Second battalion and will instruct the corps. Dr. Condon served in the Philippines ase a lieutenant and assistant surgeon. The instructions will probably begin next week, because the regiment goes into camp at Sea Girt this year and the officers are desirous of having the new corps up to the standard in all the duties before that time. The duties of the enlisted men of the corps during the encampment are not exacting and are pleasant. Dr. Edward J. Gordon, of Trenton, who is regimental surgeon, will superintend the work of instructions.

SUNDAY GOLF MAY AGAIN BE AN ISSUE

REPORTED THAT AGITATION WILL BE RENEWED AT NEXT MEETING.

Although the members of the Plainfield Country Club who are opposed to Sunday golf won a signal victory at the last meeting held to decide the question of opening the course and clubhouse on that day, it is said that indirectly the matter will be made an issue at the annual meeting of the club to be held February 6.

The Sunday golfers are not by any means discouraged in their efforts, although twice defeated, and it is known that they will not give up until they accomplish their purpose. The present officers of the club are prettly evenly divided on the question of Sunday golf and it would not be surprising if an effort is made to elect only those who will favor Sunday golf.

The past year was one of the most successful in the history of the club, but there are many members who declare that the club can win more prestige and a larger membership if a more liberal policy is adopted. Of course, any move in this direction will be met with strong opposition on the part of those who favor a strict observance of Sunday.

At the last meeting there were many members favoring Sunday golf, but bitterly opposed to amending the constitution to accomplish it. It is understood that another method of making this change will be used in the hope of securing its adoption. It is generally believed that George P. Mellick will again be chosen president for the coming year.

Dr. W. Kempton Browning, of this city, was asked to take charge of the corps' reorganization, but was compelled to decline the task on account of a press of professional business. Dr. Browning is one of the regimental surgeons.

—After the regular meeting in Reform Hall tonight there will be illustrated songs and moving pictures and some acrobatic work.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The arrest of Larry Wallace, who was caught while making an early morning call at Rapp's Hotel yesterday, has started the residents talking, and many are free in expressing the opinion that in landing Wallace the mystery of other visits which have been quite frequently made of late will be cleared up. Larry, who has been before the court at Elizabeth on a number of occasions, has borne a bad reputation, but nearly everybody has laid his fault to rum. Tuesday night's escapade has changed the opinion of many, as they claim Wallace, although feigning drunkenness, was far from being drunk. He had left his hat and coat hanging on a gate nearby, a block away, so in case he was obliged to make a hasty exit he would have but little to hamper him in his flight. Entrance was made so quietly that the family failed to be aroused, although the bars in front of the window were pulled away and the window itself forced.

Unfortunately for Wallace, Mrs. Roy Rapp's little child awoke, and its restfulness awoke the mother. While she was attempting to quiet the little one she heard light footsteps in the barroom underneath.

She awoke her husband, who, together with his brother Frank, began an investigation on the quiet. Coming into the barroom, all was quiet, but a search found Wallace hiding behind the bar with a bottle in his hand, they claim, ready to strike them. A muzzle of a seven-shooter was placed along side his head, and throwing up both hands he begged them not to shoot. All these things have led many to express the belief that the act of breaking and entering was not for the sole purpose of getting something to drink.

Recorder Haberly believed it was a matter the Grand Jury should decide, so committed him to Elizabeth without bail. Officer Pangborn took Larry back to his old familiar haunt early Wednesday morning, and it is believed that he will be indicted by the present Grand Jury.

Recorder Charles Haberly, who was appointed recorder by the Township Committee two weeks ago, to succeed Judge Clark, who had tired of the office, had his first case before him at 2 o'clock in the morning, when the irresistible Larry Wallace was haled before the court charged with breaking and entering.

—The work on the Richmond street storm sewer is progressing favorably, the open weather giving the contractor an unusual advantage in the digging of trenches and laying pipes.

—While the winter weather has not been particularly hard on the city streets, Street Commissioner Gavett anticipates that there will be plenty of work to do in the spring, especially on those streets macadamized during the past few months.

—The exterior work on Woodhull & Martin's new building on East Front street is about completed and the workmen are now rushing the interior work. It is believed that the building will be ready for occupancy early in the spring. All the flats are leased and the families are anxiously waiting to move in.

First-Aid Lecture to Teachers.

Dr. A. F. VanHorn, one of the school physicians, delivered a first-aid to the injured lecture to the school teachers at the High School yesterday afternoon. He used Morris Timpson to illustrate the various bandages and various methods of resuscitation. A first-aid lecture is given to the teachers every year.

Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, attended a college dinner in New York last night.

THE COURT LASHES THESE GRAND JURORS.

Trenton, Jan. 18.—In opening the January term of the Mercer County Court Tuesday, Justice Alfred Reed, charging the grand jury, mercilessly lashed the last grand jury and warned the new body to be careful lest it deserve similar rebuke. It was the most stinging rebuke ever delivered to a grand jury in this county and caused a sensation.

The justice uncompromisingly rebuked the last grand jury for seeming failure to perform its sworn duties and flayed it for "leaking," and devoted a full ten minutes in telling the new members how grave were their responsibilities. The justice said that public scandal had followed the work of the last body, when its decisions, as soon as arrived at, were known outside, and influence had been brought to bear which had caused some of these decisions to be changed.

The justice charged specifically that the attempt to establish a gambling institution in this city in the way of a poolroom should be more thoroughly investigated; when it was before the last grand jury three indictments had been found against non-residents, only one of whom was under bail. He said he could not understand why only non-residents had been indicted.

The justice further said that the sale of liquor on Sundays in this city in licensed places—and perhaps unlicensed places—was a notorious fact; one that seemed to be well known to the license inspector, and that every saloon-keeper guilty of a violation of the law should be indicted, and said policemen are liable to indictment for not reporting them.

TRUTH TOLD ABOUT MRS. TOLLA'S CRIME.

New Jersey Governor Gives It Because of Circulation of Misstatements.

Trenton, Jan. 18.—Governor Stokes issued yesterday a circular letter detailing certain facts in the case of Mrs. Tolla, the Hackensack murderess, who is under reprieve from death sentence.

This action was taken because of the many misleading stories that have been published, particularly in the Middle West. It is a notable fact that the big petitions for clemency in the woman's behalf have all come from Ohio and adjoining States, where the false reports were most generally circulated.

The Governor's letter is as follows:

"State of New Jersey,
"Executive Department.

"So many misstatements have been circulated concerning the case of Antoinette Tolla, now under sentence of death for the murder of Joseph Sonta, that in justice to the State the following statement is made:

"'Antoinette Tolla killed Joseph Sonta on the 4th day of March, 1905. At the time of the murder Joseph Sonta was visiting Mrs. Tolla's husband and was sitting in a chair by his side, smoking a pipe. Mrs. Tolla entered the room, approached Sonta from behind and shot him in the back of the head, killing him instantly, so that when found he was still sitting in the chair with his feet crossed and the pipe in his left hand. There is no evidence of any kind to show that Sonta ever attempted to assault the woman.

"Very respectfully,
"E. C. STOKES, Governor."

CROOK WOUNDED IN PISTOL DUEL.

Detective Saved from Injury by Nippers in Overcoat Pocket.

James Ward, a plain-clothes detective, of Elizabeth, had a pistol duel yesterday afternoon with William Rogers, supposed to be a Philadelphia thief. In it Rogers was shot in the shoulder. He is in the Elizabeth General Hospital. Ward's overcoat was pierced by a bullet, but he escaped unhurt owing to a pair of steel nippers he had in his pocket. The bullet struck them and was deflected.

Rogers and a companion from Philadelphia, and gives his name as John Farrington, jumped off a trolley car near the Newark-Elizabeth city line. Ward stopped them and demanded to know their business. They gave evasive answers and the detective said he would have to take them to headquarters.

Rogers whipped out a revolver, fired point blank at Ward and then took to his heels. Ward shot at, but missed the man, who dodged behind a telegraph pole and returned the fire twice.

Again the detective shot, his bullet hitting Rogers in the shoulder. He continued his flight, with Ward, revolver in hand, in hot pursuit. Ward quickly overtook and disarmed the fugitive and clapped a pair of handcuffs on him.

While this was going on Farrington made no attempt to escape. Ward summoned assistance and took his prisoners to police headquarters in a patrol wagon, where it was found Rogers was so badly hurt that he was sent to the hospital. The bullet is still in his body. When searched his pockets were found filled with cheap jewelry.

TO THE POINT.

ON THE ICE.

City Clerk Thorpe, of Pontiac, while airing himself on skates at Sylvan Lake, was apprised by his dog, which was tumbling at his heels, that there was game in sight, and Joseph saw a redhead duck on the frozen surface. The dog was ordered to go after it, and did. The duck, though a quack, is no fool, and it was not long before the redhead perceived that the dog was without skates, since he advanced, sometimes nose, and at other times tail first. The duck gibbered his glee at the ridiculous performance and kept just a little out of reach. It made Joe mad to see the duck having fun with his dog and took it up on the latter's behalf. He would try for the duck himself. It was a merry race of a quarter of a mile with the bird skimming barely above the ice, when Joe, reaching out, grabbed the bird in his arms. It is reported, but not generally credited, that the Pontiac city clerk, who never speeded faster or better in a campaign, cleared airholes twelve feet across; but he did catch the duck, the like of which was never known before, "no, not in Israel."—Detroit News.

YOU CAN'T BEAT 'EM.

An attractive and altogether "bonny" young business woman of this city came here with a large stock of propriety and a small amount of practical knowledge of the world to carve out her fortune, after passing her girlhood days in Edinburgh and London. Although without any undue amount of self-consciousness or egotism, she is sometimes annoyed by the very evident admiration she attracts in public places. The other day, while dining in a restaurant, she fancied that the man opposite was preparing to speak to her, as he glanced her way, and seemed to be making up his mind to open a conversation. The young woman assumed a most frigid air and looked as unapproachable as the Arctic pole. The man as he left the table made one more half-hearted attempt to speak, blushed red to his ears, then hurried away. When the young woman finished her luncheon and called for her check, the waitress amazed her by exclaiming: "Why, I thought you were with that gentleman. I put your check and his together." The bill had manfully been settled.—Philadelphia Record.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Representatives Huff, of Pennsylvania, Haskins, of Vermont, and Connor, of New York, so closely resemble one another that only their most intimate friends distinguish them apart.

Speaker Cannon on Monday made his appearance in the House clad in his new suit of homespun, hand-woven jeans. The fabric was made from the wool of South Carolina sheep by an old woman who greatly admires the Speaker, although she has never seen him.

Prof. Willard C. Fisher, of the Department of Economics and Social Science at Wesleyan University, has been elected Mayor of Middletown, Conn., by the laboring classes, after a run marked by the bitter opposition of the business and professional men of that city.

Commander William M. McCann, who has just died near New Rochelle, N. Y., was known in the navy as the "Father of the White Squadron." He originated the idea of painting the war vessels white, while in tropical countries, so that they would throw off the intense heat.

James Brown Scott, professor of law at Columbia University, who has been appointed solicitor of the State Department, is thirty-eight years old and a native of California. He is the author of a treatise on international law which is a standard work at several of the leading universities.

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who before her marriage was Gertrude Vanderbilt, and who for several years has been an industrious sculptor, has accepted the commission to do much of the designing for the interior decorations of the new Hotel Belmont, about to be constructed in New York City.

Nearly 200 volumes of the Vatican Library at Rome have been received at the St. Louis University as a special mark of favor from Pope Pius X. Prof. John Bassett Moore, one of the most popular members of the faculty of Columbia University, has written the only history and digest of international arbitration in existence.

MAINTAINING DIGNITY.

One time Col. Bill Hackney, of Winfield, was indicted by the Grand Jury for betting on election, along with several other men. Hackney stood in with the judge. The defendants all pleaded guilty. Before passing sentence on the bunch the judge took Hackney into a side room and asked:

"How much shall I fine you, Bill?"

"What are you going to soak the rest of the bunch for?" asked Hackney.

"Oh, I think I will give them $1 and costs," said the judge.

"Well, I don't want to be treated as a common criminal," said Hackney. "Just fine me $50 and costs."

Anr the judge took his seat on the bench and did so.—Kansas City Journal.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Ten Eyck & Harris, the coal dealers, sell the best Lehigh anthracite and make prompt deliveries.

The groceries sold by W. W. Wilson, West Third street, are always fresh and pure. He wouldn't sell them if they weren't.

In addition to selling only the best drugs and medicines, the reliable kind, he is the agent for the famous "Belle Mead Sweets."

Harry G. Adams, the insurance agent, now represents the Tobacco Growers' oSciety of the Antilles, and can sell the best cigars direct.

Furniture buyers always do well if they deal at Powlison & Jones', East Front street. The stock is full of suggestive bits and attractive sets. Prices never go beyond the right figure.

Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, is constantly receiving new goods. He carries only such goods as he can guarantee to give absolute satisfaction, and the prices are reasonable.

There are no dissatisfied people trading at the Callahan & Son store, Richmond street. Some of the dissatisfied customers of other grocers go there, but they lose their dissatisfaction after they are served.

Many a rich man today laid the foundation of his wealth by opening an account in a savings bank. It is never too late to open such an account at the Dime Savings Institution, where liberal interest is paid.

Have your teeth examined regularly by Dr. Atwood, West Front street. They will last longer and look better for regularity of attention. Some people wash their teeth every day. There are a number of things to be said in favor of the practice.

S. Scheuer & Co., the grocers and butchers, can save money for you if you trade at their store. The stock of groceries is one of the largest in the State as well as the best, and the prices are very low. The meat department is likewise the best, only choice cuts of meat being sold.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Exciting the wonder and delight of great throngs at each of the two daily performances, "A Society Circus," the New York Hippodrome's newest and grandest production has proved to be, as foretold, the greatest success in theatrical annals. During Christmas week not less than 75,000 persons, an unprecedented record, visited the national playhouse. In "A Society Circus" is witnessed, as never before in the world, such a beautiful example of stage pageantry, gorgeous costumes, dazzling ensembles, bewildering ballet and circus, the whole culminating in the beautiful tableau, "The Court of the Golden Fountains." The acts in the circus are the best ever shown in this gigantic place of amusement. Claire Heliot and her marvelous lion act; Miss Marquis and her ponies; Marguerite and Hanley, in wonderful acrobatics; the Sisters O'Meers, in their beautiful high-wire specialty; the Sisters Powell and Robert Cottrell in bareback feats; the Four Marnos, clever acrobats; Albert Carndall and his trick mule; the Heras Family, skillful acrobats; Barlow's elephants and the remarkable juggling specialty offered by the August family constitutes a catalogue of interesting and skillful numbers hard to beat. Matinees are given daily.

COL. CHINN SCORES PISTOL-CARRIERS.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 18.—State Senator John P. Chinn, of Harrodsburg, more familiarly known as "Col. Jack," the fighting Kentuckian, caused a sensation here Tuesday in a speech made to the student body of Kentucky State College on the habit of pistol "toting," which he characterized as the most loathsome habit known to man.

"Col." Chinn was a member of the joint committee from the Senate and Lower House of the Kentucky General Assembly, which made an inspection of the college, and at the conclusion of the inspection he was called upon by the chairman of the committee to address the students of the college, who had formed in the chapel to meet the body of lawmakers.

"I suppose that every young man in this audience knows of me by reputation as a fighter," said "Col." Chinn, "but I want to say right here that I never carried a pistol and never killed a man, and I have as much respect for the second class thief as I have for a first class bully and would just as soon be caught with counterfeit money on my person as a pistol."

At no time during the discourse did "Col." Chinn refer to the knife as a deadly weapon, and it has been generally supposed that he always favored this kind of weapon in making a defense.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

This evening at the New Plainfield theatre there will be given for the first time in this city a play which intertwines city and country life with such clever character drawing as should make the engagement of "No Mother to Guide Her" one long remembered among the theatregoers of this city. nI this play, which Lillian Mortimer has written and which serves her as a starring vehicle, the scenes are entirely new to the stage and two new characters are introduced which should furnish much comedy to those who like to have their thrills mixed with laughs.

More than ordinary interest is manifested in the engagement of Arnold Daly's company at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, for it will be his first appearance in this city as a star, and it will give Plainfield theatregoers the first opportunity of seeing the brilliant comedies by George Bernard Shaw, which were the distinctive and most genuine success of metropolitan theatricals last year and the year before. The plays are "You Never Can Tell" and "Candida," the latter being given at the matinee by request. Each of these plays enjoyed a six months' run in New York City, during which time the performances were attended by the most distinguished audiences of any at the New York theatres and the plays were the topic of conversation and discussion in the literary and social worlds.

Henrietta Crosman and her company in "As You Like It" will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night, January 26. There is certain to be a big demand for seats, as shown by the constant inquiries since the first announcement of this engagement. Miss Crosman's visit in "As You Like It" is an event deserving of especiall consideration, which, judging from all signs, it will receive. The supporting company was said by the New York newspapers to be the best that has ever appeared in that city in the Shakespearian comedy, while the production was voted a triumph of stage coloring.

There is nothing cheap or lightweight about the production or cast for Ezra Kendall's play, "The Vinegar Buyer," that comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night. The scenes were painted by Homer Emens and Gates and Morange, who are the best scene painters in New York or in the United States, in their respective lines of work. The cast in support of Mr. Kendall includes such capable artists as Thurlow Bergen, Frederic Malcolm, John D. Garrick, Harold Russell, H. T. Kennedy, Sumner Gard, James Bevins, Ethel Brandon, Mary Stockwell, Rita O'Neil and Edith Taliaferro. These features give evidence of the high character of the play supplied Mr. Kendall for his starring tour by his managers, Messrs. Liebler & Co.

BOROUGH HIGH SCHOOL FIVE WINS EASILY

CAPTURES GAME FROM RAHWAY Y. M. C. A. C. QUINTETTE BY ONE POINT.

The North Plainfield High School five defeated the Rahway Y. M. C. A. quintette by the unexpanaive margin of one point at Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, yesterday afternoon. The scare was 24 to 23. The game was as close and exciting as the score indicates.

Both fives were almost on a perfect parity as to speed and team work. Through their familiarity with the floor, the borough team got a lead of five points over the Rahwegian youngsters by the end of the first half—18 to 13—but the visitors got very busy in the second half and pulled up close to the breathless boroughites.

MALLET FOUND THAT SLEW HUFF.

Banasik, Confessed Murderer, Asks Police to Send Message to Parents.

As Frank Banasik, the murderer of Thomas Huff, was being taken from Bloomfield to the county jail at Newark he remarked to Policeman Blum: "Well, we are going off to get married." The prisoner requested Blum to notify his father and mother, who are in Poland, that he was ill.

"If I am hanged," he added, "tell them I died a natural death; but don't tell them what I did."

As the accused and Mrs. Huff arrived at the jail he turned to the woman and said:

"Do you want to live?"

"Yes, of course, I do," she replied, "as I have five little ones to bring up."

Huff's body was exhumed yesterday in Mt. Olivet cemetery and taken to the county morgue in Orange, where an autopsy will be performed by the county physician.

The wife of the murdered man has in a Bloomfield savings bank $200, and in a building and loan association $160. Banasik, it was learned yesterday, had to leave his native land because he embezzled $300.

The police found yesterday in the Second River the mallet with which Banasik is supposed to have killed Huff.

County Physician McKenzie went last night to Orange and performed an autopsy on the body of Huff. Dr. Simmons, assistant county physician, assisted his chief. They found two factures of the skull. One was at the base of the brain and was probably caused by the train when it hit the body. The other was over the forehead, and this is believed to have been caused by the weapon with which Banasik says he hit Huff. The doctors took some of the internal organs for examination.

BAYONNE DEFICIT GROWS.

Mayor Calls Council's Attention to the City's Financial Condition.

Mayor Garven, of Bayonne, has sent a special message to the Common Council calling attention to the serious financial condition of the city.

He said that, although the fiscal year does not begin until May, the departments are mostly without funds, and the deficiency will amount to fully $12,000 by the end of the year, on April 30. The city is already under a bond debt of $175,000.

The Council will take up at the next meeting the question of raising funds for current expenses. The street department needs $42,000 for the current month, but has nothing.

CONSIDERS REVISION OF THE POOR LAWS

HUGH FOX TAKES PART IN IMPORTANT SESSION AT NEWARK.

In accordance with a joint resolution of the Legislature, a public meeting was held in the Council Chamber of the City Hall, Newark, yesterday afternoon to consider the revision of the poor laws of the State. Hugh Fox, of this city, who is at the head of the State Board of Children's Guardians, was present. There was a large attendance of persons interested in this work from various parts of the State and there was a general disucssion of the subject. The poor commission was present to listen to general suggestions regarding any changes, additions or amendment which would be considered a benefit to the existing poor laws.

In addition to suggestions as to changes, the commission received considerable information as to the practical methods employed in various localities, the annual appropriations for the relief of the poor, the manner of disbursing it, the amount and character of the attention given to emrgency relief and to permanent relief.

Legal advisers from various localities were also present and they assisted materially in offering suggestions from a legal standpoint.

The commission will carefully consider all suggestions offered and make such changes as in its opinion will be best to incorporate in the laws governing the poor of the State and its institutions.

Overseer of the Poor Alex Ayers was unable to attend.

LAUGHS AT BIGAMY.

Young Dentist Says He Fell in Love With Patients.

Bigamy was the charge to which Edward Byron Vogel, a dentist, of 283 Ninth street, Brooklyn, pleaded guilty when arraigned yesterday in the Morrisania Court, New York.

"I met these girls in the dentist chair, and I fell in love with them, that's the only excuse I can give," said the young dentist, laughingly. He is only twenty-six years old.

Mrs. Carrie E. Vogel, aged twenty-six, of 697 East 135th street, procured a warrant from Magistrate Baker, charging her husband with desertion. Detective Michel found Vogel in Brooklyn, and arrested him. This Mrs. Vogel is referred to as wife No. 2, and she says she was married to Vogel on November 13, 1903, by a Rev. Mr. Deyo. Until December 11 last Vogel lived with this wife, but then deserted her, leaving her in charge of a six-weeks-old baby.

Vogel told her he was tired of her and was going to get another wife. On Monday last Mrs. Vogel No. 2 got a letter from the dentist. He begged forgiveness and said if she'd take him back he'd be good.

But the woman had spent a miserable month alone with her baby at 603 East 135th street, Christmas and New Year's being barren of holiday mirth. She gave up the flat and went to her mother. She was not to be reconciled so easily. She got the warrant and caused the arrest of the dentist.

"Wife No. 3," as she is known, proved to be Mrs. Ida Vogel, nee Elbers, aged twenty-four, of 45 West Nineteenth street, Manhattan. She was married to Vogel on Dec. 12 last at the Little Church Around the Corner, in Twenty-ninth street, near Madison avenue, by the Rev. Dr. Houghton. From the relation of facts, Vogel married this young woman the day after he left his Bronx home and wife.

The police says Vogel also has another wife, whom he married five years ago. This young woman was obliged to go to work to support herself, having a son four years old. The woman works in a Sixth avenue department store.

Wives No. 2 and 3 were in court together, and they became quite "chummy."

"I hope he gets forty years," said No. 3.

"Me, too," said No. 2; "but you are better off than I am, for I have my baby to care for."

"To think—the brute!" said No. 3, putting her arms around No. 2 and kissing the infant child No. 2 carried in her arms.

"You're the third," cried No. 2. "He's got another wife somewhere downtown."

"Don't say that," said No. 3. "Well, he'll talk any girl into marrying him."

Vogel watched the two wives talking together. He was amused and commented upon the incident.

"They look like old pals, over there. I fell in love with them one by one. That's all I can say."

Ida is a tall brunette, very pretty. Carrie is also tall, but a blonde. She is also beautiful.

"I am dying to see No. 1," said No. 3.

NEGRO TAKEN FOR MOB.

Removed From Milford, Del., to the Dover Jail.

Milford, Del., Jan. 18.—Frederick Groves, the negro who was arrested Tuesday for assaulting Miss Flora Booze, a schoolteacher, was removed to the Dover jail yesterday to prevent any further attempt at lynching. The mob, which last night tried to take Groves from the jail here, remained about the building until nearly 3 o'clock this morning, but the fact that Company B, of the Delaware National Guard, was kept on guard all night prevented further attacks on the jail.

After the mob had dispersed Sheriff Baker, of Kent county, and Sheriff Lynch, of Sussex county, placed Groves in a carriage and started for the Dover jail. There were fears that the mob would learn of the negro's departure and try to intercept the sheriffs, but the party reached Dover safely early today. The excitement here has subsided.

Declares Jail Too Comfortable.

Paterson, Jan. 18.—"We believe that life in our county jail is far more comfortable than prisoners deserve or can even enjoy in their own homes, some being allowed to spend the time in ease and comfort, when, in our opinion, they should be employed at hard labor." In these words the Charity Organization of Paterson made public demand yesterday that the county jail be made strictly a penal institution, and that life shall not be made attractive for the prisoners. Fifty per cent. of the applicants to the charity society come from women whose husbands are confined in the jail and who find that life there is much more comfortable than liberty.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 18.—Walter Camp has made his first public statement in ten years regarding the size and purpose of the athletic reserve fund, information on which has recently been demanded by critics of Yale's athletic policy. He states that in ten years he has saved from the Yale athletic income a total of $69,325, and that this reserve had been kept up to meet possible deficits, build a new boathouse and better football stands and provide for expansion of the athletic fields of the university.

TROLLEY MANAGER AND LAWYER FIGHT ON CAR.

Tretnon, Jan. 18—Counsellor John H. Backes, one of the most prominent lawyers in the city, was thrown bodily off a trolley car yesterday afternoon by Peter C. Hurley, general manager of the Trenton Street Railway Company, after an altercation.

The two men met earlier in the day, when Hurley accused Backes of having opposed the company in a suit for damages. Later Backes boarded a car which Hurley was on and the manager ordered the lawyer off. Backes refused to go and Hurley tried to push him off. Backes knocked Hurley's head through a glass window, cutting him severely.

Then Hurley seized the lawyer and hurled him into the street. Backes escaped serious injury.

Mr. Hurley said last night the car which Backes had boarded was the one which figured in the damage suit. It had been brought out to test in order to get evidence for the trial. Backes said he believed the car was an ordinary public conveyance and he had a right on it.

PASTOR LOST SATCHEL.

In It Were Deeds, Spoons, Combs, and a Gold Watch.

Alfred Halliday, Jr., of 22 Longworth street, Kearny, informed the police of that place yesterday that he had found a hand satchel on Midland avenue in the middle of the trolley tracks. In it were a number of deeds, several silver spoons, six silver back combs and a gold watch, on which was engraved "Presented to Rev. John Guthridge, pastor of Grace M. E. church, Jersey City, N. J." The deeds also bore the signature of Mr. Guthridge.

Later in the day Rev. J. W. Ryder called at police headquarters. He said the satchel and contents belonged to Rev. Mr. Guthridge, and the bag was handed to him. Mr. Guthridge had preached in Arlington Sunday and had lost the satchel returning home.

METUCHEN TO BE RAILROAD CENTRE

REPORT SAYS THF HARRISON FREIGHT YARDS WILL LOCATED THERE.

If rumors now in circulation in connection with the agreement entered into by the various North River tunnel interests are true, the present distributing yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Harrison, will be relocated at Metuchen, while Harrison will become the distributing center of passenger traffic into New York.

The report that the Pennsylvania will abandon Jersey City as a terminal is more definite. It is to the effect that all trains, upon the completion of the tunnels for service, will stop at Harrison, where the steam locomotive will be abandoned and the trip completed to various points in Manhattan by electric locomotives.

As planned by the financiers, a central yard for transportation is to be established in Harrison, at Fourth street, where connections will be made with the proposed new electric lines. The Harrison terminal will be the largest in the world.

Propelled by electric engines the cars will be carried across the meadows, and through the Bergen Hill and North River tunnels, to emerge at the Thirty-fourth street station, which is now under construction, and again plunge beneath the surface to pass under the East River into Long Island City, and thence overland to connect with the New Haven road for many points in New Engaind.

If the Pennsylvania Railroad intends to relocate the freight distributing tracks at Metuchen, as report has it, they have the advantages there for carrying out the plan. The company owns considerable land beyond the town, and Metuchen is probably the nearest point to New York where land could be bought, if more were required, at reasonable rates.

MORE JERSEY PETITIONS.

Filed by Senators Kean and Dryden, and Show Variety.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Adopted Daughter Lodge, No. 3, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, has petitioned Congress through both New Jersey Senators and every member of the New Jersey delegation in the House for the passage of the pending employers' liability bill. A bill or bills on that subject are pending in each house of Congress.

Senator Dryden has also filed a petition from Mrs. F. H. Clark, of Edgewood, for the preservation of Niagara Falls.

Senator Kean has also presented a petition from the Leeds Point W. C. T. U. for the unseating of Senator Smoot, and from N. J. Hartsell, of the New Jersey Historical Society, for the establishment of a National Historical Society.

Rahway Council Meeting.

Rahway, Jan. 18.—At the meeting of Common Council Tuesday night Alderman G. E. Gallaway startled the members by reporting that at the junction in the lower edge of the city is a serious case of diphtheria, caused by the family bringing into the house and doctoring a chicken that was ill with a disease peculiar to young fowls, and which, when transferred to human beings, became diphtheria. The matter was referred to the Health Board. Attention was again called to the dangerous crossings of the railroad. The city is to be divided into upper and lower fire districts, the fire companies to take care of their own section in case of ordinary conflagrations.

Hale Rebukes Tillman.

Washington, Jan 18.—An impressive and almost sensational scene occurred in the Senate yesterday when Mr. Tillman was severely arraigning the President and Mr. Hale in a firm and intense manner declared that Mr. Tillman had no right to vent his personal feeling against the President in any such way as he was doing. Mr. Tillman declared he was not allowing his personal feeling to enter into the subject. Owing to his high regard for the Senator from Maine, he would listen to Mr. Hale's reprimand without losing his temper.

Trenton, Jan. 18.—The thirty-third annual meeting of the New Jersey State Board of Agriculture began in the Assembly Chamber of the State House here yesterday. The session will continue today and tomorrow. There was a large attendance of delegates. There was a morning and afternoon session yesterday and there was a meeting last night.

The initial session yesterday morning opened with prayer and the calling of the roll. The order of business was then presented and the committees on credentials, resolutions and treasurer's account were appointed. There was an excellent programme yesterday afternoon. After a number of committees had been appointed Dr. Edward B. Voorhees, president of the board, made his annual address.

"The Elements of Success," was the subject of an address by Professor H. A. Surface, economic zoologist of the State Board of Agriculture of Pennsylvania. MORAL LAW IN WALL STREET.

"No Place Where It Is Stronger," Says Witness.

Jersey City, Jan. 18.—Several fellow club members and friends of George W. Harris, of the late brokerage firm of George W. Harris & Co., of New York and other cities, who is on trial in the Court of General Sessions, this city, on indictments arising out of business dealings which Recorder Edward R. Stanton had with the firm at its Hoboken office prior to its failure, testified in Harris' behalf yesterday afternoon shortly after the defense opened. Stanton says that Harris and his partners hypothecated and sold out 120 shares of Rock Island stock which he deposited to cover his stock transactions.

Former Comptroller Theodore W. Myers, of New York, said that Harris' reputation in the New York Club for honesty and veracity is "very high." Former Comptroller Myers, who has been a member of the New York Stock Exchange for thirty years, was plied with numerous questions as to the customs of brokers in the transaction of their business.

"Isn't the street governed by moral laws?" asked Assistant Prosecutor Vickers.

"I don't believe there is a place in the world where the moral law is stronger than in Wall street," was the reply. "Nor is there a place where a man who once fails in the moral law is more quickly tabooed."

The trial continued today.

D. B. HILL DEFENDS HIMSELF.

Says He Earned Every Cent of Equitable $5,000 Retainer.

Albany, Jan. 18.—At the meeting of the State Bar Association, yesterday afternoon, former United States Senator David B. Hill demanded an investigation by the association of the circumstances connected with the annual retainer of $5,000 paid him by the Equitable Life Assurance Society, as brought out in the investigation by the Armstrong committee. He had requested the committee to give him a hearing on the subject, but he had been confined to his room by illness, and the committee had adjourned without hearing him.

The former senator in the course of his statement yesterday, asserted that the appointment as counsel for the Equitable had been welcome though unsolicited, and that he had earned every dollar received. During his thirty years of political life he declared, he had never mixed politics and business, and had left the office of governor poorer than when he entered it.

Mr. Hill remarked upon the fact that while Elihu Root also received retainers from the Equitable, he was never called to explain. He pointed out the fact that all but two of the legislative investigators, including their counsel, were of political faith opposite to his own, but disclaimed intention of imputing political motives.

Divorce for John Vanderbilt.

Vice Chancellor Garrison, at Jersey City, yesterday announced that he would recommend a decree of divorce to John Vanderbilt, of East Orange. Mr. Vanderbilt is wealthy and an invalid. The wife, Mrs. Myra L. J. Vanderbilt, was not represented at the final hearing yesterday. She resides at New Providence, N. J. Mrs. Vanderbilt has a child, born on October 20, 1903, which he husband will not acknowledge. The Vanderbilts were married five years ago. She is many years the junior of her husband, who has been ill and an invalid for over four years.

BISHOP M'FAUL ON THE CLOSING OF VILE DENS.

Tells of Conference Which Decided to Ask All Denominations to Assist.

Trenton, Jan. 18.—Bishop McFaul when seen at his residence concerning the proposed law to regulate saloons, which will soon be introduced in the Legislature, said:

"The whole question was discussed in every detail with Peter Backles, of this city, as legal adviser, and the conclusion reached was that other denominations should be requested to assist in the drafting of a suitable bill to regulate the sale of intoxicants and the suppression of places where girls are ruined by the excessive use of liquor.'

Bishop McFaul left town after his meeting with some North Jersey priests, including Monsignor John Sheppard, of Jersey City, representing Bishop O'Connor, of the diocese of Newark. It is well known that Bishop McFaul is heartily in accord with temperance legislation and Sunday observance. He believes that hotelkeepers should be confined to men who will obey all the excise laws and keep their places in a decent manner.

Only a few weeks ago Bishop McFaul advocated a plan of the New Jersey Brewers' Association to compel the closing of all disorderly places and the restriction of the sale of beer to such men as would keep their places free from all objectionable features. At that time he called on all clergymen and church members, irrespective of creed, to help bring about those reforms. He has always taken an advanced place in reform movements of that kind.

LIQUOR DEALERS TO OPPOSE LOCAL OPTION.

State Association Will Also Try to Limit Sales of Intoxicants by Druggists.

The State Retail Liquor Dealers' Association, at an annual meeting held in Lundy's hall at Newark Tuesday afternoon, re-elected Robert Neil as president of the association for the third time.

A committee was appointed to attend the session of the Legislature and oppose the local option bill introduced by Assemblyman Miller, and any further attempt to secure the enactment of high license legislation.

It was also determined to seek a change in the excise laws, prohibiting the sale of liquor at retail by grocers, more strictly limiting druggists' sales for medicinal purposes only, and restricting if not prohibiting the operations of the so-called "blue front" saloons.

Montclair Golf Club Creeps Up.

Only two more matches remain to be played in the contest between the Morris County Golf Club and the Montclair Golf Clug for the championship of the New Jersey State Golf League. This play-off of the tie, which has been in progress a match at a time, over the Garden City links for several weeks, is becoming more interesting, and Morris County does not now look like such a sure winner. A recent match between Paul Harrison, Montclair, and Fred Thomas, Morris County, resulted in the former scoring three points, so that the total now is Morris County, 6; Montclair, 4. The two remaining matches to be played will be between Marshall Whitlatch, Montclair, vs Percy R. Pyne, 2d, Morris County, and John M. Ward, Montclair, vs. W R. Thurston, Morris County.

Accident Victim's Condition Worse.

Long Branch, Jan. 18.—Charles H. Pitcher, who was injured a few years ago by being thrown from his wagon in Broadway, was yesterday removed to the New Jersey State Hospital for treatment. After the accident he brought suit and recovered $5,000 from the late Oliver L. Robillard, the owner of the building, the front of which was obstructed, scaring Mr. Pitcher's horse. Mr. Pitcher's mind is said to be unbalanced, and of late he has been growing worse.

Confession Not Proven.

Gloucester City, Jan. 18.—Margaret McConville, Lillian and Ida Martin, the latter two sisters, whose ages range from 13 to 15 years, and who were implicated in a number of petty robberies committed here lately, by the confession of 12-year-old Bella Pine, who was held in $300 bail for court yesterday, were apprehended by the police last night. When arraigned for a hearing by Justice of the Peace Casey this morning, however, the Pine girl did not appear against the trio, and, as the police had not recovered any of the plunder, the Justice was compelled to discharge them owing to lack of evidence.

Lehigh Brakeman Killed.

Phillipsburg, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Clara Paterson, of this city, has again been made a widow, her husband, William F. Paterson, having died from injuries received yesterday morning on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, at Three Bridges. Her first husband was John Stout. Both men were brakemen and each lost his life by slipping while throwing a switch and falling under the car wheels. Paterson was 36 years of age, and besides his widow leaves two small daughters.

Grocer Takes Judgment.

Judgment was taken yesterday, in Justice Mosher's court, by W. W. Wilson against Robert Fulton, in the attachment case settled last week in Westfield. F. J. Blatz appeared for Wilson.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 21.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

The reason why the Christianity of so many professed Christians is of such an inferior character is because they are ignorant concerning the life of our Lord Jesus Christ. There are many Christian people who are thoroughly familiar with the lives of Washington and Lincoln, but who at the same time have no intelligent knowledge of the life of Christ. The reason of this ignorance is not hard to find. We study the lives of Washington and Lincoln intelligently and systematically, but when we come to the reading or the study of the life of Christ it is done in a most unsystematic manner. We read a chapter here and there in the gospels, but have no intelligent idea of the life of Christ from childhood to His death and resurrection. Few Christian people perhaps could name the first ten events in regular order in Christ's life, and yet if we are to be like Him we can all see the great importance of knowing what He was. It is gratifying, therefore, that in connection with the Christian Endeavor prayer meetings we are to study the life of Christ, and it should be thoroughly and faithfully done.

Christ's boyhood was spent like the boyhood of other Jewish boys in His day. The incidents surrounding His birth are familiar to us as well as His flight with His parents to Egypt and His return after the death of Herod to Galilee, which from that time on became His home until He entered upon His public ministry at thirty years of age. Between the events of His childhood and the entering upon His public ministry, nearly thirty years later, but one incident in connection with the life of Christ is given—namely, His visit to Jerusalem when He was twelve years old with His parents at the time of the feast of the Passover. But this event in connection with other indirect references to His life during this period may teach us some lessons from the boyhood of Christ.

1. The boyhood of Christ teaches us the dignity of labor. Every Jewish boy was required by the law to learn an industrial trade. Christ became a carpenter, and during these silent years he undoubtedly spent much of his time working in the carpenter shop at the manual labor of His trade. Nothing in all human history has so dignified manual labor as this period in the life of our Lord and Saviour. It also teaches us the importance of youth being trained in a way that will result in their physical development, no matter what may be the professional or political career that seems to be before them.

2. Christ's boyhood teaches the importance of education. Every Jewish boy was well educated. It is true that his education consisted largely in studying the books that pertained to his religion, but in this study his mind would be as certainly developed as if the time had been given to the study of foreign languages or mathematics. The Jewish boy at three years of age began the study of a certain phase of Jewish religion. At six years of age he entered a more difficult study, and at thirteen years of age, having thoroughly studied the Jewish law, with its traditions, he became "a child of the law" and occupied the same position in relation to the nation and to the church as all the men of Israel.

3. The boyhood of Christ teaches the importance of religion. This fact is most evident. His whole life centered in His relations to God and His mission as the Saviour of the world. Boyhood without religion should be made an absolute impossibility. In the days of our youth we should be taught to remember our Creator.

The Committee System.

The committee system, like the prayer meeting and the pledge, is one of the unique and distinctive things which Christian Endeavor has brought to the young people of the world. It has emphasized personal responsibility; it has given them something to do; it has put into a million minds the thought: "I, too, am a worker in the Master's kingdom. I may be young and ignorant and uninfluential, but I have my task as truly as the minister has his or the Sunday school superintendent has his. A member of a committee is one to whom something has been committed, and the particular task assigned to me has been committed to me both by the election of the society and by the will of God. Then I will do my best on my committee for Christ's sake."—Dr. Francis E. Clark.

As a Tribute to Dr. Clark.

Perhaps from no one thing that the convention did was more to be expected than the approval by the board of trustees of a quarter century memorial, the suggestion being for a national headquarters building to be erected as a tribute to Dr. Clark, secured through a twenty-five cents apiece contribution from the Christian Endeavorers of the world, which will represent a gift of a cent for each year of Christian Endeavor history.—John R. Clements in Interior.

The Five Goals For This Year of Christian Endeavor.

One million dollars for the missions of your churches.
One million new churchgoers.
One million new church members.
One million new members in our societies.
An average gift of 25 cents from each present and past Endeavorer for the quarter century memorial building and fund.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Asiensa Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a soothing sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Asiensa Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." Jan. 21: "A Spirit Filled Life"—Joel ii, 28, 29; Luke i, 13-15; John xiv, 16, 17; Luke xxiv, 49; Acts ii, 2-4; x, 44-47; Rom. viii, 9; xi, 1; I John iii, 24.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

To every well balanced and healthy person life presents many things enjoyable. There are days when it is a joy to be alive. Mere physical existence is exquisite pleasure. Perfume of flowers, song of birds, colors of sky and foliage and waters and clear, crisp, invigorating air make every sense convey enjoyment and tingle with satisfaction.

But, however perfect the physical gratification, it alone does not long give complete pleasure. We are something more than body, and spirit must claim our highest regard. This can never be fed by physical sensations. Bodily good becomes good to spirit only as it is able to express to the inner life some spiritual thing of value. The rose gives pleasure by its odor for awhile. If given by some loved one it continues to give heart pleasure after all color has gone from the petals and speaks to us for years of those who can no longer speak to us. After all, it is spirit that has the real life, and the body is only its house, in which it dwells and works.

So the important facts of life for us are those which have to do with the inner self—not the visible things, but the unseen realities of confidence, hope and affection.

How much we need to emphasize this more than we do! We are eager after the gain and glitter of life, and when we grasp some, after a hard struggle, we find it only dross and tinsel, and we have lost time and strength and peace without gain. When will we learn to pray with Paul that we "may be filled with the knowledge of His will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding?"

But when Christ dwells in the heart, not when He makes an occasional passing call as a friend, but when He abides in us as a permanent indwelling presence, we come to a deeper comprehension of love in its height and depth and length and breadth, an apprehension which passes knowledge because it is in a different realm from intellectual facts, being in the region of the feelings; we come to consciousness of the fullness of God as filling us.

I worship Thee, sweet well of God,
And all Thy ways adore,
And every day I live
I seem to love Thee more and more.

We come to an attitude of expectancy toward God. Expecting to be directed by Him, we delight to learn and do His will. His love satisfies in the absence of the ordinary comforts of life, if they are withheld, and in the abundance of earth's benefits keeps from pride and dependence on sensuous delights.

Would you know life? Then be filled with the Christ spirit.

A Prayer.

Teach us that here we have no abiding city. Teach us to look for a house that hath foundations, of which Thou art the maker and builder. Lift our hearts thither in earnest desire. O Sabbath of eternal peace! O haven where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest! When shall we see Thee, O Lord and behold the King in His beauty? When shall we meet the apostles and prophets and the great multitude whom no man can number? When shall we see again our dear friends who sleep in Jesus?

O God the Father, who hast the times and seasons in Thine own power, let not that day come upon us unawares.

O God the Son, who art gone to prepare a place for us, in Thine own time take us to Thyself, that where Thou art there we may be also.

O God the Holy Ghost, the pledge of future glory in our hearts, seal us until the redemption of the purchased possession. Amen.—Dean Alford in Christian Endeavor World.

In Touch With Christ.

Christ never grows old. He is a new and a greater Christ to the growing Christian every day. We cannot keep in touch with our generation unless we keep in touch with Christ, whose life, teaching and gospel are always in touch with men. So long as the new life Jesus gave to the world, the new truth He taught and the new religion He founded are in you a divine power, building your character, directing your life, your neighbors will enjoy your religion, the bloom and fragrance of your piety will remain, your faith will crave no crutches, your hope will not set, and the bells in the tower of your soul, rung by unseen hands, will never cease to give forth melodies, thrilling men and women with their eloquence.—J Von der Veer Shurts.

Contentment.

To be content, look backward on those who possess less than yourself, not forward on those who possess more. If this does not make you content, you don't deserve to be happy.—Benjamin Franklin.

Sing.

And in the evening sing as robins do—
Last morsel eaten, cleansed upon a bough
Their dainty bills, the topmost branches they Devote to songs of praise and, I dare say,
Sleep sweeter, too, and sometimes start the flow
Of music in their dreams. When troubles show
Their hydra heads let happy singing slay.
Extract the venom and beneath your feet
Then lay as vanquished foes. Should griefs arise,
Lift up your voice until it reach the skies.
Praise God in song; in heaven it will meet
The songs of the redeemer of the earth—
One grand, sweet song of everlasting worth.
—Rev. L. C. Littell in New York Observer.

A COMPLICATED MACHINE.

When a Man Gets an Automobile on His Hands He Likewise Gets Busy.

Purchasers of automobiles cannot, as a rule, get their vehicles into commission too soon. Yet the Hartford Courant tells of a man who bought a steam car early last winter and in July had yet to take his first ride. Meanwhile, however, Mr. Blank, the owner of the car, had been busy. He has been fitting his automobile with extra appliances and having heaps of fun in putting them on for himself.

When the reporter inspected this bedecorated vehicle, the new attachments included six lamps of various kinds, a clock, a barometer, a thermometer, a grade indicator, an odometer, a speed indicator, a huge horn known as a "dragon," an electric bell, a steam whistle, an "eradicator" for getting rid of small boys and a few other things.

The lamps include electric lights for illuminating the tonneau and the various gauges and indicators on the dash. These lamps are supplied with current by storage batteries under the seats. Switches are located in a box on the left side of the dash.

The device Mr. Blank calls his "eradicator" consists of a steam jet placed out of sight in the rear. When a small boy "hooks on" in the rear, he unconsciously informs the driver of his presence by ringing a small electric bell. Thereupon the driver presses a plunger and shoots a jet of steam in the direction of the intruder's legs, not to harm him, but to make him jump.

Another novelty is a fan belt indicator, which tells at a glance whether the fan is running, or whether the belt is broken or become slack.

Mr. Blank has spent about $800 in putting all these attachments on his machine, and he thinks there may still be things he has missed.

RACES WITH HARD HEADS.

Moorish Tribes That Have Skulls Which Are Almost Bomb-Proof.

It is commonly believed that the southern negro has a thicker skull than any other race, but, while darkeys have a cranium almost bombproof, it is to be questioned whether they compare to certain of the Moorish tribes.

These tribes, in the vicinity of Morocco, are inordinately proud of their thick skulls, and from babyhood the heads of the boys are kept shaven, that the inherent tendency toward thickness of skull may be increased.

They have developed their heads to such a degree that one of the diversions of tourists in Morocco is to pay one of these youngsters a sum equivalent to about half a cent for the privilege of breaking bricks on his head.

The skull forms a natural defense, and when attacked the Moorish lad wards off his opponent's blows by lowering his head and receiving the thrusts upon his skull.

The thickness of the negro's skull is ascribed to the scanty covering of hair upon his pate, nature endeavoring to protect the brain from the rays of the sun by increasing the thickness of the skull.

FUNERALS ON THE SPREE.

River in Germany Overflows and Makes Transportation by Boat Necessary.

The River Spree, which runs through Berlin, has a habit of almost continuously overflowing its banks. As a result the avenue called Spreewald is almost always under water in summer and covered with ice in winter. Much of the summer traffic is done on boats, and all of the winter traffic is done on skates and with sledges. The postman delivers his mail either in a boat or on skates, the children skate to school and the ladies go to market on the water wagon or on the ice.

Even the dead are carried along the river to their last resting place in a coffin resting on a bier in a boat covered with flowers. The hearse is paddled by two of the undertaker's assistants. In the first boat following are the clergymen and the family, and the usual long line of coaches is supplanted by a long line of boats. These are paddled sometimes by men, sometimes by women, but always by some of the friends of the deceased. These water funerals are very picturesque as they wend their way through the temporary channels caused by the overflowing Spree.

Caterpillar Plague.

Of the plague of caterpillars that overran the Scottish lowlands in 1885, a naturalist writes: "The caterpillars marched in armies straight ahead and the consequence was that when they encountered 'sheep drains'—which are open drains about 18 inches deep and 18 inches wide at the top—they tumbled into them in such numbers that their dead bodies dammed up the water and they might have been taken out in barrow loads."

Keeping His Bargain.

"Your new feller's all right," said Tommy Twaddles to his big sister at the breakfast table.

"I'm glad you think so," said Phyllis, with a blush and a glance at her ma.

"You bet he is," continued Tommy. He's a real sport. W'y he gimme a quarter not to tell what I saw in the parlor last night—an' you bet I won't tell, neither!"—Cleveland Leader.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

DONT'S FOR ENGAGED GIRLS.

Don't quote his opinion on every occasion.

Don't make an ostentatious display of your engagement ring.

Don't be jealous if he casually admires another pretty girl.

Don't expect him to spend every minute of his spare time with you.

Don't expect all your friends to think as much of your fiance as you do.

Don't let him spend his money too freely on flowers and sweets for you.

Don't always have your own way. Allow him to have his once in awhile.

Don't fail to try your hardest to win the favor of your prospective mother-in-law.

Don't let him tell you more than once a day that you are "a thousand times too good" for him or you may end by believing it.

Don't just for the fun of the thing pick a quarrel with your lover—don't. Many an unhappy wife and lonely old maid rue the result of having foolishly done so.

THE MAN SHOPPER.

Behold the man shopper!

Much fun is poked at him, but he gets there qust the same.

Ask the saleswoman.

She will tell you that she would rather wait on five men than on one woman.

Because if he sees what he wants he buy it, and there endeth the matter.

Whereas a woman fears it won't do; wonders if it is cheaper six blocks away, or whether Sally will really like it after all.

But the man—he is apt, if he likes it, to buy six or the same articles, give them to six different women, and so cut the Gordian knot at a blow.

He is calm and also serene.

Even when he is coolly buying bright red silk for grandma's dress, he does not fear.

He likes red; so, why shouldn't she?

The man shopper does not get mad in the crowd; laughing and jollying he smiles at all the girls near until it may be some heavy-weight steppeth on his corns, and then quickly his face is overcast.

But that, as well all know, is enough to make man or woman lose patience.

The man shopper does not pull and haul the counter things all over. Whether it be muff, jewelry, or neckwear, he frankly says they all look alike to him, and so chooses one, pays for it, and is off in a trice.

The man shopper is beloved by merchants as well as saleswomen. For his money is his own, and he hesitates not to squander it, a very different case from the sorrowful feminine who has only $5 of her husband's money with which to buy $19 worth of presents, his included.

The man shopper is a great institution, and lucky the store and bright the day when he goes in thereat to trade and barter.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

HOW MANY BONES HAVE YOU?

How many bones in the human face?
Fourteen, when they are all in place.
How many bones in the cranium?
Eight, unless you've mislaid some.
How many bones in the ear are found?
Three in each, to catch the sound.
How many bones are in the spine?
Twenty-four, like a clustering vine.
How many bones in the chest are found?
Twenty-four ribs, to the sternum bound.
How many bones in the shoulder bind?
Two in each—one before, one behind.
How many bones are in the arm?
The top has one; and two the forearm.
How many bones are in the wrist?
Eight, if none of them is missed.
How many bones in the palm of the hand?
Five in the palm, pray understand.
How many bones in the fingers ten?
Twelve bones, plus two and repeat again.
How many bones are in the hip?
One in each, where the femours slip.
With sacrum and coccyx, too, to brace
And keep the pelvis all in place.
How many bones are in the thigh?
One in each, and deep they lie.
How many bones are in the knee?
One, the patella, plain to see.
How many bones are in the shin?
Two in each, and well bound in.
How many bones in the ankle strong?
Seven in each, but none is long.
How many bones in the ball of the foot?
Five in each, as the palms were put.
How many bones in the toes, all told?
Just twenty-eight, like the fingers hold.
There's a bone at the root of the tongue to add,
And sesamoids eight, to what you had.
Now, adding them all, 'tis plainly seen
That the total number is 214.
And in the mouth we clearly view
Teeth, upper and under, thirty-two.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Somerville is already beginning to talk baseball for next season, and it is likely that a strong aggregation will represent that town.

With the opening of the baseball season only three months off, fandom is gradually becoming enthusiastic over the prospects for a good season.

Nothing has been heard as yet regarding the Lackawanna League, and some of the fans are doubtful whether that league will be reorganized this year.

It is quite likely that Reading, Pa., will be represented in the Tri-State League this year, steps already being taken to form a stock company. There will be an important meeting of the league at Harrisburg today.

Owing to a lack of interest on the part of the directors of the York Tri-State League team George W. Heckert, manager for last season's team, has taken no steps to sign players for this year. "Lou" Wiltse, of this city, was the leading pitcher for the team last year, but it is doubtful whether he returns there.

BOROUGH SCHOOLS MAKE A CHANGE.

Copy a System in Vogue in Plainfield Schools.

It has been arranged in the borough schools to adopt on February 1 the same plan that has always been in force in the Plainfield schools, whereby the pupils will begin and complete the work of the second half year in the same room and under the same teacher who has taught them during the first half of the year.

It is well known that it takes a month or more for a teacher to become acquainted with the disposition and mental capacity of each of her forty pupils. The teacher who has had pupils for the past five months, having learned to know them better and better as she has watched their development day after day, is now in a position to know how to deal with each pupil, his special characteristics and needs; and under her the work can go on until June without a break. If, however, these pupils are given to a new teacher it will take at least a month until she can know the pupils well enough to do the most efficient work. Thus there is an inevitable loss, which is saved under the other system. The teacher who has had a class for five months can, with her knowledge of the pupils, accomplish more work with them during the second five months than a new teacher can, even if the new teacher is more efficient; for no skill can compensate for the lack of knowledge of the child's nature, ability and characteristics.

In June pupils who are regularly promoted from 1 A will go to 2 A, thence to 3 A, and so on. Those who are promoted from 1 B will go to 2 B. Each class will do one year's work with the same teacher, and each grade will cover one year instead of five months. Thus there will be no time or work lost, and pupils will be the gainer because they need not change teachers in the middle of the year.

Bequest of Loyal Teacher.

The report of the Teachers' Retirement Fund of New Jersey shows that Miss Carrie B. Runyon, who recently died after a lifetime of teaching in the Plainfield schools, was loyal to her profession to the very end. One of the clauses of her will was a bequest of $100 to the Retirement Fund.

MISS ROOSEVELT'S BRIDAL GOWN IS SPECIALLY MADE AT A PATERSON MILL

Baltimore, Jan. 18.—Gowns for Miss Alice Roosevelt's wedding outfit are being made in this city by the Lottie Barton Company. The wedding gown is to consist of a heavy white satin brocade, being made in an American silk factory of a design originated for the President's daughter. The old lace belonging to the Lee family, of New England, Miss Roosevelt's mother's family, will be used in the trimming. Several of the gowns were taken yesterday to the Washington house of the Barton Company for the prospective bride's inspection and the "trying on" performance. Among them is a traveling dress of pale gray broadcloth. For this dress an exquisite set of furs is being made of silver fox, and also a turban of the same fur. Then there is a white satin evening dress combined with chiffon and real lace, and one of palest seafoam green over green silk.

Paterson, Jan. 18.—The American silk factory alluded to in the above dispatch is the William Strange Company, of this city. It will be remembered that the President ordered the inauguration gown of Mrs. Roosevelt made by this firm. It was of blue, with a dove appearing in the design. The silk was so beautiful that the President suggested that his daughter's wedding gown be made by the same firm, and this has been done. When the workman who had the weaving in hand had finished the job he was handed a $50 bill and told to take a week's vacation and to keep his lips sealed. As soon as the silk had been removed from the loom the cards were burned, so that the design could not be duplicated. The design is said to be very beautiful. The fabric is of pure white, with a crest design appearing at fixed intervals. As soon as the finishing process had been perfected the silk was wrapped up and handed to a Pinkerton man, who took the precious stuff to Baltimore. He left this city yesterday afternoon. Paterson has also supplied for nearly a half century special silks that were made into gowns for prominent American women. The material for inaugural dresses for Mrs. Grover Cleveland, Mrs. James A. Garfield and other wives of Presidents was woven in local mills.

LITTLE CHILD ACCUSES HER STEPFATHER.

Seven-Year-Old Girl Says Her Sister Was Murdered.

Mount Holly, Jan. 18.—Sheriff Noreross and a posses of men began dragging the creek whic runs through Rancocas stock farm, four miles from this city, today, in a search for the body of Mary Clark, eight years old, who is supposed to have been murdered by her stepfather, Albert T. Jones. According to the information received by the police here, Jones first cut the child's throat, then weighted her body with stones and threw it into the creek.

The story of the alleged murder was told to the police by Caroline Clark, seven years old, who could not be shaken by corss-questioning, and then followed the arrest, not only of her stepfather, Jones, but of her mother, Mrs. Daniel Clark, who has been living as the wife of Jones for the past three years.

CONVERT DR. HILLIS TO TURKISH BATHING.

Brooklyn Clergyman Couldn't Find Room in Hotel, So Found Shelter Elsewhere.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 18.—Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, the Brooklyn minister, having spent a night in a Turkish bathhouse here, is ready to testify that a hot room, a good rub, a cold bath and a comfortable cot are all that a man needs to refresh him for the next day's labor.

Dr. Hillis arrived here on Tuesday night, to find that he could not be accommodated in one of the hotels. Some one suggested a Turkish bathhouse, and there the minister went. He took the treatment, from register book and delivery of his valuables to the clerk to hard slaps and an early morning call. When he left he was clear of eye, springy of step and an advocate of Turkish baths.

Hundreds at Fair.

There were 300 merrymakers at the Vardon Dancing Academy fair last night. They enjoyed the dancing, and songs by Emily and Florence Henry. Tonight there will be buck-and-wing dancing on the programme, and an Irish monologue. Harry Dill, the champion bag puncher, will exhibit tomorrow night, and there will be songs by Jack Todd, Al Springer and Emily Henry. The Eagles have been invited to attend.

Thieves Loot Store.

Trenton, Jan. 18.—The postoffice and general store of E. F. Yard, at Windsor, ten miles from this city, was entered and robbed last night by unknown persons who secured tools to effect entrance from a nearby blacksmith shop. Considerable valuable merchandise and some money and stamps were secured. Nothing was known of the robbery until this morning and then no clews as to the robbers could be found.

JOHNSTON DIED WHILE ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

PINNED UNDER OVERTURNED ENGINE—DUNELLENITE—ENGINEER HURT.

Two others were severely injured and half a dozen passengers were cut, none seriously, however, in the wreck of an eastbound Central Railroad train near the Hawkins street crossing, Newark, at 9:25 o'clock yesterday morning, in which Albert Johnston, of New Market, was killed. The wreck resulted from the derailment of the train at a cross-over switch about 100 yards west of Hawkins street, which connects the Elizabeth branch with the main line tracks.

Johnston was caught under the engine, which toppled over, and was terribly scalded and crushed, dying on the way to St. James' Hospital in an ambulance. Edward Gordon, of Dunellen, the engineer, and Charles Martin, of Jersey City, the baggagemaster, were the other two trainmen injured. Gordon was severely gashed about the head and legs, while Martin's knee and legs were cut in several places.

There were three coaches in the train, and the wreck of the engine and tender was complete. The cab of the engine was torn to pieces, and the levers and machinery broken off and twisted, while the front end of the first coach was smashed in, the forward trucks driven through the body of the car, and a long gash cut in one side of the vehicle. The car landed partly on top of the engine.

Panic among the passengers followed the accident, and it was in leaving the cars that most of the injured ones were cut by the glass.

WOMAN MURDERED.

Wife of Wealthy Business Man of Montville Shot at Her Home.

Dover, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Hattie Clay Decker, a member of a wealthy family at Montville, two miles from this place, was shot and killed this evening by Sampel Monage, a Slav, who then mortally wounded himself.

What caused the tragedy is not known. It took place near the barn on the place of the Deckers. Five shots were fired at the woman, all taking effect in her body. She was brought here and died in the railroad depot. She was forty-five years of age and is survived by her husband, in business in Montville, and two children. While in the depot here she was asked who shot her, and told, but made no detailed statement of what had taken place.

Monage was caught at his boarding house within an hour after the shooting.

Reading to Straighten Tracks.

Pennington, Jan. 18—The trustees of Pennington Seminary met today to consider an offer from the Reading Railroad to purchase a strip of the seminary land about a quarter of a mile long and forty feet wide, to enable the road to straighten its track. The company was requested to stake off the land that it wants that the trustees may have definite data on which to estimate its value. The seminary would be seriously inconvenienced by the sale, as a slice would be taken off the athletic field, necessitating a big fill at the other end in order to accommodate a rearrangement of the grounds.

FINDS GOOD IN AN AUTO

Agriculture Board Secretary However Decries Usurpation of Public Roads.

ENGINE MINUS TRACKS

Game Laws Unsatisfactory—Remedies Proposed—1905 a Banner Year for Crops.

President E. B. Voorhees, of New Brunswick, called the thirty-third annual session of the New Jersey State Board of Agriculture to order in the Chancery Chambers at Trenton yesterday. Interesting reports were the feature of the session.

Discussing the automobile question, Secretary Dye's report says: "If automobiles, which are but railroad engines without their own tracks and without competent engineers, are allowed on the public roads at all, it should be only by well-guarded legal provisions, and not, as is now the case, usurpation, and they should in all cases guard against frightening or injuring other travelers, their vehicles and animals.

"The machines are capable of much usefulness, and if they were driven with common sense and with due regard for the rights of all other users of the public roads, they would not be so much of a terror."

The report also spoke of the importance of maintaining the purity of the milk supply and discussed the game laws. Of the latter Mr. Dye said:

"Our code of game laws and method of their administration seems to be growing worse. I would suggest that if the State assumes to own the game, as it seems to, although the entire list of wild animals and birds is fed and supported by the farmers, and to place penalties against shooting or trapping this game even by farmers when animals or birds are destroying their property, that a law be formulated making the State rsponsible for the damage; that such damage be appraised by proper persons to be appointed and the bill for damages be presented to the State for payment. Something should be done."

During the year 2,733 cows were examined for tuberculosis, and the average sum paid for condemned animals was $21.59.

Reports of the executive committee, giving the deails of its work during the year, and the reports of the New Jersey State Grange, were both read, as was that of the treasurer, Walter Heritage, of Swedesboro. The latter showed receipts of $4,195, all of which was expended. Mr. Ketcham read the report of Secretary Dye, which showed that prosperous conditions have prevailed among the farmers of the State.

Although the year 1904 had proven an exceptionally good one, it was surpassed by 1905 by more than half a million dollars in the value of crops. There are 34,650 farms in New Jersey, the average value of which is $4,962. The total value of lands and buildings is estimated at $162,591,010; of implements and machinery, $9,330,030; of domestic animals, $20,545,515; a total of $182,466,555. The value of farm products for the year 1905 aggregates $59,491,806, equivalent to gross average earnings of $18 an acre.

PERSONAL.

TO ATTACK ROOT FOR HIS BOSSISM.

Albany, Jan. 18.—Elihu Root, Secretary of State and principal adviser of Thomas F. Ryan, has been singled out for attack by the insurgent members of the Legislature who resent the interference of President Roosevelt and Mr. Root in State affairs.

Mr. Root has come in for a lot of attention of late, principally because of his activity in the war against Boss Odell and his intimate association with Mr. Ryan.

Circumstances show that Mr. Root is taking an active interest in the organization and management of the Legislature. His influence in this field is not to be disputed, although concealed at times by the selection of persons whose connection with him is not clearly established.

Forty Days for Julia.

Mrs. Julia Saueracker, a lady who knows the interior of the police court very well, was arrested by Officer Tappen last night for drunkenness and disorder. Mrs. Saueracker was with one of her gentleman friends when the officer saw her, but the g. f. escaped. The prisoner got forty days straight when Judge Runyon disposed of the case this morning.

REAL MARVELS OF SPEED.

Some Bicycle Records That Put to Blush the Best Pace of the Autos.

Because the automobile is so conspicuously in the public eye, the world is inclined to marvel at each successive report of its speed performances. They almost shudder as they read of some flights of 50 and 60 miles an hour by thundering monsters of 90, 100 or even 120-horse power. And while they marvel and shudder, speed performances far more remarkable are being permitted to be passed "unheralded and unsung"—the performances of men on bicycles.

How insignificant appears 60 miles an hour by a gigantic motor car propelled by an engine of 100 horse power, when compared with 56 miles per hour by a bicycle propelled by one-man power! How little real merit there is in 110 miles in two hours by the same mighty creation of steel when in the same period of time a mere man on two wheels completes full and more than 500 miles! And yet this is the case. It has become so generally the fashion to overlook and minimize the bicycle and to glorify the motor car that few there are who know that within this twelvemonth two French cyclists have set up records such as put the motor car to blush—Guignard, 55 miles 1,515 yards in 60 minutes, and Contenet, 99.36 miles in twice 60 minutes. If the world sought real marvels of speed, these would seem to supply them.

Of course, these records were made in the wake of powerful motorcycles, but that detracts little from their merit. That flesh and blood should be capable of maintaining such amazing flights under any conditions fairly staggers imagination when it is given play.—The Bicycling World.

NO FEAR OF YELLOW PERIL.

As regards an invasion of central and western Europe by the yellow peoples, the experience of the Russo-Japanese war would appear to establish that it is the wildest chimera. In present circumstances, says Blackwood's Magazine, the advance of the yellow races by land is impossible until they shall have either entirely subjugated Siberia and obtained full and unhampered command of the railways and all other communications, or else have the requirements of modern warfare across the deserts on the western Chinese frontier, driven the Russians out of central Asia, and thoroughly subdued the Mahometan population of the central Asiatic khanates. The difficulties encountered by Russia in dispatching and maintaining armies on the eastern frontier of Siberia, although their line of communications traverses their own territory, are nothing in comparison with what would be the difficulties of a yellow army with a line of communications through a hostile country, and faced on the Urals by the full power of Russia, under conditions the most favorable for the Russians. And before central Europe can be reached European Russia must be conquered. The feasibility of such operations has only to be examined, for the idea to be at once and definitely rejected.

HAY'S SENSE OF HUMOR.

Ease with Which the Late Secretary of State Saw Things Through.

The following anecdote of the late John Hay furnishes an example of his sense of humor and the ease with which he passed victoriously through an awkward situation:

Alighting from a train at White River Junction with a clerk of the state department, he made his way to the lunch counter of the station. There was only one vacant stool, and the clerk gave precedence to his distinguished chief, taking his own meal standing.

Next to Mr. Hay, and ignorant as to the identity of his neighbor, was perched Young Corbett, the champion lightweight pugilist of the world. In the middle of the meal the clerk was horrified to see Mr. Hay's neighbor jab a powerful elbow into the august ribs and to hear him say: "Hey, cull, ferry over the confectionery, will yer."

The companion of the secretary of state was further surprised when, with an amused smile, the diplomat and author of "Jim Bludsoe" passed—the loaf sugar.

Oil for Rough Sea.

Instructions are given by the British admiralty office regarding the manner in which oil should be poured on "troubled waters." It is recommended that the oil be dropped overboard in small perforated canvas bags capable of holding from one to two gallons; each bag depending from a line whose position differs according to the nature of the sea and the direction of the wind. Running before the wind one hangs out the oil bags from either bow; crossing a bar with a flood tide the oil is thrown to windward of her. Waste from the engines seems to be the best oil, though all animal and vegetable oils will serve.

For Harmony's Sake.

"I see by the paper," said Mrs. Nexdore, "that that stubborn candidate for office has finally been induced to withdraw from the ticket in the interest of harmony."

"Yes," sweetly replied Mrs. Peppery, "by the way, it's a wonder the same laudable object doesn't induce your daughter to withdraw from the piano occasionally."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Y.M.C.A.'S BIG BANQUET

Splendid Reports and Instructive Talks Features of Annual Affair.

INSTITUTION GROWING

R. S. Miller, H. T. Dixon, H. C. Manning and Kenneth Robbie Speakers—Membership Is 725.

Preceded by a dinner of 150 covers, the Y. M. C. A. annual meeting was held in the large hall of the association last night. The affair was a great social success.

The tables were spread up and down the length of the hall, and one large table, for President Gavett, the board of directors, Y. M. C. A. officials and guests, was on the platform. Flowers and lamps were used in decoration.

President Gavett was toastmaster. Near him sat R. S. Miller, secretary of the American legation at Tokio, and H. T. Dixon, of the Twenty-third Street branch of the Y. M. C. A., New York, the principal speakers. Plainfield clergymen were prominent in the gathering, among those at the table being Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea, Rev. G. W. Mooney, Rev. G. B. Shaw, Rev. E. V. Stevenson, Rev. C. L. Goodrich and Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie.

While the men were dining downstairs, the women's auxiliary banquetted in the parlor. When the speechmaking began they took places in the gallery.

President Gavett's report, the first he has ever made, was heard with much interest. It reads as follows:

In reporting a successful year for our association we realize that there is room for much improvement and advance in what we do. Starting the year with a debt, besides our note of $1,000, on the lighting plant, the necessity of increasing our membership was impressed upon us. A strong effort was made in this direction, and kept up all summer, and we can report the largest membership in the history of the association, 725, an increase of 250. This was accomplished by the untiring efforts of a very few members, and we realize to keep our membership this size and increase it as we should, we must have a larger number of workers. With the population of Plainfield, we should have a membership of 1,000.

Last February a friendly contest, to see who could get the most members to join the association, was inaugurated, and H. B. Dennis was the leading man—he obtained twenty men. J. A. Powlinson was a close second. Of the men now connected with our association, 346 are members of some evangelical church, and 227 are not connected with any religious organization; 363 of our members are American born, 19 Irish, 11 German, 3 Danes, 2 Scotch, 1 Bohemian, and 1 Cuban; 161 are unrecorded; 93 of our members are clerks, 75 mechanics, 38 merchants, 35 brokers, 33 students, 22 lawyers, 19 physicians, 18 proprietors, 15 policemen, 10 railroad men, 8 grocers, all the ministers in town, and a few men engaged in each of the following lines of business: druggists, teachers, printers, bakers, painters and tailors.

Thus it will be seen that the association is neither narrow nor bigoted, for it is striving to reach all classes of men. Classes have been held in mechanical drawing and mathematics, but the sizes of these classes have been a disappointment. Our effort to make our education work a larger success has failed. We hope in the next year to try some new plan to enlarge this work.

A large orchestra has been of great service to us in our meetings and socials and has been a means of drawing many men into the association. The past year in the physical department has in many ways been the best year we have had. For seven months of the year eighteen classes weekly have been held. This has meant an increase of three classes per week over the year of 1904. The new class was that of the policemen, which began work in February, 1905. The total attendance in these classes for the year has been 7,161. This does not by any means give the total number using our physical department, for the gymnasium, bath and swimming pool are used constantly by men when not in class work.

Besides the regular class work, an interscholastic meeting was held between the various secondary schools of this city and vicinity, and was run by the P. H. S., N. P. H. S. and Leal's school. Much credit is due Dr. W. K. Browning for the way he managed our basketball team. Athletic meetings were also held with neighboring associations. A new feature of the work of 1905 was an amateur circus, held in our gymnasium. It not only drew so large a crowd that many were refused admittance, but did much to hold the interest of the men in the physical department at a time when they are usually beginning to be interested in other things; and by the circus $90 was added to the association receipts. The bathroom has been thoroughly renovated during the year, the swimming pool was re-enameled, and three showers have been installed. The bowling alleys have been refinished and are now in first class condition.

We regret to report that on September 1, 1905, F. A. Henckel, who served us so commendably for a year, accepted a position with the Brooklyn Association. A. C. Boardman was called to fill the vacancy, but resigned January 1. In November, Mr. Robbie was made association secretary, and now has charge of the boys' work, physical department, and boys' manual training school, more work than one man should have, and we are arranging to secure a man from the Y. M. C. A. Training School at Springfield for the physical work. Basketball, as ever, is one of the great attractions and some of the best games ever played have been seen lately. The real work of this department cannot be tabulated—testimonies have come to us from several sources of the real benefit men have derived from the systematic exercises that they received.

One young man, writing to us from Brown University, tells us that through the training he received in this department of the Plainfield Association he was enabled to take first place in the college gymnasium meeting. Another man, now in Depaw University, tells us that while in the Plainfield department he was lead to accept Christ as his personal Savious, and after further preparation at Depaw is going to the foreign field as an associate secretary. Other incidents might be noted, but these suffice to show that the physical department stands for more than running a certain number of gymnasium classes. Even in this department effort is made to bring out the best that is in the men.

The work in the boys' department had been carried on as in the past years. The Bible study class has had a total attendance of 469. This year we have had four boys teaching Bible classes. This has been made possible by having the boys who taught meet in a training class, and after having the lessons taught to them, they have in turn taught them to others. In this way we have been able to help more boys as well as train a few to do some definite service for their Master. Eight monthly meetings for boys have been held, with an average attendance of about twenty-five. These have been entirely run by the boys themselves. Our annual boys' camp was held at Tuxis Island, and thirty boys and leaders spent two weeks there. Evening and morning prayers were conducted daily, and six boys were lead to accept Christ as their personal Saviour.

During the year twelve of our boys united with the various churches—five in the Episcopal, four in the Presbyterian, two in the Methodist and one in the Congregational. For some years past the association has felt that there was a certain class of young men and boys whom we were not reaching in our present quarters, and for which we felt we would like to do something. After several interviews with the managers of the Boys' Club it was deemed best to combine our efforts, and in November all the property of the club was presented to the association.

In the past their capacity was twenty-five boys; under our present plan we can accommodate fifty. This work is primarily for those who, for various reasons, do not care to come here. We have a well equipped trade school, and are teaching carpentry, pattern making, molding and mechanical drawing, and we hope this year to start work in other lines, such as plumbing, electrical work, etc. This new line of work opens to us an opportunity for service for the poorer boys, such as we have never had before.

The Women's Auxiliary have continued their good work throughout the year, making extensive repairs and redecorating parts of our building. They have assisted largely in our social work, and have been in ways too numerous to mention a great help to us. This auxiliary, the youngest in the State, is the largest, having 260 members, and we try to appreciate the good assistance they are to us. Our association has been represented during the year at Northfield, Silver Bay and Lake George. We have contributed both to the State and international work for young men, and our secretaries have attended various conferences that will help them in their different lines of work.

Our Star Course of entertainments has been a better class of talent this year, and is free to our members. The religious committee has been engaged during the year in the same character of work as before. The fifty-two Sunday afternoon meetings have had a total attendance of 4,991; average, 96, twenty-three per cent. larger than in 1904. Mr. Murray's Bible class, on teaching the Bible, had an attendance of 247, average attendance, twenty-two. Mr. Manning's class had total attendance of 393, average, seven and one-half. The classes conducted in the different machine shops were attended by 4,517.

PASTOR'S RECEPTION LARGELY ATTENDED

MUSICAL PROGRAMME A FEATURE OF SOCIAL AFFAIR.

One of four receptions given during the year by the pastor, Rev. Charles E. Herring, assisted by women of the congregation, held last night, was largely attended. The affair was purely informal. During the evening an impromptu programme of instrumental music was given by Martin A. Korff, violin; Otto Miller, 'cello; Miss Clara VanFleet and Miss Alice Miller, piano.

These receptions have proved to be very enjoyable, giving the members of the church and congregation an opportunity to be come better acquainted and meet the new members who are constantly meeting received.

Mrs. David Young was chairman of the committee in charge last night, and she was assisted by Mrs. Clarence Bond, Mrs. Howard A. Pope, Mrs. W. W. Dunn, Mrs. John S. Johnston, Mrs. Robert H. Radford, Mrs. Harry Williams, Mrs. N. W. Currie, Mrs. William DeForest, Miss Elizabeth Colburn and Miss Addie Dietrich. The next reception will be held after Easter.

WOMANHOOD OF INDIA, MISSIONARY'S SUBJECT

REV. H. J. SCUDDER TALKS AT AN AFTERNOON TEA.

Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, of West Front street, opened her home yesterday for the purpose of holding a missionary tea, an opportunity being afforded to hear Rev. H. J. Scudder who is home on a vacation from the Arcot Mission in India. A general invitation was extended to the women of Trinity Reformed church congregation and there was an unusually large attendance.

Two vocal solos by Mrs. Bayard Hawthorne and piano solos by Miss Hazel Martin were delightful features of the programme. Special interest was centred in the address of the afternoon by Mr. Scudder, who spoke on "The Womanhood of India." He described the condition of the women in India and told of the steady progress made in Christianizing them. His description of the customs and habits of the women and of the difficulty in reaching them with the Bible, owing to caste, was listened to with deep interest by all. Mr. Scudder expects to return to his mission station in the near future. He is working under the direction of the Foreign Mission Board of the Reformed church.

Following the address tea and chocolate were served. Mrs. A. L. Force and Mrs. Anna Gillem poured in the dining room and they were assisted by Mrs. William A. Woodruff, Mrs. H. B. Paul, Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver, Mrs. William C. Leek, Mrs. C. Frank French and Miss Hazel Martin. During the tea a social time was enjoyed and all had an opportunity to meet Mr. Scudder. Dr. Schenck also made a few remarks in which he thanked Mr. Scudder on behalf of the women for his interesting talk.

An Old Newspaper.

We had a pleasant call Tuesday from former Councilman Vincent L. Frazee, of Plainfield, who is a frequent business visitor to Rahway. He showed us a rare literary curiosity in the shape of a copy of the New York Morning Post dated Friday, November 7, 1783, when it was published by Morton & Horner. It is perfectly preserved, printed in the old style of letters and advertising display and contains matter, both in news and advertisements that reads strange in these later days. Mr. Frazee found it among the papers of his father, long since deceased.—Rahway Union Democrat.

Slept in Flat Hallways.

Clarence Johnson, colored, thirteen years old, and Eddie Seader, same age, were found sleeping in the hallway of a Jackson flat. Madison avenue, by Patrolman Charles Flynn last night. Seader was turned over to the North Plainfield police, who wanted him, this morning. Johnson was held for the probation officer, who will be in town Saturday.

Parish House Fund.

Rev. A. S. Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church, is working very hard to secure funds for the erection of a new parish house. The land has been secured near the church and it is hoped that work on the building can be started this summer.

New Plumber in Town.

George F. Giles, plumber, of North avenue, Dunellen, has leased a store on Park avenue at present occupied by M. Armstrong.

COLLEGE MEN RESPOND

362 INVITATIONS OUT

Plenty to Eat and Smoke and Some Good Speeches Are Promised —List of Colleges.

The committee in charge of the college smoker to be held at the Casino on Friday night, February 9, has sent out 362 invitations to college men known to be in this city and has received 143 replies. At present it is known that eighty-nine men will attend and fifty-four will not. The committee is especially anxious that replies be sent in with the $1.75 subscription fee at the earliest possible date so that final arrangements can be made. Out of the 143 replies there are a number who have not sent their money and it is urged that they do so at once.

As stated, the smoker is for all college men, graduates or undergraduates, or anyone who has been to college. It will include the academic, scientific, medical, law and dental departments or men who have in any way been associated with college life. The idea is to have a gathering of the "clans" so that each fellow may get acquainted with one another and have a rousing good time.

Provisions are being made to have plenty to eat, drink and smoke, with good speeches and an abundance of music, vocal and instrumental. Out of the 362 invitations sent out it has been found that forty-five different colleges are represented in Plainfield as follows:

Yale, Princeton, Rutgers, Amherst, Cornell, Harvard, Lehigh, Pennsylvania, Williams, Columbia, Union, Dartmouth, Alfred, Boston School of Technology, University of Tennessee, University of London, Eng.; University of Edinburgh, Scotland; Bowdoin, University of Toronto, Canada; University of Maryland, Lafayette, Trinity, University of Michigan, Swathmore, Hamilton, Stevens, Brown, Georgetown, University of Berlin, West Point, Lincoln, Neb.; Philadelphia Dental College, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Chicago; Jefferson, University of Colorado, Wesleyand, Hahnemann, Philadelphia; New York University, University of Virginia, Hobart, Brooklyn "Poly," University of Illinois, Colgate, Bucknell, Conway, (Eng.) Military Academy.

Even with such a long list the committee realizes that it is not yet complete and is anxious to get in touch with every man who is eligible to join in the festivities. It has been hinted that it is the plan to form a university club at the smoker, but this is now denied. Whatever efforts are put forth in this direction or to make this an annual affair will be an after consideration and no plans have been made for that as yet. All remittances and replies to invitations should be sent to Owen Fleming, 1012 Park avenue.

IT WAS ONLY WATER.

But It Was Carbonated Enough to Injure Him.

A bottle of carbonated water, heavily charged, exploded in the hands of Emil Pauly, a furrier of South avenue, yesterday, and severely cut his wrist. The broken glass almost severed the main artery and only for prompt medical attention on the part of Dr. A. H. Dundon, the results might have been serious.

The man lost a considerable quantity of blood and when the physician arrived he was very weak. He will be detained at home several days.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges Engaged.

Mrs. Walter Farwell, of Chicago, announces the engagement of her sister, Miss Adele Cutts Williams, to Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, of this city. The date for the wedding has not been set. Dr. Hedges is one of the foremost practisioners in this section and is one of the leaders in the exclusive society circle of Plainfield.

Robert Lee's New Position.

Former City Collector Robert Lee has been given a lucrative and responsible position by the Hudson River R. R. Company, which is part of the McAdoo tunnel interests. At present he is stationed at Fifteenth street, Hoboken, but after February 1 will be at the Morton street end of the tunnel, in New York.

Sewing Circle Meeting.

Mizpah Sewing Circle was entertained at the home of Mrs. David Bush, of West Second street, yesterday afternoon. In addition to the regular membership there were several visitors. The time was passed in sewing and having a social time, after which Mrs. Bush served refreshments.

TRAINS CRASHED IN FOG PASSENGERS ESCAPE

NEW YORK EXPRESS ON THE B. & O. HITS JERSEY LOCAL— NO ONE HURT.

A Baltimore and Ohio express, bound from Philadelphia to New York, crashed into a local at the Lehigh Valley crossing about two miles west of Bound Brook about 7:30 yesterday morning. The express had slackened speed and little damage was done. No one was hurt.

The local, which was due at Bound Brook at 7:15, had stopped to let a Lehigh Valley train cross in front. There was a heavy fog, and it is supposed that the engineer of the express, who had shut down his train in obedience to the same signals which stopped the local, underestimated the closeness of the local ahead of him.

The last car of the local was a mail car of heavy build. The collision drove it into the passenger coach ahead with force enough to demolish the platforms and smash the windows. The few passengers in the coach escaped with a shaking up.

The express locomotive was put out of commission and traffic was delayed until a new engine could be sent out from Bound Brook.

ENFORCING THE LAW IN TRUANCY CASE

MAYOR DECIDE TO HAVE HABITUAL OFFENDER SENT TO REFORM SCHOOL.

Edward Seader, aged twelve years, son of Peter Seader, of Race street, an habitual truant, who has been warned and excused a number of times for not attending the Borough Public School, was arrested last night by Truant Officer Thomas MacDonald and arraigned before Mayor Smalley. It was shown that the boy persisted in staying away from school and Superintendent Krebs suggested that drastic measures be adopted.

The Mayor decided to hold the boy and this afternoon will be taken to Somerville and arraigned before Judge Schenck. It is quite likely that he will be sent to the Reform School. This is the first case where the borough school authorities have been obliged to take such severe measures, and as much as it is regretted, it is considered the only thing to do in maintaining a strict attendance of the children at school.

MRS. M. L. GREER DEAD.

Mother of Charles Greer; Had Been Ill Four Months.

Mrs. Maria L. Greer, mother of Charles Greer, died at 11 o'clock last night at the home of her son, 815 Richmond street. She had been ill nearly four months with a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Greer was a native of this State and prior to coming to Plainfield resided at Madison, Morris county, for many years. She was an attendant of Grace M. E. church, North Plainfield. Two sons, Charles Greer, of this city, and William Greer, of Jersey City, survive her. Funeral services will be held from the late home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

MRS. FOX TO ASSIST.

Reception Tomorrow in Honor of Miss Williamson.

Mrs. Hugh R. Fox, of this city, will assist in a brilliant society reception to be given in honor of Miss Isabelle Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Williamson, tomorrow afternoon by Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, at the historic Williamson Mansion, North Broad street, Elizabeth. The occasion will be the introduction of Miss Williamson, who made her debute at the bachelors' dance, held at the Elizabeth Town and Country Club in December.

Mrs. Fox will pour tea in the red library, and prominent society folk from all parts of the State will attend.

First Meeting of Street Committee.

There was an informal meeting of the new councilmanic street committee, last night, when the members discussed some plans for street work during the coming year. This is the first meeting Chairman W. L. Gloak has called this year and it is now the purpose of the committee to become thoroughly acquainted with the work. Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett met with the committee.

Entertained the Kaffee Klatch Club.

Mrs. Edward Clark, of Orchard place, entertained the members of the Kaffee Klatch Club, yesterday afternoon. Among the guests were Mrs. Jacob Blimm, Mrs. Walter Heidloff, Mrs. Margaret Sweeney and Mrs. Mehl.

MRS. WEIGHTMAN LOSES GEMS AT THE OPERA

FORMER PLAINFIELDER MISSES DIAMONDS VALUED HIGHLY.

Diamonds worth thousands of dollars were lost Tuesday night last, supposedly by Mrs. Aubrey H. Weightman, of 1915 Walunt street, Philadelphia, while returning home from the opera at the Academy of Music, in Broad street, in that city. The firm of J. E. Caldwell & Co. has advertised the loss of the jewels, offering a reward for their return. The Academy of Music was searched thoroughly. The carpets were pulled up, but the jewels were not found.

Mrs. Weightman was formerly Miss Fanny Cox, daughter of Mrs. Rowland Cox, of West Seventh street, this city.

The jewels consisted of a necklace, composed of 100 diamonds, weighing 10½ carats; one diamond, La Valliere, composed of two drops or pendants; another pendant, pear-shaped, and one square. The necklace also contained two baroque pearls and thirteen small diamonds.

BOY PLAYED WITH NITRO-GLYCERINE

CARTRIDGE EXPLODED BLOWING FLESH OFF HIS FINGERS.

A Bound Brook Hungarian, who work for a contractor, visited a friend in Dunellen a week ago. He had a pocketful of nitro-glycerine cartridges, and gave twenty-eight of them to his friend's thirteen-year-old son.

The boy, known as Frank, distributed the cartridges among his companions in the borough. Their presence was made known to the owner this week, when Leo Logan, son of John E. Logan, blew the flesh from two fingers and injured the others almost as badly. He was picking at the cap of one of the cartridges when the charge exploded.

He told where he had gotten the cartridge, and an investigation by the authorities disclosed the presence of the twenty-seven others among small boys. A hurry-up search for the cartridges was instituted, and all of them were gathered into official hands. It is considered remarkable that no other and more serious accidents had not occurred.

Drs. Platt and Hedges dressed the wounds of the Logan boy. It is believed his hand can be saved, although there is considerable danger of blood poisoning.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WIN THE FIRST GAME.

Defeat Whittier Five by 18 to 16 After Close Fight.

The girls' basketball teams of the High School and Whittier School played the first game in a championship series, at Hope chapel gymnasium yesterday afternoon. High School won, 18 to 16.

The combinations were very evenly matched as to team work and passing. The High School quintet stood a little higher on their pins, and their longer reach counted for something in the contest. The score was tied at 16-16 when the second half expired, and a warm few minutes of scurrying was necessary to decide the game. Winn shot the deciding goal.

Fleming and Winn were the star players. Fleming made all the points for her team.

The line-up:

Whittier.	High School.
Durar	Fine
Fleming	Winn
forwards.
Mehaffey	Huntington
centre.
Snyder	Ramsey
Alpaugh	Wilcox
guards.

Saved From Train.

Assistant Baggage Master Jacob Wagner saved a woman from death under the wheels of the fast 1:18 eastbound train at the station this afternoon. The woman, whose name was not learned, stepped directly in the path of the train, evidently under the impression that it was coming down on the other track. Wagner saw that she did not realize her danger, and springing to her side, pulled her to the platform.

New Members to Take Their Seats.

Thomas Doud and Andrew E. Kenney, the newly-appointed members of the Borough Board of Health, will take their seats at the meeting to be held on Monday, February 5. At that time they will be assigned to the various committee work.

ACTRESS IN CITY COURT

TEARS AT THE HEARING

Eva Benton, an actress who played with the "No Mother to Guide Her" company at the New Plainfield theatre, last night, was arrested this morning on complaint of the show's manager, James L. Veromee. He claimed that, after the curtain went down on the last act, Miss Benton used language to him that is forbidden by the peace and good morals ordinance of the city.

Patrolman Higgins got Miss Benton at the theatre this morning. She promptly opened the floodgates, and Higgins had a well-developed hatred of Veromee by the time he had his prisoner in the station house. Miss Benton carried on at a great rate. She made several effective speeches, and threw in some original business that brought down the house. She read her part so well that Higgins went around hissing manly sentiments of rage against Veromee.

The latter was not on hand to press the complaint when Judge Runyon, who was sent for as soon as the actress was locked up, arrived. He took the train for New Brunswick with the rest of the company a few minutes after Miss Benton was arrested.

Tears figured largely in the hearing.

"I have never been in a place like this before," sobbed Miss Benton. "It is terrible. I am among strangers, and made out to be a low woman."

She was terribly stricken when the magistrate read the language she was charged with using. She staggered back seven paces, turned her ear three-quarters to the right, buried it in her hands, and moaned. The moan was very well done. Then she raised her right hand, and looked tragicaly at the smoky ceiling.

"As God is my witness, I never used those words," she said thrillingly. "May I be struck down in my tracks, if I said those words."

Her head bowed again. She took three steps to the right, turned halfway in another direction, and sobbed with a new note.

"I should have stayed with Robert Mantell," she said. "This comes of going with such low people."

She told the magistrate that Veromee held back her salary until late last night, and cursed her, with insulting language, when she asked for her money. She was amazed and thrown into another pose when Chief Kiely gave her an envelope containing $17.50, which Veromee had left for her. She said there ought to be $20 in it, if it was intended for four-days' pay, and it required a lot of soothing and advice from Chief Kiely and the judge to get her to sign a receipt on account.

The complainant having failed to put in an appearance, there was nothing for Judge Runyon to do but dismiss the complaint. Miss Benton went to the depot to get her trunks, attended by Cop Higgins.

Rector Ready to Quit.

The Rev. William Whiting Davis, rector of Christ Episcopal church, East Orange, announced yesterday that he was open to "any reasonable offer" to become the rector of another parish. Back of that lies a story that a strong element in Mr. Davis' church is anxious that he should depart from that charge because he is not sufficiently "magnetic" for them. Just what the disaffected ones mean by "magnetic" is not apparent.

Funeral of James DeGraw.

The funeral services of James DeGraw were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of his sister, Mrs. A. D. Cook, in East Seventh street. The services, which were private, were conducted by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The interment was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were Frank Putnam, Elias H. Bird, Edward Pack and Jeremiah VanWinkle.

Cake and Candy Sale.

A cake and candy sale will be held in the primary department of the Sunday-school room of Trinity Reformed church tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock, under the auspices of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society. The proceeds will be devoted to missions.

Indians One Day More.

Whether at peaceful work, thrilling sport or dances of the wild men of the plains, these Indians are always interesting. Only one day more and they will follow another trail.

Here's More of the Silk Shirt Waist Suits.

Who would have thought so many wanted silk shirt waist suits so early in the season, even at half price? Why, we were fairly taken off our feet with last week's demand for them. Women are coming to anticipate their needs more and more.

We had to disappoint some of those who came for these suits on Saturday because the maker failed to ship a lot as he promised. No fault of ours, but we feel responsible just the same and will make amends withanother offering tomorrow of suits we had to pay more for, but will sell at the same low prices.

Half the price you will pay this spring.

These suits are of excellent Taffeta Silk in the most authoritative styles—models being followed by manufacturers for the coming spring's product—colors most desirable, beautifully made in every way—again offered in three lots:

$12.50 Silk Shirt Waist Suits..... 7.50

Lot 1—Two-tone taffeta silk in all popular shades; waists beautifully tucked and made with lace yokes; skirts plaited and flounced; charming suits.

$22.50 Silk Shirt Waist Suits..... 9.50

Lot 2—Of handsome taffeta, in pretty plain and two-toned shades; also small checks and black; with lace yoke and cuffs; nicely plaited waist and skirt.

Good Clothing For Half.

An Investment

If we told you we could double your dollars, you would very quickly sit up and take notice, would you not? Well, that is what we are going to do in this clothing sale. Do you want the particulars?

One of the paradoxes of the trading system of today is that goods are often sold for less than we have to pay for the same things later on. We are not speculators. We do not hold goods for an advance in price nor because they are advancing. Each season must take care of itself. The clothing bought to sell this winter must be sold this winter, no matter what the sacrifice.

Rather than put the clothing away in camphor—as some do—we are willing to cut the prices in two. We are benefited by this operation and you profit doubly—first by saving half the usual cost; next by getting a suit or an overcoat for the good part of this winter's wear.

In this sale we will include Men's and Youths' Suits and Overcoats that have been sold at all the way from $5.98 to $40, embracing, of course, our celebrated

"JUST RIGHT" CLOTHING.

In the quality and style of the fabrics employed, in the worthiness of the linings and trimmings, in the splendid tailoring and the absolutely perfect fit of the clothing we sell, we have the best of reasons why you should place full faith in every suit and overcoat in the store, and you have every reason to believe that, at our regular prices, they were as good quality as the money would buy anywhere.

Men's and Youths Fine Suits and Overcoats.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

At the regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church yesterday afternoon there was a good attendance. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. A. Cubberley. After the usual devotional services, matters of unfinished and new business followed. The next monthly meeting will be held with Mrs. David Bigley.

A large delegation went from here to New Brunswick Wednesday evening in the interest of the proposed scheme to incorporate the community into a borough.

Official Notice of Call.

Rev. George Mooney, pastor of Monroe Avenue church, has given official notice to Presiding Elder Dr. Halleron of his call received from the South Orange M. E. church, and expressed his wish to accept if it is the pleasure and wish of the Bishop to send him there in April. Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, formerly of this city, is now pastor of the South Orange church, and it is a large and growing parish.

Very Little Kicking.

The city is making good progress in collecting and paying assessments to the property-owners affected by the improvements to be made in Park avenue, Sycamore street and Stebbins place. All of the property-owners have received their notices and it is understood that very few have objected to the amount assessed them for benefits and damages.

More about that purchase and sale of $10,000 worth of fine, fashionable Furs and Fur Garments at one-third to one-half less than regular prices.

The mild, unseasonable Winter weather thus far has played havoc with the fur business, and the furriers' profits. Manufacturers are glad to sell their surplus stock at cost, and in some instances at even less. Prices are, therefore, lower than they have been in many a Winter. It's the fur dealers' loss—the wearers' gain. A leading fur dealer's necessity was our opportunity—yours, too, if you will take advantage of it.

In our advertisement in Tuesday's evening papers we quoted you astonishingly low prices on the more expensive furs and fur garments contained in this big purchase. Below we give you some sample prices on the less expensive but highly desirable fur garments and smaller fur pieces which any woman should be glad to own and wear.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Ezra Kendall is coming in "The Vinegar Buyer." This is the title of Ezra Kendall's play, or rather the play with Liebler & Co. had Herbert Hall Winslow write for Ezra Kendall, and which is to be presented at the New Plainfield theatre Monday, January 22. The title of "The Vinegar Buyer" is an odd and amusing one, but it imperfectly describes the Joe Miller of the play, the character which Mr. Kendall impersonates, for Joe Miller does lots of things in the play which is vastly more interesting than his vocation as a vinegar buyer. Really the vinegar buying business cuts but a small figure in the play, though Joe Miller is a "vinegar buyer" beyond question.

Arnold Daly and George Bernard Shaw form a combination which should add much to the entertainment and the merriment of the season in Plainfield, when they may be said to appear in conjunction at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. Mr. Daly, though still a very young man, is one of the most talked of American actors and is entitled to great credit for the intellectual energy which he has displayed in the past few years, and which has brought him to a foremost place among native actors.

A play that should appeal strongly to the patrons of the New Plainfield theatre is the new emotional drama, "A Wife's Secret," with a remarkable company and enhanced by a splendid equipment of scenery and effects, which will be seen at that house. The story of the play is an argument in favor of woman's faithfulness, and a plea to the hearts of unforgiving and doubting husbands. It presents a picture of life as it is today, with strikingly human characters, such as we meet in reality, it is said, and a welcome relief from the many impossible caricatures too often seen on the stage. The production is under the direction of the well known amusement purveyors, Spencer and Aborn, who have made many meritorious contributions to the field of melodrama, and this presentation is pronounced one of their best achievements.

"An ideal portrayal of Shakespeare's greatest comedy heroine, witching and winsome, delightfully swaggering, blending women's natural coquetry and disguised affection so deftly and naturally that even the hardened students of Shakespeare looked on in amazement," is the estimate placed upon Henrietta Crosman's work in "As You Like It" by the dramatic critic of the New York Daily News in his review of the performance. Such expert judgment as this tells local playgoers what to look forward to at the New Plainfield theatre when Miss Crosman and her company will be seen here as a revival of "As You Like It."

F. O. Herring, of Park avenue, who has been quite ill with erysipelas, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mundy, of Beverly, Mass., who have been spending several weeks with their parents here, have returned.

The Misses Endicott, of Atlantic City, who have been visiting their uncle, Dr. G. W. Endicott, of Park avenue, have returned home.

Mrs. Paul Taylor Brown, of Belvidere avenue, will leave in a few days for Florida, where she will join her husband. They will remain South for several weeks.

Miss Bertha Mitchell, of Grant avenue, who was operated upon at Muhlenberg Hospital for appendicitis, is now out of danger and expects to return home soon.

Plainfield, N. J., January 19, 1906.

Although it is not unlike many other similar organizations, the Elizabeth Board of Trade is certainly a funny aggregation. Its latest gigantic stride for the upbuilding of that community and the enlightenment of its inhabitants would furnish a pretty fair plot for a comic opera. It has delegated unto itself the right to act as press censor, though it is not common for public bodies to distinguish themselves by the exercise of autocratic powers. In order to keep from the public what foolish things are said and done at its meetings, no doubt, the board at first decreed the reporters should be excluded from the councils of deliberation. Having enough common sense, however, to realize the silliness of the position taken, it finally issued an ultimatum that the representative of the press be admitted on condition that their copy by censored by the members of the body. What a broad-minded set of men there must be in that aggregation.

It is very encouraging to those having charge of the work and likewise most commendable of the community that the Y. M. C. A. is making such rapid progress. The reports presented last night, particularly that of the president, reveals some figures worthy of note. There are 725 members in the organization and in addition to this there are 250 in the auxiliary. Great progress has been made along all lines of work undertaken. The physical department has proven a source of considerable benefit to the many who make use of it; the boys' department has grown to be a big factor for the improvement of youth; the Bible and general educational classes are covering a field and their influence is marked, and the Sunday afternoon and the Star Course entertainments appear to be prosperous at least so far as attendance is concerned. The excellent condition of this worthy institution is due largely to the marked executive ability of General Secretary Harry Manning and his enterprising assistant, Boys' Secretary Kenneth Robbie.

Mayor Smalley Punishes Man For Begging in Borough.

James Golden was arrested by Patrolman Dooley on Somerset street, in the borough, last night, charged with begging and otherwise acting in a disorderly manner. The man was seen going into Boyce's Hotel, where he sought aid. Afterward he accosted two women on Somerset street. Failing to get any money, he approached Patrolman Dooley, who was in citizen's clothes, and asked for the price of a drink. The officer promptly marched him to police headquarters.

This morning he was arraigned before Mayor Smalley and given twenty days in the county jail to think it over.

THE SENATE TABLES TILLMAN'S RESOLUTION.

Eight Democrats Only in the Negative—Leader Refrained From Voting.

Washington, Jan. 19.—By a vote of 54 to 8, the Senate yesterday laid on the table the Tillman resolution, calling for an investigation of the recent ejection of Mrs. Morris from the White House.

The negative votes were from Democratic Senators. Mr. Hale, Republican leader, refrained from voting.

There was no objection to consideration.

Mr. Tillman, with face blood red, took a step into the main aisle, and with a scowl toward the Republican leader, Mr. Hale, said:

"It was not my purpose yesterday to go as far as this. I was taunted beyond all endurance by the Senator from Maine (Mr. Hale). There was no justification in my view to this charge of defaming the Chief Executive and doing so from personal enmity."

He declared that he believed in the protection of the President, but contended that if he was to be absolutely protected he would have to be kept a prisoner. "When one President dies," he declared, "another man fills his office as well, if not better, than his predecessor, but when the liberties of the people are destroyed," he continued, shaking his head and gesticulating with a closed fist, "it is despotism."

Mr. Daniel moved to lay the resolution on the table. The roll call was demanded. It resulted—ayes 54, nays 8. The resolution went to the table.

To Slap in Face, $20.

A slap in the face cost Wilbur E. Rose, of South River, $20 in the District Court at New Brunswick yesterday. Meyer Aneckstein was the plaintiff who sued for $300 damages for the assault. The trial was an amusing one and Lawler Silzer, for the defendant, in summing up declared the matter was so trivial that it was absurd to think so much time was given to it by lawyers and court, but Lawyer Theodore Strong took exception to the effort to laugh his case out of court and recovered a verdict for his client.

Postmaster Found Drowned.

Postmaster Henry Ahern, of Montvale, N. J., was last seen alive when he alighted from the theatre train on the New Jersey and New York Railroad on Tuesday at midnight. Yesterday morning a boy found the body of the postmaster in the Pascack Brook. Ahearn a few days ago resigned as postmaster. The former postmaster, Alfred N. Crotty, is still a fugitive from justice.

We have sent this year as our contribution to the foreign work for young men in Madras, $367.15, and we are sure if this part of our work is presented as it can be to our members, we can at on distant day support our own secretary on the field. A large meeting for this object will soon be held. We have met with a great loss during the last year in the death of Mr. Cahoone and Mr. Valiant, two members of our Board of Directors, who have been in the Y. M. C. A. work for many years. Their places will be hard to fill, but their example of faithful service should inspire us to do our best.

The large amount of time devoted to personal work by the secretaries should be noticed. Much of this work is unreported. Saloons have been visited, men invited to our meetings from the street, and this personal invitation has greatly helped the attendance. Business positions have been found for men out of work. It is fitting to recognize here the faithful services of our employes and to acknowledge the many favors for which we, as an association, are indebted to the many whose gifts and services render have so encouraged those engaged in this work.

We extend a cordial welcome to all to visit our roms, and we wish more of our members would become better acquainted with our building and the work that we are doing. We would invite any fair criticism and would be glad of advice given and suggestions from any members. The requirements of our association cannot be fully told in a report like this, but one great need is a larger number of faithful workers to fill the vacancies that continually occur, and to add to the strength of our organization.

Mr. Miller's address was on the religious phase of the Russo-Japanese war in the Jap camps. He said so much good had been done by the Y. M. C. A. in its work among the soldiers that it was said there, "The war has driven a Christian wedge into the heart of Japan."

To work among the Japanese army and navy men is to touch the very life of the country. One thing the war had demonstrated to the Japanese, and that the Christian can be a loyal and efficient soldier. This had been dobuted by the Buddhists.

Mr. Dixon spoke of the nature of Y. M. C. A. work in general. He dwelt on the personal appeal that characterizes it, and laid all its success to that.

He spoke earnestly of the appeal to bodily strength as a great and desirable end, not merely a means to an end. Perfect Christianity, he held, could not grow or be practiced in an imperfect body. He paid a strong tribute to President Roosevelt for his advocating of the strenuous and muscular life.

Boys' Secretary Robbie, speaking for his department, made an appeal for earnest and undivided workers for the boys' club.

"What we need," said Mr. Robbie, "is not so much more men, but more Man. We have an immeasureable opportunity; let us not fail to grasp it."

H. C. Manning, general secretary, made a very brief statement. He asked the members to be ready with suggestions for the directors.

G. M. Rittenhouse read the religious work report. Fifty-two Sunday meetings were held with a total attendance of 4,991 and an average attendance of ninety-six. He mentioned the noon shop meetings, giving figures as follows: Safe Works, 22 meetings, average attendance 31; Potter Press Works, 23 meetings, average attendance 44; Scott Press Works, 29 meetings, average attendance, 59; Aluminum Plate and Press Works, 18 meetings, average attendance 61. The report on the women's auxiliary showed it to be the largest in the State still, and flourishing. The treasurer's report showed the finances of the association to be strong.

A. B. Beers, W. D. Murray, and F. R. Stevens were unanimously re-elected directors for three years, and W. B. Wadsworth was elected in place of E. L. Bonny, resigned.

On motion by O. S. Rogers a minute voicing the appreciation of the association of the work done by the late John Valiant and the late Stephen Cahoone, as directors, was ordered spread upon the records.

H. B. Dennis was presented with a pin, in token of his having gathered twenty new members, the largest number, in an enrollment contest last year.

Votes of thanks were taken for the ladies' auxiliary and for the newspapers.

For Plainfield's License Rate.

Signatures are being obtained of the Catholic clergy of the State to petitions asking the Legislature to enact a law which would restrict radically the sale of intoxicating liquors and providing for strict Sunday closing. One of the most important features of the bill which has been drafted is that it is provided that in cities of the first, second and third class there shall be not more than one saloon for each 1,000 inhabitants, and that the license fee shall be $1,000.

Two Men Killed by Train.

Dr. J. L. Beck and his driver, Arthur Smith, were killed yesterday afternoon by a train on the Central Railroad of New Jersey at Vineland. They were driving over a grade crossing there in a buggy when the vehicle was struck by the pay train. Both men were hurled out, and Dr. Beck was dead when picked up. Smith expired soon afterward. The horse was killed and the buggy demolished.

An Examination of Accounts.

The examination into the accounts of George E. Steengraff upon an order obtained by William Newcorn, representing the Mt. Penn Stove Company, of Pennsylvania, was commenced this morning before Supreme Court Commissioner Isaac P. Runyon, and was adjourned to Saturday morning, January 27.

ALLEGED JEWELRY THIEVES CAUGHT

William A. Carson, of Buffalo, was arrested at his boarding house in Elizabethport last night by Detective John P. McDonald, of Rochester, N. Y., charged with stealing more than $1,500 in gold watches and jewelry from the firm of Castelberg, Hollander & Fleishman, of Rochester, which had employed him as a salesman. He was arraigned in police court today and committed for thirty for requisition.

His alleged confederate in the robbery, Charles Relyea, of Williamsport, Penn., was arrested in Brooklyn yesterday by Detective Bonner, of that city. He was taken this afternoon to Rochester by Detective McDonald.

Relyea was a salesman for the firm. The pair, it is charged, fled from Rochester on January 6, taking with them out of the firm's store $800 worth of watches and jewelry. It is alleged they had previously disposed of jewelry valued at $700 during the Christmas holidays. They were supposed to sell the goods on the instalment plan. The firm alleges, however, that they pawned the stuff and turned in forged orders to the firm purporting to have been signed by reputable residents of Rochester.

In Carson's room at the Elizabethport boarding house watches, gold rings and chains valued at $350 were found.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Miss S. A. Walshe's class at St. Stephen's church Sunday-school has received the banner for January by having the highest average attendance during December.

St. Stephen's church has contributed $5 toward the building fund of a mission at Garwood. Rev. William R. Mulford, of Scotch Plains, has the work in charge.

It is expected that a number of new members will soon be received at Grace M. E. church as a result of the recent evangelistic services conducted there by Rines brothers, of Canada.

The women of St. Stephen's church are collecting magazines to be sent to one of the life saving stations on the New Jersey coast, and to a small isolated village in northern Michigan.

The Sunday-school library of St. Stephen's church has been substantially enlarged by the receipt of a number of fine books. The library now occupies a place at the home of the rector, where new shelving has been put in position.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Appleate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

ANGRY WOMAN LOCKED THE BOOK AGENT UP

HE STAYED LOCKED FOUR HOURS WHILE WOMAN GOT THE POLICE.

Locked in a room for four hours while several women stood guard outside was the experience of a book agent, Isaac Salz, at Perth Amboy, yesterday.

Salz, who is only twenty years old, called at the home of Mrs. Baronsky to sell some books. Agents of a company at Red Bank have been selling books in this section of the country for some time at 10 cents each. The scheme is something like the trading stamp plan. After a person has bought fifty-five of the books at 10 cents each he or she is supposed to get a premium. Mr. Baronsky had purchased a lot of the books and had expected that her premium would be a gold watch, but was disappointed.

When Salz put in an appearance yesterday morning and tried to sell her some more books on the same plan she politely asked him into the house. The agent thought that she was "good" for a large order. He had never met Mrs. Baronsky before. After she ushered him into a room she at once closed the door and locked it. Then she called in some of her women neighbors, and they stood guard at the door, while another ran to Police Headquarters. It took four hours to find a policeman. When he did arrive he escorted the women and the youthful agent to the station.

Salz was discharged when it was learned that he was not the agent from whom Mrs. Baronsky had bought the books.

COLBY GOING TO CAMDEN.

Senator and Record to Start Anti-Machine Move There.

Senator Colby and George L. Record have arranged to go to Camden tonight for a conference with the Republican anti-machine men of that county who have planned to meet them and discuss the situation there. Assurances have come from Camden that despite the apparent grip of the machine on that section there is excellent ground for missionary work, as was shown by the results of the vote last November.

Many of the best Republicans of Camden, it is said, are ready to break from the machine as soon as an opportunity and a leader present themselves, and they have been anxious to have Senator Colby extend his work into that promising field.

AUTOS SPREAD GYPSY MOTHS.

Infested Territory Increased Nearly 2,000 Square Miles in Six Years.

Boston, Jan. 18.—A total of 2,224 square miles of territory in Massachusetts is occupied by the gypsy moth, according to the first annual report of W. H. Kirkland, superintendent for suppressing the gypsy and brown-tail moths, which was given to the Legislature yesterday. In 1900 the moths infested only 359 square miles.

Of the spread of the moths and the causes Supt. Kirkland says: "That the automobile has been an important factor in the distribution of the gypsy moth within the last three years does not admit of dispute. It is of great significance that the places where the automobilists are accustomed to stop for meals or supplies are most generally affected by the gypsy moth."

Mrs. O. T. Waring, of Park avenue, is much improved from a recent illness.

LOCAL COURT INNOVATION

Assistant Probation Officer Makes His First Appearance.

SATURDAYS HEREAFTER

Sole Juvenile Case This Morning Postponed—Reason for Judge Runyon's Scheme.

Acting on Judge Runyon's suggestion, Captain Irwin, assistant to County Probation Officer Emily Williamson, was present at this morning's session of the city court, and will hereafter be a regular attendant each Saturday, all juvenile cases being held for that sitting.

Captain Irwin was directly interested today in the trial of Roy Johnson, a young colored boy, who drew a knife on John Rafferty and attempted to slash him. It was recorded as his first offense, but as it is a serious one the authorities were loath to let him go free. Necessary witnesses being absent, the case was adjourned until next Saturday, and Johnson was released in the custody of relatives until then.

The idea of having a probation officer at court is to better dispose of petty cases where the offenders are not of age. Judge Runyon has choice only between sending them to jail or suspending sentence, and sometimes neither is preferable.

With the probation officer present to hear the testimony, he can take the prisoner in charge and if the offense warrants it, hold him for the juvenile court.

Mrs. Williamson and Captain Irwin having had a great deal of experience in youthful cases are better able to prescribe punishment that will have a deterrent effect on criminal tendencies.

TALK ON NORTHFIELD BY D. L. MOODY'S SON

W. R. MOODY TELLS OF INSTITUTION FOUNDED BY FAMOUS SIRE.

W. R. Moody, son of the late Dwight L. Moody, the world-renown evangelist, addressed the Young People's Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night, telling of the work his father started in founding the schools at Northfield, Mass. Mr. Moody, who is a personal friend ofa H. H. Williams, president of the society, came here on the latter's invitation.

Mr. Moody described the work at the schools and of the progress made by the boys and girls. One of the rules is that no boy or girl will be received under the age of sixteen years or who is able to pay more than $100 a year as tuition. This has worked exceptionally well and in this way worthy boys and girls are secured as students. There was a large attendance of young people at the meeting and all were greatly interested in hearing about this work.

BOROUGH AUTHORITIES AGAIN HAVE SEADER BOY.

Somerset Officials Refused to Consider His Case, and Back He Comes.

The borough authorities are again wrestling with the problem of what to do with Edward Seader, arrested Thursday for confirmed truancy. He was taken to Somerville by Chief Weiss and Superintendent of School Krebs yesterday, but as no commitment had been made out the authorities refused to accept him. Eddie, accordingly, escaped being sentenced to the Jamesburg Reformatory and was returned to North Plainfield.

He is now being held while the police and school departments decide what is to be done. It was suggested today that he be placed in a private home and be given another chance, and this is being considered.

Attended Yale Alumni Dinner.

City Judge William N. Runyon was among those who attended the annual dinner of the New York City alumni of Yale University at Sherry's last night. Five hundred men from all parts of the country were present, the two "great lions" being Dr. Hadley and Walter Camp, the latter the football authority.

Friends Surprise Mr. Herring.

Twenty friends of Rev. Charles E. Herring called at his home unexpectedly last night and spent a pleasant evening in an informal way. Games were played and several of the party contributed vocal selections.

Men's Meeting Tomorrow.

Rev. George Mooney will speak at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Edson C. Martin and Martin P. Korff will render baritone and violin solos.

HIGH SCHOOL ALREADY DISCUSSING BASEBALL

THE PRESENT SEASON TO BE OPENED ON MARCH 28.

Manager Joe Gavett and Captain Malcomb Davis, of the Plainfield High School team, are now busily engaged in preparing for the coming baseball season, and it is predicted that it will be one of the best in the history of the school.

The season will be opened on March 28, much earlier than usual, with a local team to be decided upon later. It is proposed to make the schedule a strong one and a majority of the games will be played with the best scholastic teams. It is doubtful whether Westfield, Rahway or teams of like strength will be included in the schedule.

Among the teams scheduled are Brooklyn High School, on April 4; Commercial High School, of New York, on April 11; Newark High, East Orange High, Montclair, Morris High, New York; Erasmus Hall, Brooklyn, and possibly DeWitt Clinton, of New York. Last season Painfield High played several of the New York teams in the city, and this years it is proposed to have those teams come here.

"Phil" Smith, the star twirler, will again be the chief boxman, but he will have assistance on the part of Mahaffey, who has developed into a pitcher. He will also play short. Malcomb Davis will catch and captain the team. Paul Collier will cover first base, Stuart Freeman second base, Brakeley third base, while Howard Freeman, VanDeventer, Edward Mosher and Murphy are candidates for the outfield. Many of these positions are in competition, and it will not be definitely known until early in March just how the team will appear on the diamond.

It is generally considered that the team will be fully as strong as last year, when only two games were lost out of seventeen played. The full schedule will be announced within a short time and as soon as possible the candidates for the team will begin training and practice for the season's work.

PLANS SUBMITTED FOR NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING

COMPANY WILL LEAVE PRESENT STRUCTURE NEXT JANUARY.

While it is the intention of the New York & New Jersey Telephone Company to erect its new building on East Fourth street, near Park avenue, this summer, plans for the structure have not been accepted. According to the terms of the contract with the Westinghouse Company, which is to furnish the switchboards and other appurtenances connected with the operating department, everything is to be in readiness to cut over from the old to the new board by January 1, 1907. This company requires from thirty to sixty days' notice for this kind of work.

Several architects have submitted plans to the superintendent of construction work, but not one has come up to the requirements. The company has given instructions as to what will go in the new building, and requires architects to design the structure accordingly. Thus far architects have failed to draft plans to meet the approval of the company.

The new equipment will be built to handle 2,400 telephone lines, and this will provide for 4,000 separate stations in Plainfield and North Plainfield. By stations is meant separate telephones. This will allow for future increase in the business, which has been somewhat handicapped in installing instruments to meet the demands, but with a larger force it is hoped to catch up with the work soon.

The new building will be constructed of brick and stone and will be modern in every respect. According to the new arrangement the operating deppartment will be on the second floor, allowing the first floor for offices. Materials and supplies will be kept in the basement and third floor. One great convenience planned will be the installation of a common battery system, which will do away with the batteries now attached to each 'phone.

Want a Synagogue.

The Jewish population of Somerville, Bound Brook and Raritan is making arrangements to build a synagogue in Somerville. To help raise funds for that purpose an entertainment will be given in Somerset Hall March 23.

Another Dinner-Dance.

The fifth dinner-dance in the series will be given at the Casino tonight under the auspices of the Plainfield Country Club. There will be dancing, bowling, billiards and bridge whist.

PLAINFIELD 40 YEARS AGO

31 ARE STILL ACTIVE

Old Residents Will Recall Those on the List of 141—Compiled by J. D. Spicer.

In view of the steady and marked progress made in local business circles during the past forty years, J. D. Spicer, who was associated with Joseph A. Hubbard in the sash and blind trade for thirty-five years, has been led to compile a list of names of men doing a legitimate business in this city in 1866. HORSES LEFT TO STARVE

During Proprietor's Illness, Westphal's Livery Has Been Wiped Out.

S. P. C. A. INVESTIGATES

Four Animals Had to Be Killed—Neighbors Lodged Complaint—Authorities Act.

While he has been detained at home because of serious illness, the livery business conducted by Freeholder William A. Westphal at the foot of Compton's alley, has been practically wiped out through alleged neglect of his employes. Intent upon enjoying themselves during the "boss's" absence, the hostlers, it is said, allowed his five horses to dwindle to mere skeletons for the want of feeding. Nearby residents discovered the plight of the animals and four of them had to be killed, two early in the week and the other two this morning. The one remaining has a bare chance of living and an effect is being made to save it.

The business was purchased by Freeholder Westphal from Dan S. Roberts and he was gradually building it up until taken sick. His men were instructed to take care of things until he recovered but they visited the place only at long intervals, letting everything go. The horses soon became hunger-stricken and in their agony chewed up all the wood within reach.

The noise made by their kicking and cries caused residents to investigate and the local agent of the S. P. C. A. was notified. He immediately ordered the killing of two of the animals and sought to save the others. Though feed was given them in small quantities, they continued to grow weaker and today the police department was asked to put two more out of their misery. They were shot by Patrolman Overbaugh.

It was said today that the police would investigate the matter fully and that the men responsible for the plight of the horses would be punished. Mr. Westphal is still confined to his home but is rapidly recovering his health.

"GRAND, SWEET SONG" FOR TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nomer Celebrate Their Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Nomer, of 433 East Seventh street, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding last night, entertaining thirty friends. The decorations were pink and white.

During the evening a handsome set of cut glass was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Nomer by A. C. LaBoyteaux on behalf of the guests. Another feature was the reading of an original ode by Miss Mary Robinson. This was dedicated to the celebrants.

Part of the evening was given up to charades, in which the silver wedding idea was pictured in an attractive way. Later refreshments were served, Mr. and Mrs. Nomer receiving the congratulations of all for many happy returns of the day.

"The Pilgrim Fathers."

Rev. George R. Lockwood, of Glen Olden, Pa., will give an illustrated lecture at the Congregational church tomorrow night, on the subject of "The Principles and Progress of the Pilgrim Fathers." There will be ninety views covering a period of 300 years, and will be interesting, instructive and inspiring. If the weather is stormy the lecture will be postponed one week.

He was among the hundreds to thoroughly enjoy the speeches of Governor Stokes, Senator Dryden, Senator Colby and other distinguished men.

CHECK AUTO SPEEDING

Gist of Bill to be Proposed By Senator Frelinghuysen of Somerset County.

FOR TWO LICENSES

Fine or Imprisonment—Inspectors to Be Named—Compulsory Registrations.

The Anti-Automobile Association of North Branch, which has been making a vigorous crusade all the fall and winter against reckless automobile driving and numbers among its members some of the most prominent and influential residents of Branchburg and Bridgewater townships, held another rousing mass-meeting in Rupell's Hall, at North Branch, last night. The speaker was Clarence E. Case, of Somerville, law partner of form Congressman Alvah A. Clark. He said in part:

"Senator Frelinghuysen, I understand, is soon to introduce in the Legislature an automobile bill, providing for a commissioner of motor vehicles, and for the appointment of auto inspectors. The bill provides for two sets of licenses issued by this department—one license to the machine, giving it a number, the other license to the driver, the idea being that no one should drive a machine without a license, and that to secure this license he (the applicant) must pass an examination and pay a license fee, graduated according to the horsepower of the machine, and that this license should be revocable at the discretion of the department for the abuse thereof by the licensee. This is in addition to other penalties that may be prescribed for violations of the provisions of the act.

"It is proposed that there be inspectors in every county whose duty it is to see that the laws pertaining to the highways are observed. Of course, this entails considerable expense, but are not men worth more than fishes? And does not the State employ wardens to see that fish are not caught out of season and that a proper spawning time is allowed?

"The proposed bill will provide that infractions of the act shall be punishable by fine or imprisonment. Once there is made a sure way of punishment for the guilty one we shall soon have a more equitable use of the public roads.

"If I am correctly informed of Senator Frelinhuysen's proposed bill, the essential features are these: A compulsory registration of the machine and also a license for the driver, granted only upon the passing of a satisfactory examination, and both registration certificate and driver's license subject to revocation; the fee for registering the machine, as well as the fee for issuing the driver's license, to be graduated according to the horsepower of the machine; the appointment of a commissioner of motor vehicles and motor vehicle inspectors to enforce the provisions of the law, and the fixing of an alternative penalty of fine or imprisonment, in the discretion of the magistrate."

WELCOMED NEW RECTOR.

Heavenly Rest Parishioners Greet Rev. C. H. Doupe.

The members of the Church of the Heavenly Rest gave a reception in the parish house on Thursday night to welcome Rev. Charles H. Doupe, the new rector, who succeeds Rev. Robert Walker. The affair was largely attended and the many features greatly enjoyed.

The church choir, under the direction of Garret T. Dunham, organist, rendered several selections, opening with "Spring Song," "O Hush, Thee, My Baby," "Star of December Night" and "Kentucky Babe."

The rector made a brief address, in which he thanked the women for the delightful affair which afforded him an opportunity to meet the members of the parish; also the rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, Rev. George A. Warener, for his presence and fellowship in the work.

During the evening refreshments were served. Much credit is due Miss Emma Forster, vice-president of the Women's Guild, who, in the absence of the president, Mrs. I. D. Ferguson, took charge and made the reception a success.

Surprised Their Pastor.

Mrs. Phoebe Spring and Mrs. Rebecca Corn and a number of others gave a surprise party on Tuesday night to Rev. Dr. and E. E. Jackson, of Liberty street. Unfortunately Dr. Jackson was away from the city, and his wife received the company. There were many valuable gifts, including a substantial purse of money. Refreshments were served. Dr. Jackson, who is now pastor of the Waverly Place Baptist church, New York, has assumed his new duties.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker, of East Sixth street, are entertaining relatives from Lynchburg, Va.

HE GOT A WIFE WHO WAS JUST HIS STYLE

WHEN SHE REMOVED HER VEIL HE THOUGHT OF "THE CLANSMAN."

"Wanted, a Wife," was the title of a unique entertainment given in Vincent chapel last night, under the auspices of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church. It was a pantomime affair. The parlor was the scene of a bachelor's quarters, occupied by George Rittenhouse, who was in search of a wife. The room was decorated with pictures, flags, books and newspapers. The young man being tired of a single life, decides to get a wife, and places a sign in the window, "Wanted, a Wife." This attracted the attention of the young women, who call.

The first applicant, Miss Georgia Ruckman, was "two slow," and was rejected. Then Miss Helen Whitney applied, but she was too slovenly and would not do. Miss Helena Huber, the third caller, was a society woman, could talk and entertain, but had no other accomplishments. Miss Mildred Spicer was the next applicant. She was too ambitious and was refused. Miss Nan Wilson was the last caller, and as she entered, Miss May Whitney, who had been playing various selections on the piano, rendered "You're Just My Style." She seemed to suit, and Mr. Rittenhouse proposed and was accepted. Her face was heavily veiled, and upon removing the covering Mr. Rittenhouse discovered to his great surprise that his bride-to-be was colored, and he gave up in disgust.

After the entertainment chafing dishes were brought in and Welsh rabbit was served with sandwiches, coffee and olives. Those who presided at the chafing dishes were Mrs. A. C. McCrea, Mrs. S. H. Tugwell, Mrs. Harry Gee, Mrs. G. H. Whitney, Mrs. Arthur Cone, assisted by Mrs. Frank W. French, James A. Stafford and Harry Gee. Miss Howard was chairman of the entertainment committee, and Mrs. S. H. Tugwell the refreshment committee, assisted by the Misses Gesswein. Other members of the social committee were Miss Bertha Whitney and Miss Edna French.

ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN BY MONROE AVENUE M. E. CHURCH PEOPLE.

Under the auspices of the Epworth League of Monroe Avenue M. E. church, a "Benjamin Franklin Evening" was enjoyed in Epworth House, last night. FORESTERS' ENTERTAIN Vaudeville and Dance Given By Court Plainfield in Saengerbund Hall.

CLEVER PERFORMANCE

The annual entertainment and dance of Court Plainfield, No. 1144, Independent Order of Foresters, attracted a large number of members and friends to Saengerbund Hall last night. The programme afforded genuine fun for nearly three hours, after which dancing was enjoyed until nearly 4 o'clock this morning. Court Plainfield is one of the strongest fraternal organizations in this vicinity.

Dr. H. H. Lowrie, a trustee of the court, was in charge, and made a short introductory speech of welcome, after which Sam. Howard's Vaudeville Company presented the programme, which opened with an overture by Prof. Heinemeyer's orchestra, of Elizabeth. Some clever tricks and magical work were given by Prof. Irving, while Haley and Bond, comedy musical artists, kept the audience roaring from start to finish with their witticisms and fine musical work.

A feature of the programme was the appearance of the Rosseau twins and their mascot, children who are exceptionally clever in singing, dancing and impersonations. They were great favorites. S. V. Sanford, black face comedian, who has appeared here before, gave an excellent skit filled with funny sayings, and John J. Casey, humorist and comedian, in the singing of Irish songs, was a favorite. The programme concluded with an original sketch, "A Mixed Rehearsal," by Haley and Bond.

During the evening High Chief Ranger David Howell, of New Jersey, gave a short, interesting address, telling of the benefits of being a Forester. He expressed the hope that a companion court for women would soon be instituted here.

During the intermission refreshments were served in the basement of the hall under the direction of this committee of arrangements: James M. Smith, chairman; Louis Feiring, Charles F. Jaeger, Thomas J. Muldowney, Erward J. McCue, Henry Hansen and James Patterson. Louis Feiring was floor manager, and his assistants were M. J. Higgins, Thomas J. Muldowney and F. Wilbee.

Court Plainfield was instituted July 1, 1892, with fourteen members and today it has a membership of 363. Louis Feiring is the chief ranger and all the offices are filled with able and efficient members, who are constantly hustling for the court.

800 RED MEN ATTEND RECEPTION AT TRENTON

PAST GREAT SACHEM NEWCORN AMONG THE BIG CROWD.

Past Great Sachem William Newcorn and Sachem Charles L. Holstein, of this city, were among those attending the big gathering of Red Men held in Trenton last night. Governor E. C. Stokes was to have been present, but was detained. The attendance numbered over 800. Four hundred of this number came from Camden on a special train.

In 1834 a few men met at Baltimore and organized the Improved Order of Red Men of the United States. Up to the time of the Civil War there were 10,000 members in the United States. The membership at present comprises over 450,000 men. In New Jersey there are 27,000 members. A banquet followed at the Hotel Sterling, which was given to the great chiefs of the United States by the great chiefs of New Jersey.

A Vigorous Church.

The current number of the Christian Intelligencer contains the following paragraph: "One of the strong and vigorous churches of the Newark classis is Trinity Reformed, of Plainfield, in care of the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D. With a membership of more than 700 and a Sunday school averaging each Lord's day over 365, it stands for all good work in the beautiful and thrifty city. Such men as George Van Emburgh, A. L. Force and Robert Clark, Jr., of the firm of Wharton & Co., comprise its consistory. The Marconier chapel under the care of this church also forges forward. The mortgage on the building will be paid off this spring."

—Those who are to take part in the Y. M. C. A. circus are requested to attend a meeting to be held at the association building Monday night.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The ban has been placed on skating at the back pond, owing to the owners desiring to cut ice as soon as there is any to cut. So far this winter this has not been very hard on skaters, as there has only been three or four days when the ice has been thick enough to make the sport safe.

The stone crusher in the valley continues to run. The open weather this winter has been unusual. Work at the crusher in the past has generally been stopped about Christmas on account of the weather, but this winter there has been no shut-down as yet.

While Judge Clark refused a reappointment as town recorder, the judge has not given up the business of deciding knotty points of law, as he will receive his commission as a justice of the peace in May and will once more enter the fold.

Work on the new bridge on Union avenue, over Green brook, will probably be held up until spring. The iron work is about finished, but the contractors will be unable to fill in with the concrete until settled weather is here again.

The electric light circuit on Westfield avenue has been extended from the Bormann property to the Westfield line beyond Graceland, making a continuous line of light from here to Westfield.

Services tomorrow at the Baptist church will be: Sunday school, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7:15; evening sermon, 7:45.

The Suburban A. C., of the borough, is arranging to hold another of the series of club dances on February 8, in the club hall.

Walter Sherwin, of this city, has joined "The Holy City" company, now touring the south. He has a good part and one that fits him admirably.

Seats for the Elks' minstrel show are selling like the proverbial hot cakes. It promises to be another exemplification of "the early bird catching the worm."

Arnold Daly and his company, who are at the New Plainfield today for matinee and night performances, will be at Newark all next week, presenting "You Never Can Tell" and "Candida" on alternate nights.

"A Madcap Princess," which appeared in this city with Miss Sophie Brandt as leading lady, Election Day afternoon and night, closed last week. The company was touring the middle west and met with bad business.

Henry E. Dixey, the star of "The Man on the Box," is an actor of long established merit. He was born in Boston January 6, 1859, and became a member of the stock company of the old Howard Athenaeum, at the age of nine. He was afterwards with many companies, achieving his first great success in "Adonis." He has been leading comedian in many plays in England as well as in the United States.

Paul Barnett, the actor who broke his leg during a performance of "The Life That Kills," in this city, and who has been in Philadelphia since his discharge from Muhlenberg Hospital, returned to town for a short time yesterday. On Monday he joins "The Factory Girl" company, taking a part which he created several years ago. The show will be in New York for two weeks and then goes to Omaha, Neb., remaining in that vicinity until the close of the season.

WOMEN TRAP BOOK AGENT.

Lock Him in Room and Hold Him Until Police Arrive.

Perth Amboy, Jan. 20.—A book agent, Isaac Salz, twenty years old, called at the home of Mrs. Baronsky here yesterday to sell some books. A company has been selling books through agents in this section of the country for some time at ten cents each. The scheme is on the trading stamp plan. After a person has bought fifty-five of the books at ten cents each he is supposed to get a premium.

Mrs. Baronsky had purchased a lot of the books and had expected that her premium would be a gold watch. She heard nothing more of her premium. So when Salz appeared and tried to sell her some more books on the same plan, she politely asked him into the house, and the agent thought that he was good for a large order. He had never met Mrs. Baronsky before. After she ushered him into the room she locked the door.

Then she called in some of her women neighbors, and they stood guard at the door, all but one, who ran to police headquarters. It took four hours to get a policeman. When he did come he escorted all hands, the women and the youthful agent, to the station house. Salz was discharged when it was learned that he was not the agent from whom Mrs. Baronsky had bought books before.

SINGER CO. STARTS NEW APPLICATION SYSTEM.

Hereafter Position Seekers Must Apply to Main Office.

The Singer Company has inaugurated a new system for men applying for work. Hitherto when a man wanted a job he would go to the house of one of the bosses of a department and apply to him personally. There are instances related in which a boss of a department has been called from a social gathering and from a funeral service by an applicant for a job. Such a nuisance had this become that the company now compels all applicants for a situation to apply to the main office and file his application in writing. The applicant must state his age, his birthplace, his last place of employment, what he worked at, why he left, and what kind of work he wishes to be employed at.

A story is told by one of the heads of a department in the factory, that one of his employes called at his house one evening and asked for a job for his brother. Being in need of a man he told him to have his brother there the next morning.

"Oh," the man replied, "he is not here yet; the steamer he is on will not arrive till tomorrow."

A Church Club Discussion.

"The Good of the Club and of the Church," will be discussed at a meeting of the Men's Club of the First Baptist church to be held on Monday night, February 12. This meeting will be for members only. It has been suggested that more practical work should be accomplished by the club instead of giving up the meetings entirely to entertainment. It is not the intention to give up the social features altogether, but these will be made secondary to the chief aim of the club, that of doing as much good for the church as possible.

ANTI-AUTO ASSOCIATION WOULD CHECK SPEEDING.

North Branch Organization Discusses Subject at Rousing Meeting.

Whitehouse, Jan. 20.—The Anti-Automobile Association of North Branch, which has been making a vigorous crusade all the fall and winter against reckless automobile driving, and numbers among its members some of the most prominent and influential residents of Branchburg and Bridgewater townships, held another rousing meeting in Rupell's Hall, at North Branch, Thursday night. The attendance was very large and much interest was manifested in the cause. The object of the association is to influence legislation with a view of having more stringent laws passed against motor vehicles.

The speaker Thursday night was Clarence E. Case, of Somerville, law partner of former Congressman Alvah A. Clark. Mr. Case was well received and his address caused much favorable comment. During the campaign last fall Mr. Case was a warm supporter of Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset county, and in his speech he outlined the provisions of an automobile bill the Senator is soon to introduce in the Legislature, providing for a commissioner of motor vehicles and for the appointment of motor vehicle inspectors.

LIBBIE GARRABRANT IS ILL WITH BRONCHITIS.

Despite Her Sickness, She Declares She's "Very, Very Happy"—Gets Offers of Help.

Trenton, Jan. 20.—The health of Libbie Garrabrant, the life prisoner who served thirty-four years in the New Jersey State Prison for murder and who was paroled recently, is not the best.

She has been suffering for two weeks with bronchial affection, and has been constantly under the care of a physician at her home with her sister, Mrs. Thomas Dougherty, of Passaic. She is treated there with all the tenderness and sympathy that human hearts possess. In reply to a question as to her happiness, she said:

"I am as happy as I can be. My nieces, nephews, sister and brother-in-law are tender and kind to me. They make me feel entirely at home. I am very, very happy."

It has been reported that the Doughertys have been embarrassed because of Libbie's presence in their homes, but the reverse is the truth.

Libbie has received scores of letters asking her if she was content with her home, and if not, the writers were prepared to provide for her. She says, however, she is absolutely content where she is now.

Find Regular Honey Mine.

Asbury, Jan. 20.—E. J. Moss, whose farm is located near Hicks schoolhouse, between Asbury and Broadway, struck a honey mine Wednesday. In company with Frank Bodine, he went into the woods to fell a hickory tree. The first limb was about seventy feet from the ground, and half way between the ground and limb there was a hollow spot in the trunk. The tree was forty inches in diameter and as the blows of the axes resounded through the hollow trunk the farmers saw bees emerge from the hole. The honey-makers were too numb to offer any resistance, however, and the men continued at work until the tree was down. They secured ninety-seven pounds of honey.

EDUCATION FADS ARE CONDEMNED

DEAN OF CORNELL UNIVERSITY SAYS GET BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS.

Dr. Liberty H. Bailey, dean of Cornell University, yesterday delivered the forceful lecture before the second day's session of the State Board of Agriculture at Trenton on the subject "Agricultural Education."

Contrary to expectations, Dr. Bailey did not advocate adding things of large proportions to the school curriculum, but raised a round of applause when he said that the public schools were not paying enough attention to fundamentals. He declared against the higher things that the scholastics were prating about and said that the time was about ripe for a thorough overhauling of school matters. He did not believe in adding to the school curriculum but not until the fads were stricken from it.

The speaker said that if boys were taught to figure a problem in cheese or butter production and other farm matters for only one year, the whole method of farming would revolutionize. He said that education in fundamentals was necessary and that there was a growing demand for it among the people of all classes.

Dr. Bailey was applauded to the echo all along his speech and at its end had the congratulations of the assemblage.

Governor Stokes was the honored guest before the board. He told the farmers that their work was among the most important done for the people of New Jersey and urged them to add to their law-abiding powers to others in demanding legislation for the good of the State. He complimented the farmers on their progress in this State and said that the Jersey Jersey farmer was the peer of any lines of world work.

WIFE SAYS WRONG HORSE USUALLY WON THE RACE.

To This She Attributes Her Husband's Failure to Support Her.

Jersey City, Jan. 20.—Special Master in Chancery Joseph Anderson heard evidence in a peculiar divorce case. Mrs. Agnes Benan, the complainant, was a Christmas bride in 1895. She says she was deserted nine years ago, Christmas Day.

Her husband is a prosperous baker. Mrs. Benan asserted she was obliged to depend for money on what her husband made on the races.

"But," Mrs. Benan added, in giving her testimony, "the wrong horse won most of the races."

Mrs. Benan had her husband arrested for non-support. He was brought to Jersey City from Spring Lake on a warrant. When he appeared before Judge Higgins the charge was not pushed, but as he attempted to leave court he was served with the summons in his wife's suit.

The case still is pending.

Boy Slayer Held for Trial.

Freehold, Jan. 20.—Clinton H. Walling, sixteen years old, of near Keyport, was arraigned before Judge John E. Foster yesterday on an indictment charging him with manslaughter. He pleaded not guilty and was released under $500 bail for trial February 2. November 25 last his cousin, Miss Maud Walling, visited his home. Clinton was sitting in a chair talking to the young woman, who was standing at the side of a piano. The young man had a shotgun across his knees. The weapon in some manner was exploded and the charge of shot tore a large hole through Miss Walling's neck, killing her instantly. All concerned asserted it was purely an accident, but the prosecutor started an investigation, resulting in Walling's arrest and indictment.

Burned by Celluloid Collar.

Red Bank, Jan. 20.—Isaac, son of Morris Dixon, of this place, is now in the Long Branch Hospital suffering from severe burns which he received in a clothing establishment. He had been using gasolene to clean his clothes, and lighted a match.

His garments immediately ignited, and the flames communicated to a celluloid collar which he wore, and which encircled his neck like a girdle of fierce fire. He was badly burned about the head and neck, and his hands and wrists were also badly burned in attempting to tear off the collar. It is thought the boy will recover.

One Year for Trying to Rob.

Freehold, Jan. 20.—Before Judge John E. Foster, in court here, yesterday, George Ivey pleaded guilty of breaking and entering the Spring Lake freight station of the Central Railroad, and was sentenced to one year in State Prison. The crime was committed on December 6 last.

"Paddy From College."

The members of the Girl's Athletic Association, of the Plainfield High School, are rehearsing regularly the play, "Paddy from College," which will be given the latter part of February in the new High School. Miss Ferry, of the High School faculty, is coaching the cast.

—The next communion service at the First Baptist church will be held on Sunday, February 4. It is expected that several new members will be received.

JERSEY NURSES WANT UNIFORM LAW NOW.

They Would Make a Training Course Necessary Before Registration Could Be Obtained.

Concerted efforts on the part of graduate nurses of the State to obtain a higher standard of candidates for the profession are likely to result, before long, in the introduction of a bill into the Legislature providing for a uniform law under which the graduate nurses shall be registered in their own State only after a three years' course at some training school and which will exclude any person from posing as a graduate nurse who has not had proper training and a diploma from a regularly-registered training school.

The matter is being agitated by the New Jersey States Nurses' Association, representing about 500 graduate nurses. A bill is being drafted, and if it becomes a law would make an examination of all nurses now out in the State compulsory; would prohibit any training school from sending out undergraduates, and it would make one of the requirements for any candidate for any training school at least one year in the high school or its equivalent.

Mrs. D'Arcy Stephen, of Orange, the president of the State Nurses' Association, is at the head of the movement. At present four of the local training schools are registered with the regents at Albany, N. Y. This registration makes it possible for any graduate to do trained nursing anywhere. Nurses otherwise registered in this city and other places in the State can only nurse in New Jersey.

The nurses argue that with a law back of them making uniform requirements for nurses before they can be registered, it would be possible to get after the impostors. There are at present, according to the statistics, several States which have already secured such a law. In North Carolina, Virginia, New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut there are at present State laws under which the nurses are registered in their own State.

In regard to the compensation of women while getting their training, no definite stand has been taken. It is understood that in many of the States where the law has been passed the remuneration has been lowered, the idea being that with less monetary inducement women more anxious to enter the profession for its own sake will be secured. At the Newark City Hospital the rate at present is that, $8, $10 and $12 a month shall be paid for the first, second and third years, respectively. At the Orange Memorial Hospital the compensation is $6 a month.

A similar effort was undertaken by the association a year ago, but because of the difficulty experienced in getting the various training schools interested, definite action was postponed.

Alleged Stabber Held.

Trenton, Jan. 20.—Edward Snook, who was stabbed near Rosedale Monday, is in a dying condition at St. Francis' Hospital, and Prosecutor Crossley was notified by the hospital surgeons that he was not expected to live. Squire John Matheson took his ante-mortem statement late last night. Joseph McIntyre, who is charged with the stabbing, is now confined in the county jail. If Snook dies, a charge of murder will be preferred against him. The altercation in which Snook was stabbed took place Monday at the farm of James Pierson, near Rosedale.

Pleaded Not Guilty to Murder.

Trenton, Jan. 20.—Charles P. Green and Apollo M. Grooms pleaded not guilty before Justice Reed in Mercer Court Wednesday to the indictment charging them with the murder of James McCrossan, who was killed on May 16 last in a shanty in the rear of Fair street, near Factory street. Both men said "not guilty" in firm, loud voices after the indictments were read by Prosecutor Crossley. Neither of the men had counsel and the court said he would assign counsel. No date has been set for the trial.

James Hickey, of this city, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hickey, of Raritan.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

RIPE TOMATOES, BLOOMING ROSES AND LIVE CATERPILLARS IN SOUTH JERSEY

Vincentown, Jan. 20—From a vine in a field on the farm of John W. Haines, near Vincentown, Elmer Dunwood yesterday picked an almost ripe tomato. Rose bushes, too, are in bud.

Pleasantville, Jan. 20.—A large brown caterpillar was seen crawling along the sidewalk here yesterday, and is regarded as a sure omen of a mild winter, with a cold spell late in the spring.

ELIZABETH'S BOARD OF TRADE TO CENSOR PRESS REPORTS OF MEETINGS

Elizabeth, Jan. 20.—The Board of Trade in this city has decided that hereafter one of the officers of the board will endeavor to scrutinize all the news stories which are written by the reporters who attend the meeting. This was a compromise agreement as against forbidding the local or out-of-town newspapers from attending the sessions. The reason for the board's action was due to an objection upon the part of President C. H. K. Halsey, who believes that many matters which come before the board were published prematurely and that the press did not take the Board of Trade seriously enough. Former President Peter Egenolf defended the newspapers, saying that he was decidedly opposed to any star chamber proceedings, as did Joseph McManus, a merchant of this city. The other thirteen members present either remained silent or openly opposed the newspapers. In supporting the side of the press Mr. Egenolf said that he believed it would be unwise to exclude the newspapers, for, he pointed out, it is through them that the pubic learns of the work of the Board of Trade. Mr. Halsey said that he did not intend to incur the enmity of the press, but that his views were based upon a desire to prevent the publication of items concerning matters brought up in the board before any definite action is taken upon them.

PREDICTION THAT BULK OF STEAM RAILROADS WILL BE ELECTRIFIED

Cleveland, O., Jan. 20.—The Iron Trade Review, in its issue of yesterday, in an editorial discussion of the electrification of steam railroads, declares that "it is as certain as any great change can be at its inauguration that the bulk of the steam roads of the United States are to be electrified. In the nature of the case, the rapidity of the change will be governed by financial considerations. Much the same order will be observed as was the case with the rather sudden advent of the present high-power locomotives. These were rapidly adopted by the great trunk lines, which at the time had many lighter engines in comparatively good condition. These latter were not scrapped, but were driven to the branch lines of the great railroads, were utilized in suburban service or were sold to less important railroads at good figures.

"The amount of money which will be spent within the next quarter-century in the electrification of steam roads is simply enormous. Indications are that the sum will run very well into ten figures. The iron and steel industry will come in for a large proportion of the total. Attention has been directed to the remarkable increase in the production of sheet steel in the United States in 1905. A large part of this heavy gain was due to the great increase in the use of steel sheets in electrical work. The electric industry is now one of the very largest single consumers of steel sheets, but these constitute only one of the many forms of iron and steel which will be consumed in large tonnages in the electrification of steam roads."

OBJECTED TO THE "COPY."

Why the Special Issue of a Rutgers Publication Did Not Come Out.

New Brunswick, Jan. 20.—A special issue of The Targum, the weekly published by the undergraduates of Rutgers College, was to have appeared this week. It was to have been an issue of 2,000 and was to be the product of the joint brains of a large co-operating committee of alumni, under the direction of an alumni editor, who was selected by mail, and whose identity is now being guarded as a state secret, for reasons that will appear later. The edition has not appeared, and back of it is a story that is making the undergraute editors and writers chuckle, for the issue was choked off because the copy prepared by the alumni was so poor that the faculty couldn't stand for it and respectfully requested that it be "wastebasketed." As the faculty was paying for the edition this was done, although it did not claim or exercise the right of censorship.

George A. Osborn, assistant librarian, received the copy as it came from the editor of the alumni extra. The copy was delayed and when it did come it was so poorly prepared, so badly written and of such slim intellectual quality that he submitted it to the undergraduate editors of The Targum and to some of the members of the faculty. All of them agreed with him, and the appearance of the special was indefinitely postponed. The extra may appear a little later in the season, but for the present the project is in abeyance. Mr. Osborn refuses to discuss the incident.

Automobile Cases Settled.

Chatham, Jan. 20.—The automobile cases of John A. Hill, of East Orange, and J. O'Connor Sloane, of South Orange, who were arrested over a year ago by Marshals Smith and Coon, on a charge of exceeding the speed limit, which have been before the courts several times and which were to have been tried yesterday before Judge Willis in the Morris County courts, have been settled. Hill and Sloane instituted proceedings for $10,000 against the police, and a counter charge by Borough Counsel R. E. Lum in behalf of the police of $20,000, was finally settled by withdrawing the suits, leaving the matter as before, in favor of the Chatham authorities.

Playhouse Censorship.

Elizabeth has done what every well governed municipality in America should do. It has appointed a committee whose duty it is to pass upon the moral fitness of the playhouse attractions. The welfare of the coming generation demands such a censorship, for it is the children who are attracted by the cheap plays, and who are most injuriously affected by those of a questionable character. —Asbury Park Journal.

WOULD DIVIDE A STATE DEPARTMENT.

Colby Men Think Banking and Insurance Require Separate Bureaus.

If the joint identical resolutions offered in the Senate by Everett Colby and in the Assembly by William P. Martin, calling for an investigation of insurance companies, banks, and the State Department of Banking and Insurance, should be passed by the Legislature, and the investigation should show the need for reform in banking and insurance laws and methods, it will be the contention of the Essex county men that the Department of Insurance and Banking should be divided so that one bureau will have sole control over insurance companies and another the supervision of the banking companies of the State.

The Essex county members feel that an investigation would show the need of reform in the banking laws of the State and in those relating to insurance companies as well. They feel that the investigation made by the New York legislative committee into insurance matters, was only superficial, so far as it touched New Jersey corporations.

But it is felt by the introducers of the resolutions that the laws governing the insurance companies and the banking corporations of the State are too lax, and that the Department of Insurance and Banking has not as great powers of control as it should have in a matter where the money of the people of the State is concerned. They believe that banking and insurance, as separate businesses, require the possession of different kinds of knowledge in those who have the supervision over each. Banking, they say, requires a knowledge principally of bookkeeping and of accounting, while insurance is a business that necessitates the possession of an expert knowledge of a special character. Their only point of resemblance is in the fact that both partake of a financial character.

This view is contravened by other members of the Legislature, who say that there should be no need to establish two separate departments to supervise the two businesses because the only supervision to be done is over the financial investments of both kinds of corporations.

Separate departments, they say, would only compel an increased expenditure by the State without bringing about any increased efficiency that could not be obtained by giving the same powers to the present department of banking and insurance. If the need of reform in present laws should be shown, they think no objection would be made by the Legislature in general to making changes.

Miss Lulu Randolph, of West Eighth street, will return home today from Boston, where she has been visiting friends.

ABOUT TO MARRY; PROVED HUSBAND.

Brother of Bride-to-Be Obtains Proof and Has Man Arrested for Attempted Bigamy.

James C. Young was to have been married Thursday night to Miss Lauretta Fitzhenry, of No. 111 Chestnut street, Jersey City, after the wedding of her sister, Miss Emelia E. Fitzhenry, had taken place earlier in the evening. He was arrested Thursday afternoon on a charge of attempted bigamy. The charge was made against him by Daniel Fitzhenry, a brother of the bride-to-be, who lives at No. 428 Monmouth street.

Thorough preparations had been made for the double wedding at the Fitzhenry home. The guests, flower girls and ushers were present when Miss Emelia was married to Stanley Walter Roulston, but when the second marriage was about to be performed the guests were surprised to find there was not bridegroom present.

It was then announced by the family that a telegram had been received from Young that he had been delayed by trains and would be unable to reach the house. On receipt of this news Miss Lauretta became ill and now is under the care of a physician.

The real reason for the non-appearance of the man become known yesterday when Daniel Fitzhenry told his sister of the arrest.

Fitzhenry, who is a deputy sheriff, received a telegram from Baltimore Thursday warning him that Young was married and saying that a registered letter would follow with full details. Fitzhenry says he showed this telegram to his sister, Lauretta, but she refused to believe that there was any truth in the story.

When the registered letter arrived later it contained proof that Young has another living wife. Fitzhenry hurried to his sister's home, but Young had gone. He followed Young to his boarding house, who had been there, but missed him again. Then he went to the Erie station, where he found Young and placed him under arrest.

The police say the accused man has confessed that he has a wife and four children at Glenarden, near Baltimore.

EXCEPTION TAKEN TO GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Highway Protectors' Association Attacks His Auto Views.

A bulletin has been issued by the Highway Protectors' Association, in which exceptions are taken to the message of Governor Stokes on the automobile question. The recent report of Road Commissioner Hutchinson is also criticised. The bulletin says this about them:

"Both reports, as we read them, desire to protect the surface of the roads, and no desire is shown to protect life, limb and property. The commissioner wants the roads watered, so that the speed of the fast-going machines will not be noticed. The Governor says: 'A license fee in proportion to the speed of the cars should be charged and devoted to the repair our damaged highways.'

"We take it that he means if you pay for it you can go fast, and that going fast hurts the roads, but going fast does not hurt you or your property."

The bulletin calls on all interested to urge the Legislature to pass a law compelling automobiles to carry a light at night and place some restrictions on owners and drivers of the machines. A determined fight for better protection from racing machines will be made by the organization. It represents the farmers and citizens of every class.

VISIT NEWARK SCHOOLS.

Providence (R. I.) Educators On a Tour of Investigation.

A delegation of officials of the Public School Department of Providence, R. I., visited Newark yesterday to inspect the new fireproof construction process being used in several schools of the latter city now in course of erection and also to look into the revised course of study at the High School.

The Providence men included Judge Frederick Rueckert, president of the Board of Education; Col. Henry B. Rose, secretary; Walter H. Small, superintendent of schools; George F. Weston, principal of the Technical High School; Gilbert E. Whittemore, attendance officer, and Commissioners Edward Stockwell, Joseph J. Cunningham and John P. Bergen.

The visitors were received by Mayor Doremus, President McIntyre, City Superintendent Poland and other local officials, who escorted the New Englanders through the city, later entertaining them at Achtel Stetter's.

Dog Barking Saved Pickle Factory.

Mount Holly, Jan. 20.—The barking of a dog at 2 o'clock yesterday morning prevented two would-be incendiaries from burning the office at the old pickle factory in Water street belonging to William B. Wills. Yesterday morning a bundle of newspapers saturated with kerosene oil was found against the door.

GOV. STOKES ADMS FOR U. S. SENATOR.

Governor's Bold Course May Have a Serious Effect Upon Chances of J. F. Dryden.

Trenton, Jan. 20.—By the document launched at a crucial time, the message of Governor Stokes, the political thought of New Jersey has been turned into another channel and men have been made and unmade.

Hitherto, New Jersey has been quick to come to the defense of public utility companies and to the support of trusts. Men who supported these things have been promoted in politics, and it was thought that the only way to political favor was to support some railroad or some trust, and the power of money would carry one through.

Men have ridden into power and stayed there for years by the votes the Public Service Corporation owned in the Legislature, and others have been kept before the public by the support of the railroads.

Before the message of Governor Stokes was issued, former Assistant Postmaster General William M. Johnson, of Bergen, was a formidable candidate for the Governorship in 1907. Now he is outdistanced by State Chairman Frank O. Briggs.

Before the message, United States Senator John F. Dryden was almost sure of re-election, and now he has been cast in the shadow by Stokes, who would like this office at the close of his term as Governor.

As to Briggs, he was the man who sounded the keynote of the present reform measures, when he wrote to the chairman of the various Republican county committees showing that the party policy would be along the lines of reform greater than those raised by Senator Colby. He is comparatively a newcomer in politics.

Now the Public Service has lost its political prestige, and its supporters are marked before the public. The era of reform has set in and been accentuated so much by the message of the Governor that old corporation forces seemingly have melted away.

Johnson, in his candidacy for Governor, and Dryden, in his candidacy for re-election as United States Senator, have kept closely to corporation lines, while Briggs, for Governor, and Stokes, for United States Senator, have kept their ears to the ground and, hearing the public coming up the political highway in force, have dropped corporation activity, and now lead the popular processio.

There is only one thing in the way of Governor Stokes becoming United States Senator now, and that is the provision of the New Jersey Constitution, which is that the Governor shall not be elected to a Federal office during the State term for which he was elected. The election for United States Senator will occur before Stokes' term is out, but Stokes' friends have raised the issue that the prohibition in the State Constitution is opposed to the Federal Constitution and cannot stand.

NAGGED BY WIFE AND HE KILLED HER.

Arrested Slayer of the Woman Calmly Tells Story of the Shooting.

Adam Jenkins, twenty-five years old, a negro, employed by the United States Express Company, shot and killed yesterday morning his wife, Mary, of about the same age, in their apartments, at 331 First street, Jersey City. He was arrested. He gave this account of the murder to Chief Murphy:

"I work nights. Thursday morning when I came home my wife was asleep in bed. She woke up and cursed me. I went to sleep. At half past one I awoke. My wife swore at me and was very abusive. I didn't pay any attention to her. She said if I didn't mind what she said she would blow my head off.

"At 3 o'clock I went into the front room, where she was sewing. She cursed me. I attempted to joke with her, but she said if I didn't go away she would blow a hole in me. She took a pistol from a satchel in a trunk. I cooked my supper. While I was cooking she kept nagging me. I couldn't eat and gave the food to the dogs and went to work.

"When I got home at 6:30 yesterday morning she said she would cook my breakfast and I went to the cellar to see the puppies. When I came from the cellar I asked her where the revolver was. She didn't answer. I found the pistol under the pillow she had slept on. I'd better take this revolver and pawn it before there is any trouble with it,' I said.

"I put the pistol in my pocket and went to the stable where I work. Then I returned to our rooms. My wife swore at me again. I asked her if she intended to stop quarreling with me. She said: 'I'll never stop until I kill you or leave you.'

"She said she would clean up the house and leave me and she started to pack the things. That made me mad and I shot her."

Jenkins fired three shots in quick succession. One of the bullets struck Mrs. Jenkins in the temple and passed through her head. Two other bullets entered her body. When the police arrived she was dead.

APLEGET MAY BE MAJOR.

Served in Civil War—Asks Congress to Recognize Services.

Washington, Jan. 20—Senator Dryden's attention has been called to the case of Andrew S. Apleget, late a lieutenant of Company C, Second New Jersey Cavalry, in the Civil War. Lieutenant Apleget filled the position of major during one or two important battles in Mississippi, and for some time thereafter, according to affidavits that have been filed in the case. He was afterward captured and held a prisoner until near the close of the war. He now asks that Congress recognize his services by giving him the rank of major, in which position he actually served.

Governor Stokes and other prominent citizens of New Jersey are interested in the case, and while what Lieutenant Apleget asks would require the passage of a special bill in his behalf, some way may be found to bring such a result to pass.

Senator Dryden has received and filed resolutions from the Martinsville Council, No. 290, Jr. O. U. A. M., asking for laws to restrict immigration "by an increase of head tax-educational test, physical examination and inspection at the port of embarkation."

Senator Kean has filed in the Senate a letter from Lambertus Touw, of Paterson, in which he asks for the unseating of Senator Smoot and signs himself "Yours for liberty and pure politics."

Congressman Van Winkle has introduced three private bills, as follows: For the relief of John P. Fairhild, of Harrison, by removing from his military record the charge of desertion, and to increase to $30 a month each the pensions of Lewis P. Post, late of Company H. Twenty-seventh New York Infantry, who is now an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Arlington, and John McDonough, late mate of the United States schooner Para.

Congressman Howell has filed with the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, a petition from Captain C. B. Persons, of Red Bank, asking for the support of a bill to improve Ambrose channel, in New York Bay.

Mr. Howell has also filed a letter from the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian hurch, asking for modifications of the Chinese exclusion laws, so as to admit to this country all Chinese who do not come under the designation of laborers.

County Clerk Joseph McDermott, of Monmouth county, is the latest New Jersey visitor at the capital.

MR. COLBY SCORES MACHINE BOSSISM.

Young Men Should Study System of Equal Taxation in the Future.

Camden, Jan. 20.—That people in Camden are aroused over the corrupt practices of the Republican machine was demonstrated last night by a big meeting here, which was notable for the attendance of many representative citizens. Senator Colby handled the machines, both State and county, without gloves.

He declared that the State Republican machine had attempted to drive him in line to vote for measures only of interest to corporations, and said that most of the representatives at Trenton were afraid to vote as their minds directed on public matters without first consulting the bosses.

"Young men should be making a study of the whole system of equal taxation and other important public matters," he said, "and it would then not take long to rid all counties of the State of machine rule."

Corporation Counsel Record, of Jersey City, declared the game played by the State machines of both political parties "cold-blooded and money-making." He scored the Public Service and other big corporations and declared that office-holders only dared act after consulting with the bosses.

Sunday School Pennies in Slots.

Chief of Police Magner, of Bayonne, began yesterday a crusade on slot machines which have appeared of late in large numbers in candy stores and saloons. It was reported that many children placed their Sunday school pennies in the machines, instead of in the plates. Detective Sergeant Griffin yesterday raided a number of machines in candy stores and warned the proprietors not to operate others.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Much interest has been manifested in the engagement of Arnold Daly at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight in George Bernard Shaw's most brilliant comedies —"You Never Can Tell" and "Candida." This will be Mr. Daly's first appearance in Plainfield as a star.. Until two or three seasons age he had appeared with leading companies and made a reputation as an exceedingly able and talented young actor with a future before him. Three seasons ago, after much energetic effort, he got an opportunity of presenting "Candida" at a special matinee at a New York theatre—this being the first time that one of the Shaw plays had been presented on the American stage. His success was instantaneous and he was able to immediately obtain another theatre where the Shaw play reigned as the supreme success of the season and Mr. Daly established himself as one of the foremost American actors before he was thirty years of age. He attracted the most fashionable and cultured theatregoers to every performance. The following season he presented "You Never Can Tell" at the Garrick theatre, New York, and it proved one of the brighest, merriest comedies that New York had had in many a day. The brilliant success of both actor and author of the previous season was duplicated. Both of these plays show Shaw at his very best as a dramatist and substantiate his position as one of the brightest literary men of the day. Both plays tell interesting stories and fairly radiate with the keen wit, brilliant dialogue and epigramatic expressions which are characteristic of the author.

Ezra Kendall, facetiously announced at times as the plain comedian, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Monday night. This engagement will be devoted to the revival of his popular play, "The Vinegar Buyer." New and appropriate scenery will be provided, as well as an entire new company with the exception of one members. Much new material has been introduced since its last presentation here. Liebler & Company have surrounded Mr. Kendall with an excellent cast, among whom may be mentioned Harold Russell, Frederick Malcolm, Sumner Gard, Thurlow Bergen, John D. Garrick, James Bevins, H. J. Kennedy, Ethel Brandon, Mary Stockwell, Rita O'Neal, Edith Taliaferro and others.

Seats for Henrietta Crosman's engagement at the New Plainfield theatre are on sale. The appearance of this eminent artiste in "As You Like It," in which she will be seen in her famous portrayal of Rosalind, has awakened decided interest among theatre patrons in this city and vicinity and already numerous requests has seats have been received at the theatre. This theatrical event is looked upon with keen expectancy as shown by the comment is has awakened. Already several persons have spoken for large blocks of seats, which indicates a number of threatre parties to see Miss Crosman in "As You Like It." Miss Crosman will appear at the New Plainfield theatre on Friday night.

Having achieved such measure of success as finds expression in a four months' "run" at a principal New York theatre, "The Heir to the Hoorah," announced as a new American comedy by Paul Armstrong, produced by the late Kirke LaShelle, comes to the New Plainfield theatre Monday night, January 29. "The Heir to the Hoorah" outran, in New York, last spring and summer, all dramatic offerings of contemporaneous production and only succumbed to the silly season when two of the Broadway theatres, which advertised specially made summer musical shows, had to close their doors on account of the insufferably hot weather. As "The Heir to the Hoorah" is listed by every competent newspaper critic of New York among the five most successful plays of the season.

TO PROBE ATLANTIC CITY'S GOVERNMENT.

Councilman Vanaman Resigns Under Pressure and Charges Are Made Against Other Officials.

Atlantic City, Jan. 20.—Willis Vanaman, for five years Republican member of the Common Council from the Third ward, was compelled by the Citizens' League to write out his resignation yesterday and send it to Mayor Stoy. The League consists of thirty citizens pledged to purge the city government. Vanaman is an engineer in the employ of the West Jersey Railroad, and lives in a fine residence on Pacific avenue.

Other resignations are expected. Mr. Goldenberg, counsel for the league, is confident that he will drive several prominent politicians from office for connection with shady deals in contracts. Citizens have demanded an investigation and the Supreme Court appointed Prosecutor Sinnickson, of Salem county, to conduct an official inquisition.

WILL CONFER WITH PULLIAM.

President Johnson Would Have National Change Its Opening Date.

New Yor., Jan. 20.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League, who arrived in town Wednesday, to confer with S. Harry Pulliam, president of the National League, announced that the Highlanders will open in Boston on April 19. They will play here with Washington on Decoration Day and wit hthe Athletics on July 4.

Johnson is anxious to have the opening of the season made later than usual this year because of the cold weather, but has not much hope of being able to secure a change of the National's chedule, which opens on April 12. Referring to this matter Ban Johnson said:

"I understand that the National League has decided to open as per schedule. It is too bad that two yeagues which confer on questions of conflicting dates cannot confer and come to some agreement as to opening dates."

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Lew Dockstader and his great minstrel company is the attraction at the New York theatre for next week. Mr. Dockstader will be seen at his best in the old fashioned olio and later in his speciality. He is surrounded by a company of over a hundred men and furnishes an entertainment that is brimful of novelty from start to finish. While adhering to the best in minstrelsy, Mr. Dockstader has introduced many new ideas. His entertainment is regarded as the best in this field of amusements.

Fay Templeton has made a sensational hit at the New Amsterdam theatre in Klaw & Erlanger's production of George M. Cohan's new music play, "45 Minutes from Broadway." Her first week in New York showed receipts of over $14,000, which indicates the number of people who saw her most inimitable impersonation of "Mary, the housemaid." This is the first serious part Miss Templeton has acted in many years and is a most interesting exposition of the great talent which has led her to be regarded as the most artistic actress in character roles on the American stage. In Victor Moore, who plays the role of "Kid" Burns, a worldly-wise youth with a wonderful vocabulary of piquant slang, Miss Templeton has an excellent foil. Mr. Moore is a clever comedian. He plays the role of the "Kid" with a quiet unction that makes the character appeal to everyone in the audience. Rarely indeed has a play possessed two roles which so strongly claimed the hearty sympathy of all. They are real characters and "taken from life" does not exaggerate their merits. Taken as a whole, "45 Minutes from Broadway" is really a remarkable dramatic portrayal of character. Every role in it is a type from everyday life, effectively drawn and strikingly contrasted. Miss Templeton's songs, "Mary is a Grand Old Name" and "So Long, Mary," have become the hits of the town and the airs are played in all the hotel restaurants and whistled on the streets. Seats are now on sale for every performance in the next four weeks and can be secured by mail or telegraph.

Seats are still selling weeks in advance at the Manhattan theatre, New York, for "Before and After." Leo Ditrichstein's "laughter play," which is steadily playing to large and highly pleased audiences. This is the only farcical comedy now running in New York, and, now in its seventh week at the Manhattan, it has a vogue that is deserved and that promises to continue. "Before and After" will cure all sorts of mental depression—to put it in a nutshell, it is a specific for the blues—for it is full of merriment that provokes merriment from beginning to end. The story is funny and the complications, which follow one another without cessation, are very ingenious. One that sees the play not only enjoys every minute of it, but goes away to repeat the amusing experiences. "Before and After" is acted by one of the cleverest companies of comedians seen in New York in years, including Fritz Williams, John Flood, George C. Boniface, Jr., Leo Ditrichstein, John Daly Murphy, Katherine Florence, Georgie Lawrence, Kenyon Bishop, Charles F. Butler, Lean Newcombe and Mabel Findlay. Matinees at the Mahattan are given only on Saturdays.

WANT TO PRESERVE THE HISTORIC SHIP.

Bay State's Petition for Frigate Constitution—Patriotic Demonstration in the House.

Washington, Jan. 20.—In the House Representative McCall, of Massachusetts, has presented the petition of the people of Manchester for the preservation of the Frigate Constitution. It is signed by 30,000 persons and is 130 feet long. The sheets were mounted on linen and the trip is wound about a hammer brace cylinder.

At the head of the petition is an oil painting of the fight between the Constitution and the Guerriere.

The petition, at McCall's request, was displayed on the floor and Representative Sulzer expressed the hope that the patriotism of the people would save the ship to the country.

Representative Dalzell, for the committee on rules, immediately brought in a rule, requiring the committee on naval affairs to report how much would be necessary to preserve the frigate.

By unanimous consent the House then took up the Curtis bill, providing for the settlement of the affairs of the five civilized tribes.

Another Jersey Rural Route.

Chester, Jan. 20.—Alvah Van Fleet, of this village, and a postal inspector from Washington are canvassing Chester Township, preparatory to starting a rural free delivery, with Chester postoffice as the distributing point. Starting from the local office, the route will be via Ralston road to near the Mendham Township line, thence across to Forest Hill, up North road, across to Pleasant Hill, and from there to Chester Depot and Old Chester Furnace to Milldale and over Parker way, thence across to Hacklebarney and Mt. Rose, and from there back to Chester.

Director King then declared a recess of ten minutes, in order that the county attorney might ascertain as to whether or not it might be necessary for this Board to organize on January 1, 1906.

On re-assembling, after recess, roll call showed all members present except Freeholder Kline, who had been excused from further attendance at the meeting.

The county attorney reported that, after examining the law governing the matter, he was of the opinion that this Board would not have to go through the form of organizing on January 1, 1906.

Freeholder Adams moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The Director declared the Board adjourned until Thursday, January 4, 1906, at 2:30 p. m.

S. Rusling Ryno, Clerk.

LITERARY.

On the first evening the callers stayed a long time—so long that we all grew very weary, and yearned for sleep. But they kept on coming, one after another; and by-and-by a half-a-dozen young men appeared, dressed in kilts of colored bark-strips; adorned with necklaces of scarlet berries and red hibiscus flowers, and liberally cocoanut-oiled. In the center of the group was the most extraordinary figure I had ever seen—a white man, his skin burned to an unwholesome pink by exposure, his hair pure gold, extremely fine and silky, and so thick as to make a huge halo round his face when shaken out. His eyes were weak, and half shut, and I was not surprised to hear that he was not really of white descent, being simply a Samoan albino, born of brown parents. This man being the son of a chief, took the principal figure in the dance that was now arranged for our amusement. The seven men danced on the floor-mats, close together, the albino in the center, all performing figures of extraordinary agility, and not a little grace. The music was furnished by the other spectators, who rolled up a mat or two, and beat time on these improvised drums, others clapping their hands and chanting a loud, sonorous, measured song.—The February Metropolitan Magazine.

BERG NOW WANTS $3,000 DAMAGES.

Lawyer T. M. Kelly Carries the Case to the Supreme Court.

The case of Joseph Berg, of 814 Martin street, Newark, against Ernest Nettle, in which the former seeks to recover damages for injuries received by his son, Charles Berg, who was kicked in the face on July 11 last by a horse belonging to Nettle, has been withdrawn from the District Court by T. M. Kelly, counsel for the Bergs, and carried to the Supreme Court, where $3,000 damages are demanded.

The suit brought in the District Court was for $300. The case was tried several weeks ago and a verdict of $50 was found for the plaintiff, who at once applied for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was insufficient and not in accordance with the evidence. A new trial was ordered and the case was to have been tried shortly. Counsel for the defendant is A. A. Stein.

WOMAN BEFORE THE COURT.

Belva Lockwood Makes Good Impression When Arguing for Clients.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Supreme Court of the United States is enjoying for the first time in its existence the experience of listening to arguments by a woman attorney. Mrs. Belva Lockwood, once a candidate for President, began Wednesday and continued yesterday presentation of the case of Cherokee Indians, who want something like $3,000,000 from the Government. The Court of Claims found that this sum was due the Chrokee nation on a claim pending since 1828, when the Cherokees were moved from North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama to Indian Territory, and the Government officers erroneously deducted the cost of their transfer from the funds accruing to them from the sale of their lands.

About 6,000 Indians who did not go with the main body were barred from participating in the award of the Court of Claims, and it is on behalf of these that Mrs. Lockwood appeared. She apparently made a good impression on the justices, stating her case with clearness and force, and exhibiting no nervousness whatever when the court interrupted her several times with questions.

BRYAN'S PHILIPPINE POLICY.

Visit to Islands Doesn't Cause Any Change of Views.

Sandakan, Borneo, via Manili, Jan. 20.—After leaving the Philippine Islands on his way to visit India, W. J. Bryan made the following statemen to the Associated Press:

"My visit to the Philippines has been very interesting and instructive, and I appreciate the facilities afforded me by the civil and military authorities for a thorough investigation of the Filipinos. This has enabled me to collect much knowledge, which I hope to use for the benefit of both the American people and the Filipinos.

"The promise given by the rising generation of the natives to use the English language, surpasses my expectations more than anything else.

"My views regarding the independence of the islands have not changed."

DIAMOND DUST.

Baseball enthusiasts at Scotch Plains are warming up and talking about putting a strong team in the field this season.

Baseball fans, friends of "Willie" Deegan, are talking of giving him and his bride a reception upon their return from their honeymoon.

The North Plainfield High School baseball team is beginning to get busy in making plans for the coming season. An exceptionally strong aggregation will be put in the field.

It is doubtful whether there will be a baseball team at Dunellen this season. Howard Craig, who managed last season's team, declares that he will not undertake the job again, and no one has come forward to take up the work.

"Christy" Mathewson's brother has just signed a contract with Manager McGraw to pitch for the Giants this season. Like his brother, the younger Mathewson is a graudate of Bucknell University and is nineteen years old, Matty's age when he broke into fast company. He is said to have all the curves, lots of speed and perfect control. Under the training of McGraw and his older brother, young Matty should have no trouble in making good.

MAY TRY M. O. IN ORANGE.

Public Service Light Contract Nearly Up—Agitation Started.

Orange, Jan. 20.—The contract of the city of Orange with the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey for lighting the streets of Orange will expire this year, and already the aldermen and civic workers in the city are discussing the municipal ownership proposition. Orange is most advantageously situated for the working out of a municipal ownership plan. The city is the center for the limited franchise and municipal ownership advocates of the State, and it is likely that the scheme will be put forward in some form.

About seven years ago, before the present contract was let, Alderman John L. Davis started agitation for municipal ownership in connection with the city water plant, but the Public Service won out after a most stubborn fight. At the same time it was shown that the municipal ownership plans could have been carried out at a lower figure than the contract price and that a saving to the city could be effected each year. Mayor Isaac Shoenthal advocated municipal ownership in his recent annual message, and it looks as if both the majority and minority in the Common Council are in favor of taking up the question seriously.

URGES THE REPEAL OF THE GAME LAWS.

Trenton, Jan. 20.—Following a suggestion made in the annual report of Secretary Franklin Dye, of the State Board of Agriculture, Mr. Roberts, of Moorestown, introduced a resolution before that body yesterday urging the repeal of all the game laws of the State designed for the protection of sport. Mr. Dye advanced the view that since the State had assumed ownership of all the game it should reimburse the farmers for the damage done to their crops.

Mr. Roberts, in speaking of the resolution yesterday, said he differed with this view, believing that all game birds and animals are the property of the owners of the lands on which they are found and the owners should be allowed to protect their property from damage and destruction. His resolution would pledge the board to use its efforts to secure the repeal of all the game laws. It was referred to the committee on resolutions.

J. Walter Pancoast, of Salem, introduced several resolutions. One nndorsed the suggestions made by Governor Stokes in his message relative to equal taxation and the adoption of measures to prevent corruption at elections. Another denounced the tax law which enables the lender to exact from the borrower taxes as well as the interest on loans.

A third resolution urged that instructions in the elements of agriculture be added to the curriculum of rural schools and that normal school graduates be equipped to teach such subjects. Another of the Pancoast series urged Congress to relieve the farmers from the provisions of the labor law preventing the hiring of labor in foreign countries and paying passage of persons so employed to this country. All the resolutions were referred.

Two other resolutions were presented indorsing the pension measure of Representative Adams, of Wisconsin, to increase the annual appropriation for founding and maintaining agricultural experiment stations and placing the State board on record as favoring the abolition of all toll roads in the State. Professor G. M. Howell, of the Agricultural Experiment Station, of Maine, delivered an interesting address on "The Cow As a County Home-maker." Dr. C. D. Snead, of Logan, N. Y., spoke on "The Coming Diseases of the Dairy Cow and Their Treatment."

The board at yesterday's session re-elected the old officers as follows: President, Dr. E. B. Voorhees, New Brunswick; vice president, John T. Cox, Readington; secretary, Franklin Dye, Trenton; treasurer, Walter Heritage, Swedesboro; executive committee, H. V. M. Dennis, Freehold; George E. DeCamp, Roseland; John M. Lippincott, Moorestown; State chemist, Dr. Edward B. Voorhees, New Brunswick; State entomologist, Dr. John B. Smith, New Brunswick.

3,000-MILE WIRELESS.

Message from Dry Dock Dewey Far Out at Sea.

Portland, Me., Jan. 20.—Cape Elizabeth has succeeded in establishing wireless communication over a distance which greatly exceeds any tests made at that station. The Cape Elizabeth station received a message from the dry dock Dewey, which is being towed to the Philippine Islands.

The Dewey was more than 3,000 miles away from Cape Elizabeth when the message was transmitted. The message stated that the Dewey was 2,226 miles off Cape Hatteras, making four and one-half knots an hour, with all well on board.

The local officials said that this breaks all records for long distance wireless telegraph in this country.

The best previous record was held by the station at Colon, Panama, where a message was received from an operator 2,600 miles distant.

FOR A PARTIAL PAYMENT OF TAX.

Measure Allowing It Gives to Municipalities Some of the Cash Held, Pending Appeal.

Trenton, Jan. 20.—Among the bills introduced in the Senate this week was one by Senator Minturn, of Hudson, which, if it becomes a law, will prove a boon to municipalities which are in need of money and have taxes tied up in controversies before the State Board of Equalization.

The bill provides that a portion of disputed taxes may be paid to a municipality while the case is on appeal before the State board, without prejudicing the standing of either of the parties concerned.

The bill is the outcome of the predicament in which Hoboken is now in owing to the appeal of the Hoboken Ferry Company from the taxes levied upon it by the city. Hoboken needs the money, and when the board met in that city recently to hear the case, Senator Minturn, who represented the city, asked that an order be issued directing that a part of the taxes be paid to the city pending the hearing.

A board member replied that the board had no authority to issue such an order, and it was suggested that the Senator introduce a bill providing for such a situation.

The bill provides that an agreement can be made between the principals interested and that a part payment on account will in no way injure either's standing.

TALK OF BILL TO OUST RECORDER OF HOBOKEN.

Provides, It Is Said, that City Magistrates Must Be Practising Lawyers.

Hoboken, Jan. 20.—Democratic politicians in this city are perturbed over the report that a bill will be introduced at this session of the Legislature which will require city magistrates to be practising lawyers. It has been reported since election that the Republican members of the Legislature from this county are working on such a measure and will advocate its passage.

In political circles it is said that the proposed law is an attempt to oust from office Recorder Edward R. Stanton, of this city. Recorder Stanton is not a lawyer, and has presided in the city court seven years and receives a salary of $2,500. He is a staunch Democrat, and during the last municipal campaign he took an active part, making speeches from carttails and in halls in all parts of the city. In these speeches it is said that he made utterances which offended his Republican friends.

SOFT COAL EATS STEEL CARS.

Sulphuric Acid Generated Believed to Cause Holes in Metal Carriers.

Hampton Junction, Jan. 20.—A discovery was recently made at the coal storage plant here that may result in a radical change of the type of cars to be used in the future for the transportation of soft coal. For some time past railroad men have been at a loss to understand why cars made of pressed steel wore out sooner than those constructed of wood. The cause was made known to them on Tuesday last, when an employe at the coal storage plant called the foreman's attention to a car loaded with soft coal which had been standing on a side track exposed to the elements for some weeks. Holes appeared in several places in the metal, of which the car was constructed, and the rails on which the car stood was badly eaten away, as if from some powerful acid.

It has since been learned that bituminous coal contains a certain amount of sulphur, and that when the coal becomes thoroughly wet it emits a fluid similar to sulphuric acid and which has the same, if not worse, effect upon metal with which it happens to come in contact. It is supposed that this fluid is the cause of eating holes in the car in question, as well as the rails on which the car stood. It has also been learned that bituminous coal, when dumped in large heaps, left undisturbed and exposed to the weather, becomes combustible and will take fire spontaneously. The discovery of the acid produced by rain falling on the soft coal has caused railroad officials to abandon the use of stell cars for transporting coal of that character from the mines, and it is said that in the future wooden cars will be used exclusively for th etransportation of this commodity. The discovery made at the coal storage here has attracted the attention of men interested in the study of chemistry, and in the future, it is thought, experiments with bituminous coal will prove that it is of value for other purposes than for fuel.

Saw the Freckled Beauty?

Bystanders at the North Avenue station were thrown into a rubbernecking soiree yesterday afternoon, when a young sport who reads the Prize Fighter's Manual declared "Bob" Fitzimmons was seated in the last car of the 3:03 train. There was a rush to look over the pugilist adn a large individual with freckles as big as ginger snaps returned their gaze, but refrained from shouting "I've been drugged" as men in the scrapping class are wont to do. As the train goes only as far as Dunellen, there was much speculation as to where "Bob" would get off, but so far no one knows what became of him. It was asserted by one enthusiast that he was going to buy a piece of property at Dunellen and locate there.

WRECK CAUSED BY DISREGARDING SIGNALS

Wilcat Ploughs Into Drill Train; Express Passengers Saved By Engineer's Presence of Mind.

FIREMAN BADLY HURT

Accident Happened During Fog—Engine of Express Torn to Pieces—Service Impeded for Several Hours.

Disregarding danger signals set against him, Engineer James Vannatta, in charge of Engine 532, running light from Somerville to Jersey City, sent his locomotive into the rear of a drill train standing on the eastbound passenger track of the Jersey Central near Berckman street at 10:05 this morning, causing a bad wreck, in which the Easton express due here at 9:55 was involved. Vannatta and his fireman, Benjamin Lohsen, of Red Bank, were hurt, the latter seriously, and scores of passengers on the Easton train had narrow escapes. Engine 532 was reduced to a mass of twisted and tangled iron, Engine 621, drawing the express, had one side ripped off, three passenger and one baggage car were badly damaged and a dozen freight and coal cars were piled up in a heap of kindling wood.

Murphy's Presence of Mind.

Presence of mind on the part of William Murphy, of West Fifth street, this city, engineer of the drill, in all probability prevented a great loss of life and averted a wreck that would have rivalled in horror the Westfield disaster of three years ago. Thrown from his feet by the crash, Murphy was for the moment badly dazed, but realizing that the Easton train was due at any instant he seized his whistle cord and emitted blast after blast to warn his head flagman, Frank Hagenny, of Bound Brook, who was standing near the Netherwood station, to hold it up. The express was already approaching, and Hagenny sprang in front of it, frantically waving his red flag. It was seen by Engineer Eugene Mahoney, and he applied the emergency brakes, but wet tracks prevented the wheels from gripping and his train continued on. By the time it reached the scene of the crash its speed had been reduced to twenty miles an hour, and though a huge iron rod and the corner of a freight car struck his fireman's cab and ripped the passenger cars, all held to the track. Mahoney believed there was not the slightest chance of his train escaping complete demolition, and he jumped after doing all possible to prevent it. His fireman, Charles Wilson, of Jersey City, was in the cab and was hurled against the firebox, but go off with bruises. Mahoney was cut about the face and head.

Drill Engine on Eastbound Track.

The drill train was composed of Engine 76 and a dozen freight and coal cars, all loaded and consigned to Plainfield merchants. It was in charge of Conductor Charles Dineen, of Dunellen, while the remainder of the crew was composed of Engineer Murphy, Fireman James Touzeau and Rear Flagman Peter Schneiderwind, of Dunellen, and Hagenny. Murphy was instructed to swing over from the eastbound freight track to the westbound freight track and got on the eastbound passenger track in order to allow a long coal train to pass on the one he had just left. He remained on the eastbound passenger track to let the Easton express go by, knowing that the block signals would give warning to anything approaching. Observing the railroad rules, Hagenny was sent ahead of the engine, which was facing Netherwood, and Schneiderwind was posted west of Berckman street.

They had been in position but a few moments when Engine 532 came along. It had been pulling a train near Somerville, but something broke and Vannatta was instructed to take it to the Jersey City shops.

Did Not Heed Signals.

Because of the drill being on the track, the signal at Watchung avenue was green, meaning "proceed cautiously," but he paid no heed to it. Despite the heavy fog, he had let his throttle out to the last notch and the locomotive was bounding over the rails as fast as the ordinary express train. Schneiderwind heard it coming, and was amazed to see it pass a signal set red. He threw up his flag so that Vannatta could not help observing it, and the engineer shut off, but by that time he was only a few hundred feet from where the

SUNDAY GOLF QUESTION NOT TO BE REVIVED

OFFICER OF COUNTRY CLUB AUTHORITY FOR STATEMENT

It is stated on the authority of an officer of the Plainfield Country Club that the question of Sunday golf will not come up at the annual meeting to be held February 6. In his opinion the report started among some of the younger members, who have not power to act in this matter. The influential men of the club, including a majority of those who at one time favored Sunday opening, now declare that they will not bring the question up again for the present, and, in fact, such action is very indefinite.

"When certain members sought to change the constitution," said one of the officers, "Sunday golf received a death blow for some time to come. This was a very unwise move and should not have been permitted to enter the question at all. There were many members in favor of Sunday opening, but when the effort to change the rules governing the club was made, they immediately opposed not only such change, but such method of procedure, and afterward fought with those who were against Sunday golf.

"The members of the club are harmonious now on this question and no one is anxious to see the question raised right away to cause any dissension."

The majority of the members are anxious that the coming year shall be one of the best, and at the annual meeting plans will be discussed looking toward this end. There will be the election of officers, appointment of committees and transaction of other important business.

FERRYBOAT ELIZABETH IN A CRASH TODAY

JERSEY CENTRAL BOAT HITS A LIGHTER HEAVILY LOADED.

The ferryboat Elizabeth, of the Jersey Central Railroad, met with an accident in the fog this morning on the North river. The boat crashed into a lighter loaded with freight cars. The collision occurred off the Morgan street dock, Jersey City. No one was seriously injured, but the ferryboat's passengers were badly shaken up.

The Pennsylvania Railroad ferryboat New Brunswick put into her slip at Twenty-third street badly damaged as the result of a collision in the fog.

The fog in the North river was so dense that the boats were only allowed to drift, as it were, between New York and Jersey City, this morning. It took nearly twice the time to get across and most of the trains were late.

COX IN BIG SYNDICATE

Plainfielder a Member of New York and Phila. Capitalists' Two Million Concern.

MAKE REFRIGERATORS

New Brunswick and Union Companies in the Merger—Largest Consolidation in New Jersey for Some Time.

Archibald Cox, of this city, who is a practicing attorney in New York, is one of a syndicate of wealthy New York and Philadelphia men who have formed one of the biggest consolidations of New Jersey corporations in years. The concerns involved are the New Brunswick Refrigerator Company, which has a big plant at the Middlesex County seat, and the Union Refrigerator Company, the merger having been effected on January 2. The capital stock is placed at $2,000,000.

Some of the most prominent and representative business men of the metropolis have become identified with this new combine, which is to be known as "The Brunswick Refrigerator Company." The president and secretary are both New Brunswick men, but the vice president and treasurer are from other places. Several of the directors are residents of New York. The secretary, P. G. Phinny, of New Brunswick, said this morning, in telling of the big merger to a reported, that $250,000 in new stock had been invested in the new company.

"We will increase the New Brunswick plant just as soon as we can get to it," said Mr. Phinny, "I do not know at this time just when we will begin building, but it has been decided to erect one more structure, for we are so cramped now that, in view of the orders now on hand, we have all we can do to fill them."

The new directors of the company are Robert W. Johnson, James W. Johnson, president of the Neverslip Company, of New Brunswick; W. Campbell Clark, Theodore Frelinghuysen, Archibald Cox, A. M. Coats, T. G. Phinny, C. A. McCormick, both of New Brunswick, and James Henry Smith.

At a recent meeting of these directors the following officers were elected: J. W. Johnson, president; T. Clark, New York city, vice president; T. G. Phinny, secretary; Theodore Frelinghuysen, treasurer. The new financiers who in addition to those who have been already interested in the old companies who have identified themselves with the new concern are: W. Campbell Clark, head of the Clark O. N. T. Thread Company; Theodore Frelinghuysen, head of the Thread trust; A. M. Coats, president of the Coats Thread Company, and Archibald Cox.

It is proposed to make this one of the biggest refrigerator corporations in the country. All of the men concerned are of recognized ability and means which will insure a great future for the refrigerator business in this section.

CLARKSON HOUSE SOLD TO BROOKLYN MAN.

Big Property in East Front Street Finally Disposed of.

The valuable residential property on East Front street belonging to the Clarkson estate and for several years occupied by the late William A. Stout, has been sold to Charles A. Wetzel, of Brooklyn, who will make extensive repairs and make his home there. Mr. Wetzel is a wealthy retired silk manufacturer and was attracted to Plainfield by its many natural advantages.

Prior to the Stout family purchasing this property, it was owned by the Clarkson family, who lived there for many years. The property has been unoccupied since 1901.

L. V. F. Randolph and Alex Gilbert, executors of the Clarkson estate, had made several attempts to dispose of the property, but had been unable to obtain at public sale the price they desired.

Success Attends Affair at Trinity Reformed Church.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church held a very successful cake, candy and pop corn sale in the primary department of the Sunday school Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. The attendance was gratifying and the patronage liberal, bringing a good net sum to the society for its missionary fund.

Mrs. George Reighton, as superintendent of the society, was in charge of the sale and the members presiding at the various tables were the Misses Bessie Reighton, Ida Van Arsdale, Cora Gano, Louise Layton, Edna Cole, Helen Roberts and Anna Boss.

BOICE'S HOTEL SOLD TO JOS. GENISMAN

ALBERT LEDERER NEGOTIATES DEAL—CONSIDERATION $12,000.

An important real estate deal was closed on Saturday, when Mrs. Josephine Boyce, wife of Richard A. Boyce, sold to Joseph Genisman, of North Plainfield, the valuable property at Somerset street and Lincoln place. Albert Lederer, the real estate broker, made the deal.

While the consideration is not stated, it is known that Mrs. Boyce held the property at $12,000. It has a frontage of seventy-five feet and a depth of 132 feet.

Mr. Boyce, who now conducts a hotel there, still has a lease and will continue the business until it expires, about two years hence. Mr. Genisman proposes to make extensive improvements to the property later on. These will include a handsome new front of stone and brick.

Boyce's hotel is one of the oldest in North Plainfield.

JOHN NEAGLE WEDDED THIRTY YEARS AGO

AND SATURDAY NIGHT HE AND HIS WIFE CELEBRATE THE EVENT.

Mr. and Mrs. John Neagle, of Madison avenue, celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding on Saturday evening when they entertained a company of forty relatives and friends from this city, Bound Brook, Scotch Plains, and the borough. The affair was a surprise.

Piano and vocal selections, games and refreshments helped to pass an enjoyable evening. Mr. and Mrs. Neagle received a large collection of gifts, including cut-glass, silverware and other useful articles.

Mr. and Mrs. Neagle were married at Bound Brook in 1876, their home being there at that time. Soon afterward they moved here and where they have resided ever since. The celebration on Saturday was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Neagle's children.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER WAS SECRETLY WEDDED

MR. DURYEA QUIETLY MARRIED VIOLA ALLEN LAST AUGUST.

It has become known that Viola Allen, the actress, has been the wife of Peter Duryea, the rich turfman, formerly of Plainfield, for more than five months. According to the records of the county clerk's office in Louisville, Ky., Miss Allen was married to Mr. Duryea in that city on August 16 last. The witnesses were her mother, Mrs. Sarah Allen, and America Wagner, her maid.

It was said by friends that the marriage was kept secret because of Miss Allen's professional engagements for this season. Mr. Duryea has known the actress for many years. Miss Allen is at present in Syracuse, where she is appearing in "The Toast of the Town." Mr. Duryea is at present the defendant in a sensational breach of promise suit, which involves indirectly many prominent persons in Lexington, Ky., his home. The suit is for $50,000 damages, and is brought by Miss Sarah Madden, who alleges that the turfman repeatedly promised to marry her. Mr. Duryea, in his answer to the suit, denies that he ever made any such promise. Miss Allen, who is now Mrs. Duryea, is a New York girl, and comes of a family of actors. She is recognized as being in the front rank of the women of the American stage.

Mr. Duryea lived for several years on West Seventh street in this city. He removed to New York about ten years ago.

Attended Masonic Celebration.

Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, Councilman Francis L. Montgomery, Frederick J. Pope, Fred VanEps and several others attended the thirty-sixth anniversary of Eastern Star Lodge, No. 105, F. and A. M., at Bound Brook on Friday night. After the celebration at Masonic Hall the members adjourned to the home of Lewis P. Clark, who in honor of the eighty-first anniversary of his birthday, entertained his fellow Masons at a banquet. Leigh Stanley Bache, brother of Ralph Bache, of this city, is worshipful master of Eastern Star Lodge.

Vardon's Fair Still On.

Vardon's Dancing Academy fair will continue through this week. There were nearly 700 people at the affair Saturday night. Albert Springer, John Vardon and Miss Henry were on the programme.

JERSEY METROPOLIS PLAN

Representative Men Think a Rival to New York May be Developed.

TO INCLUDE 5 COUNTIES

Proposed Consolidation Would Take In Hudson, Bergen, Passaic, Essex and Union.

Great interest was manifest yesterday in the suggestion of a metropolis in New Jersey which may rival New York's present supremacy and fulfil Alexander Hamilton's prophecy that the American metropolis would rise upon the west bank of the Hudson. Opinion was divided among those whose views were asked by New York Herald reporters, but while nearly everybody declared that such a dream could not be realized for years to come a majority expressed confidence that it will eventually be fulfilled.

Among those who discussed the matter were the following:

Isaac Shoenthal, Mayor of Orange—I am very favorable to such a plan. The trend of all events is toward bigness, and within twenty-five years I expect that the places included within the lines of the map published in the Herald will grow together into a Greater Newark. It would be a very good thing, indeed, and would make for greater progress and a complete development of the places concerned.

William M. Brien, Mayor of West Orange—In a few years the tunnels connecting New Jersey and New York will have been completed and a great many persons will come this way looking for homes. They will demand cosmopolitan places to live in and will have cosmopolitan ideas in all things.

William Cardwell, Mayor of East Orange—Sentiment at the present time in East Orange does not seem to me to be favorable to consolidation with anybody, but I could not, of course, speak for what the feeling of the people here may grow to favor.

Robert S. Sinclair, president of the Board of Trustees of the village of South Orange—While the sentiments of the people of this town have never been publicly expressed on this matter, in a town meeting or otherwise, it seems to me to be favorable to a continuation of the government along exisiting lines.

Joseph A. Dean, former president of the Jersey City Board of Trade—There is no doubt that in a few years there will be a densely populated city in Hudson county, taking in all of the suburban districts, with a total population of between seven and eight millions.

George T. Werts, of Jersey City, former Governor of New Jersey—It would be no surprise to me if a proposition to establish a rival metropolis in New Jersey should crystallize into a sentiment which would force a carrying out of such a plan, but I do not expect that New Jersey will in our time have a metropolis which will compare with New York.

John D. McGill, president of the Hudson County National Bank—With the building of a North River tunnel the vast tract of meadow land between Jersey City and Newark will be developed and occupied by factories. The Hackensack River will become a great waterway, because the water fronts in Jersey City and Hoboken are almost exclusively occupied by the railroads. Although the consolidation of Hudson and Essex counties into a metropolis which will rival New York will not come in a lifetime, I am optimistic about the immediate future of Jersey City in itself.

Eugene Hartnett, of Jersey City—A New Jersey metropolis might materialize in a hundred years, and there is no reason to doubt that eventually Hudson county will include one great city. I read the Herald's story today with a great deal of interest. By the flooding of commerce back from the Hudson River Newark and its environs will gain hugely. A glance at the maps will convince the student that this city, the West Hudson meadows and their vicinity will be the real center of the continental railroads, especially from the south, southwest and direct west.

Taken from an editorial under the caption of "Newark's Commercial Future," in the Newark Sunday Call yesterday, this view adds force to the facts and figures which were given in yesterday's Herald.

Fifth Dinner-Dance.

The fifth of the series of dinner-dances under the auspices of the Plainfield Country Club attracted an unusually large number of patrons to the Casino on Saturday night. There were about sixty couple and a delightful evening was spent dancing, playing bridge whist, bowling and with billiards. The music was good and an attractive programme of dances rendered. The sixth of this series will be held on Saturday night, February 3.

WILLIAM A. TOWNSEND MARRIED IN NORWAY

CEREMONY PERFORMED AT FLOROE, SOENDFJORD IN JANUARY.

Residents of the city and borough, particularly those of the Washington Park section, received with surprise today, the announcement that William Austin Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Townsend, of Myrtle avenue, had been married. The ceremony was performed at Floroe, Soendfjord, Norway, January 18, his bride being Miss Hildur Christianne Gaert, youngest daughter of Captain and the late Mrs. Conrad Gaert, of that place.

Mr. Townsend has been stationed at Mo-i-Ranen, Norway, for the past two years, representing the Milliken Brothers Construction Company which is erecting a big mining plant there, the point being within twenty miles of the Arctic circle. Mr. Townsend has had charge of the work and it will be finished within a few months, after which he and Mrs. Townsend will start for Plainfield. He is one of the best known young men in the borough's exclusive circles and was formerly a prominent factor in the social life at the Park Club.

FIGHT IS STILL ON FOR MURRAY'S PLACE

COSE AND TOWNLEY CANDIDATES FOR ASSISTANT CHIEFSHIP.

Inasmuch as John W. Murray, Jr., has not yet resigned his position as assistant chief of the fire department, as he said he intended to do, it is entirely problematical as to what Mayor Buckle or the Common Council will do when he retires. Two sides of the question present themselves to the Mayor and the fire and buildings committee of the Common Council, and it will not be an easy matter to settle it.

At present there are two candidates for Mr. Murray's position—Captain William Townley, who has been in the department over fifteen years, and John W. Cose, who has been a call man since this system was introduced into the department. Both have good claims for the position.

The friends of Captain Townley say that after such long years of service as he has given to the department, he is entitled to promotion and reward for it. Otherwise, what inducement would there be for a fireman to discharge his duties faithfully for any number of years. They further argue that the regular firemen have a right to expect such recognition when there is a vacancy, if they are capable of filling such position.

On the other hand the call men claim that they are entitled to recognition. It is argued that there should be some such inducement as promotion for faithful service, in view of the fact that their pay is nominal when the percentage is considered, and besides they maintain that the call men should have a representative in the fire board to look after their interests. The friends of both Captain Townley and Mr. Cose are putting forth every effort in behalf of their candidate for the position.

The fire and buildings committee has held meetings this month and the question has been discussed and considered, but as no vacancy exists the members have not reached any conclusion as to what recommendations might be made to the Mayor.

One city official speaking of the matter said that he fully recognized the claims of both men, and yet he realized that in large corporations and companies the rule has been to promote employes. He insists that where an outsider is brought in to fill a higher position, it has been known to cause a feeling. He would not say that this would be true in Plainfield, but merely cited the instance to show what might happen.

It is reported that Mr. Murray's resignation will be presented at the February meeting of the Common Council, and quite likely by that time a decision will be reached as to his successor.

COLBY MAY YET SPEAK HERE.

Jr. O. U. A. M. Will Invite Him to Its Banquet.

The committee in charge of the "American banquet" to be given by Franklin and Benevolent councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., on February 28, is trying to arrange to have Senator Everett Colby as one of the principal speakers on that occasion.

Mr. Colby is a member of an Orange council of the order, and it is believed that the committee will have no trouble in securing him to speak here, despite the fact that he was turned down by the Board of Trade. The committee will meet tomorrow night, when definite action will be taken.

BUILDING JERSEY LAWS

Third Week's Whack at Various Important Measures Scheduled For Tonight.

AUTO FIGHT CERTAIN

Main Stem Taxation Scheduled for Early Hearing—Report of Special Lobbying Commission.

Legislators of New Jersey will begin their third week's whack at law-making tonight, when both houses of the Legislature will be called to order at the State House at Trenton at 8 o'clock. Last week saw the advent of a flood of proposed legislation and this week both houses will settle down to the consideration of the many bills before them.

Further skirmishes this week on the paramount question of equal taxation and limited franchises will be confined to the consideration of the bills in committee and to public hearings on the proposed measures. As stated in the True American last week, the hearing on the railroad main stem tax bills will take place in the assembly chamber tomorrow at 2 p. m.

The first skirmish in the fight for the restriction of the automobiles is likely to take place tonight or tomorrow, when it is expected a bill will be introduced taxing all machines at 50 cents a horse power. The tax will be in the form of an annual license, and the proceeds will be applied to the repair of the improved roads of the State.

The proposed bill will be in line with the suggestion of Road Commissioner Hutchinson, of Trenton, who said in his recent annual report: "If the high speed machines are to be allowed on our highways they should be taxed in proportion to the maximum speed of which they are capable. In other words, they should pay for the damage they do."

There is a very general and emphatic demand throughout the rural sections of the State that the present road privileges of the autos should be curbed, and there is certain to be a warm contest when the question gets fully before the Legislature.

There is a great divergence of opinion among Trenton autoists as to the advisability and practicability of imposing a tax on the machines with the horse power as the basis. One prominent local automobilist is in favor of the proposition and favors a tax of $1 per horse power. He has expressed the opinion that such a law would be a good thing and claims that autoists who stand for all that is best in the sport would gladly pay it.

On the other hand, another well-known active devotee of autoing said to a reporter Saturday that such a law would be unjust, and in his opinion unconstitutional. He said: "How is the State going to determine the horse-power of every automobile the owner of which applies for a license?"

One matter being awaited with interest by those who follow the Legislature is the report of the assembly rules committee on the proposed amendment to rule 63 of the last house. The amendment was introduced at the opening session of the assembly by Leader Perkins, and is as follows: "Nor shall any person other than members and officers of the Legislature communicate with any member of the house within the assembly chamber while the house is in actual session, upon any matter pertaining to legislation." There is a mistaken notion abroad that the amendment was adopted the day it was introduced.

As shown by the official record of the opening session of the house, the resolution was not passed, but was left in the hands of the rules committee, composed of Assemblymen Perkins, of Union, Jones, of Camden, and Hoagland, of Somerset. The committee also has in charge the Martin resolution to amend the rules so that all bills shall be reported within two weeks unless a longer time for consideration is given by the house.

The report of the special commission on lobbying, appointed by the last house, is expected this week, and it is believed ther will be no report from the committee on rules covering this matter until the commission is heard from. This commission is composed of Senator Colby, Speaker Robbins and former Assemblyman Alexander.

Mrs. Williamson's Reception.

The reception at Elizabeth Saturday afternoon, given by Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, at her home, 310 North Broad street, in honor of her niece, Miss Isabelle Williamson, was one of the leading social functions of the season. Nearly all the prominent members of society were there. Mrs. Hugh Fox, of Plainfield, was a member of the receiving party.

CAN'T CATCH ROCKEFELLER.

Disguised Process Servers Watch His Home, But He Doesn't Appear.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Jan. 22.—During the past week two process-servers, posing, it is said, as real estate dealers, have been hovering in the vicinity of the estate of John D. Rockefeller at Pocantico Hills in hope of being able to serve the Standard Oil magnate with a subpoena in the suit brought by the Attorney General of Missouri against the Standard Oil Company.

It was reported that Mr. Rockefeller intended to visit his country mansion today. One subpoena server had an automobile in which to chase him with, but he didn't appear. He has not been in Pocantico since the suit was begun.

It is alleged Mr. Rockefeller is evading service. Efforts to learn from servants where he is have failed. They say they cannot talk about their employer or his whereabouts.

$5 FOR SAVING A TRAIN.

Severns May Frame the Pennsylvania's Check and Hang It in Tower.

Frank Severns, a switchman and telegraph operator in the employ of the Central Railroad, at Perth Amboy, received a check for $5 from the Pennsylvania Railroad and a note of thanks for the saving of a passenger train a few weeks ago.

Severns was on his way to work at the W X tower one evening when he found a telegraph pole across the Pennsylvania tracks, where the Central's tracks cross. He managed to stop a train which was due then by running ahead on the tracks and waving his lantern.

Railroad men say that if the engine had hit the pole it would have wrecked the engine, and many passengers would have been injured. Report has it that Mr. Severns will frame the check and hang it in the tower where it can be seen by all who enter.

HOW TO BE A GENTLEMAN.

Missouri Man Leaves $10,000 to Educate Northern Y. M. C. A. Members.

Joplin, Mo., Jan. 22.—A. W. Carson, one of the oldest newspaper men of southwest Missouri, who died here Saturday morning, bequeathed $10,000 for the dissemination of Mark Twain's "How to be a Gentleman" to the Young Men's Christian Association of the North. He said in his will, which was opened this afternoon, that in the South the young men did not need the good advice contained in Mark Twain's work.

Mr. Carson came to Joplin from Buffalo, Mo., in 1872. He left an estate valued at about $30,000, the bulk of which will go to his sister, Mrs. Sarah Hunt, of New York city. He also left property valued at about $3,000 as a fund for disabled printers who may be compelled to go to the local hospital.

—John B. Tigar, of West Fifth street, who has been employed by the Public Service Corporation for several months, has taken a position with the New Jersey Central as assistant yardmaster at the Elizabethport yards.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Another election for fire department officers will be held Wednesday night, to decide the tie vote at the regular election held January 2. Rivalry between the two companies, Bucket and Engine Company and Excelsior, has always existed, although Excelsior has been the strongest company when it came to vote; still the Bucket and Engine Company walked off with the annual prizes several times, when Excelsior failed to hustle its full vote out. This year was no exception to the rule and the Bucket and Engine Company tied the vote, 20-20. The Township Committee consulted counsel and another election was ordered. Since the last election Excelsior has added three new members to its roll and feel quite sure of the prize, but the Bucket and Engine Company is hustling and will die hard, they claim.

The Euterpean Club, assisted by Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, elocutionist, will give an entertainment in Excelsior Hall tonight, for the benefit of the Public Library. The entertainers need no introduction to amusement lovers here and the hall should be packed for the library association is in need of funds and its friends should respond generously.

Edward Finnessey, who has been detained at home on account of illness for several days, has returned to his position as baggagemaster at the station.

Richard P. Robison, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robison, of Forest avenue, has returned to his home in New York.

The weekly meeting of the Epworth League was held last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

Vanderbilt Raymond, who has been making his home in Brooklyn for the winter, spent Sunday with friends in town.

Miss Nancy Wade, of Milburn, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade.

A well attended meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held last night in the parlors of the church.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The regular prayer meeting will be held tomorrow evening in the lecture room of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Winship, of Staten Island, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorne.

Miss Nellie Manning has returned from a visit with her brother, Fred N. Manning, of Newark.

THREATEN SALOON STRIKE.

Liquor Dealers Will Sell Only Soft Drinks Under High License.

Paterson, Jan. 22.—Phillip Durgett, president of the Paterson Liquor Dealers' Association, said Saturday that if the license fee in Paterson is raised to $1,000, as proposed by those who are making strenuous efforts to have the State Legislature pass laws to that effect, not one member of his association would apply for a license renewal on May 1.

"All saloon keepers here will sell nothing but soft drinks over their bars," he added, "and Paterson, therefore, will lose $150,000 in fees."

Mass meetings and a great temperance movement in support of the $1,000 license bill will be started in this city this week.

IDLE FATHER OBJECTS.

Has Received Too Many "Everybody Works" Postal Cards.

Housatonic, Mass., Jan. 22.—Charles O. Baldwin has appealed to the postal authorities to prevent the delivery to his house of souvenir postals bearing the words, "Everybody works but father."

Mr. Baldwin acknowledges that the minstrel legend certainly applies to his case, but he also declares that it is nobody's business but his own. He declares he is being caricatured and indignity is being heaped upon him by the many cards he receives through the mails.

Postmaster Thatcher, however, says that he has no authority to act in the case, for the cards are neither scurrilous nor indecent and must be delivered.

MRS. DUKE TURNS ON THE TOBACCO KING

FILES A CROSS BILL IN ANSWER TO HIS SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Denying all the allegations of misconduct made against her by her husband, James N. Duke, the multi-millionaire head of the tobacco trust, Mrs. Lillian N. Duke Saturday filed her answer in the Chancery Court, together with a cross-bill in which she prays to be released from her marital bonds and makes charges against her husband of the same nature as he made against her.

She names Miss Mary Smith, housekeeper at Duke's farm near Somerville, as a co-respondent. She also charges her husband with cruelty and denies again that either she or Duke is a resident of New Jersey.

In her answer Mrs. Duke denies that she was ever guilty of misconduct with Major Frank T. Huntoon, named as co-respondent in her husband's bill.

On the other hand, she charges that her husband disregards the solemnity of his marriage vows with Miss Smith, whom she describes as "an alleged housekeeper" on the Duke farm in Somerset county. In regard to her husband's alleged cruelty Mrs. Duke says:

"Immediately after the said marriage defendant left with petitioner for a wedding journey, which took them over a large part of Europe; this defendant has delicate health and has a chronic affection of the heart, which has troubled her for many years prior to the said marriage, all of which was well known to said petitioner; and defendant was not well able to take long and fatiguing journeys, which said petitioner well knew; yet notwithstanding this defendant's physical condition, the said petitioner, contrary to her repeated protests and objections, and in a most inhuman fashion, insisted and compelled defendant to take long journeys in an open vehicle, exposed to rain, hail and snow, and cold, over a large part of Italy and France, traveling every day, exposing her to hunger, and depriving her of sleep, oftentimes when defendant was barely able to walk to the vehicle and when defendant remonstrated, objected, and prayed delay, this defendant was forced by the harsh, violent and abusive words and conduct of said petitioner to comply with his demands, so this defendant's health was affected; she lost some twenty pounds in weight, she was affected with pain and sleeplessness and her nerves and physical health were wrecked and her health has never been completely restored."

The fourth quarterly conference of the First M. E. church will be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in Vincent chapel. Rev. Dr. Halleron, presiding elder, will be in charge.

Rev. George Mooney, of the Monroe Avenue church, gave an interesting talk at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. Vocal and instrumental solos were rendered by Martin A. Korff, violin, and Edson C. Martin, baritone. W. C. Leek led the singing.

Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, will give an illustrated lecture in Vincent chapel on Tuesday night, January 30, describing his trip to the Grand Canyon of Arizona and the Yosemite Valley. Praise for Mr. Brigham.

George Middleton, the English critic, in writing of Edward Brigham, who will appear with other talent in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course on Thursday evening, says in part: "Mr. Brigham possesses a bass voice of fine timbre and unusual compass, well controlled, and capable of portraying the whole gamut of human emotions. His opening group of four songs deeply demonstrated this. But the piece de resistance was the recital of Tennyson's "Enoch Arden," with piano forte accompaniment by Richard Strauss. Mr. Brigham's declamation of the poem was splendid, at times forceful and dramatic, at times tender and pathetic. Underlying it all was the evident intention to make his own personality subservient to the spirit of his theme."

Gives That as Reason for Arranging Wedding.

Captain James Oscar Young, of the Erie Railroad's police force, was arraigned before Judge Blair, of Jersey City, Saturday on a charge of attempted bigamy and held in $5,000 bail to awit the action of the Grand Jury. The charge was preferred by Daniel Fitzhenry, who caused the arrest of Young a few hours before the time set for the detective's wedding to Miss Lauretta Fitzhenry, the complainant's sister, at 111 Chestnut street.

MISSION FURNITURE

The Only Thing in Woodcraft Distinctively American.

It has been complained that American people have no furniture and no architecture distinctively their own; but it begins to look as though the now popular Mission style—once regarded as a passing fad—was going to remain permanently with us, and if it does, it will be looked upon as strictly an American creation.

Its simplicity, its sturdiness, its quiet beauty, all stamp it with the character of the fathers of this "Home of the brave and land of the free." Let us, therefore, welcome MISSION FURNITURE to our homes

RAILROADS PROFIT BY THE LACK OF SNOW.

Greatly Increased December Earnings of Those Entering New York City.

New York, Jan. 22.—The unusual absence of snow in this section of the country in the last two months has had a somewhat remarkable effect upon the earnings of the large railroads. As a rule, expense due to the snowfall is very heavy in November, December and January. Many extra trains are required to push snow plows, and the regular freight trains are often held up, resulting in increased wages for overtime services.

Extra gangs of men are usually required to keep switching points and yards free from snow and ice. In addition the extreme weather requires an extra supply of fuel, and the movement of traffic is of course retarded.

The contrast between this winter and last is shown in the snow item of the Erie Railroad for the month of December. In 1905 about $100,000 was put down to this item, whereas last December the removal of snow and the damage caused by it cost only $690. The gross earnings of the company for the five months ended November 30 increased $1,564,000 over the earnings of the same period of the preceding year, and the cost of conducting transportation increased only $90,000.

The large net earnings of other railroads entering New York also show the effect of the lack of snow. Another road which has shown greatly increased earnings, partly from the same cause, is the Wabash.

Miss Bertha Mitchell, of Grant avenue, has left the hospital, having recovered from an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Charles D. Parfitt, of Gravenhurst, Canada, who has been spending several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, left for home today.

BLOWN OUT TO SEA IN SMALL CATBOAT.

Two Perth Amboy Men Sailed Last Tuesday to Hunt Ducks in Raritan Bay.

Gustave Stone and Otto Hulof, of Hartford street, Perth Amboy, left home at noon last Thursday in a thirty foot catboat, with a ten foot duckboat in tow, for a sail down the bay duck hunting. They have not been seen or heard from since.

The men had intended to anchor off Cliffwood, in Raritan Bay, and from that point use the duck shell while hunting. Otto Mortenson, of No. 64 Washington street, a close friend of Stone, was to have been one of the hunting party, but arrived too late and found that the others had left him behind. Nothing more was thought about it until next day, when it was learned that Stone and Hulof had not returned.

Chief of Police Burke was notified and made inquiries by telephone at all resorts along the bay and sound without any result until yesterday morning, when he received word from Stapleton, S. I., that a captain of a schooner which had arrived in port Friday night reported that he had picked up a catboat off Sandy Hook. Mortenson visited Stapleton yesterday, but failed to identity the boat. The widowed mother of Stone is prostrated with grief over her son's disappearance.

Hulof, until a few weeks ago, was bass rigger at the Barber asphalt works in Perth Amboy. He and Stone are good sailors. They had a good boat, called the Gypsy, painted white, with yellow decks and combing. It was foggy on the bay Tuesday when they sailed, and as a strong wind blew up from the west it is believed that they lost their bearings down the bay and were blown out to sea. If not picked up by some outgoing steamer they have probably perished.

DILL'S FATE IN DOUBT; COLBY A BIG FACTOR.

Question of Confirmation May Come Up at Tonight's Session.

Trenton, Jan. 22.—The fate of James B. Dill as judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals is hanging in the balance. It may be settled tonight. His appointment, sent to the Senate by the Governor the first day of the session, was referred to the Judiciary Committee. It is still in the hands of that committee, consisting of Senators Hillery, of Morris; Wakelee, of Bergen, and Minturn, of Hudson.

Minturn is openly opposed to confirmation. He says Dill is not wanted by a majority of the members of the bar of the State. He says he believes the committee will refuse to confirm. Should a majority favor confirmation, however, he (Minturn) will put in a vigorous adverse report. Minturn seems to think Hillery will join him in opposition. Hillery declines to discuss the matter or give a hint as to his intentions. Wakelee is also non-committal, but there is reason to believe he is in favor of confirmation.

Senator Everett Colby, of Essex, will be a big factor in the matter. He is the Senator from the county in which Mr. Dill lives. He is said to oppose confirmation. He talks very sparingly on the subject, but Minturn says he knows Colby is opposed. All four of the Democratic Senators are understood to be against Dill. The argument seems to be that Dill is really a New York lawyer, has his office in New York City, and has made no record in New Jersey that would entile him to so high a position.

ORANGE ITALIANS RIOTOUS.

Several Arrests in Hospital Trouble —Firemen to Aid Police.

Orange became very much excited yesterday because a crowd of Italians threatened trouble in their anger over the conduct of the new hospital of the Immaculate Conception. The Italians are angered because the hospital, which was founded as a result of their labors and under the leadership of the rector of their parish, the Rev. F. Victor Romanelli, has passed into the control of the Sisters of St. Francis, a staff of American doctors does all the work, and the Italian doctors have small show.

Last week circulars were distributed about Orange notifying Italians to assemble in front of the hospital at noon today to protest against it all. The circulars denounced Bishop O'Connor, Father Romanelli, the Sisters, and Dr. Gray, the chief of the hospital medical staff. The police say that Father Romanelli stirred up all the trouble himself, and either wrote the circular or had it written. Chief of Police Washer said today that he would take the matter before the county prosecutor tomorrow. The Italians met in a half-finished parish house at the rear of the Sisters' home. When the crowd got inside Dr. Pasquale Bellini, of Newark, spoke and produced a set of resolutions, which were passed almost before they were read. These resolutions demanded several things, including the expulsion from the hospital of the Sisters of St. Francis.

After the meeting was adjourned the crowd began to be noisy. The women in the crowd were hardest to deal with. They screamed and tore their hair in French Revolution style, and egged the men on to noisy demonstrations. They also openly insulted policemen. The police gathered in several of the ringleaders and started them for the station. On the way a number of men in the crowd closed in and attempted to rescue two of the captives. The police went to work with their nightsticks and captured seven men, all of whom were either armed with pistols or knives.

Later an Italian named Lafa Salvadore was brought in for heading a mob that formed on South street and marched toward the hospital. The gang had an Italian and an American flag, which they insisted on placing on the porch of the main building. They made such an uproar that the appendicitis and pneumonia patients were frightened. Roundsman Brown arrested Salvadore and the trouble stopped.

The police made several arrests in the afternoon of men who refused to move on, but there were no further serious demonstrations. The firemen in the different stations in the city were held in readiness to respond to a call for aid, as it was thought if the crowds got too unruly to handle a few streams of water might help the police.

INSANE YOUTH TRIES TO KILL HIS FATHER.

H. G. Peterson, of Perth Amboy, Attacked His Parent with a Big Carving Knife.

Harry G. Peterson, aged nineteen, formerly employed in New York, was taken to the insane asylum yesterday from his home in Perth Amboy after he had tried to kill his father, Christian.

The boy had been acting strangely since Christmas. Saturday night, after his mother had left the house to take a trolley car in search of a doctor, he became violent and attacked his father with a big carving knife, inflicting several wounds. The father seized him by the throat, choked him until he seemed to be losing strength and then released his hold and fled.

The boy then leaped through a window, cutting himself badly on the glass. By chance he got on the trolley car in which his mother was. She recognized him as the conductor was putting the boy off, and persuaded the conductor to let him go with her to a doctor's. A policeman who boarded the car went with them.

Mr. Petersen, the father, says that in his struggle with his son at one time the knife was at his throat. He was cut on the forehead, shoulder and wrist.

M'CALL HAS SOLD HIS SEASHORE HOME.

The Costly Summer Place of the Insurance Magnate Goes to a New York Lawyer.

Long Branch, Jan. 22—From a reliable source it is learned that the country seat of John A. McCall, the former insurance magnate, in Norwood avenue, which was built by him when president of the New York Life Insurance Company at a cost of over $600,000, was sold today to Isaac Untermeyer, a New York lawyer, who spent last summer in the Commodore Vanderbilt country house here. Byron Oppenheim negotiated the deal. The price has not been made public. It is said that the furniture was sold with the place.

Mrs. McCall was down yesterday and removed her linen and silverware. The live stock, wagon and other implements have all been sold at a sacrifice. The McCall country home was completed a year ago last summer. The place wos originally the William Hulick farm. Mr. McCall paid Mr. Hulick $50,000 for the land. He has since added many acres to his possessions, besides numerous buildings, including the much-talked of "Shadow Lawn."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, of Grove street, spent Sunday with friends at Bensonhurst, L. I.

The January sale of furniture at Woodhull & Martin's store is now in full swing. Goods can be purchased now and held for future delivery if desired, by paying a small deposit. You will find a large stock of furniture from which to make your selections, such as couches, bed outfits, chairs, rockers, etc., all at low prices. Hair mattresses will be renovated and made over equal to new at prices lower than usual. An inspection of the stock will repay you many times.

The January Furniture Sale

has developed into a

Great Expansion and Alteration Sale.

It's hardly three years since we took possession of this big building, and at that time we thought we'd have room enough for all time to come. But our FURNITURE, CARPET AND HOUSEFURNISHING DEPARTMENTS have made such rapid strides that we're compelled to add nearly 10,000 feet of floor space, and while we were at it we decided to build large enough to have room for the Carpet Department on the main floor, so, when these alterations are completed the Furniture and Carpets will be together on the main floor and the Housefurnishing in the basement. The contracts have been given out and the carpenters, masons, painters, etc., will soon be clamoring to commence work, but before they do commence we've got to get rid of about $10,000 worth of Furniture that was bought for the January sale. We thought the prices were down to the lowest notch, but this new move means that they must go down still lower. You can imagine what this means when every manufacturer in the country is advancing prices. This is a chance of a lifetime to buy new up-to-date Furniture for about what it cost to make.

WOODHULL & MARTIN.

STYLISHLY DRESSED MAN ROBBED HIS BENEFACTOR.

Complainant Refused to Press Charge, but Police Hold Prisoner.

Elizabeth, Jan. 22.—George Mulford, a young man, stylishly dressed, who claims to belong in Newark, was arrested here Saturday morning on complaint of G. B. Martin, a newspaper man of Philadelphia, who charged Mulford with stealing a case containing a dress suit belonging to Martin while the latter was asleep. The case and cothes were in the prisoner's possession when arrested. The pair had traveled on a trolley car from Philadelphia to Eilzabeth.

When police court opened this morning Mr. Martin told his story to Chief of Police Lenney, and said he first met Mulford in Philadelphia. They had some drinks together, for which Martin paid, so he said, and also, he alleged, bought tickets for both from Philadelphia to New York. When he awoke at Elizabeth he found his money gone, his dress suit missing and likewise his sociable companion. He jumped off the car and notified Policeman Moses, who caught Mulford in the waiting room at the Jersey Central Railroad Station.

When Mulford was searched $1.56 were found in his pockets. Martin said he did not want to make any complaint, as he did not have time to stop at Elizabeth to press the charge. He was going to New York to attend a social function, and was satisfied to recover his dress suit. Chief Lenney handed over to him the money found on Mulford, and which the chief said he was convinced had been stolen from Martin. The chief then made a formal charge against the prisoner, who was remanded to a cell.

Police Capture Alleged Thieves.

Red Bank, Jan. 22.—The police made another round-up of alleged chicken thieves last night, when they arrested Wyatt Freeman, Jennie Bowman and Josephus Bowman, who were taken in custody on the evidence of Harry Coy. Coy himself was arrested early in the week on the same charge, and on Thursday night he was the means of the arrest of a number of others, whom he implicated in the thefts. While some of the officers were looking for the chicken thieves, others searched and found three men who were wanted on a charge of breaking into a freight car at the railroad station and stealing sacks of oysters. The prisoners are Robert Jones, Thomas Smith and Wyatt Freeman.

Y. M. C. A. TEAM 30 P. H. S. AGGREGATION 21

SCHOOL BOYS PUT UP A STIFF FIGHT ON ASSOCIATION FLOOR.

Owing to the failure of three of their men to qualify the Yorkville basketball team did not play at the Y. M. C. A. as scheduled Saturday night. The date was ably filled by the Plainfield High School team, which proved a stiff proposition for the association boys, the teams being tied at various stages of the game. The association proved stronger toward the finish and won out by the score of 30 to 21.

The teams lined up as follows:

Y. M. C. A.	HIGH SCHOOL.
Thompson	Smith
Utsinger	Collier
forwards.
Scull	S. Freeman
center.
Letson	Doane
Leary	H. Freeman
guards.

Goals from field—Thompson, 2; Leary, 5; Scull, 6; Smith, 2; Collier, 2; H. Freeman, 3; Doane, 1. Goals from foul—Collier, 2; Freeman, 1; Doane, 1. Umpire—W. R. Browning.

A game between the ex-Scholastic and the Wanamassas was also played as a preliminary to the big game. The latter team won by the score of 14 to 12.

"COMET" KILLS TWO.

Tragedy Caused by Lackawanna Special Car at a Crossing.

Washington, N. J., Jan. 22.—The Comet, the Lackawanna's high-speed monitor engine, carrying officials to Hoboken, ploughed through a surrey at the High Street crossing in Hackettstown Saturday afternoon, ground to pieces Walter Williams and killed his young wife.

Williams is the caretaker of the country place of Alfred Sully, a New York lawyer, near Hackettstown. He had taken his wife to pass the day with her family at Allamuchy and was returning home at 5 o'clock.

The gates were down at the Lackawanna crossing in High street and Williams was kept waiting for a long coal train to pass. He was impatient to get home with his wife, who was feeling ill. As soon as the gateman raised the gates he whipped up his horses and was midway on the tracks before he saw what the gateman too had missed, the monitor engine flying east. The coal train had hidden its approach and it was almost on the carriage.

It was too late to swing the horses, and Williams died trying to throw his wife out of the way. The engineer saw the team on the track, but there was no time even to slacken speed. He hit the rig like a bullet, tossing the mangled horses far up the track. The carriage went down in splinters under the wheels with Williams in it. He was ground to pieces.

His wife just missed escaping. Williams was swinging her to safety, the gateman says, but the engine sucked her under. The wheels passed over the body.

FUNDS FOR MOSQUITO WAR.

Bill Appropriating $350,000 for Prof. Smith Reaches Trenton.

New Brunswick, Jan. 22.—In accordance with the views of State Entomologist John B. Smith, of this city, a mosquito bill has been prepared appropriating $350,000 for extermination of the insects. If the measure passes the Legislature, as it probably will, operations will be begun next November along the lines laid down by Prof. Smith. Only $70,000 can be used in any year, and only $5,000 for administration purposes.

The director of the experiment station is authorized to survey all salt marsh areas and prepare a map showing mosquito-breeding places and indicating the method to be adopted in dealing with each. This information is to be furnished the local Boards of Health and fresh-water areas are to be investigated at the request of local authorities. If any property owner fails to abate such nuisance within sixty days, the work will be done by legal procedure.

SENATOR COLBY COMPARES POLITICS WITH FOOTBALL.

Make the Game More Open and Do Away with Coaching from Corporations.

Mayor Mark Fagan, of Jersey City, and Senator Everett Colby, of New Jersey, made ringing speeches yesterday afternoon against bossism at a Y. M. C. A. meeting in the Majestic theatre, New York. Mr. Colby compared the game of politics to the game of football, and said he would like to see the rules governing politics changed.

"We need to make the game more open, abolish interference and do away with coaching from the side lines by the corporations," he said. "We want an open game to take the place of the cheap, Sherlock Holmes, Id Sleuth sort that we now have. We want it played so the man on the streets will have a look in."

The speaker said he wanted all of the young men present to enter into politics with the intention of doing away with bossism. In telling how the political and financial interests win over an office holder he said:

"Some the ring buys with cash, those on a little higher plane they buy with promises of higher offices, and those of integrity they get with a dinner. This dinner party politics is the most modern and up to date."

Mayor Fagan was received with thunderous applause. He told how he has fought to have the corporations of his State taxed under a special system and for taxation and limitation of public franchises and for popular electica of United States Senators.

GUARDING TROLLEY SWITCH.

Crew Watches Rails at Trenton to Prevent Their Removal.

Trenton, Jan. 22.—To prevent the Board of Freeholders from removing the switch on the Mercerville road, which was laid last week without the county's authority, the Trenton and New Brunswick Fast Line Company has placed one of its largest cars on the switch. Several employes are guarding the car and rails.

Although the officials will make no statement, it is understood that the trolley company intends to test the legal rights of the freeholders to remove the switch. The company expected that some action would be taken Saturday by the county authorities, but the plans to frustrate the action of the freeholders proved useless, as no one attempted to touch the irons.

The road committee decided Saturday that the rails would have to be removed, but the manner in which action is to be taken is kept a secret.

County Solicitor Conard has advised a plan of action, but secrecy will be maintained that the company may not know how the freeholders will act. Many expected Saturday that the road committee would send a gang of laborers to the scene of the dispute, but that was not done.

MAY STOP CLASS DANCES.

They Think the Functions Take Students from Their Work.

New Brunswick, Jan. 22—The student body of Rutgers College, in this city, is very much exercised over the threat of the faculty to put a stop to all the college dances, the principal of which are the sophomore ball, the junior promenade and the senior ball. This step is contemplated because of the demoralizing effect these dances are said to have upon the students for two weeks before the functions and at least a week afterward.

It is claimed that proper attention is not, in consequence, paid to the college work, the participants devoting too much of their time to the arrangements for the balls, and as they are conducted on a large and expensive scale it often costs the managers a great deal more than they anticipate. The result is the class goes bankrupt, and then they worry over how they are to meet their debts and try to get up other entertainments to "make good." The sophomore class, which has just had its ball, is in debt about $200. The juniors, who have not yet held their promenade, and the seniors, who have been looking forward to their commencement dance, are very much worried at the prospective pronunciamento of the faculty.

Justices of Peace Pay Up.

Toms River, Jan. 22.—Fifty justices of the peace appeared before Expert Hartshorn in Saturday's session of the investigation of Ocean County affairs and were put through a rigid examination by Major Hobart, counsel for the taxpayers' committee, who brought out that in many instances several of the justices of the peace had imposed fines, collected them and had never turned the money into the county treasury. A number of the justices of the peace were more than willing to make up for their deficiencies, and, without waiting to ask questions, went down in their pockets and gave to the expert amounts varying from $5 to $50.

Ambitious to Be a Big City.

There is a movement on foot to consolidate the West Hudson towns of Harrison, Kearny and East Newark into a first class city. The West Hudson Board of Trade will discuss the matter at its next meeting Thursday, Febraury 1, which will be attended by Governor Stokes. Assemblyman Edward Patterson favors the measure and says he will introduce a bill when requested to do so.

SHOOT AT PASSENGER TRAINS.

Police Hunting for Marksmen Who Practice on Cars Near Harrison.

Detectives in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad are trying to find one who within the last week has made a practice of shooting with revolvers or airguns and hurling bricks and other missiles at trains passing through Harrison. Several narrow escapes from serious injury have been reported.

Abraham Eisner, of New York, reports that a bullet passed so close to his face one day last week that he could almost feel it. He was seated by the window through which the bullet entered. It flew across the car in a diagonal direction and out through a window on the opposite side. Mr. Eisner was accompanied by his sister, his brother, Henry, and his brother's wife. Mrs. Henry Eisner was cut on the face in several places, but the others of the party escaped injury.

One man sitting near them got a splinter of glass in his eye. He was taken to a hospital on the arrival of the train in Jersey City.

WOMAN KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Her Mangled Body Hurled by Engine Among People.

Mrs. Mary E. Cross, of Lyons, aged forty-three years, was instantly killed by an eastbound passenger train on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad at Lyons Station Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Cross attempted to cross the tracks in front of an express train. She apparently thought it was a local passenger train about to stop at the station below the point where she was crossing, as she did not hurry to get out of the way. The train, running sixty miles an hour, hurled her mangled body upon the station platform among the horrified passengers who were waiting for the local train which followed the express. Mrs. Cross leaves a husband and one child.

Murderer's Condition Improves.

Morristown, Jan. 22.—The physicians and nurses attending Samuel Mucha, or Monage, as he is recorded at the hospital, who killed Mrs. Decker at Montville, believe that he will recover, as he appears to be improving steadily and his wounds show no bad symptoms. The second bullet in his shoulder has been located by the X-ray, but it is deeply imbedded and not attempt will be made to remove it until the patient grows stronger. The grand jury that is in session here was discharged Saturday until January 25, when the witnesses in the murder case will be brought before it. Prosecutor Charles A. Rathbun has spent some time in Montville in an effort to learn the motive of the crime, and believes he has a clue to it in stories that were told Mucha, or Monage, by practical jokers, intent on arousing his jealousy.

Has Narrow Escape from Death.

Trenton, Jan. 22.—That John Hanaway, 17 South Warren street, is alive, is due to the fact that a knife which was plunged into the back of his head Saturday was a trifle high and scraped the skull. Hanaway, his wife and her father, David Lamphear, are being held by the police until a satisfactory explanation of the affair is obtained. Hanaway, it is said, declared that his wife had done the cutting. Lamphear is said to have also stated that the woman did the cutting. When he reached the station he said that he was cut by a man, but he did not know who it was. They are held to await investigation.

Postoffice Robbers Get Little.

Whitehouse, Jan. 22.—The general store of Rodman R. Kline, which is also the postoffice, at North Branch Depot, was entered by burglars Saturday morning. The burglars went through all the letters without, it is believed, securing any money. Then the stamp drawer was broken into and a quantity of stamps taken and some money. Before leaving the premises the thieves secured about $35 worth of cigars and tobacco. The postmaster, Peter L. Kline, did not know of the robbery until he visited the office Saturday morning.

Miss Lizzie Porter, of West Third street, has returned from New York, where she has been visiting friends.

TO STOP RUTGERS' DANCES.

Faculty May Put Ban on Them, As They Interfere With Studies.

New Brunswick, Jan. 22.—The student body of Rutgers College is very much exercised over the threat of the faculty to put a stop to all the college class dances, the principal of which are the sophomore ball, the junior promenade, and the senior ball.

This step is contemplated because of the demoralizing effect these dances are said to have upon the students for two weeks before the functions and at least one week afterward. It is contended that the proper attention is not in consequence paid to college work, the participants devoting too much of their time to the prior arrangements for the balls. These functions usually cost more than the students can afford, it is said, and they are worrying continually devising means to make up the shortages.

The sophomore class, which has just had its ball, is in debt about $200. The junior and senior balls have not yet been given.

Birthday Surprise.

Mrs. John Bennett, of Jackson avenue, this city, tendered a surprise party Saturday night to her husband in honor of the anniversary of his birthday. The evening was spent playing games and listening to phonograph music, after which supper was served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. George Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Carman, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley and Mr. and Mrs. Bridge.

Ezra Kendall, in a special production of "The Vinegar Buyer," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. "The Vinegar Buyer" tells with rollicking rural humor, as fresh and blithesome as the breeze through a blossoming orchard, the life and adventures of Joe Miller, Jack-of-all-trades and master of none, except the delightful art of fun-making. With cheerful nonchalance he roams through the Middle West peddling musical attachments for sewing machines, which enables farmers' wives and daughters to enjoy ragtime melodies while stitching hickory shirts and constructing rag carpets. In Indiana, where Joe was "so happy and so poor," he chanced upon a cross roads village, whose honest folks, charmed with his bubbling wit, persuaded him to settle among them.

Henrietta Crosman's performance of "As You Like It," at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night, will be the same in every respect as it was given at the Garrick theatre, New York, where her revival of the Shakespearian comedy was made and from whence she comes direct to this city. The supporting company is the same as appeared with her at the Garrick and the entire magnificent production will be used. The company was especially chosen for this revival. Miss Crosman will make only a brief tour in "As You Like It" and then return to New York, where she will again appear in this play as one of the features of the close of the present theatrical season. Miss Crosman's return to New York in "As You Like It" will be her fifth engagement in that city in the Shakespearian comedy. This will make a notable record as no other star has ever appeared there so many times in this role.

"The Heir to the Hoorah," which kept New York laughing from early Lent until well along into the dog-days, is coming to the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night. The merry comedy was written by Paul Armstrong, a former New York newspaper man, and staged by the late Kirke LaShelle, whose untimely death ended that brilliant career of management and authorship, which has been punctuated by the presentation of such well known successes as "The Virginian," "The Education of Mr. Pipp," "Arizona," "The Earl of Pawtucket," and a half dozen or so comic operas. The rather mystifying title of the new piece, which has recently received the seal of Boston's and Chicago's critical approval, requires elucidation. "The Heir" is a baby, supposedly born during the progress of the play, and "The Hoorah" is a rich gold mine, owned by the baby's papa. The scenes of the comedy are laid in the gold mining country, "just East of the Divide." The company includes Guy Bates Post, Jane Peyton, Nora O'Brien, Colin Campbell, Louise Rutter, Wilfred Lucas, and others of much prominence.

The new emotional drama, "A "Wife's Secret," which will be seen for the first time in this city at the New Plainfield theatre Monday night, February 5, under the direction of Spencer and Aborn, presents a most interesting and attractive story, which sets forth a powerful warning to young wives and a still stronger plea to a man's honor and consideration. As a picture of real, breathing human nature, it is said to be without a peer in the field of melodrama, and this claim has been substantiated by the remarkable success it has won in other cities where it has been seen this season and last. The role of leading interest, the girlish and beautiful wife of a young clergyman, who is turned out of a happy home for her fancied wrongdoings, and because of the malicious scandalizing of her enemies and the compromising advances of an unscrupulous man, is played by Miss Virginia Thornton, one of the most distinguished of the younger leading women in America today, and she has been surrounded by a cast of the highest excellence in every particular.

GOING TO BE KAISER'S GUEST.

German-American Says He Once Saved William's Life.

Kansas City, Jan. 22.—To attend his twenty-fifth wedding anniversary upon personal invitation and as a private guest, with all expenses paid in advance, is the honor conferred upon Stephen Hesse, of Wichita, by Emperor William of Germany.

Hesse, who was at the Union Depot Friday night, on his way to New York, whence he sailed for Berlin Saturday, was an officer in the German army at the time William was Crown Prince, and an intimate acquaintance and affection sprang up between them. Hesse once, he says, saved William's life in a runaway. Hesse is now a prosperous farmer near Witchita.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williamson, of Bound Brook, have been visiting Mrs. George Strathie, of this city.

Justice V. W. Nash returned home Saturday night from Camden, where he attended a meeting of Grand Lodge officers of the A. O. U. W.

—Mr. and Mrs. Maurice McGrath will soon remove from New Brunswick to this city, Mr. McGrath having resigned his position in New Brunswick to accept a position in New York.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot assething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

James K. Hackett and Mary Mannering will appear together in a new play at the Savoy theatre tomorrow evening. In producing this new play, which is called "The House of Silence," Mr. Hackett shows a spirit, to say the least, commendable, interrupting as he does the run of a play, "The Walls of Jericho," which has, for nearly six months, been one of the leading successes of the New York season. Mr. Hackett makes this change of play for the single reason, that last spring when he outlined his present policy, he made contracts for the production of several plays during his Savoy theatre engagement. Among these, was one with Herman K. Viele, the author of "The House of Silence." The success that came to "The Walls of Jericho" was so pronounced that Mr. Hackett was forced to delay the production of Mr. Viele's play, and now that further delays are impossible, Mr. Hackett makes the announcement of its production tomorrow night. "The House of Silence" is described as a modern play, laid in Britany, in three acts and a prologue. Mr. Hackett and Miss Mannering will be seen in the principal roles of this new play. Others in the cast will be Edwin Arden, specially engaged for this production, in addition to Miss May Blayney, David Glassford, Owen Baxter, Frank Patton, Rex McDougal and Jefferson Rollow, retained from the cast of "The Walls of Jericho," with the added engagement of Miss Virginia Buchanan and Peter Lang.

LITERARY NOTES.

Joseph Jefferson, one of the best-loved American actors, is the subject of the leading paper in the February number of Scribner's Magazine by Francis Wilson, the well-known actor, who knew him for many years. These reminiscences are full of anecdote and story, giving Mr. Jefferson's opinions about the arts of acting and painting, and his own recollections of distinguished men in many vocations. The article in this number deals particularly with Rip Van Winkle—its origin and development as a play, with amusing anecdotes about Mr. Jefferson and his experiences while playing it. There are also pleasant glimpses of Jefferson as a painter, and his views and preferences for various artists. The amazing success of "The House of Mirth" still continues, and the readers of it will be interested in Edith Wharton's story in this number entitled "The Hermit and the Wild Woman"—a charming phantasy with a deep significance. George Moore's reminiscences of the group of Impressionist painters who in his student days used to frequent a Parisian cafe tell of the opinions and characteristics of Manet, Degas, Monet, and others who afterwards came to be looked upon as the leaders in a new movement in art. The inside history of the Chinese boycott against American goods is told in Thomas F. Millard's article on "The New China." Arthur Rackham, the English artist whose work has attracted so much attention, illustrates a story of southern California by Eleanor Gates. There are also two humorous stories—"His Sporting Aunt," by Ann Devoore; and "The Lake of Devils," another "Bob" story by Mrs. Andrews.

WIDOW SUES FOR $25,000.

William H. Bolton, the Defendant, Denies He Is Father of Child.

Seated upon the knee of a nurse a bright eyed two-year-old child was the centre of attraction Saturday in the Supreme Court in Newark before Judge Greenbaum, where Mrs. Edith R. Boese, a widow, is suing William H. Bolton, reputed to be a man of means, to recover $25,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage.

Almost four years ago, Mrs. Boese says, she met Bolton at the New York Athletic Club. Shortly after, she says, he asked her to become his wife, and she said she was willing, but he declined to keep his promise. She says he is the father of the child. Mr. Bolton denies this and also declares that he never promised to marry her.

Mrs. Boese resides in Fordham. She is a sister-in-law of John B. Haskina, son of the late John B. Haskin, who was a power in politics in this city some years ago and left a large estate.

MAY FIGHT AT RENO.

O'Brien Willing to Meet Jeffries or Hart in Nevada City.

Reno, Nev., Jan. 22.—"Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien wants to fight in Nevada, and he is desirous that his opponent be either Jeffries or Marvin Hart, the former preferred. Al Page is here, and is authorized to sign articles of agreement for a finish fight for the championship of the world for a purse of $20,000.

So interested are the Nevada sporting men in having the championship question settled that they are backing Page, and he already has enough money in sight to insure more than the amount of the purse. If the fight is arranged it will probably take place in Reno, in the open air arena some time in May, but more likely early in June, when the weather would be more favorable.

It is believed that Jeffries would be the better drawing card, if O'Brien were a heavier man; but as it is, they believe the man from Philadelphia would be better able to make a good showing with Hart.

NO MONEY; NO PUFFS.

Newspaper in the Bay State Issues Ultimatum.

Free "puffs" are no more in the office of the Wakfield Daily Item. This is its ultimatum:

After careful deliberation The Daily Item has decided to adopt a plan as yet untried in this vicinity, but which we hope will be successful. Since The Daily Item was established it has been handing out compliments right and left, but hereafter all persons desiring "puffs" must conform to the following schedule of prices:

For announcing to the public that a citizen is "a successful business man" when the whole county knows that he is a financial failure and lazier than a government mule, $3.-79.

For referring to a lecturer or public speaker as having "exceptional oratorical powers and a charming personality" when he talks like a class in a stammerer's institute and has a face that would derail an express train and a manner that would frighten a baby into convulsions, $8.-71.

Advertising a hash house lay-out as a "delicious collation" when a "hot dog and roll" would be a banquet in comparison, $1.29.

Eulogizing a deceased citizen as "one mourned by the entire community," when his familiar face will be missed only at a second-class poker circle, $10.25.

Calling an office-seeker "an efficient town official," when everyone knows that he is a "grafter" and has to hire a clerk to do his work for him, $7.22.

Speaking of a singer as having a "rich bass' or "sweet and delicate soprano," when in reality it would require a roll of sandpaper, a burnishing machine and a nickel-plating outfit to make it pass muster in a gang of street hawkers, $13.

[It will be noticed that this is the extreme penalty, showing that The Item editor is a man of taste.]

Referring to an entertainment as "a financial success" when the committee has only paid for the orchestra and still owes for printing, advertising, use of hall and other incidentals, $5.79.

Reporting a dance or social function as "the event of the season" when everybody sat round and wished that it was over, $4.28.

Sending a doubtful hypocrite and sinner to heaven, $3.76.

Calling a common "pulpit pounder" an "eminent divine," 60c.

[This, it will be observed, is the minimum charge. Probably that is because the editor, knowing the salaries country ministers are paid, knows it is all he can collect.]

Referring to a gang of young hoodlums who smoke cigarette butts on the street corners, break windows and make the night hideous generally as the "coming generation" and "Young America," 79c.

Violating the sacred laws of truth and veracity by calling a galvanting, flirting female an "estimable young lady" and "the belle of the town" when a business man would rather see Satan himself coming, $6.98.

There are many others, which will appear on the schedule later.

SHE WENT SHOPPING AND GOT A HUSBAND.

Philadelphia Girl Surprised Her Folks With Telephone Message Announcing Marriage.

Late yesterday afternoon her brother, Harvey Johnson, of No. 712 East Chelton avenue, Germantown, received word from his sister over the telephone from New York announcing that she had just been married in the "Little Church Around the Corner," in that city, to Edward Neilson, of Portland, Me.

Miss Johnson's father is now spending the winter at Palm Beach, Fla., and Mr. Neilson will leave for the Southern resort in a few days to ask his forgiveness.

Mr. Neilson comes of a good family in Maine. He is in the automobile business in New York, and has been a frequent visitor at the Johnson home.

80-CENT GAS SCHEME.

Commission Recommends Sliding Scale of Gradual Reduction.

Albany, Jan. 22.—The report of the State gas commission is ready for presentation. It recommends a sliding price scale for gas, beginning with a reduction to 95 cents a thousand feet and 5 cents' reduction each year thereafter until the uniform rate of 80 cents is reached.

This, according to the report, will then be the permanent rate until further legislation is decided upon. It is stated today that if an attempt is made to adopt such a measure it will be offset by the immediate introduction of an out-and-out 80-cent gas bill.

The effect of this will be another fight by the gas companies and the possible development of another scandal such as characterized the attempt made last year to pass a similar bill.

The gas lobby is ready for the first sign.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Himes and son, Nelson, of Westerly, R. I., are visiting Mrs. Himes' sister, Mrs. Thomas Cardner, of Orange place.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state.

CASTO TO GET A BOAT AS REWARD OF A HERO.

Captain and His Crew Will Receive the Gift at a Dinner in Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, Jan. 22.—Captain Mark Casto, hero at the steamship Cherokee rescue, is to receive a vessel at the dinner of the Atlantic City Board of Trade on January 27. Casto and his crew are to be honored guests, and District Attorney Jerome, of New York, is expected to attend. Members of the daring crew who stood by Captain Casto when the crew and passengers of the Cherokee were taken ashore in a raging gale will be allotted shares in the craft, which will cost more than $5,000.

Plans to purchase the schooner Alberta, in which the rescue was made, have been thwarted by the refusal of Fred Currie to part with more than a half share in the little vessel. Currie values the boat for sentimental reasons. It was named after his wife.

The decision to present a fine seagoing craft to Casto and his crew was reached at a meeting of the Casto Hero Fund Association formed at the Marlboro House with Mayor Stoy as treasurer of the fund, now totaling nearly $3,000. John D. White, one of the owners of the Marlboro, was made chairman of the committee, which includes prominent business and hotel men of this city, who have been heavy contributors to the fund.

Both Casto and his crew have accepted the invitations to attend the Board of Trade dinner, and General Miles, who presented the medal given by the Philadelphia Clover Club, will make the presentation speech.

TO BUILD 700-FOOT TOWER.

At Coney Island, With Roof Garden, Theatre at a Great Height.

The proposition to erect a steel tower 700 feet high at Coney Island, took definite form Saturday when announcement was made of the formation of The Friede Globe Tower Co. to build it.

The proposed tower will be 300 feet in diameter and contain a pedestal roof garden, to be placed 150 feet above the ground, including a restaurant, theatre, and roller skating rink; an aerial hippodrome, 250 feet above the ground; a moving cafe and dance hall, 300 feet up; a palm garden at 400 feet, an observatory platform at 500, and still higher a branch of the Weather Bureau, including the largest revolving searchlight in the world.

It is estimated that more than 7,000 tons of steel will be used in the structure, which is to be fireproof, and the cost of which is placed at $973,500.

The company is capitalized at $3,000,000. Samuel M. Friede, the inventor, is president of the company, and the remaining officers are: Edward A. Langan, of Brooklyn, vice president; Alfred Price, secretary; H. R. Wade, Manhattan, treasurer. The office of the company is at 37 William street, New York.

Yale vs. Penna.

Football, like politics, makes strange alliances, and at present the field of possibilities in this respect appears unlimited. If the Harvard overseers persist in their determination to bar the Crimson from intercollegiate gridiron play until the reform rules have been tested and proved satisfactory to that body there is every reason to believe the Eastern college schedules will include new feature games next season. Already Pennsylvania and Yale are looking forward to a game to take the place of the annual struggle with Harvard, despite the fact that the abolition of football is only tentative at Cambridge as yet.

The advantages of entrusting the care, management and ultimate distribution of an estate to a trust company rather than to an individual are obvious.

First—The trust company is governed by stringent laws, especially designed to safeguard the interests of his clients.

Second—Its capital and surplus are pledged as security for the faithful administration of its trusts.

Our booklet, "The Modern Trust Company," will be mailed upon request.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

The managers of the various teams in the Lackawanna League will meet in Newark on Thursday afternoon to re-organize for the coming season. There is to be several important changes, including a wholesale cutting of salaries. One of the managers in speaking of this said that he expected to put a team in the field for at least $65 or $70 a week. It is also proposed to play only on Saturday, cutting out the mid-week games. The season will start in May and close Labor Day.

GOLF.

The company of eastern golfers, while on their way to Mexico last week to engage in the international golf tournament, had an unpleasant experience en route. On Saturday night, January 13, while all were asleep, thieves got in their fine work. They went through the baggage and clothes of the golfers and made way with about $1,000 in money, jewelry and other valuables. The loss was not discovered until the members of the party awoke the following morning.

Charles Kirchner, of the Plainfield Country Club, a member of the party, suffered a loss of $15 in cash and a pair of gloves, taken out of his pockets. Luckily he had the balance of his money and valuables under his pillow. It is the general opinion that the work was that of a gang who make a business of riding on first class trains to do such work.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The Rasores Club will meet tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. J. Wesley Johnson, 207 East Seventh street.

—Sam Frazee, the well known violinist, furnished music for a large dance held at Bonnell's Hall, Whitehouse Station, Saturday night. The committee in charge comprised J. E. Davis and P. Latourette.

—Roy Woodhull, Russell Abbott and Arthur Mundy have been elected members of the Hope Chapel Boys' Club. The boys will play a game of basketball with the Whittier School second team on Friday night.

INFLUENCE OF PURITANS A PASTOR'S THEME.

Illustrated Lecture at the Congregational Church Last Night Well Attended.

Before an audience that completely filled the Congregational church Rev. Georg R. Lockwood, of Glen Olden, Pa., gave an illustrated lecture of unusual interest last night on "The Principles and Progress of the Pilgrim Fathers." Ninety excellent views were displayed covering a period of 300 years, it being the purpose of Mr. Lockwood to show the influence of the Puritans in carrying forward the principles of Christianity.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Sunday school and the members attended in a body, occupying seats reserved for them in the center of the church. Mr. Lockwood brother, from Montclair, an artist of renown, operated the slides.

MAGGIE'S JEALOUSLY CAUSES FREE FIGHT

DUSKY DAMSEL USES A LAMP ON FIANCE'S SKULL—THREE ARRESTS.

Jealousy on the part of Maggie Belle Jackson, a colored damsel, caused a row at her pink tea headquarters on Race street Saturday night and resulted in the arrest of her intended husband, William Wallace, and Lewis Jackson, as well as Maggie herself. Wallace received several cuts about the head and Dr. Fred Hughes took several stitches to close the wounds. Rose Jackson, mother of Maggie Belle, received slight cuts and bruises and needed medical attention.

Wallace came home for supper at the usual hour, and left instructions to have his meal prepared while he went upstairs to change his clothes. He remained a considerable time, in fact, longer than Maggie Belle thought he should. She called him, but he did not respond, and thinking that he was visiting Lewis Jackson's wife, she and her mother went upstairs to learn what detained him.

A scrap followed, in which Maggie Belle is said to have beat her future husband over the head with a lamp. Maggie's mother joined in the festivities and she was dragged downstairs by the hair of her head, so eye witnesses say. In her descent she was bumped against the steps and considerably bruised and cut.

It was at this time that the police heard of the trouble and walked in. Maggie Belle and her mother were the complainants, and at their request Wallace, Lewis Jackson and Maggie Jackson were locked up.

They were subsequently released on bail to appear for a hearing tonight.

FADS AND FANCIES OF WEATHER FREAKS.

Yesterday was the hottest January 21 in fifteen years at least. The thermometer here registered 56 degrees.

Wasps are flying in multitudes about the streets of Troy, while the local icemen have not harvested their first cake of ice.

Butterflies in full dress are fluttering throughout the Middle Atlantic States, while butter is melting in near cool places.

A Saratoga thermometer, registering fifty-six in the shade at noon, took the standing high-jump record when placed in the sun, scoring eighty-six degrees.

Robin red breasts began building nests in Setauket, Long Island, and "Bob" Doran, of the village, discovered the first four blue robins' eggs for the season of 1906.

Pussy willows made their appearance in the parks.

The scene on Fifth avenue, New York, yesterday at noon resembled an Easter parade. Eighth avenue, too, was out in its best summer togs of 1905.

The price of overcoats was cut sixty per cent. today, and no fire sale at that, although the heat superinduced the reduction.

Iced drinks were the caper in and out of town.

The Esquimaux dogs in the Zoo hung out their tongues as if thirsty, and seemed possessed of ennui, or something akin.

Muffs and earmuffs were discarded. "Muffs" on diamonds by 1906's first ball tossers were in vogue.

The only blanket in evidence was a blanket of mist which followed the summer heat.

Coney Island "foamed" with midsummer abandon.

The bathing season at Coney Island opened January 21, 1906.

A year ago yesterday transatlantic and coatswise ships came into port ice-coated from stem to stern. Yesterday vessels "limped into port" with every evidence of heat enervation and with ports open.

Many of the steel mills and glass furnaces of Pittsburg shut down because of the heat—the first winter record of that occurrence.

Porch parties were the rule where the porch was obtainable.

Encouraged by genial warmth, Vermont caterpillars got busy and dropped from budding trees in Burlington streets.

Prevailing betting odds that 1906 will not witness sleighing hereabouts rule at even money; no sleighing before February 12, 2 to 1.

Furriers, in the absence of "orders," are giving advices to this effect: "Back to the cedar boxes and the moth-proof cases with the skins."

Train Traffic Delayed Three Hours.

Jersey City, Jan. 22.—The derailing of a drill engine caused a tie-up of three hours on the Central Railroad at Pacific street Friday night. No one was injured.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Men's Association of Trinity Reformed church will meet Thursday night and elect officers. The club will be entertainmed by a magician.

As a result of the recent revival at Hope chapel, twenty new members were received into the church fellowship at the communion services last night.

These new members were received into membership of the Swedish Lutheran church last night: Hagon Hansen, Miss C. Hansen, Miss Olga Oeren, Frederick Danielson and Christian Holt.

The congregation of the Crescent Avenue church had the privilege yesterday morning of hearing Purdon Robinson, recently tenor in Dr. Parkhurst's church, New York, and well known in musical circles, render "The Publican," by Vandewater. His rendition was pleasing and effective.

COLLISION ON B. R. T.

Signals Misunderstood Owing to Dense Fog.

In a collision between a Coney Island and a Ridgewood train on the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad at Myrtle and Hudson avenues, Brooklyn, during the rush hour today the first sar of the Coney Island train was forced free from the others and thrown over on its side, hanging within a few inches of the edge of the structure.

The passengers escaped serious injury, but the escape from a disaster such as that of last Friday was little short of miraculous.

The collision was due to the dense fog, through which the motorman of the Ridgewood train was unable to make out signals. Both trains were crowded. Traffic on the road was tied up for half an hour, causing a bad crush on the bridge when the running of trains was resumed.

FOOLISH BOYS WILL QUIT SCHOOL WHEN 14.

Young Seader and Hansen Promise to Attend Until Then.

Edward Seader, who has been habitually playing truant in the borough, was released from the lockup yesterday on his promise to attend school regularly. Upon leaving court, he remarked: "I will be fourteen years old in May and they cannot make me attend school after that."

Truant Officer Richard MacDonald was hunting for Henry Hansen, of Lincoln place, this morning, for absenting himself from school. Later Mayor Smalley saw the lad and gave him a lecture. The boy said that he had been attending school and proposed going every day until May 1, when he too will be fourteen years old.

MRS. WEIGHTMAN GETS BACK HER NECKLACE.

Precious Jewels Were Found by a Letter-Carrier.

Mrs. Aubrey Weightman, formerly Miss Fanny Cox, of this city, has recovered the peal necklace which she lost while returning to her home from the opera, in Philadelphia, a few days ago. A postman brought it to the Weightman home yesterday, saying that he had found it on their porch. His excuse for not returning it promptly was that he had been ill.

The recovered article was highly valued by Mrs. Weightman. It was the wedding gift of her father-in-law and was worth thousands of dollars.

Biggest Apartment House.

The largest apartment house in the world will stand on the block bounded by Broadway, West End avenue, Seventy-eighth and Seventy-ninth streets, New York. William Waldorf Astor, who has expatriated himself in England for many years, will build it, and by the time it is ready for occupancy, two or three years hence, he will have expended on it approximately $5,000,000.

Birthday Surprise Party.

In honor of the birthday of George Parsons, a surprise party was given to him at his home in Park place, Saturday night. The anniversary occurred a week ago today, but it not being convenient to celebrate at that time, Saturday night was decided upon. All kinds of games were played and later refreshments were served. There were sixteen guests.

Track Repairer's Injuries Fatal.

Elizabeth, Jan. 22.—Thomas Scott, the young track repairer from New Brunswick, who was struck by a passenger train on the Pennsylvania Railroad Saturday afternoon, near Metuchen, died Saturday evening at the Elizabeth General Hospital. This morning his body was taken to his home in New Brunswick. He was twenty years old and single.

JOHN COLLINS A VICTIM OF BLOOD POISONING

PASSED AWAY IN HOSPITAL AT BETHLEHEM, PA., SATURDAY.

From the effects of blood poisoning brought on by an injury to his leg received in a machine shop, John E. Collins, a life-long resident of this city, died Saturday afternoon in St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, Pa. He had been in the Pennsylvania city but little more than a week and his relatives were unaware that anything had happened until apprised of his death. The body was brought at once to Plainfield and the funeral will be held from St. Mary's church Wednesday morning.

Collins was about thirty-eight years old and was a machinist by trade, having served his time in local shops. He enjoyed a wide acquaintance and belonged to several local organizations. He was married but a year ago, his wife having remained here until he had gotten settled at Bethlehem. He is also survived by his mother, five sisters and two brothers. The sisters are Mrs. Sylvester Sharkey and Mrs. John Blimm, of this city; Mrs. John McGloin, Mrs. Percy Parker and Miss Annie Collins, of New York, while the brothers are Peter Collins, of Brooklyn, and James Collins, of Plainfield.

The body is at present at Mrs. Sharkey's, home on East Second street, from where a preliminary funeral service will be held.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Mrs. L. A. W. Perkins, State Councilor of the Daughters of America, was in town Saturday, arranging for the institution of a new council at Galia on Saturday night. Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, will do the work. The new council will have a charter membership of twenty-five.

MISS NORA DOYLE PASSES AWAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Summoned by Death at Home of her Brother, Dr. Lawrence Doyle, of Woodbridge.

Miss Nora Doyle, formerly of this city, died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of her brother, Dr. Lawrence Doyle, of Woodbridge. She had been ill a long time and was just on the point of returning to Plainfield when she was compelled to take to her bed.

Miss Doyle was twenty-seven years old, and until her health failed was prominent in the social functions conducted by the young women of St. Mary's church. She enjoyed a wide acquaintance and made many friends through a genial disposition and sympathetic nature. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. William Dagnall, of Richmond street; Dr. Doyle, Mrs. William Townley and Mrs. U. G. Force, of this city.

The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church Wednesday morning at 9:30 and the interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

IN BOROUGH COURT.

Mayor Smalley Continues Gathering in the Shekels.

Danny Wert, James Poppelle and Patsy Patti, young Italians, were arrested on Watchung avenue, the borough, last night, by Marshal Pope and Special Marshal Benjamin Harrison, for being drunk and causing a disturbance. They were later released on bail to appear at 11:30 o'clock this morning before Mayor Smalley.

Wert denied the charge, and, in fact, said that he never tasted liquor. His honor looked upon him as curiosity and decided to give him another chance by suspending sentence. Poppelle and Patti were each fined $3. Salva Vilardo, a friend of the prisoners, was in court, and with the assistance of another Italian paid the fines.

Mr. Myers' Bachelor Dinner.

Joseph Lawrence Myers, of New York, formerly of East Front street, whose marriage to Miss Henrietta Eugenia Hawley, of New York, will take place tomorrow in St. Thomas' church, gave his farewell bachelor dinner Friday night at the City Club. His guests were Messrs. Clarence P. Wyckoff, Arthur D. Davis, William H. Wilson Well, Thomas S. Adams, Clarence Edmund Fairfax, Lefferts Dashiel and Francis F. Palmer.

Plainfield Baby Named for Hero.

Captain Mark Castro, who as master of the fishing schooner Alberta, performed heroic services in helping to rescue passengers from the stranded Clyde Line steamer Chrokee last week, has been deluged with letters from all over the country, one of which informed him that a man in this city had named his baby for the captain. Inquiry has failed to disclose the name of such a man here, although the truth of the statement is not denied.

Watchung Club's Chase.

The weekly run of the Watchung Hunt Club was held on Saturday, the start being made from the kennels on Randolph road. The chase extended to Rahway and return. The new hounds were used and behaved well.

WRECK ON CENTRAL

drill was standing.

Dineen had just gotten off the rear end of the drill train and was on the track within a few feet of the last car. He also saw the "wildcat" approaching and knew that it was impossible to prevent a wreck. He leaped away and reached a safe point just as the crash came.

The First Crash.

The impact was terrific and was heard for blocks in that section of the city. Engine 532 seemed to break in two and then crumble to pieces. A steel coal car was the first to be hit and that collapsed like a piece of paper and fell over against the east bound coal train that was just pulling out. A freight car loaded with baled hay was telescoped, a wooden gondola being driven through it. The top of the freight car was flung over the coal train and one bale of hay was hurled high in the air and dropped down in the yard of the Hygeia Ice Company's yard. The other cars on the train were knocked off their trucks and dropped in zig-zag fashion all along the rails. They had barely settled when the Easton express dashed up and missed hitting all of them until it reached the post where the wrecked engine lay.

Plainfielders Aboard.

The splitting of timbers and the crashing of glass threw the passengers into a mild panic, but when the danger had passed, men in the cars quickly reassured the women and there was no trouble. Among the Plainfielders on board were Chief Kiely, A. Roth, the market man, Berry Egan, of Sandford avenue, and also Fred Bennett, stage manager of the New Plainfield theatre. Chief Kiely and Bennett quieted a number of passengers and seeing that many were cut, left the cars and ran to nearby telephones. They summoned the ambulance and police patrol, both reaching the scene in a few minutes. The latter brought Dr. Lufburrow and Patrolmen Overbaugh and Higgins, but most of those hurt had been given treatment by experienced railroad men before their arrival.

Vannatta was hurled through his cab window when the collision came, but Lohsen was buried in the wreckage. Though steam was hissing in every direction, brave men fought their way through it and located the imprisoned fireman, held down by twisted iron. They succeeded in extricating him just as the ambulance arrived and he was hurried to Muhlenberg Hospital.

The authorities report that his injuries in the main are a compound fracture of the right leg and severe abrasions of the forehead and nose. Railroad men consider his and Vannatta's escape from death but little short of miraculous.

Picked Up Half Dazed.

Vannatta was picked up half dazed and was taken to the baggage room of the North Avenue station, where Dr. Fritts was awaiting him. Stimulants were applied and after a careful examination it was found that an ugly scalp wound on the back of the head and a sprained knee were all that he had sustained.

Between the stalled east bound coal train and the wreckage, three tracks of the road were blocked and for an hour all traffic was stopped. Passenger trains were lined up at the North Avenue and Netherwood depots until 11:30, when it was found that they could be moved over the west bound freight track and the majority had been gotten through at noon. The wrecker arrived shortly after 12 o'clock and is still at work clearing away the debris. It will be late this afternoon before the last vestige of the wreck will have been removed.

PERSONAL.

Clifford Randolph, of Grant avenue, has secured a position in the draughting department of the Pond Machine Tool Works.

Acting Her Part.

Harry—When I asked her if she would be mine she fell on my breast and sobbed like a child, but finally she put her arms round my neck and whispered that she was so happy.

Harriet—Yes; that is what she told me she was going to do. She has been practicing it with Cousin Bert for ever so long.—Tit-Bits.

Not Entirely Assumed.

"Don't you think that wealth is assuming too much importance?"

"My dear," answered Mr. Dustin Stax, "wealth does not assume importance. It's importance is almost entirely due to the vast respect in which it is held by the people who haven't it."—Washington Star.

Pleased Both.

"Henry," said she, sadly, "you didn't give me a birthday gift."

"Goodness! that's so," said Henry; "but, you see, you look so young that I can't realize you ever have birthdays."

Then she was happy, and he smiled the smile of a mean man who has saved money.—Cassell's.

The Mother-in-Law Again.

"It's queer," said the young widow, "that poor, dear John never said a word to me about marrying again."

"Oh, there's nothing so very queer about it," rejoined her mother-in-law. "I suppose you are not the one he thought it was his duty to warn."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MERCURY AT 70 DEGREES

Overcoats Discarded And Spring Appearance Prevails Throughout East.

BUSHES ARE BUDDING

Prophet Neagle Says Again That Cold Wave Is Coming—Doctors Busy With Cases of Grip.

Be it recorded that on this twenty-third day of January, 1906, the official thermometer registered sixty-five degrees and little buds are shooting out of the ground and out of rose and lilac bushes. Overcoats have been discarded and last summer's apparel is again in use.

For several days the weather bureau has been promising a cold wave. It feels about as safe in its prediction as the fortune teller who forecasts "you are going on a long journey." Prophet Neagle said today that it would be fair tonight and tomorrow except in the northern portion, where rain is promised. "Decidedly colder," he reiterates. A bulletin issued this afternoon says the cool wave will arrive tonight.

Neagle declares that today is the warmest ever recorded by him for a January in fifteen years—that's as far as his records go. About the city at noon today thermometers registered 70 degrees.

While the ice man is wondering where his next season's crop is coming from and the coal man is footing up how many tons he ought to have gotten out of his yards long before this, and the plumber is bemoaning the fact that he can't make his usual haul out of frozen pipes, the doctor is working overtime. Nearly every other person is suffering with a cold or worse, a good touch of grip. Physicians call it pneumonia weather.

Blizzards in the West and continued warmth and fogs in the East summed up the weather situation yesterday.

The fog, a record breaker in some cities, was responsible for accidents by sea and land here and elsewhere.

The springlike temperature, with its accompaniment of robins, blooming lilacs and crocuses and other signs of winter's breaking, were again in evidence.

The fact that up to date there is practically no ice crop caused householders to hope the Western blizzards would hit this State.

Here are some weather reports from other cities:

Morristown, N. J.—Town enveloped in densest fog oldest citizen can remember. Pedestrians picking way about with lanterns.

Elmira, N. Y.—Temperature 70. Weather May-like. Farmers fear fruit trees may bud and later be killed by frost.

Winsted, Conn.—Robins singing in treetops. Hepaticas in bloom in woods. Mosquitoes up and doing. Ice harvest interrupted.

Saratoga, N. Y.—Spring thaw in Adirondacks. Mountains veiled in heaviest fog seen in years. Last of snow disappearing.

Auburn, N. Y.—Temperature 70 degrees. Wasps sad and lively.

Schenectady, N. Y.—Dense fog, worst in many years, prevails, seriously affecting trolley and other traffic.

Watertown, N. Y.—Steamers still running regularly between New York and Newburg. Little ice in river.

Bennington, Vt.—Thermometers in sunshine recorded 94. Lilacs budding and lettuce plants sprouting.

Boston.—Five hundred and twenty-two people went swimming in the public baths.

Worcester, Mass.—Dense fog. Mayflowers in bloom in the woods.

Oswego, N. Y.—All local weather records broken by temperature of 69 degrees at noon. Much discomfort. Crocuses blooming.

Baltimore—Unusually warm weather throughout Maryland. Dense fog.

Philadelphia—Warmest January weather in sixteen years. Temperature 66 degrees, and humidity 86 per cent. Warm wave extends into interior of State.

Columbus.—Warm spell continues throughout Ohio. Temperature 71 degrees here. Store doors open all day.

St. Joseph, Mo.—City in grip of a blizzard. Mercury has dropped nearly fifty degrees in forty-eight hours.

Lincoln, Neb.—Second coldest morning of season in Eastern Nebraska. Mercury 1 degree above zero. Wind and snow.

Dallas, Tex.—Cold wave, accompanied by snow, sweeping over Texas today. Trains delayed and all communication interrupted.

A Bowling Contest.

The bowling match scheduled for Thursday night between the Parks and Westfield at Westfield will be rolled tomorrow night. This is one of the matches in the Central Journal Bowling League tournament.

TRAVELER AND SCHOLAR TO LECTURE ON EGYPT

REV. DR. MOLDENKE TO DELIVER ADDRESS TOMORROW NIGHT.

Rev. Dr. Charles Moldenke, of Washington Valley, will deliver a lecture on "Egypt" tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, at the German Lutheran church, Grove street and Mercer avenue, in the borough. It will be in the English language, and copiously illustrated with stereopticon views of the famous places in that land of romance and antiquity.

Dr. Moldenke, who is one of the very few Egyptian scholars of the world, has traveled extensively in Egypt as well as other Oriental countries, and will speak from personal experience of the many adventures and interesting researches he has taken part in. Dr. Moldenke will be remembered as the translator of the New York Obelisk in Central Park, and the editor of the Egyptian antiquities in the Metropolitan Museum of New York.

The lecture will be for the benefit of St. Peter's Lutheran church, and will be most interesting on account of the thorough knowledge of the narrator of the customs, habits and languages of the Egyptians, both ancient and modern.

CHORUS OF 100 IN PIRATES OF PENZANCE

A full rehearsal of the comic opera, "The Pirates of Penzance," to be given at the New Plainfield theatre on Tuesday night, February 27, was held at the Casino last night under the direction of William Holmes. The entire score was gone over with very satisfactory results, all of the soloists being present to take their parts. This opera will be given for the benefit of the Plainfield Day Nursery, the new charity inaugurated by the City Union, King's Daughters, which was opened today on West Third street.

Mr. Holmes has had a great success with past efforts in this line and the forthcoming production bids fair to exceed others given by him. He will have a chorus of 100 well trained voices and the opera will be given in a finished manner. Heretofore it has been difficult to secure a sufficient number of tenor voices, but Mr. Holmes has succeeded in getting twenty for this production. There are also twenty-five bassos, thirty sopranos and twenty-five altos.

The soloists selected for the production are as follows: "Pirate King," William N. Runyon; "Samuel," Frederick J. Pope; "Frederick," William J. Tallamy; "Major General," E. Maxwell Honeyman; "Sergeant of Police," Joseph C. Martin; "Mabel," Miss Carrie Dawes; "Edith," Miss Leila Druse; "Kate," Miss E. Nellie Tabb; "Isabelle," Miss Ada H. Dunham; "Ruth," Mrs. Ferdinand M. Ward.

The chorus is not only strong and well balanced, but the soloists are exceptionally good and they are taking their individual parts in a way that will insure success. When Mr. Holmes first gave this opera a few years ago it was well received, and it is largely on this account that he decided to repeat it. From now on the rehearsals will be complete each week.

In the selection of an orchestra for the performance high class artists have been engaged. The orchestra will consist of sixteen pieces, every member being well versed in the rendition of different scores.

MEMORIAL WINDOW FOR REV. DR. MOLDENKE.

His Congregation in New York to Erect One at Cost of $5,000.

The congregation of St. Peter's German Lutheran church, Lexington avenue and East Fifty-fourth street, New York, has arranged to place a handsome memorial window in the edifice in memory of Rev. Dr. Moldenke, late pastor of the church and a former resident of Watchung. Dr. Moldenke is regarded by the church members as a victim of the Slocum horror, although he was not on the steamboat at the time of the disaster. Many of his flock were lost on that fatal day and his health failed as a result of the shock.

The window to be erected is thirty feet high by fifteen wide and is in three sections, with Gothic top. The chief group represents the Resurrection. The designer is Frederick Lamb, and the cost will reach $5,000, all of which has been raised by private subscription. The window has been completed and is now on exhibition at the Lamb studio.

RAILROAD INVESTIGATES

Engineer Vannatta Generally Blamed For Wreck on Jersey Central.

PRAISE FOR MURPHY

Officials at Scene of Accident—Debris Cleared up by 4:30—Lohsen in Hospital.

Several Jersey Central officials were at the scene of the Berckman street wreck all yesterday afternoon and conducted an investigation as to the cause of the crash. As already stated, the blame is placed upon Engineer James Vannatta, who was running the "wildcat" from Somerville to Jersey City. His statement has not been made public but it is the general opinion that he has no reasonable excuse for sending the locomotive through the fog at a mile a minute speed, utterly disregarding signals set against him and neglecting to use proper caution. He is at present at his home in Jersey City, undergoing medical treatment for a bad scalp wound and numerous severe abrasions.

The same officials who made the inquiries, spoke highly of Engineer William Murphy, of the drill, whose presence of mind in blowing the danger whistle after the crash, warned Flagman Hagenny to flag the Easton express. There is no doubt in the minds of the railroad men but what a serious loss of life would have resulted had it stuck the projecting cars at full speed It was going about twenty miles an hour at the scene of the wreck and the momentum was not sufficient to throw it from the rails.

Although several extra gangs of section men were called out to aid the wrecking crew, it was not until 4:30 yesterday afternoon that the regular traffic schedule, interrupted by the crash at Berckman street, was resumed on the New Jersey Central. But two tracks were in use from noon until that time and trains both ways were delayed.

The regular wrecking crew saved the majority of the damaged cars, but several of them were thrown down the embankment near the Rushmore Dynamo Works and burned. Engine 532, which ran into the drill train, was picked up and patched into some semblance of a locomotive but it is doubtful if it can be repaired.

Benjamin Lohsen, the fireman of engine 532, is still at Muhlenberg Hospital, and it was said by the authorities that he is doing nicely. He has a broken leg and severe abrasions but so far no internal injuries have developed.

PIANO RECITAL GIVEN AT HARTRIDGE SCHOOL

MISS PALMER'S PUPILS RENDERING A CHARMING PROGRAMME TODAY.

A delightful piano recital was given this afternoon by Miss Palmer's pupils at the Hartridge School. The parents and friends of the pupils attended in large numbers and thoroughly enjoyed the carefully selected programme, which was presented in a pleasing manner. A feature was the rendition of six tone pictures to Tennyson's "Enoch Arden," by Carl Reinecke. This was the programme:

"Pickaninny Dance," Smith; "Little Funeral March," Tschaikowsky, Esty Foster; "Japanese Wedding March," Ellen Burke; "Air de Ballet, No. 4," Chaminade, Mai Rivers; "Andante, Op. 14, No. 2," Beethoven, Alice Ross; "Valse Caprice," Agathe Grondahl-Backer, Miriam Howe; "Valse, Op. 64, No. 2," Chopin, Virginia Fox; "A Sketch," Th. Dubois, Alma McCormick; "Valse," Agathe Grondahl-Backer, Edith Foster.

Then followed six tone pictures to Tennyson's "Enoch Arden," Carl Reinecke—1. At the Nut Harvest, Alice Ross; 2. Happy Hours, Mai Rivers; 3. On the Dessert Island, Bessie Tweedy; 4. Under Friendly Care, Miriam Howe; 5. Wedding Bells, Ellen Burke; 6. Renunciation, Virginia Fox. A "Polish Dance," by Scharwenka, rendered by Arthur Wills, was the final number.

Benefit for Women's Exchange.

For the benefit of the Women's Exchange an entertainment has been arranged for Friday night, February 16, at the Casino. The programme will include an original monologue by Miss Beatrice Hereford, who is well-known here, together with music and a vaudeville performance. Tickets will be on sale the latter part of the week.

POLICE KEPT BUSY BY RIG DISAPPEARING EPIDEMIC

FOUR SUCH CASES REPORTED SINCE SUNDAY NIGHT AND ALL RECOVERED.

The city police have been kept busy since Sunday night receiving reports, first, of rigs having been missing, and then getting word that they had been found. Clarence Young, of West Fifth street, informed Sergeant Frederickson that he had lost one at New Market and that he believed the horse had wandered to this city. Last night Michael Powers, of lower Samptown, found a rig in his yard that proved to be Young's.

Another rig was picked up by I. N. Knight, of Park avenue, and it is thought to belong to a Scotch Plains young man. A trolley car ran into the rear of his wagon Sunday night, throwing him out and causing the horse to run away. His identity has not been learned and the trolley people are taking care of the rig until he can be found.

There were two other rig disappearances reported at headquarters Sunday night but they were recovered before an alarm could be sent out. They happened to be in what the police call the "lover class;" instances where young men call on "lady friends" outside of town and rivals untie their horses and allow them to wander home.

EX-SLAVE DIES IN HER EIGHTY-THIRD YEAR

MRS. RICHARD OSBORN ONCE BELONGED TO PYATT FAMILY AT SAMPTOWN.

Mrs. Richard Osborn, one of the oldest colored residents of this city and an ex-slave, died this morning at her home on Central avenue, near Front street. She was in her eighty-third year, death resulting from old age.

Mrs. Osborn was born near Roycefield, this State, her parents being slaves in the family of Dr. Runyon, of that place. According to the New Jersey law of that time she was the property of the doctor and on moving to New Market, he placed her with the Pyatt family at Samptown. She remained with them until she became twenty-five years old, when the elder Pyatt, father of Samuel Pyatt, who still resides at Samptown, voluntarily gave her freedom. She preferred to remain, however, and was in the service of the family until after her marriage. Mrs. Osborn was a very interesting old "colored Mammy," having been well educated by the Pyatts and liked nothing better than to tell of old times, when Piscataway town had a bigger place on the map than "Pinchgut," the name generally used to designate Plainfield. She was well known to all the residents of Samptown, New Market and vicinity and was always thought a great deal of by the younger element.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Osborn is survived by two sons, William and Lewis Osborn, both of this city. The funeral will be held from the Calvary Baptist church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the interment will be at Samptown.

WANT MORE POLICE.

Netherwood Residents Will Petition Council for Better Protection.

Believing that their part of the city is not adequately policed, about 100 residents and property owners of the Netherwood district have prepared a petition which will be presented at the February meeting of the Common Council. They will ask that additional policemen be assigned to their part of the town, especially at night.

That section of the city covers considerable territory and with the present police force Chief Kiely is not able to station any more men there. The petitioners, a majority being property owners, claim that in consideration of the amount of tax paid by them they are entitled to greater protection by the police department. William Palmer Smith's name heads the list of petitioners.

Training the American Girl.

Before the Monday Afternoon Club yesterday, Miss E. E. Kenyon read a paper of great interest on the subject of "The Training of the American Girl." Being engaged as a teacher for a number of years, Miss Kenyon is especially able to treat of this subject. Her paper touched on personal experiences in her work and proved to be very instructive as well as helpful. There was a large attendance of the members and the paper was well received. An informal discussion followed.

EASTERN STAR INITIATES

Plainfielders Attend Ceremony Held by Eureka Chapter at Elizabeth.

SISTERHOOD CIRCLE

Talk of Instituting a Chapter Here—Those In Attendance at Last Night's Function.

A large delegation of Plainfield women attended the meeting of Eureka Chapter, No. 2, Order Eastern Star, Elizabeth, last night, and witnessed the initiation of twenty-five past matrons into the new degree, the "Sisterhood Circle." Three past grand matrons were present and the initiatory team from the New York Chapter performed the work in a highly commendable manner. There was also the installation of the officers-elect and the presentation to the matron, who was formerly Miss Wolfskeil, a handsome solid silver service. She is the sister of W. D. Wolfskeil, district deputy for the Fifth Masonic District.

As there are many Plainfield women members of Eureka Chapter, there is some talk of instituting a Plainfield chapter. It is believed that a large and influential membership could be secured and that the chapter would be one of the strongest in the State. Only the wives and sisters of Masons are eligible to membership of the order.

The Plainfield members attending last night's festivities included Mrs. Vincent W. Nash, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hockridge, Mrs. George Ludgate, Mrs. William Claassen, Mrs. Edward Bowman, Mrs. Sophia Dencklau, Mrs. F. W. Leitheusser, Mrs. Charles Westphal and Mrs. William J. Ford. It is possible that a meeting of the local members of the order will be held soon to discuss the advisability of forming a chapter here. If it meets with favor and a sufficient number signify their desire to identity themselves with the order steps will be taken to institute a chapter.

SALE OF SEATS FOR BOARD OF TRADE AFFAIR STOPS TOMORROW NIGHT.

According to a member of the committee, 150 tickets have been sold for the Board of Trade's annual banquet Thursday night. The sale stops tomorrow night, owing to the fact that a reserved seat will have to be provided for each subscriber. As previously stated the affair will take place in the Casino, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders, president of the Ingersoll-Rand Drill Company, will act as toastmaster. He will dwell principally on mutual interest of the city and borough. In all likelihood his will be the chief speech of the evening.

The other speakers will be T. J. Hillery, who represents Morris county in the State Senate, Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, and Rev. B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's church. Mr. Hillery will speak on "Municipal Taxation;" Mr. Bogan on "Good Roads" and Father Bogan on "Morality in Political Government."

PLAINFIELD NURSERY IS OPENED TODAY

CITY UNION OF KING'S DAUGHTER'S CHARITY BEGINS ITS WORK.

The Day Nursery, the new charity which is opened today under the auspices of the City Union, King's Daughters, already has two children to care for by the day, and it is expected that four more children will be received tomorrow. There are many mothers who work for a living and are anxious to have their children cared for at a nominal sum of five cents a day.

This afternoon a package party and tea is being held at the nursery, giving all interested an opportunity to inspect the new quarters and learn something of the work to be done there. The officers of the City Union, together with the day nursery committee, comprise the reception committee. Mrs. Charles A. Reed is chairman of the committee.

Already a number of donations have been received, including dry groceries and furnishings for the nursery.

SOMERVILLE READY FOR PLAINFIELD

IF DAAB BRINGS TEAM HERE SERIES WILL BE ARRANGED.

Up in that old baseball burg, Somerville, the baseball fever has started to rage already, as is evidenced by the movements of Bogert Conklin, the hustling manager of the Somerset aggregation. As a manager Mr. Conklin resembles some of the famous moguls of the major leagues, especially in the line of mid-winter work. That Somerville will be an important factor in State baseball circles this season is apparent, because Mr. Conklin has started out already to make preparations for capturing the scalp of the Plainfield champions.

The energetic Mr. Conklin paid a visit to Manager Daab in Hoboken Sunday for the purpose of talking over preliminary matters regarding the arrangement of a series. Mr. Conklin indicated by his conversation that the old town will be represented by a strong team and the cranks of that place are doubly anxious to see a series arranged.

Mr. Daab expressed his willingness to book a game with Somerville, but will do nothing in the matter until it is settled whether he will bring his team here again.

Just now it appears that Mr. Daab will again be here and will be assisted by a live association composed of prominent local enthusiasts. Mayor N. B. Smalley is interested in the baseball situation and is among those who have expressed a favorable opinion toward the organization of an association. It is likely that the plan will be consummated within a few weeks, and if it goes through a series with Somerville will be arranged.

Should Manager Daab return, the opening game will probably be played on the first Saturday in May, the opponents of the locals being the All Cubans.

A PARK CLUB AFFAIR.

Unique Entertainment to Be Given on February 7.

What promises to be a unique and delightful entertainment will be given Wednesday night, February 7, in the auditorium of the Park Club. The first part of the programme will comprise vocal and instrumental solos, and among the soloists will be Master Harold Bradley, boy soprano from Grace church, Orange; Mrs. William L. Saunders and Miss Gregg, of North Plainfield; Fred Van Eps, banjoist, and Willard Wadsworth, tenor soloist.

Part second will be given by the "Stanley Dwarfs," a curious tribe said to be imported from Africa by the explorers. Whether this be so or not, the fact remains that they are a highly gifted tribe with plenty of fun and kinks in their makeup and possessing much musical ability. Some of their choruses will include "Sympathy," "Nobody," and a number of old-time melodies.

Will Play for City Championship.

P. H. S. and N. P. H. S. will play the second in the series of basketball games for the city championship at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. In the first game between these teams recently P. H. S. won. Between the halves tomorrow afternoon there will be a game between the second teams of the P. H. S. and N. P. H. S.

Company K Inspection.

The regular inspection of Company K will take place in the armory on February 3 at 8 o'clock. An officer of the regular army will be in charge and Captain Martin has asked that every member be in attendance in order to parade 100 per cent.

NEW AUTOMOBILE BILL

Frelinghuysen's Measure Likely to Be Presented in the State Senate Today.

STOKES FAVORS IT

Likely to Become a Law Will Bring About $100,000 Revenue a Year.

The automobile regulating bill to be introduced by Senator Frelinghuysen, of Somerset, which is on lines approved by Governor Stokes and State Road Commissioner Hutchinson, was not put in the Legislature last evening because there will be some slight change in the phraseology and another provision may be added empowering the road commissioner to erect signs at cross roads and provide danger signals at specified points. It is likely to be introduced today.

The present provisions of the bill are:

1. Provides for a commissioner of motor vehicles to be attached to the Secretary of State's office, and for as many inspectors as may be necessary, who shall have power of arrest and who are charged with the duty of detecting violations and obtaining evidence of violations.

2. Gives commissioner authority to authorize chiefs of police to give certificates of registration and licenses to operators and requires all persons operating a vehicle to be licensed.

3. Provides for an examination of all persons before they are licensed to run motor vehicles.

4. The commissioner shall keep a record of his official acts and shall make an annual report to the Governor with recommendations regarding the uses of motor vehicles.

5. Provides for an annual registration fee of fifty cents per horse power for all vehicles, and twenty-five cents per horse power for all drivers.

6. Provides for a "short time tourist registration" or one dollar per day.

7. Limits the number of machines to be run under manufacturers' registration to five and the number of days which a person can have a dealer's machine on dealer's registration number to five.

8. Limits the age of drivers to eighteen years.

9. Driver's photograph must be attached to his license.

10. Provides that the official numbers on the machine shall be kept clean and free from dirt.

11. Provides for a rate of a mile in seven minutes in built-up portions of towns and cities, at crossings of country roads and while passing other vehicles of any kind elsewhere at the rate of a mile in three minutes, but at no time so as to endanger life, limb or property of any person, and not speed regulations shall be held to relieve any driver of the consequences of his negligence.

12. Power to arrest without warrant for any violation.

13. Warrants issued shall be good throughout the State.

14. Any person convicted of violating any of the provisions of the act shall be subjected to a fine of not more than five hundred dollars and imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not more than sixty days.

15. Any magistrate may revoke a driver's license, but the commissioner may for good cause restore it.

16. All moneys derived from any source under this act shall become a part of the State road fund.

It is thought that the section providing for a registration fee of fifty cents per horse power and twenty-five cents per horse power for drivers will bring to the State a revenue of between $100,000 and $150,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Deegan Home.

"Willie" Deegan and his bride have returned from their honeymoon at Niagara Falls, and for the present are stopping at Scotch Plains, with the bride's father. According to an intimate friend of the famous twirler, he has been approached to coach the school nine and to teach youthful aspirants the art of pitching a curved ball. "Willie" is anxious for the season to open, believing that he will be able to pitch the game of his life this year. He has given up his position as instructor at the Westchester Deaf and Dumb Institute and will probably remain at Scotch Plains.

Will Address Local School Teachers.

Superintendent Woodley, of the Passaic Public Schools, will address the teachers of the Plainfield and North Plainfield Public Schools tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. This will be the first of a series of similar talks to be given through the winter.

BIG "ROBBERY" OF BANK FAILED TO MATERIALIZE.

Watchman Fell Downstairs, Saw "Dense Fog" and "Left Bank Doors Open."

Jersey City, Jan. 23.—There were all sorts of excitement in this city yesterday when word was passed that robbers had entered the First National Bank, within a block of the Pennsylvania Depot, beaten the watchman, Joseph Stober, seventy-one years old, of 51 Summit street, into insensibility and started to loot the safe, rich with gold, silver and greenbacks.

Policemen came from every direction. Men swarmed from the offices of the National Express Company, next to the bank, and a cordon of guards was formed about the building.

"If there is a robber in that bank he will be caught," said a policeman. "He can't escape."

Then the policeman joined his fellows in the bank. The safe was intact. Not a cash drawer had been disturbed, every desk was closed and locked—in fact, everything was in order, and not a robber was to be found.

In the meantime, old Strober had been carried into the bank. There was an ugly wound on his head. It was just the sort of wound a blackjack would make, argued the knowing ones. The story of the attempted robbery reached the police headquarters. Police Sergeant Haag sent out more policemen, and soon the bank was swarming with men in blue coats and brass buttons, all with clubs and revolvers drawn.

Then old Strober came to life. He opened his eyes, at first stupidly, then intelligently. Then he spoke. He said: "Missed my footing on the steps. Fog dense. Hit my head. Left bank doors open."

The watchman was taken to the hospital. It is believed he will recover, though, as Sergeant Haag says:

"Mr. Strober is a pretty old man and he got a hard jolt."

The night watchman is a brother-in-law of E. F. C. Young, president of the bank. At the hospital it is said today that his condition is serious.

NEW BIG AMUSEMENT PARK.

Jerseymen to Build at Cost of $1,000,000.

Paterson, Jan. 23.—Articles of incorporation of the New York Park Amusement Company were filed at the Passaic County courthouse Saturday morning. The company is capitalized at $1,000,000, and is organized to build in the Bronx the largest amusement park in the world. It is said that the promoters of the concern intend to build a larger theatre in the park than the Hippodrome.

Mellville & Schultheiser, owners of the Fairyland Park in this city and several other large summer pleasure grounds in the Eastern States, are the prime movers in the Bronx park idea. They are backed, it is said, by a number of New York capitalists. County Director Frederic R. Beggs is the local representative of the concern. The New York park will also be known as Fairyland. Mellville and Schultheiser each hold $500,000 worth of the stock. Twenty acres of ground, it is said, will be used for the amusement grounds and the theatre.

Big Sunshade for Boardwalk.

Atlantic City, Jan. 23.—Sixty feet wide and probably 2,000 feet long, the biggest canvas awning in the world, is suggested by H. S. Rheiner, a New York visitor, as a sunshade to assure comfort to the tens of thousands who promenade the boardwalk in midsummer. The New Yorker would place the awning upon rollers so that it might be lowered in the morning and raised at night. In case of storm he suggested to Mayor Stoy that the heavy covering would keep the boardwalk entirely free of water and enable the throngs to promenade without the slightest fear of damage to costly attire. Mayor Stoy said that the cost would be prohibitive.

REPORT IS READY ON ANTI-LOBBYING.

Committee Expected to Turn It Over to Governor Tonight.

Trenton, Jan. 23.—Besides the hearing on the equal tax bills for this afternoon, and evening also, if necessary, and the Hillery tax bill hearings on Wednesday, special interest will be given to the proceedings of the third week of the Legislature by the presentation of the report on lobbyists, which was presented to Governor Stokes last night.

The report will be made by the special committee, which was appointed by the Assembly last year.

The members are Senator Everett Colby, who was in the House last year; former Assemblyman Archibald Alexander, of Hudson county, and Speaker Samuel K. Robbins.

The committee was appointed on the initiative of Mr. Colby by Speaker John Boyd Avis.

The report was drafted a week or two ago and was signed by Mr. Colby and Mr. Alexander, and was sent to Speaker Robbins last week for signature or amendment by him.

It is understood that the report is comprehensive, but one of the men connected with the preparation has privately expressed the opinion that it is doubtful whether anything absolutely effective can be done to absolutely prohibit the practices of lobbyists in all their phases.

The report is said to provide means for limiting the activities of lobbyists, however, in the immediate precincts of the legislative halls.

However, the commission has devoted a great deal of time to the question.

A great mass of matter was gathered, some useful, and more of it useless. Only a few States have any regulations for the government of lobbyists.

From the rules exisiting in the States that have them the committee has picked what it believes to be the best and has recommended them in the report.

Italian Catholics in New Church.

Asbury Park, Jan. 23.—Bishop James A. McFaul, of Trenton, Sunday dedicated the new Italian Church of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel. There was a procession of Italian societies, headed by a band, and the bishop rode with James D. Carton, president of the City Council. At the high mass the bishop was celebrant. The new church was formerly Whittier Hall, in Mr. Bradley's Educational Square. It was purchased by the Italian Catholics and moved last spring to its present site.

To Suppress Paterson Dives.

Paterson, Jan. 23.—"Dives must be discontinued." This is the edict of Chief of Police John Bimson, and in no uncertain tones he emphasized his position in the matter in addressing his patrolmen last evening. He also intends to stop certain abuses in the police department.

FOUND HARVARD EASY.

Hard-Luck-Story Man Caught After Three Months.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 23.—For the last three months Harvard students have been robbed in the railway and subway stations in Boston, on the streets of the Hub, in their own college rooms at Cambridge and on the streets of Cambridge by a smooth young man, recently an inmate of the Reformatory School at Concord and now a lodger in police headquarters at Cambridge. He gives the name of Fred D. Lindsay.

Lindsay was captured on Saturday night in Read's block, a Harvard dormitory, through the stratagem of two Harvard students, W. D. Rankin and H. F. Atherton, while trying to bunco these men out of a small loan by means of a well told hard luck story. These men recollected a notice printed in the Harvard Crimson asking students to look out for a man of Lindsay's appearance, as he was wanted for several crimes about Cambridge. One of them went out to change a big bill in order to make the necessary loan and brought back two policemen, who took the man to police headquarters at Cambridge.

On Saturday night he refused to talk, except to say that his name was Fred W. Lindsay, and that he came from Nova Scotia. Yesterday morning he confessed that for the last three months he had haunted places in which he was likely to meet Harvard students and had always told the same story—namely that he was an Andover student who had come to Boston and had lost his pocketbook and wanted to get home. In this way he collected in three months a sum that must have been well over $100.

Yesterday several Harvard students went to the police station to report that they had been met by the same hard luck story man from Andover. The stories that these men told showed that Lindsay was a youth with a fertile imagination. He always went to school at Andover, but the home to which he wanted to get back varied. Sometimes it was Lynn, sometimes it was Andover.

Lindsay, when arrested, had a check for $400 on the National Securities Bank, of Boston.

That Lindsay had been able to bunco Harvard men for three months is remarkable, considering the chance of detection that there was in his game.

"Students are the most easily gulled crowd I ever saw," said Police Captain Murray, of Cambridge.

"Better be buncoed out of a dollar than run the chance of refusing aid to a man who is really in hard luck," was the reply of one of Lindsay's victims.

Homer Davenport on Committee.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 23.—Homer Davenport, of Morristown, N. J., was named as a member of the committee on breeding wild birds. The plan is that of W. M. Hays, of the Department of Agriculture, and was adopted by the American Breeders' Association at the recent meeting here. Thirty-five committees, embracing the leading men in America and Europe, were named to assist those interested in their various lines. All committees will report next year.

Hint to Pastor to Wed.

Delaware Water Gap., Jan. 23.—Practical jokers have given Rev. Wilmer E. Coffman, pastor of the Methodist church, a hint to take a wife. They recently placed the dummy of a female on the porch of the pastor's home, with a suggestion that he become a benedict. The pastor did not take the hint.

Miss Chadbourne's weekly class will meet at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

"The Cross and Crown," will be the subject of the prayer meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night. The pastor, Rev. A. E. Finn, will lead.

"The Lesson of Philemon," will be the subject of the Young People's Society meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Friday night. William Holt will be the leader.

The mid-week prayer meetings at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church are now being attended with increased interest. Tomorrow night the topic will be "The Prayers of Jesus."

Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the church, will have charge of the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church on Friday night. The subject will be "Afoot and Awheel in the Homeland."

"Wanderings in Egypt," will be the subject of an illustrated lecture to be given by Dr. C. E. Moldenke, for the benefit of St. Peter's Lutheran church, tonight. The lecture will be given in the church on Grove street at 8 o'clock.

"An Advertisement Party" will be held in the parish rooms of St. Stephen's church, 721 East Sixth street, tomorrow night. Everyone is invited and requested to represent an advertisement of some kind. Prizes will be given for the funniest representation and to the one guessing correctly the greatest number of advertisements. Refreshments will be served.

To prevent the confusion previously attending the close of the services and to especially avoid the sudden break from the quiet of the benediction to the dismissal of the congregation, the Session of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church inaugurated on Sunday a re-arrangement of the closing service to the end that it may close with silent prayer. The parts of the service now used will be the same but will come in a slightly different order. Following the sermon an ascription of praise by the minister will precede the offerings and offertory prayer, then the closing hymn, after which the congregation will be seated through the closing prayer and benediction, remaining for silent prayer until the organ begins.

QUIZ MILITIA OFFICERS AS TO AGE LIMIT LAW.

Ex-Captain's Queries Not Likely to Be Answered by Commissioned Men of the First.

Officers of the National Guard have recently received a circular letter from Paterson in reference to the passage of a bill through the Legislature retiring from active service officers of the National Guard who arrive at the age of sixty-one years. This is the circular:

"Dear Sir—For the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of officers of the National Guard, as to the value to the National Guard of an age retirement law for officers, the following questions are submitted, which you are respectfully requested to answer and return as soon as convenient to,

"Yours very truly,
"CHARLES REYNOLDS,
"147 Elison street,
"Paterson, N. J.

"Do you favor such a law?

"Do you favor the age of sixty-one?

"If not, what age do you favor?

"Do you favor retiring all officers?

"Or shall department officers be excepted?

"Can you ask your legislators to vote for such a bill and help to pass it?"

Although the officers of the First Regiment have taken no concerted action upon the matter, it is understood that they have practically agreed to take no notice of the communication. Colonel Henry W. Freeman, commandant of the regiment, has, however, replied to the letter. He did not in any way notice the questions it contained, but simply called attention to certain clauses in the law governing the National Guard, which make it improper for any officer of the guard to participate in such movements.

Charles Reynolds, who signs the letter, is not connected with the militia. He was formerly captain of Company C, Fifth Regiment, but left the service some time ago.

It is said that the movement to have such a retirement bill passed is being engineered mainly by former officers of the guard and is directed against a certain superior officer whose strict ideas of discipline have had much to do with the mover's separation from the organized militia.

ASSEMBLYMAN PERKINS TO DINE DIE WILDE GANS

SOME REVOLUTIONARY TRADITIONS IN BODY TO BE ENTERTAINED BY LEADER

Randolph Perkins, Republican leader in the Assembly, has invited the members of "Die Wilde Gans Club" to dine with him at his home in Westfield on Friday evening, and to remain over Sunday as guests at his home.

The club had no name or special object except the monthly dinner until recently, when it adopted the name of "Die Wilde Gans Club, devoted to the study of Washington Irving." It also adopted this mystic motto: "Long-Tong Teko Buzz Tor-pe-do Fudge."—Confucius.

The "tor-pe-do" in the motto is of course a war slogan, but only a historical or literary one, the club being devoted to the strenuous pursuit of peace.

In about the year 1765 the first "Die Wilde Gans Club" was organized by Dutch royalists at a noted tavern which stood on the site of the Central Railroad station, Communipaw. The tavern was known far and wide for its good dinners, and Gen. Lee and other Revolutionary heroes often put up there.

About the year 1774 there began to be shown a good deal of anti-British feeling among the Dutch residents of the Communipaw flat lands, and to promote a better understanding among his patrons the landlord of the hotel had the sign of the King's head painted out and a wild goose put in its stead. The change proved popular with both the royalists and anti-royalists, who equally had a Dutch love of peace and harmony while eating and drinking together.

Thus it came about that "Die Wilde Gans Club," although formed by royalists, became a neutral institution, politically, and was a common ground upon which the pros and cons could meet and make merry together.

The present "Die Wilde Gans Club" is actuated by the same harmonious motives which inspired the original organization. "Peace at any cost, even if we have to fight for it," is one of its guiding principles.

Another rule, which comes down from the good old Dutch days, about which Washington Irving wrote so charmingly, is that the club shall have no elected officers. Each member is president, secretary or treasurer, as the whim seizes him, or as he may care to exercise prerogatives common to all.

The members of the present "Die Wilde Gans Club" are not as fearful of power in the hands of others as were their Dutch ancestors, but they are sticklers for the simple life and admirers of the classic ideals and picturesque traditions of the early settlers.

Leader Perkins will place at the service of his guests on Saturday and Sunday his new "Thomas Flyer," a fifty horse power automobile. It has a speed of sixty miles an hour, but can be run as slow as four miles an hour.

NEGRO BRUTE ATTACKS GIRL; MAY BE LYNCHED.

Miss Hirschman Uses Hat Pin to Save Her Honor—Man is in Jail.

Atlantic City, Jan. 23.—Daniel Williams, colored, was arrested yesterday charged with attempting an assault on Miss Mirschman, a dressmaker, of 113 North Virginia avenue. Since it has been made public that the negro attempted to assault Miss Hirschman public feeling runs high, and there is danger that Williams will be taken from the jail and lynched.

Miss Hirschman, who is but little more than twenty years of age, was on her way to the lower end of Maryland avenue to deliver a dress. It was 9 o'clock, and the street was dark and deserted. As she neared the Hotel Lamphorn, which is closed for the winter, a negro stepped from a dark alley along side the hotel and demanded that she give him her money.

"I have no money," said Miss Hirschman, thoroughly frightened. The negro then grabbed the young woman by the throat and attempted to drag her into the alley from which he had sprang.

Miss Hirschman fought with the strength born of desperation to save her honor. She took a pin from her hat, and jabbed her assailant with it. It bent, and was of no avail as a weapon. She threw it aside and fought desperately.

The negro succeeded in throwing her to the ground three times, but as many times did she succeed in getting to her feet again. When she was losing strength and consciousness from the terrible grip of the brute's fingers upon her throat, she saw a man crossing Maryland avenue at Pacific, and, making a superhuman effort, got her assailant free of her for an instant, and gave a scream for help. The passerby heard her and came running to her aid.

"Damn you," said Williams, as he saw that his game was done, and he let go of Miss Hirschman and grabbed her suit case, in which was the dress she was delivering, and started for the beach.

PENNA. R. R. WILL NOW SPEND $100,000,000.

President Cassatt Protests That New York City Wants Too High Tax on Improvements.

New York, Jan. 23.—President A. J. Cassatt in letters addressed to Mayor McClellan protested against the imposition of heavy tax charges by the city against the New York Connecting Railroad Company, in which the allied interests of the Pennsylvania, Long Island and New Haven and Hartford railroads are concerned.

The Connecting road is the enterprise by which the Pennsylvania designs to connect the Bay Ridge terminal with a bridge over Ward's Island, which in turn will communicate with the New York, New Haven and Hartford road at Mott Haven, thus opening an avenue for freight and passenger traffic to New England.

Mr. Cassatt reviews the improvements which the Pennsylvania is preparing to make, saying that fully $100,000,000 is to be expended for these. He warns the city against taxing these proposed improvements too heavily, as the impose may divert the proposed enterprises, to the city's loss.

The Board of Estimate is on record as suggesting that a payment of $250,000 be made the Pennsylvania on the city signing the contract for the Connecting road franchise, as well as $50,000 a year for ten years, increasing the payment to $100,000 a year for the following fifteen years. The original understanding was that the road should pay the city five cents a lineal foot for the first ten years, then 10 cents a lineal foot of construction for the next fifteen years.

Col. William D. Mann, editor of Town Topics, testified yesterday, in the trial of Justice Joseph M. For about half of this sum, he admitted, he had given no security. Some of these borrowings had been paid back, others had not. The names of the men from whom he had borrowed and the sums they loaned him were given by Col. Mann as follows:

Total	$184,500

Col. Mann also said that the present stockholders in the Town Topics Company are John W. Gates, Dr. W. Seward Webb, Howard Gould, Justice Deuel, Col. Mann himself (he owns one share), Mrs. Mann and their daughter, Mrs. Emma Mann Vynne-Wray.

SAYS SHORT COURTSHIPS ARE THE PROPER THING.

Trenton Priest Advises the Young People of His Parish to Wed.

Trenton, Jan. 23.—In the Immaculate Conception church, Rev. Father Bernadine Ludwig Sunday took occasion to outline the course to be followed in the Sunday morning sermons during the year. He briefly spoke on each of the subjects to be discussed.

During his discourse he advised the young people of the parish to lose no time in securing for themselves a husband or a wife and home of their own. He severely criticised long courtships and said that as soon as a couple found that they were intended for each other no time should be wasted in getting married.

The priest said, however, to thoroughly investigate the character of the one with whom you are keeping company and see that he or she is in every way beyond reproach. The sacrament of marriage, he said, is one of the most sacred in the church, and no chance should be taken in getting an unworthy person.

Rev. Father Ludwig said there were a number of marriageable persons in the parish and they should lose no time in getting for themselves a partner for life.

The speaker also strongly condemned the practise of holding wakes, claiming they were sacrilegious and should not be held at the death of Christian persons.

FAGAN AND RECORD AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

Jersey City Mayor and Corporation Counsel Dine With the President.

Mayor Fagan and Corporation Counsel Record, of Jersey City, dined yesterday afternoon with President Roosevelt in the White House. The visit was on the invitation of the President, through Secretary Loeb, received last Friday. Mayor Fagan and Mr. Record went to Washington Sunday evening.

Fagan's friends reason that the President knows he cannot get much support from the New Jersey members of the United States Senate, nor from four at least of the Congressmen, for his freight rate measures, and that he sees a more friendly element in the anti-corporation movement in New Jersey, led by Senator Colby, Mayor Fagan and Mr. Record.

Mayor Fagan recently preferred charges at Washington against several postmasters and other United States officials in Hudson county of violating the civil service regulations against political partisanship. The Fagan Republicans thought the President wanted further information concerning those charges.

The Dickinson Republicans could see nothing remarkable or significant in the President's desire to see the Mayor and his corporation counsel. They said Roosevelt would naturally wish to hear both sides and might be acting in the interest of party harmony.

Will Build a Modern Hotel.

At Long Branch yesterday the West End Association, a corporation formed a year ago, took title to the West End Hotel property, running from Ocean to Second avenue. It is proposed to raze the old hotel and erect in its place a modern structure, costing $200,000, to be ready for opening a year from next summer. The West End Hotel has been in the hands of the Hildreths for more than thirty years.

The January sale of furniture at Woodhull & Martin's store is now in full swing. Goods can be purchased now and held for future delivery if desired, by paying a small deposit. You will find a large stock of furniture from which to make your selections, such as couches, bed outfits, chairs, rockers, etc., all at low prices. Hair mattresses will be renovated and made over equal to new at prices lower than usual. An inspection of the stock will repay you many times.

The January Furniture Sale

Great Expansion and Alteration Sale.

It's hardly three years since we took possession of this big building, and at that time we thought we'd have room enough for all time to come. But our Furniture, Carpet and Housefurnishing Departments have made such rapid strides that we're compelled to add nearly 10,000 feet of floor space, and while we were at it we decided to build large enough to have room for the Carpet Department on the main floor, so, when these alterations are completed the Furniture and Carpets will be together on the main floor and the Housefurnishing in the basement. The contracts have been given out and the carpenters, masons, painters, etc., will soon be clamoring to commence work, but before they do commence we've got to get rid of about $10,000 worth of Furniture that was bought for the January Sale. We thought the prices were down to the lowest notch, but this new move means that they must go down still lower. You can imagine what this means when every manufacturer in the country is advancing prices. This is a chance of a lifetime to buy new, up-to-date Furniture for about what it costs to make.

ANNUAL DINNER OF THE FRIENDLY SONS.

Committee to Make Arrangements for it St. Patrick's Day.

Arrangements are now being made for the twelfth annual dinner of the Friendship Sons of St. Patrick, of Elizabeth, which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. clubhouse, 28 Rahway avenue, in that city, on Saturday evening, March 17. At a meeting of the board of trustees, which has the matter in charge, the following committees were appointed to attend to the details:

Committee on Speakers—Col. D. F. Collins and Edward Nugent.

Committee on Printing—W. J. Whelan and G. J. S. Murphy.

Committee on Flowers and Decoration—Henry Leahy and P. J. Connell.

Committee on Catering—R. T. Potts and W. J. McCloud.

Committee on Invitations—W. J. Whelan, R. T. Potts and W. J. McCloud.

Many of those who attended the last dinner had also been present at all the previous ones and expressed the opinion that last year's surpassed all the others. The trustees will endeavor to make the coming dinner superior to even the last one, and from present indications their efforts will be crowned with success. The committee on speakers is not yet quite ready to announce the names of the gentlemen who will respond to toasts, but the list will compare favorably with those of previous years.

Prisoner Tries Cremation.

Tuckerton, Jan. 23.—Determined efforts of Henry Quinn to cremate himself in the borough lockup Saturday night came near burning down the council chamber and starting a serious conflagration in the heart of the business centre. Quinn smashed all the movable articles in his cell and applied a match to them. The fire was discovered and extinguished, and the man was handcuffed. Not long afterward the lockup was found to be afire again, and the unruly prisoner was saved with difficulty. As it was, he was badly burned about the hands and face.

The burial took place in the family plot in the Rockaway Valley cemetery.

CUNNINGHAM CLASSMATE OF HOAR AND NORTON

FATHER OF ROWING AT HARVARD DIED ON JAN. 14 AGED EIGHTY YEARS.

Horace Cunningham, for many years a resident of Plainfield, residing on West Front street, but since his wife's death, a few years ago, living near Boston, died at Milton Sunday, January 14, in his eightieth year. Mr. Cunningham was born in Boston July 30, 1826, his father being one of the successful merchants of that city.

Mr. Cunningham was born to all the social and educational advantages of the New England metropolis, was fitted for college at the historic Chauncy Hall School and was graduated from Harvard University in the class of 1846, having for classmates and friends such men as Senator George F. Hoar, Prof. Charles Eliot Norton, Judge Webb, of the United States District Court, and Chief Justice Whitman, of the Nevada Supreme Court.

At college Mr. Cunningham was an athlete and the father of rowing. He organized a crew, of which he was stroke and captain. His class was victorious in a race with the class of '45, which also organized a crew.

After graduation Mr. Cunningham went on several voyages in his father's ships as super cargo, and was ever ready to lend a hand either in medical assistance to the sick sailors or in going aloft in foul weather to help the well ones. Mr. Cunningham was very much of a traveler all his days, knowing Europe thoroughly. He was twice married, first to Miss Bettie Leonard, of Taunton, Mass., and later to Miss Sarah Sipperly, of New York.

Mr. Cunningham represented what is finest in the character of the old-style gentleman. Behind his finely cut, somewhat aristocratic features was a soul of great earnestness and sincerity, happiness born of pure and honest affections and a religious faith that filled all his days with cheer. He was a constant attendant on the services at the Unitarian church and greatly respected by the members of that society.

Possessed of an ample fortune, his benefactions were numerous, but also carefully guarded. He had a positive aversion to any sort of display or boasting. He lived here in a plain house, dressed plainly, talked modestly. But his was a well furnished mind, and he was clothed upon with a meek and contented spirit. His faith in the hereafter was perfect. "Of such is the Kingdom."

FOR SAFETY OF BANKS AND HELP OF TOWNS.

Bill Introduced By Senator Hutchinson in the Legislature Last Night.

Senator Barton B. Hutchinson, of Trenton, introduced a bill in the Legislature last night authorizing incorporated cities, boroughs, towns, villages and townships to borrow money and negotiate temporary loans in anticipation of the receipt of taxes and assessments and to secure the re-payment of money so borrowed.

Certain banks have raised the question of the legality of the practice of municipalities borrowing funds in anticipation of taxes, and the bill is designed to meet this situation. Senator Hutchinson stated last night that if it became a law it would enable municipalities to meet emergencies as at present and would protect the banks as well.

Senator Hutchinson introduced a similar bill last winter. It was passed by the Senate, but failed to get through the House.

Dines Members of Senate.

Following his custom of last winter, Governor Stokes will entertain the members of the Senate, in small groups, at dinner during the present legislative session. The first dinner was served last night in the Governor's apartments at the Bloomfield, West State street. The guests were President William A. Bradley, Camden; and Senators Colby, of Essex; Frelinghuysen, Somerset, and Hillery, Morris. It was announced that the dinners will have no political significance.

GOV. STOKES PRESENCE WANTED IN VERMONT.

As Guest of Birthday Anniversary of Nonogenarian, Former Ruler of Green Mountain State.

Governor Stokes yesterday received from Governor C. S. Page, of Vermont, an invitation to visit the Green Mountain State under unique conditions.

Fred Holbrook, who was War Governor of Vermont from 1861 to 1863, will celebrate his ninty-third birthday anniversary at his home in Hyde Park, that State, February 15, and in honor of the event Governor Page is inviting the present Governor and oldest living former Governor of each State to visit former Governor Holbrook on the date referred to. Special arrangements are being made to entertain the distinguished party, which will be one of the most notable gatherings ever assembled in the New England States.

In conformity with the other invitations, the one to the New Jersey chief executive requests the presence of Governor Stokes and the oldest former Governor of this State. This is former Governor George T. Werts, who was chief executive from 1893 to 1896, and who is about sixty years old. Governor Stokes has not yet decided whether or not he will accept the invitation.

Vermont has fourteen former Governors.

DAZED BY ONE BLOW, RESTORED BY ANOTHER.

Strange Story Told by Man Who Mysteriously Disappeared from His Home.

Manley A. Stone, a West Grove carpenter, who mysteriously disappeared three months ago, has returned. Stone says the night he disappeared he had $36 in his pocket. He started for Jacob Stiles' stables and was met by a strange negro, who struck him, knocking him senseless.

When he revived he was on a train speeding southward, but was unable to explain why and could recall nothing of his family or former life. In his pocket he found a contract with a Southern railroad. For two months he worked on railroads in North Carolina, Tennessee and Alabama. In an accident one day Stone was knocked insensible. When he recovered he called for his wife and recalled his former experience with the negro. The first blow had caused lapse of memory, and the second shock restored first impressions.

As soon as possible Stone returned to his family. To substantiate his story, Stone bears marks of a heavy blow on the back of his head and exhibits the railroad contract.

PATRICK CASE "CRANKS."

Ex-Judge Olcott Deluged With Suggestions.

General knowledge of the fact that ex-Judge W. M. K. Olcott is engaged in collecting new evidence in the case of Albert T. Patrick, for the purpose of moving for a new trial for the condemned lawyer, has invited many "cranks" to offer all sorts of suggestions or to intimate that they have valuable information bearing on the case.

Part of them seem worthy of investigation, and all such are receiving careful attention. For this reason Mr. Olcott thinks he will need all this week to get the evidence in proper shape. He explained this to Recorder Goff and District Attorney Jerome yesterday, and they offered no objection to the delay.

NOMINATIONS TO SENATE.

Levins Named by Gov. Stokes for District Court Judge in Paterson.

Trenton, Jan. 23.—Gov. Stokes last night sent to the Senate these nominations: William I. Levins, District Court Judge in Paterson (reappointment); George K. Large to succeed A. Burdette Herr as Prosecutor of Hunterdon county; Eugene Emley to be Prosecutor of Passaic county (reappointment).

All the previous nominations of the Governor were reported by the judiciary committee and laid over under the rules. These nominations include that of Judge Dill. The nominations will probably be confirmed today.

Girl True to Would-be Bigamist.

James Oscar Young, whose arrest for attempted bigamy prevented his marriage to Miss Lauretta Fitzhenry in Jersey City and stopped a double wedding, as her sister was wedded, will be released from jail if the pleadings of the disappointed young woman prevail. She declares she loves Young and will wed him when he procures his decree of divorce from his wife in Baltimore. She is also willing, she declares, to care for his four children. Young's sister, Mrs. Carter, accompanied by a young man, said to be Congressman Wharton, of Illinois, visited Young yesterday, and also saw Judge Blair, in an effort to get the release of Young. The court reduced the amount of the bail bond to $1,500.

Bloodhound to Track Negro.

Mt. Holly, Jan. 23.—A bloodhound has been employed in the hunt for the murderer of Miss Allinson. The dog was brought from Camden yesterday. It has been trained in this work and has been successful on other occasions. There was an imprint in mud of a man's hand on the woman's dress. Thumb impressions will be made of all suspects under arrest.

Forbes, of Hoboken, representing the State Board of Education; Hon. James L. Hays, of Newark, president of the State Board of Education; Superintendents Addison B. Poland, of Newark; William E. Chancellor, of Paterson; William M. Swingle, of Orange; Ebenezer Mackey, of Trenton; James E. Bryan, of Camden, and John Enright, of Freehold; Mrs. Susan C. Marvin, president of the teachers' retirement fund department of the State Association, of Jersey City, and the general secretary of the same, Miss Allen; Principals Albert F. Chadwick, Paterson; Miss Mary A. Burrough, Camden, and Miss Margaret L. Van Winkle, of Jersey City, and Mr. Hartshorne, William R. Codington, of Plainfield, a member of the retirement fund commission of inquiry, was also present.

Mr. Snyder was elected chairman and Miss Allen secretary. There was little friction developed and the question of fixing the amounts of individual pensions was only tentatively touched upon. Several members gave their views, among them Miss Allen, who repeated the arguments which she had made familiar in the past. No date was set for a future meeting.

Musical and Recital.

The Christian Endeavor Society and the Women's Association of the Congregational church will give a musical and recital at the church on Friday night. The Sagamore orchestra will present a programme and Miss Aimee L. Emmons will give impersonations.

RICH BEER BOTTLER CONVICTED

Treated Wife Brutally—Got Doctor to Declare Her Insane.

Hackensack, Jan. 23.—In the trial of Ludwig Meyers, a wealthy beer bottler, of Tenafly, in the courts at Hackensack yesterday it was brought out that Meyers caused Dr. Lansing to issue a certificate that his wife, Marguerite, was insane and should be placed in an insane asylum. Mrs. Meyers had her husband indicted for assault and yesterday he was convicted. Mrs. Meyers is a trained nurse. She cared for Meyers' first wife for a year and six months; after her death Meyers married the nurse.

Mrs. Meyers says Dr. Haring was first asked to declare her insane so that Meyers could get rid of her, but that physician refused. The certificate signed by Dr. Lansing was never put into effect. Many of the friends of the alleged insane woman testified as to her good character.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Henrietta Crosman in "As You Like It" will be at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night, when she will appear as Rosalind and be supported by an excellent company, the one which was especially organized for her revival of the Shakespearian comedy at the Garrick theatre, New York. The organization numbers players who have earned wide reputation for their portrayals of Shakespearian characters, and who have been associated with some of the most notable Shakespearian revivals in this country and abroad. Among the number may be mentioned William Herbert, William F. Owen, Addison Pitt, Malcolm Dunn, Willard Bowman, and George Summer. Mr. Dunn will play Orlando. Celia will be played by Helene Wintner, Audrey by Louise Galloway, and Phoebe by Irma Perry. From these names the strength of the organization may be judged, and it will be seen that the company merits the opinion passed on it in New York as the best ever formed for "As You Like It."

The Mittenthal Brothers Amusement Company will offer at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday, matinee and night, Langdon McCormick's sensational comedy drama—"The House of Mystery"—a play written in four acts, full of sentiment, pathos, comedy and entirely new characters seen in attractions of this kind. The scenic equipment and electrical effects are remarkable. The third act introduces the "Black Five," a secret evil organization that makes an impression upon the audience not soon to be forgotten. The weird surroundings, awe inspiring ceremonies, electrical novelties and stage effects as used in their great initiation scene is beyond minute description and must be seen to be appreciated. "The House of Mystery" is a play well written, infolding a story of love, devotion and villainous scheming enacted by a carefully selected company of players.

Everybody who has seen a performance of "The Heir to the Hoorah," to be offered here at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night, will remember with a grin of inward joy the Jiu Jitsu scene, in which T. Tamamoto, the little Japanese actor who plays Hush, (Joe Lacy's servant) puts Harry Rich, the big man who plays the butler, out of the room. One night in New York the Jiu Jitsu worked like the Gipsy curse. Little Tamamoto had seized Rich by the arm, gotten the approved strangle-hold on his collar and started the upward motion of the wrist, which is Rich's cue to stumble backward through the door. Unfortunately Mr. Rich's boot heel caught in the heavy rug; he lurched forward just as Tamamoto thrust his arm inward and upward and, as a consequence, experienced the actual results of the Jiu Jitsu trick which they were simulating. Mr. Rich played with his left wrist laced up in a leather gauntlet for many weeks. Mr. Tamamoto is the only Japanese actor who plays in English. He is a native of Tokio, a graduate of the Imperial University, and learned his English before he came to this country. Like all Japs he is an enthusiastic partisan in the matter of the Russo-Jap War, and was prominent in organizing a benefit performance for the Japanese Red Cross. In this he had the help of all the members of "The Heir to the Hoorah" company.

A Charles Frohman attraction is always welcome and Manager Counihan's announcement of the engagement of William Collier in "On the Quiet" fresh from a London triumph, will undoubtedly draw large audiences to the New Plainfield theatre Saturday night, February 10. The play is more or less familiar, the star's popularity is so well established that he does not need leaves for his laurel wreath, but his engagement gains eclat from the fact that Mr. Collier has just returned after a success in London that was quite remarkable for an American. The plot of "On the Quiet" is jolly in itself. A young American is in love with an heiress. Her family opposes, and the young people marry secretly while they are supposed to be engaged merely, and this on condition that the man take a course at Yale. Subsequently the situation, after many complex absurdities, becomes such that the young people consent to go through a formal marriage and by so doing seem to be conferring a favor upon the baffled opposition. The yacht scene, with which the play ends, is especially effective.

Negress's Body in Ball Grounds.

Vineland, Jan. 23.—The body of Annie Williams, a negress, twenty-five years old, was found under the seats in the ball park Sunday. The discovery was made by a dog. Coroner Potter took the body to his undertaking establishment, and after an examination by Dr. George Cunningham it was decided to make an autopsy. There seemed to be no outward evidence of foul play. The woman was overcome by smoke recently when the lock-up was set on fire by a fellow-prisoner. She has figured in the police court several times, but how she came to die in such a place is a mystery.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Considerable interest was attached to the manner in which New York would receive Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s, play of "The Clansman," which has been making such a remarkable record through the South. Its reception on the opening night at the Liberty theatre was one of the most enthusiastic in the history of the theatre in New York, but many hostile to Mr. Dixon and his convictions declared the warmth of the welcome, the unstinted demonstrations of approval and the complete endorsement of "The Clansman" as a play were due to friendship and the usual charge of a "claque" was made. The second week, however, found "The Clansman" enjoying the most extraordinary popularity. In these days of a superabundance of theatres in New York, few plays can command more than a fair attendance, but since the opening night of the Dixon drama of reconstruction days, every seat has been occupied. The play meets with the heartiest applause and at the end of every act there are any number of curtain calls. In the meantime the Southern company which, to use a critic's expression, "went through the South like a train load of dynamite," has moved north of the Mason and Dixon line and enters the Middle West.

LITERARY.

"Frenzied Finance," Mr. Lawson's remarkable history of financial crimes, closes with a bang in the February Everybody's. It is not unlikely that this instalment, with its brilliant side-lights on the story of Bay State Gas, its candidly humorous description of that marvel of financial jugglery, a "voluntary association;" its unforgettable pen-portraits of those eminent personalities, J. Edward Addicks and George Wharton Pepper—will be considered the most fascinating Mr. Lawson has ever written. By no means its least interesting paragraphs are those relating to Mr. Lawson's long anticipated Remedy, which he will begin to set forth in the next issue of the magazine. Do you believe in government ownership of railroads? There may be reasons for and against this system: in Germany, according to Charles Edward Russell's brilliant narrative, "Soldiers of the Common Good," it is an unqualified success. The story of Von Maybach, the "man with the jaw like a snowplow," who alone secured railroad ownership for Germany; the efficiency of the present administration of the railroads, and its advantage for travelers; as well as certain of its humorous superficial aspects—make a narrative that no thoughtful citizen can well afford to miss. The system of compulsory life insurance for German workingmen is also included in Mr. Russell's highly readable instalment.

Joseph Jefferson, one of the best-loved American actors, is the subject of the leading paper in the February number of Scribner's Magazine by Francis Wilson, the well known actor, who knew him for many years. These reminiscences are full of anecdote and story, giving Mr. Jefferson's opinions about the arts of acting and painting, and his own recollections of distinguished men in many vocations. The article in this number deals particularly with Rip Van Winkle—its origin and development as a play, with amusing anecdotes about Mr. Jefferson and his experiences while play it. There are also pleasant glimpses of Jefferson as a painter, and his views and preferences for various artists. The amazing success of "The House of Mirth" still continues, and the readers of it will be interested in Edith Wharton's story in this number entitled "The Hermit and the Wild Woman"—a charming phantasy with a deep significance. George Moore's reminiscences of the group of Impressionist painters who in his student days used to frequent a Parisian cafe tell of the opinions and characteristics of Manet, Degas, Monet, and others who afterwards came to be looked upon as the leaders in a new movement in art.

MEN ARE POWERLESS

To Fight Against Disease Unless They Strike at the Underlying Cause.

To treat Dandruff, and Falling Hair, with irritants or oils on which a parasitic germ will prosper, is like scooping water from the ocean to prevent the tide from rising.

You cannot accomplish a satisfactory cure without having a right understanding of the fundamental causes of the trouble.

You must kill the Dandruff Germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this because it is specially made to do that very thing.

When the germ is removed, the hair has no choice but to resume healthy growth and beauty.

In connection with this subject it will be interesting to compare the wonders of the so-called occult with those accomplished by a professed conjurer. The method of Prof. Hoffman, one of the most skillful of conjurers will be found fully described in his two works entitled "Modern magic," and "More magic." A. A. Hopkins' book on Magic is also interesting in this connection.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Although nothing as yet has been heard from Westfield, it is likely that an amateur team will represent that town on the diamond this year. The expensive outfit of last year is too much for the supporters of the game and expenses will be greatly reduced.

Clinton Avenue will again be represented on the diamond this season, Manager Dorflinger already being engaged in getting his aggregation in line. This was one of the best teams in its class in this vicinity, last year, and it will be stronger than ever this summer.

The newspapers throughout the country are now discussing the old question, that of college baseball players being permitted to play on independent teams during the summer for a consideration. There is a strong sentiment in favor of allowing these players to make money during the summer to help them in getting an education.

Manager B. T. Conklin, of the West End A. C., of Somerville, is already making arrangements to open the season in May. He has received a number of applications from players and he is now endeavoring to hear from last season's players so that he can make his selection of a team. Three games have thus far been scheduled with Hopewell to be played at Somerville. The New York Central team has also written for dates. It is proposed to open the season May 30.

GOLF.

Willie Smith has won the open championship of Mexico from Willie Anderson at the Indian Pedro golf links. Anderson finished second and Alexander Herd third. Smith returned a score of 289, Anderson 301 and Herd 312.

Glee Club Concert.

The Euterpean Gle Club—E. Maxwell Honeyman, Sydney R. Titsworth, Howard Lewis and Elmer D. Cutting, assisted by Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, reader, gave an entertainment in Excelsior Hall, Scotch Plains, last night for the benefit of the public library at that place. The programme was an excellent one and well given before a large and appreciative audience.

CIVIL SERVICE FOR CITY DEPARTMENTS.

Mayor Fagan Would Abolish System of Appointments for Political Services Rendered.

Mayor Fagan, of Jersey City, has announced that he will endeavor to induce the New Jersey Legislature to adopt a general civil service law, applying to Jersey City at least, and providing for the appointment of a civil service commission which will examine applicants for positions in the police, fire and other municipal departments.

"Under the present system the appointments to public office have become the spoils of party victory," Mayor Fagan said. "After a successful campaign the victorious candidate is besieged by a large number of people who are applicants for the offices at his disposal. A victorious candidate is, politically, a bankrupt. That is to say, there are at least a dozen men who have rendered effective and intelligent party service for every office that such a candidate has to give out. Eleven of these men are bound to be disappointed.

"While, theoretically, it is easy to say that the appointing officer should make appointments with sole regard to fitness, in practice the temptation to subordinate fitness to the test of party service proves irresistible. I do not believe any man is capable of withstanding this pressure. I frankly admit that I am not.

"There is no more reason why a clerk in the tax office should be selected and retained because of political services than that a school teacher should be selected in the same manner. My experience convinces me that the time has come to adopt laws which shall remove this patronage from party strife and which shall put all applicants to public office upon an exact equality of opportunity before law.

This reform should go hand in hand with our attempts to get justice from the corporations. If the New Jersey Legislature adopts a civil service law it will operate to diminish the power of political machines, and thereby lessen the power of the boss, and as a necessary consequence lessen the power of the corporations through the bosses, to affect legislation."

TRAIN CRASH AND FOG DELAY "THE VINEGAR BUYER."

Company's Car Held Up and Performance at Local Theatre Starts at 9:30.

Failure on the part of the Jersey Central Railroad to deliver the company's car in this city until 7:30, delayed the performance of "The Vinegar Buyer" at the New Plainfield theatre, last night. It was about 9:30 before the curtain rose on the first act and it did not fall at the close of the last until exactly 12:30. Manager Counihan addressed the audience, stating the cause of the delay to be fog on the North river and the interruption of traffic by the wreck in this city.

But very few in the gathering left the theatre until the play was over and everybody was delighted with Ezra Kendall and his starring vehicle. It is a high class play and only one of the many that Manager Counihan has presented or has booked.

Miss Eoff's Wedding.

The wedding of Miss May Eoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Eoff, of Crescent avenue, and Dr. Frank Brown Bostwick, of Gibraltar, Spain, will take place at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony will be witnessed by the relatives and a few intimate friends, but a large number of invitations have been issued to the reception which will be held from 8 to 10.

P. H. S. ALUMNI BUSY ON RECEPTION PLANS.

Association Intends to Make Affair An Annual One.

The committee from the Plainfield High School Alumni Association having charge of the arrangements for the part it will take in the opening of the new High School building on February 22, met at the Y. M. C. A. last night. Progress was reported in every detail of the arrangements.

Announcement was made that the opening of the school will be on February 22, the fact being communicated by the Board of Education. The committee also decided to proceed at once toward securing invitations to be sent to all the members of the association asking them to join in making the affair a success. There is now no doubt but that the association will resolve itself into a permanent organization and plans adopted to make the reunion an annual affair.

BURTON'S STEP COST $1,000.

Senator Collects Mileage for His One Appearance on Floor.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Senator Burton, of Kansas, is $1,000 richer by appearance in the Senate Chamber for thirty seconds yesterday afternoon. One step of less than two feet was perhaps the most expensive to the Government that a Senator ever has taken.

Senator Burton wanted to collect his mileage for the fifty-ninth session. The rate is 20 cents a mile each way. To draw mileage a Senator must appear at some time during the session in the Senate Chamber, and the money is paid on the oath of the journal clerk that the Senator has been in attendance. Burton appeared in the Republican cloakroom, as he frequently has before, while the Senators were congratulating Depew on his return. The doors were thrown open, but the journal clerk protested that he had to get a square view of the Senator. Burton was persuaded to step just inside the door, and remained only for an instant.

PATRICK SHARKEY DEAD.

Well Known Boroughite Passes Away in Brooklyn.

Patrick Sharkey, father of William L. Sharkey, of 47 Whitewood avenue, the borough, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Christian J. Bode, of Brooklyn, in his seventy-eighth year. Mr. Sharkey had been in poor health and was on a vist when he died.

Mr. Sharkey was a resident of the borough for a great many years. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having enlisted in the Thirty-second Regiment, N. J. Vols. He had a good war record, of which he was very proud.

The remains will be brought to the home of his son, William L. Sharkey, of the borough, with whom he resided for the past few years. Notice of funeral will be given later.

To Recite Enoch Arden.

Edward Brigham will appear with the St. Cecelia Trio in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course on Thursday evening, giving a recitation of Tennyson's "Enoch Arden" to the accompaniment of the incidental music, the compositions of Richard Strauss. It is said of Mr. Brigham that his power of painting word-pictures is enormous, and his ability as a pianist, coupled with the remarkable quality and sonority of his voice conspire together to make him one of the foremost recitationists of the day.

Aftermath of Maggie's Jealousy.

A fine of $5 in each case was imposed by Mayor Smalley on Maggie Bell Jackson, William Wallace and Lewis Jackson, in the borough court last night. Their appearance was the aftermath of Miss Jackson's jealousy in which she hurled a lamp at Wallace, her intended husband. Lewis Jackson owned up in court that his name wasn't Jackson and that it was Green. Mrs. Margaret Jackson, who was arrested with the trio, was released on suspended sentence.

Fire Gong Had 'Em Going.

One of the city fire alarm circuits got crossed with an electric light wire shortly before non today and caused the gong to blow spasmodically for twenty minutes. The first blow came at ten minutes to twelve, and believing it was the regular 12 o'clock toot, the owners of scores of watches thought their timepieces were slow and set them ahead. The engineer at the Spicer Universal Joint factory blew his whistle and the workmen quit for lunch.

Miss Chadbourne's teachers' training class will meet in the Crescent Avenue church parlor tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

ENDEAVORERS' INSTITUTE

Important Three-Day Gathering in New York This Month.

WORK TO BE DISCUSSED

Big Rally in Carnegie Hall on Closing Night—Some of the Features.

Institutes have been found to be of particular benefit in Christian Endeavor work, and elaborate preparations are being made for the three-day gathering of this character which will take place next month in New York. Reduced railroad rates have been secured for delegates who will come from a distance, and many are expected from distant States. The arrangements for the Institute are in the hands of the general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Von Ogden Vogt.

All the railroads in the New England Passenger Association, Trunk Line Association, Central Traffic Association, and Western Passenger Association have granted a reduced rate on the certificate plan of a fare and one-third for the round trip. This covers all the important points in the United States east of Cheyenne, Wyo., and including all points in Colorado, and north of the Potomac and Ohio Rivers, St. Louis and Kansas City, including the same. On account of the limited number of delegates expected from the South and far West, the associations decline to name special rates.

Elizabeth delegates will pay the usual fare, as no certificates will be issued from stations where the fare is less than seventy-five cents to New York.

Headquarters will be at Broadway Tabernacle, Broadway and Fifty-sixth street, and all delegates who expect to attend the day sessions of the Institute will register there. The meetings will be held in Broadway Tabernacle, Central Presbyterian church, the Church of the Strangers and Carnegie Hall. These are all within easy distance of one another, and the hotel headquarters will also be near by—at the Cumberland Hotel.

The programme has been carefully outlined, the object being to bring every phase of Christian Endeavor work under discussion.

BIG BRAZILIAN SHIP BLOWS UP; DEAD, 212.

The Aquidaban Explodes Near Rio, and Most of Her Officers and Men Perish.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, via Galveston, Texas, January 23.—The battle ship Aquidaban was sunk by an explosion Sunday night near Port Jacarequa, twenty miles from here. Two hundred and twelve persons were killed and thirty-six wounded.

The Aquidaban, the Tiradentes and the Barrozo were going to Jacarequa to select a point for building an arsenal.

Admiral Noronha, the Minister of Marine, was on board the Barrozo.

At 11 o'clock Sunday night all were startled by a tremendous explosion and the Aquidaban sank immediately.

Among the dead are these rear admirals:

CALHEIROS DA GRACA,
RODRIGO DA ROCHA,

Casto Hero Fund Organized.

Atlantic City, Jan. 23.—At a meeting held in the Marlborough House here on Saturday night the Casto Hero Fund was formalyy organized to raise subscriptions for a cash gift, to be presented to Captain Mark Casto and the crew of the schooner yacht Alberta, who rescued those on the wrecked Cherokee on January 14. Several of the leading hotel men and newspaper representatives are on the committee on subscriptions. Franklin P. Stoy, Mayor of Atlantic City, is treasurer of the fund. Anyone who wishes to contribute to the fund may send his gift to Mayor Stoy.

Lonely Farmer Burned to Death.

Dover, Jan. 23.—Edward Hill was burned to death at his home at Franklyn Sunday night. He was a farmer and lived alone. Joseph Knuth, a neighbor, saw the house was on fire, broke in the door, and where the flooring of the upper room had already burned away he could see Hill's body lying across the rafters. The origin of the fire is unknown.

F. L. C. Martin, of Park avenue, has gone to Ormond Beach, Fla., to attend the automobile races.

TWO WOMEN CLAIM HIM AS HUSBAND.

Five Months After First Marriage It Is Alleged He Wedded Another.

Frederick Smith, thirty-eight years old, of No. 83 Union avenue, Brooklyn, was held yesterday in the Manhattan Avenue Court, New York, for the Grand Jury on charges of grand larceny and bigamy. It is alleged by John W. Frei, of No. 105 North Sixth street, that Smith collected for him $61 which he appropriated to his own use.

When Smith was arraigned on the larceny charge two women stepped forward.

"What do you want?" Magistrate O'Reilly said to the first woman.

"I am Mrs. Smith and this is my husband," she answered.

"Pardon me, but he is my husband," said the other woman.

"Something wrong here," said the Magistrate. "What have you got to say, Smith. Are these women your wives?"

Smith's head dropped, but he said nothing. The first woman declared she is Mrs. Louise Smith, and that she was married to Smith August 13, 1895. The other woman said she is Mrs. Georgianna Smith, and that Smith wedded her January 14, 1896. She lives at No. 88 Franklin street. Since their marriage, she said, she has seen Smith only four times. He would tell her he was going on the road, or that he was compelled to live in other sections of the city because of business.

CHARGED WITH STEALING 110,000 FEET OF GAS.

Hotel Keeper Also Accused of Diverting Electricity and Having Contraband Whiskey.

William Rogge, proprietor of the Holland House, No. 146 Market street, Newark, was held yesterday in $500 bail on a charge of stealing 110,000 cubic feet of illuminating gas from the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. The complaint was made by William H. Pettis, general agent of the gas department of the Public Service.

Rogge, who was formerly a chef at Luechow's, Fourteenth street, Manhattan, was previously charged by the same company with stealing electricity for lighting purposes. It is alleged that he installed in the cellar of his establishment an ingenious apparatus that enabled him to divert both electricity and gas without either passing through the meters.

It was while the police were seeking evidence of the alleged theft of electricity that they came across the device used to divert the gas.

In addition to the criminal charges, Rogge was summoned before the Internal Revenue Department to explain the presence in his cellar of a barrel of whiskey purchased in bond, bearing the mark of a 103-degree test, whereas the liquor showed only a 79 degree test.

Rogge disclaimed all knowledge of any whiskey being rectified in his place, saying that perhaps it had been done without sanction by an employe.

$100 Parrot on Tour.

George, a big green parrot with a red neck and a cap of gray feathers, valued at $100, screamed "Goodby, Ethel," Sunday evening and flew away through an open window of the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Willis, at No. 73 State street, Newark. George is a fluent talker, and its greatest "pal" is Jimmie, a green canary bird owned by Mrs. Willis. Since the disappearance of the parrot Jimmie has not piped a note.

"Scotty" East Again.

Walter Scott, the Death Valley miner, known as "Scotty," who spent some time here prior to his eventful ride across the country, arrived in New York yesterday from Chicago and is stopping at the Herald Square Hotel. He remained in bed most of the day and his physician dressed a bullet wound in the lower part of his right leg, which the miner received in a mixup at Death Valley on December 3.

Lamp Burns Prove Fatal.

Mrs. Anna Lane McIntyre, who was severely burned by an overturned lamp at her home on Grove street three weeks ago, died at Muhlenberg Hospital Sunday. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon and interment was made in the Methodist cemetery. She leaves two sons, John and Lemuel, both of the borough.

Lost Heir Returns for Estate.

Millville, Jan. 23.—Harry Ewing, who mysteriously disappeared from Millville six years ago, returned home yesterday to lay claim to the estate of his grandfather, the late Henry Brown, a Civil War veteran, who died suddenly recently.

LEGAL VICTORY FOR CITY

Advice Given by Corporation Counsel Marsh Sustained by U. S. Circuit Court Case.

SEWAGE PLANT SUIT

American Disposal Co.'s Proceeding in Equity to Injoin City from Infringing Upon Alleged Patent-Right.

Judge Cross has handed down an opinion in the Circuit Court favorable to the city of Plainfield in the suit brought against it by the American Sewage Disposal Company. It is the refusal of a motion made by the complainant's counsel to extend time for the completion of testimony against the municipality.

The suit was brought against the city for injunction and damages for alleged infringement of the complainant's patent, known as the Glover patent, in the local sewage disposal works. The matter was referred to Corporation Counsel Marsh. After consulting Engineers Gavett and Osgood as to the engineering features, Mr. Marsh gave his opinion that there was no infringement, and that accordingly the city was not liable for damages, and could not be enjoined from continuing the use of its sewage plant.

The Common Council directed that the suit be contested. Mr. Marsh drew the answer with Mr. Gavett's assistance. Testimony was taken at great length in Boston, where the corporation counsel, with the assistance of the city engineer, attended and cross-examined complainant's witnesses. Additional testimony was taken in New York, where Mr. Livingston Gifford, with Mr. Gavett's assistance, cross-examined Professor Folwell and Rudolph Herring, a civil engineer. The testimony was printed and makes a book of several hundred pages.

At this stage of the case, as stated in Judge Cross' opinion, the complainant stipulated into another case which it had brought against the city of Pawtucket, R. I., all of the testimony taken in the Plainfield case, and proceeded with the Pawtucket case, with the result that Plainfield's points against the patent were fully sustained, and the complainant was defeated.

An appeal was taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals, and the judgment below was affirmed. The complainant then applied to the corporation counsel for his consent to extend the time for taking of further testimony in the Plainfield case. This the corporation counsel, as stated in his report to the Common Council in November last, did not deem it wise to concede. The complainant's next move was to give notice of a motion to the court for an order.

The argument on that motion took place at Trenton on January 8, Mr. Payson representing the complainant and Mr. Marsh making the argument for this city. The decision was in favor of the city, sustaining the latter's points made for the city, as set forth in Judge Cross' opinion, given above.

After the opinion in the Circuit Court of Appeals, the complainant applied to the U. S. Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari to enable the complainant to appeal the case to that court. The U. S. Supreme Court, after argument, refused to grant the writ.

Craig A. Marsh represented the city as corporation counsel, while Dickerson, Brown, Raegner, Binney & E. P. Payson were counsel for the complainant.

Judge Cross' opinion follows:

"Application is made by the complainant upon notice for an extension of time to February 15, 1906, to complete its prima facie case. By admissions of counsel on the argument it appears that a large amount of testimony has been taken in the suit on the part of the complainant; that the suit was commenced in the year nineteen hundred and two, but that no testimony has been taken therein since May 13, 1903. The complainant has never declared its testimony closed. Another suit involving the same patent involved in this case was begun by the complainant against the city of Pawtucket, in the Circuit Court of the United States for the district of Rhode Island, into which case the testimony taken herein was stipulated by counsel. The case in the Rhode Island Circuit Court was decided adversely to the complainant, and upon appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals of the First Circuit, the decree of the lower court was affirmed. 138 F. R. 811. Counsel for the complainant particularly admitted that this case had been held to await the decision in the Rhode Island case, and while the notice of this motion does not disclose the nature of the additional testimony desired to be taken, it was nevertheless stated to be cumulative to testimony appearing in that case. Under the circumstances disclosed, the complainant is guilty of laches. There was no stipulation

LOCAL FACTORY IS SOLD

PLAN IMPROVEMENTS

Probability That Buildings Will Be Enlarged and Present Force of Employes Greatly Increased.

As a result of negotiations that have been pending for several months, the Pederick & Ayer factory, one of the city's largest manufacturing plants, has passed into the hands of a new concern. It has been purchased by the Chicago Railway Supply Company, which has shops in different parts of the country and does an immense business with railroads. Officials of the Chicago company have been in Plainfield for the past few weeks and are already making arrangements for the transfer.

Though none of the men directly interested could be reached today in order to secure a statement, it is understood that the plant will be enlarged and that the present force of machinists and other employes would be doubled as soon as possible. The building west of the main shop, now used as a place for storing patterns, is to be made into offices. The company has been making special railroad machine tools and appliances and compressed air machinery on order, and the new owners will continue along the same lines.

The Pederick & Ayer plant is located at Clinton avenue and West Front street and is the newest of the city's big industries. The buildings were erected four years ago, the machinery being transferred from a former factory in Philadelphia. The concern afterward became the property of William Manning, the one-time head of the well know firm of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, selling agents for the Pond Tool Works and many other big concerns. When he retired rfom this business about a year ago, the Pederick & Ayer shop was the only one he retained, and it was purchased from him by the Chicago people.

MISS ERNESTINE SMITH IN SECOND R. R. WRECK.

Her Experience Aboard Easton Express on Monday.

Miss Ernestine C. Smith, of Madison avenue, was among those on the Easton express, which was involved in the wreck on the New Jersey Central near Berckman street, Monday morning, and like the other passengers had a narrow escape from serious, if not fatal, injuries.

Miss Smith says that the train had passed Netherwood station when it began to slow down. She thought there was nothing unusual about this, realizing that the train was near this city and was probably preparing to stop to let off passengers. A minute or two later came the crash, with the ripping and tearing of timber and flying glass. She was almost covered with glass and splinters. Miss Smith received a severe nervous shock from which she has not yet recovered.

She was also a passenger of the ill-fated train No. 13, which was wrecked at Westfield four years ago. At that time she sustained a nervous shock which affected her for a long time.

THRONG VISIT NURSERY

King's Daughters Institution Liberally Supplied With Dry Groceries and Useful Articles.

MATRON IS IN CHARGE

Home at No. 444 West Front Street Contains Eleven Rooms—Children Already Received—A Private Charity.

The formal opening yesterday of Plainfield's new charity, the Day Nursery, under the auspices of the City Union, King's Daughters, was a great success. The event was marked by a tea and package party held from 3 to 6 o'clock. During those hours over 300 friends of the work called, inspected the nursery, contributed something toward the storeroom and had a cup of tea. The appeal made for dry groceries and other useful articles brought a liberal supply and the women in charge were kept busy receiving it. There was also contributed about $40 in cash.

Those receiving and serving tea included Mrs. Charles A. Reed, president of the City Union, King's Daughters, and these members of the Day Nursery committee: Mrs. W. L. C. Gleaney, Mrs. A. E. Faber, Mrs. Duncan L. S. McLaren, Mrs. Anna Most, Mrs. C. C. Burke, Mrs. R. Willard Ware, Miss Olive DeLany, Miss Harman, Miss Phillips and Miss Holly.

Additional interest was manifested yesterday in the fact that three children were received and six more will join the nursery today. Mrs. E. L. Bird, the matron, is in charge and attending to the wants of the little ones.

The nursery is located at 444 West Third street, where a two-story frame house has been leased. It contains four rooms downstairs, five rooms upstairs and two in the back of the house not needed at present. The rooms now used are comfortably furnished and afford the matron an opporunity to successfully carry on the work. The parlor has been chosen for the play-room, while directly back of it is the dining room, furnished with small tables and chairs. Another room is occupied with cribs for the children too small to be allowed to run about.

On the second floor one room is for the matron and another is reserved for children whose mothers may be too ill to care for them, thus necessitating their sleeping at the nursery. Other rooms on this floor will be used later on, possibly by a nurse, while it is hoped that a modern bathroom may be installed at an early date.

TUCKER TO SPEAK AT AMERICAN BANQUET

COLBY IT IS SAID ALSO INVITED TO MAKE A SPEECH HERE.

The joint committee from Franklin and Benevolent Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., having charge of the arrangements for the "American Banquet" to be held on February 28, met last night to further complete details for the affair.

It was decided to reserve fifty tickets for outsiders, as the demand for them among the members is so great.

Among the speakers secured is Assemblyman Everard Tucker, of Elizabeth. In addition there will be brief addresses by State council officers and others prominent in State, county and city affairs.

It is not known definitely yet whether Senator Colby will be able to attend, but report has it that the anti-machine leader has been invited.

L. H. BIGLOW'S SON RUNS AWAY FROM HOME

EARL ONE OF THREE BOYS WHO HAVE GONE TO THE SUNNY SOUTH.

Earl Biglow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius H. Biglow, Jr., formerly of this city, but now of Montclair, is one of three youngsters ranging in age from eleven to twelve years, who have suddenly disappeared from home. According to the story of a schoolmate the trio are enjoying life in the Sunny South. Mr. and Mrs. Biglow are greatly disturbed over their son's disappearance and are doing everything in their power to locate the lad and bring him home.

The boys, it is said, before leaving their homes donned their best clothes and confided to a friend that they were going to Norfolk and Charleston. Before returning they said they would probably visit the Bahamas and other points. The police authorities of these cities have been notified to keep a lookout for the boys. The boys are said to have a large sum of money with them. The boys accompanying young Biglow are Waldmere Deetjen and Newell Weed, and like Biglow are sons of well-to-do parents.

MAY BE 200 MEN AT COLLEGE SMOKER

COMMITTEE ANXIOUS TO SEE THE "WHEREWITHAL" FOR THE AFFAIR.

Between 175 and 200 college men are expected to attend the smoker to be held at th Casino on Friday night, February 9. Up to the present time 125 men have assured the committee in charge that they will be present and there are 170 yet to be heard from. In all 389 invitations were sent out to representatives of forty-nine colleges.

The committee wants is distinctly understood that it cannot provide for anyone who does not respond beforehand with his $1.75 and signify his intention of being present. Some have the idea that they can wait until the night of the smoker to pay their fee, but it will be impossible to care for patrons in this way, as it must be known as early as possible how many to provide for.

Today the committee sent out the second follow-up cards urging an early response with the fee of $1.75, and it is urged that persons receiving such cards answer at once informing the committee whether they will attend or not.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER MADE A BANK OFFICIAL

CHARLES E. ARNOLD NOW VICE-PRESIDENT OF WISCONSIN NATIONAL.

Charles E. Arnold, a former Plainfielder and brother of William F. and James K. Arnold, has been made vice president of the Wisconsin National Bank at Milwaukee, Wis., one of the largest banking houses in the middle west. He has been in Milwaukee for the past fourteen years and has become one of the best known men in its financial world.

When a young man, Mr. Arnold lived with his parents in the homestead at West Seventh street and Arlington avenue, since remodelled and known as the Casino. In 1875 he entered the National Broadway Bank, of New York, in a minor capacity, but was soon advanced to a responsible position. From there he went to San Antonio, Texas, as an employe of the Lockwood National Bank, resigning to become discount clerk of the Wisconsin National when it was organized in 1892. He remained in that position but a year when he was made assistant cashier and last week he was honored with the vice presidency. In this capacity he has direct charge of a staff of sixty men.

Speaking of his advancement, the Milwaukee Journal said: "Mr. Arnold in business hours is always found attending strictly to business. Frank and courteous at all times, he is popular among the employes of the bank and has many warm friends outside of it."

Aiding Industrial Farm.

Y., will be in Plainfield over Sunday. He will be glad to appoint interviews with anyone interested in the Berkshire Industrial Farm, if they will send him word in care of The Daily Press.

"FITZ" IS A DUNELLENITE

Prize Fighter Buys the Old Dryden Farm at West Dunellen.

BOB AND WIFE UNITED

Deed Made Out in Name of Husband and Wife—To Be a Resort for Rest and Recuperation.

"Bob" Fitzsimmons and his wife have bought a farm at West Dunellen and paid down cash on the nail for it. The farm was formerly the truly rural home of United States Senator Dryden before he became wealthy, who spent more than $60,000 in improving it.

Fitzsimmons will turn the farm into a resort for men who wish to say "truly rural" and who cannot; a place of rest for the jaded, whether suffering from brain-fog or brain-fag; for millionaires worn out by clipping coupons and society leaders weary of dancing the cotillon. All such Mr. Fitzsimmons will put through a gentle course of training on his farm; will renovate and rejuvenate them for a suitable consideration; will send each one home "as good as new," he says.

Finally, after a Cupid-Gaston-Alphonse conversation, the happy pair agreed that the deed should be made out in their joint names. Then the time arrived to pay the price which Robert G. Maltbie, insurance broker, 45 Cedar street, New York, asked for the farm, a price which was not stated publicly.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons looked hard at her husband, flushed slightly and gently raised her eyebrows. Fitz, who has been on the stage, of course took his cue instanter.

"Gentlemen," he said cordially, "I invite all of you downstairs to drink to our success on the farm."

"All of you," repeated Mrs. Fitzsimmons, prettily accenting the first word.

The men descended to an oasis in the New street desert of Mammon and drank to the toast "May you both grow rich and be happy and healthy, but may the missus always have Fitz." They returned to the office. A pile of thousand-dollar bills lay on the table, and Mrs. Fitzsimmons was smoothing a crease out of her handsome gown.

JOSEPH L. MEYERS WEDDED IN NEW YORK

MISS HENRIETTA E. HAWLEY BRIDE OF FORMER PLAINFIELDER.

Joseph Lawrence Myers, formerly of East Front street, this city, and Miss Henrietta Eugenie Hawley, daughter of Mrs Henry E. Hawley, of New York, were married yesterday afternoon at St. Thomas' church, New York, in the presence of a large and fashionable throng of society people. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires. A reception followed at the Buckingham, where the bride's mother has been living for some time.

The bride, who entered the church with her brother-in-law, Dr. T. Halsted Myers, but was given away by her mother, was arrayed in white satin, trimmed with old point lace and a veil of tulle, her flowers consisting of lilies-of-the-valley. The maid-of-honor, Miss Hester Hone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hone, was attired in a light mauve silk frock, with a large hat of the same hue, while the bridesmaids, consisting of Miss Helen Macy, Miss Justine Bayard Erving, Miss Clemence Crafts, of Boston, and Miss Marie de Acosta, were in frocks of Nile green, radium silk, trimmed with white lace, and carrying green chiffon muffs, with white lilacs in them.

Archibald D. Davis, of Lakewood, was the best man, and the ushers included Francis F. Palmer, Clarence P. Wyckoff, Charles Edmund Fairfax, Lefferts M. Dashiell, Thomas S. Adams and William H. W. Well.

Goods Attached for Gas Bill.

The household furniture of Berkley Davis, driver for a local concern, was about to be removed from the city in a Jersey Central car when it was attached by Constable Manley for the Public Service Corporation. The officials of the company assert that Davis owes them a gas bill, and proper papers to hold the goods were issued by Justice Nash.

Dime Social at Dunellen.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Dunellen M. E. church will hold a dime social at the home of Mrs. George Huff tomorrow night. The committee is planning an enjoyable time for all who attend.

MISS MAY EOFF A BRIDE

She is Wedded to Dr. Frank B. Bostwick at Her Parents' Home.

GROOM IS A DENTIST

Rev. Dr. West, of Rutherford, Officiates—W. W. Bostwick, Jr., of Philadelphia, Best Man—To Live in Gibraltar.

Miss May Eoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Eoff, of Crescent avenue, and Dr. Frank Brown Bostwick, of Gibraltar, Spain, were married last evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. F. L. West, of Rutherford, N. J., a cousin of the bride, was witnessed by the relatives and intimate friends of the couple. The reception from 8 to 10 o'clock was largely attended by friends from New York, Brooklyn, Washington, Trenton, Jersey City and Ohio.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon over satin, trimmed with rose point lace. She wore a veil and carried white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her attendants were Miss Olive Koons, as maid-of-honor and Miss Florence Alpaugh, as flower girl. Miss Koons' gown was of white radium silk, trimmed with festoons of pink lace. She carried pink roses. Miss Alpaugh was gowned in pink silk and carried a basket of sweet peas.

Dr. Bostwick was attended by his brother, William Wallace Bostwick, Jr., of Philadelphia, as best man, and the ushers were Dr. Charles Liebrecht and Dr. Kennard, of New York.

While the wedding march was being rendered by vonderHeid's orchestra the bridal party descended the staircase and entered the parlor. The ushers led the way, followed by the flower girl, maid-of-honor and the bride, accompanied by her father, who gave her away in marriage. In the parlor they met the groom and best man, who, with the officiating minister, awaited them. During the reception supper was served.

The home was lavishly decorated with flowers, smilax and palms. In the parlor the prevailing colors were pink and green, there being an effective arrangement in the bow window where the palms and smilax were banked. It was here that the ceremony was performed. The same color scheme of pink and green was used in the hall and reception room, opposite the parlor, while in the dining room the colors were green and white. The table was attractively garnished with a profusion of smilax and white carnations.

The bride is a social favorite among her friends here and the valued remembrances received by her include a wealth of solid silver, cut glass and other gifts of use and value. In the exchange of gifts among those of the bridal party, the maid-of-honor received a gold bracelet and the flower girl a gold chain and pearl locket. The groom gave his best man a Moorish ring and his ushers stick pins.

Dr. Bostwick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace Bostwick, Sr., of Coshocton, Ohio, his father being one of the leading business men of that town. The doctor is a graduate of the dental department of the University of Pennsylvania, Class '02. Since then his home has been at Gibraltar, where he has acquired a lucrative practice. The couple left last night for New York and tomorrow they will sail on the White Star Line Steamer Republic for their future home, which they expect to reach about February 5.

Mr. Brigham's Entertainment.

An interesting event in the musical circles of Plainfield will take place tomorrow evening, when Edward Brigham will appear in the Tennyson-Strauss "Enoch Arden," in the Star Course of entertainments of the local Y. M. C. A. Mr. Brigham not only declaims the poem, but also plays the incidental music himself, and thereby gives great force and emphasis to every passage of the poem and to every mood expressed, both by the words and the music combined. The entertainment will be made more interesting than usual by the appearance of the St. Cecelia Trio.

HUSBAND AND GIRL GONE

Somerville Man and His Adopted Daughter Both Absent From Home.

DESTINATION UNKNOWN

Said They Boarded Train Here—Sharpels An Employe of Pedrick & Ayres.

Social and church circles in Somerville received a severe shock yesterday when it was reported that Joseph Sharpels, a choir singer and communicant of St. John's Episcopal church, had left home and his wife and young daughter. He was employed at Pedrick & Ayres' plant in this city and is well known here. At the same time, it is said, his nineteen-year-old adopted daughter, Miss Edith Weston, is also absent from her home. From Albert Stevenson, the landlord of the apartment-house in which the Sharpels lived, it was learned that Mrs. Sharpels is packing her belongings, and is going to the home of her brother, P. B. Womersley, in Garfield.

According to Stevenson, the disappearance of Sharpels and the adopted daughter is the culmination of a series of domestic squabbles, which, it is said, have been due to the presence of Miss Weston and the alleged intimacy between the young woman and Mr. Sharpels. The latter was a prominent church member, and there was no breath of scandal until the present incident occurred. Sharpels is about forty-eight years old, and his wife is about three years younger.

Recently Miss Weston and Sharpels had been going around together, but the gossips had not begun to get busy. A recent alleged discovery by Mrs. Sharpels, it is said, caused her to threaten to expose her husband, and the latter, according to stories told by other tenants of the house, had frequently said that he would kill her.

On one occasion, according to Landlord Stevenson's story, Mrs. Sharpels said she had found a bottle of poison in her husband's overcoat pocket, and one morning, Stevenson declares she told him, she awoke and found every gas jet in the kitchen turned on and she was nearly suffocated. It is said that she told Stevenson that one night, when about to retire, she saw her husband place something under his pillow, and on investigation she found it was a hammer.

Mrs. Sharpels often asked for protection from her husband recently, according to stories told by the landlord and by the family of William Amerman, who is also a tenant of the house. It is also stated that when his wife appealed to them he threatened his neighbors. He became worse, it is said, when he heard that his wife had made the statement that she was about to take action against him. The landlord declares that when he heard of the state of affairs he ordered Sharpels to move.

Just where Sharpels and Miss Weston are is not known at the present time, but it is expected that there will be developments in the case shortly, as Mrs. Sharpels' brother has been there. It is said that when Mrs. Sharpels and her brother left there they rode on the same train on which Miss Weston and Sharpels are alleged to have gone. It is said that the man and young woman boarded the train in this city, where he worked, to which place he had gone after leaving home.

Sharpels is an Englishman and makes claim to having aristocratic connections in his native land. About five years ago Miss Weston came from England, and Sharpels took her to his home, at 57 East High street, Somerville, where she was always treated as a daughter.

To a reporter yesterday Mrs. Sharpels says that her little daughter received a letter from New York from her father, in which the latter begged for a reconciliation. Mrs. Sharpels says she will have nothing further to do with her husband. Sharpels, in his letter, said, according to his wife, that he would leave the country unless a reconciliation was effected. It is understood at Somerville that he will be arrested if he attempts to leave the country.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Mrs. Christiana France, aged eighty-three years, died on Sunday at her home in Piscataway, near Stelton, from old age. She had been feeble for some time. She was a member of the Baptist church at Stelton and the pastor, Rev. W. T. Dorwood, had charge of the funeral services which were held from the late home at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Interment was made in the cemetery at Stelton.

The condition of Mrs. Stanley Day remains about the same. Her physicians have decided that an operation for the removal of the foot would prove fatal and other treatment is given to allay the intense pain and make the patient comfortable.

The local fire department will soon be equipped with some modern apparatus which will make the work of the department more effective.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Election for fire department officers will be held tonight in the town rooms. The tie vote cast at the regular election held several weeks ago has put both companies on their mettle and the electioneering being done to get the vote out would do credit to the annual election for township officers. Polls will be open from 8 to 9. Both companies will run the same ticket that was in the field at the regular election, Excelsior being headed by former Chief William B. Noble while the standard bearer of the Bucket and Engine Co. is William Jamison. An interesting contest is looked for as both sides will have out every available voter.

FIRST BILL THROUGH AFFECTS BOROUGH ACT.

Berg's Resolution Provides Release of Bills by Committees at One-third Members' Written Request.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—In the Senate Monday night a commendable effort was made to settle down to business, which resulted in the passage of one bill, passed under a suspension of the rules. It is a supplement to the borough act, is a committee substitute for Senate bill No. 4 and provides that any officer heretofore elected can take the oath of office within thirty days after the beginning of his term. The bill was introduced by Senator Hillery, of Morris, for the purpose of allowing borough officials to qualify who failed to take the oath of office within ten days after election, as required by law.

The House was in session about an hour yesterday morning and then adjourned to next Monday night, but before doing so passed the bill which passed the upper chamber Monday night.

Mr. Mills, of Morris, stood sponsor for the measure, and as soon as it appeared in the House started to push it through on a suspension of the rules. He was getting along swimmingly with his plan until it came to second reading, when Mr. Morgan called a halt by declaring that the members on his side of the house would like to know something about the measure before they voted upon it. He was greeted with cries of "Question!" "Question!" from some of the supporters of the State House machine, and Speaker Robbins suggested that Mr. Morgan wait until the bill came up on third reading.

The Essex man did so, and then Mr. Mills made the same explanation that was given in the Senate Monday night, to the effect that it was intended to permit borough officers to qualify within thirty days after taking their seats. The bill passed without a dissenting vote.

A number of bills were passed to second reading by the Senate Monday night, and then the Senate adjourned until yesterday.

The session of the House Monday night was as brief as that of the Senate and productive of no more real business. Mr. Berg, of Hudson, introduced a resolution, which, on motion of Leader Perkins, was referred to the Committee on Rules. It provides that upon the written request of one-third of the House a committee shall report a bill or resolution within one week after such request has been made upon the chairman of the committee. One bill was reported from the Committee on Game and Fishing and after the leader had announced committee hearings the House adjourned.

FAILS ON MURDERER'S TRAIL.

Dog Takes Up Scent of Negro Slayer of Miss Allinson, but Drops It.

Mount Holly, Jan. 24.—The use of a bloodhound to track the murderer of Miss Allinson ended in failure yesterday. When the negro went into the Strawbridge house on the day of the murder he took Bessie Walker up to the attic and told her to stay there and play. The dog was taken to the attic yesterday morning, and it quickly took up the scent and at once started to follow it about the house. The dog followed the trail to the trunk that was broken open by the negro, and then went to the bureau, the drawers of which were ransacked by the man.

Out of doors the dog sniffed around the yard for a time, but it soon became evident that he had lost the scent, and the trail was abandoned.

CAMDEN MAY AID COLBY.

Finance Committee Urges City Council to Favor Taxation Bill.

Camden, Jan. 24.—If City Council approves a resolution adopted by the finance committee last night, Camden will be placed in the list of cities favoring equal taxation and greatly assisting Senator Colby in the passage of his bill with that object in view.

City Solicitor Bleakly, in an opinion, called the attention of the members to the manner of assessment which he declared was not equal, as the heaviest part of the burden was borne by the small property owner, and cited as an instance the Public Service Corporation Company, which pays $10,000 annually on property assessed at $400,000, when the actual value of the property of the company was from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

His recommendation, which was adopted, was for City Council to pass a resolution calling on the Mayor to communicate with the various Mayors and city clerks throughout the State urging co-operation in assisting in the passage of Senator Colby's bill, known as Senate bill No. 11, providing for equal taxation.

The committee also took up a recommendation of Mayor Ellis in his annual message, requesting that some action be taken by which the charter can beamneded to make Camden a more modern city. It was decided to report favorably on the proposition and to have a committee appointed on framing a bill for passage by the Legislature to meet necessary requirements and have the same submitted to the voters at the election next fall.

Former Employes Explain.

The men who were in the employ of Freeholder William A. Westphal at the time his illness began, say they are in no way responsible for the condition of affairs at his livery stable. They assert that dealers would not trust them for feed, and when people in the neighborhood became tired of lending it to them they reported the matter to Mr. Westphal and his relatives, asking that something be done. Receiving no assurance that steps would be taken by them, they sought other positions, learning afterward that no one had been near the stable and that the horses had been left to starve.

NEW PLANK ROAD BILL FOR ESSEX AND HUDSON.

Provides for Widening Thoroughfare to 100 Feet, and Is Introduced by Mr. Walsh.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—The legislative committee of the Essex Freeholders, consisting of Supervisor David H. Johnson, Wallace M. Ougheltree, J. Edgar De Camp, Enos H. Harrison, Edward Jacobi and Charles D. Cleveland, came to Trenton last night with a new Plank road bill. With them was Joseph L. Munn, county counsel. Their bill provides for widening the Plank road to a width of 100 feet between the Hackensack and Passaic rivers, the terms of the widening to be arranged between Hudson and Essex freeholders. It is understood that Hudson shall pay three-eighths of the cost and Essex five-eighths. The bill gives authority to the two counties to acquire the land needed for the widening by contract, gift or condemnation if necessary, but it is said that most of the land needed will be donated by the owners. Authority is given to issue bonds to run fifty years and bear four per cent. interest, but as the work of construction will be difficult, necessitating piling probably on account of the marshy condition of the ground, no limit is placed upon the cost in the bill.

The committee gave the bill to Mr. Martin and requested him to introduce it, but he did not do so last night as, he told the committee, he desired to read it over carefully first.

Last year Assemblyman Manners secured the passage of two bills for the same object as amendments to the law of 1905, but that law was wiped out by another bill passed last year.

This year's bill evidently proved satisfactory to the Essex men, for yesterday morning it was introduced by Mr. Walsh.

Statehood Bill Up.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Representative Hamilton, of Michigan, chairman of the House Committee on Territories, yesterday submitted to the House the report of that committee, favoring the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as one and Arizona and New Mexico as another State. The report of the minority opposing Statehood for Arizona and New Mexico was presented by Representative Moon, of Tennessee. The fight on the bill will be opened tomorrow, when the Republican "insurgents" will join with the Democrats to defeat the accompanying rule prohibiting amendments. Both sides profess confidence in the outcome.

TRAIN RAMS TROLLEY, PASSENGERS ESCAPE.

Women and Men Have Close Call at River Street Crossing in Paterson, N. J.

Four women and three men passengers in a trolley car had a narrow escape from death in a collision with an Erie train at the River street crossing, Paterson, at 7:30 o'clock last night. The fog was so dense that it was impossible for the flagman to see the train approach, and he lowered the gates at the usual time.

After waiting six minutes the trolley crew became impatient. The flagman raised the gates and the motorman started. The car was on the crossing when the headlight of the train flared up in the fog. Shouts of warning sent the passengers fleeing and all escape just in time. The car was completely wrecked.

Earlier in the day a Broadway car filled with passengers was grazed by a train at the Broadway crossing.

WOMAN FIGHTS OFF FOUR MEN.

Attacked and Dragged Into Cellar, She Forces Them to Free Her.

Four Greeks were arraigned in the First Criminal Court in Newark yesterday morning and committed to the Essex county jail in default of $1,000 bail each, charged with attacking Mrs. Emma Meyer, of No. 37 Baldwin street, Newark, in Plane street, while she was on her way home.

Mrs. Meyer, with her clothing torn to shreds and her hair dishevelled, met Patrolman Franks late on Sunday night and told him that she had been attacked by four strangers, who dragged her into a cellar and kept her there for more than a hour, during which time she fought them off. They were finally forced to let her go.

Susquehanna Train Runs Into "Modoc"—One May Dying.

One man was injured last night in a collision between a New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad passenger train and a Pennsylvania Railroad workingmen's train, called the "Modoc," on the Pennsylvania tracks at the Marion station in Jersey City.

The "Modoc" was standing at the station receiving railway employes bound for the meadow shops when the Susquehanna train, which had left Jersey City eight minutes before, ran into it. Arthur Brew, of No. 79 Colgate street, Jersey City, was thrown from the rear platform and his left leg broken. The last car of the "Modoc" was slightly damaged.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 24.—It is reported here that W. H. L. Edwards, nephew of Charles A. Edwards, who died mysteriously here, has put the case in the hands of James Sweet, a detective in New York city, the family of Mr. Edwards not accepting Coroner Mix's finding.

"I am reading the testimony as a matter of interest, so that I may be familiar with it if new evidence should come up. In that event this office would get into the case."

Katz Denied Citizenship.

Hyman Katz, of 210 Madison street, Manhattan, wants to become a citizen, but as he served a term in jail four years ago, Judge Thomas, of the United States Court, Brooklyn, denied yesterday his application, on the ground that enough evidence of Katz's good character has not been presented to the court. It was before Judge Thomas that Katz pleaded guilty June 13, 1901, to a charge of working in an unregistered distillery. He was sentenced to serve six months in the Rockland county prison.

TO AILING WOMEN.

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Plainfield.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the urine when the kidneys are well are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder get inflamed and swollen, crowding the delicate female organs nearby and sometimes displacing them. This is the true cause of many bearing-down pains, lameness, backache, sideache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that cures sick kidneys. You will get better as the kidneys get better, and health will return when the kidneys are well. Let a Plainfield woman tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. M. Newman, of 536 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For some time I was a constant sufferer from various kidney ailments, among which were violent headaches and a continuous pain in the limbs, which gave me no rest, day or night. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and sent to Randolph's pharmacy for a supply. They seemed to take effect at once and soon after I began using them, my head got better, and the pain and stiffness left my limbs and joints. I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for such troubles as mine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

7 Good Reasons

Why You Should Shop At

HAHNE & CO.'S

Newark's Store Beautiful.

1 Stocks are Enormous, as complete as in the best of New York City stores, and many departments are more thoroughly stocked and goods are more advantageously displayed than in any store in America. Qualities are as high and cover a wider range of grades than in most of the big stores of the country, meeting practically every purse without dragging quality to a low level.

2 Styles of Goods and garments are strictly up-to-date and far in advance of the average store, vieing with the most exclusive metropolitan shops. Our buyers are the only ones in New Jersey who are sent abroad to work in conjunction with our Paris representatives and to post themselves on the trend of fashion, and our facilities otherwise for keeping posted are unsurpassed by any dry goods organization in America, making this store a fashion authority.

3 Time is Saved the shopper at this establishment because of the completeness, variety and convenient arrangement of the stocks, the bringing together into one harmonious whole, practically 100 full-fledged stores under one roof, making it easy to get anything needed for personal or home adornment in the one store.

4 Money is Saved, first, because, by being able to make many purchases under one roof, your time is saved; secondly, by having a large corps of the most skilled managing buyers and handling such immense quantities of merchandise, we secure advantages that do not accrue to lesser concerns, enabling us to sell dependable grades of goods at the lowest possible prices at all times.

5 Conveniences and comforts are provided our patrons almost with prodigality. Perfect ventilation, the many, broad, roomy, light, airy aisles throughout the establishment, the ten large, airy, speedy elevators, the mezzanine floor rest rooms—with their easy chairs, writing desks, etc.—the elaborate toilet rooms, the nursery for the children, the temporary hospital—with its cots and trained nurses—the splendid restaurant; the smoking room for men, all contribute in a very material way to your comfort.

6 Safety in Shopping here is absolute, and in a dual way. First, there is safety in purchasing anything we sell, the qualities being the highest obtainable for the money, and the privilege of returning unsatisfactory goods being always extended to you unless so specified at time of sale. Second, the building is absolutely fireproof in its construction—the only store of its kind in all New Jersey. It has great entrances and exits on three streets, stairways aplenty conveniently located, every appliance for the prompt extinguishing of an incipient blaze; the elevators are of the most modern construction—all metal—and with powerful hydraulic supports, making it impossible for an elevator to fall.

7 Local Pride, not only of Newarkers, but of all Jerseymen, in one of the grandest, one of the largest, and, admittedly the most skilfully planned, best arranged and most complete mercantile establishment in the world, should be sufficient in itself to impel you to do your trading here. This store is an institution worthy in every way of the patronage of the most conspicuous as well as the most humble of the citizens of New Jersey, for HAHNE & CO.'S is

A STATE STORE.

GLADYS DEAR GETS OUT HER HAMMER.

Editor of the Metuchen Recorder Doesn't Approve Judicial Findings of the Domine Editor.

The appointment of Rev. S. B. D. Prickitt, editor of the Metuchen Recorder, of the borough, evidently did not overplease Miss Gladys Kempson, the editor of the Metuchen Inquirer, Metuchen's rival to the Recorder.

The Dominie-Editor-Judge handled the case of a half-dozen small boys who had called Principal Wilson, of the New Durham school, some names, and this is the way Miss Kempson's editorial column rang with criticism on Saturday:

"From all accounts, the squabble between six school boys and Lloyd Wilson, who, as a school teacher might be supposed to have some judgment in handling boys, began by Wilson being the aggressor. As the matter has come to us, it was he who first struck the boys, one of whom had addressed him by a sobriquet, which after long usage it was supposed he had become accustomed to, if not entirely pleased with.

"Wilson, being a man, it was but natural that the boys resented his blow to one of their comrades, as they were but chidren.

"It seems to us that Wilson was the one who should have been arrested. The whole matter has taken a most unjudicial and contemptible aspect. Rev. S. B. D. Prickitt, who sits as recorder, is absolutely unfit for such an office. He knows no law; has no discretion. If it were a criminal case, he would, in justice, have to hold the parties over to the Grand Jury. Wilson deserved, at least, a severe reprimand for striking the children. We do not wish to defend the boys, however, and it is hoped that they have been taught a lesson in future, not to take the law in their own hands, but make their complaint to the proper persons."

PLEA TO ADVANCE CASE OF JERSEY MURDERESS.

Attorney General McCarter's Motion Taken Under Advisement by U. S. Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Attorney General R. H. McCarter, of New Jersey, filed with the Supreme Court of the United States yesterday a motion to advance the hearing of arguments in the appeal of Mrs. Anna Valentina, convicted of murder in Hackensack. The motion was taken under advisement by the court. James M. Trimble, of Newark, attorney for Mrs. Valentina, was unable to be present, owing to illness.

In his brief, accompanying his motion, Mr. McCarter sets forth that Anna Valentina was sentenced to death May 19, 1904, and that the execution has been delayed since then. The administration of justice in New Jersey, he said, is in peril of discredit by the assertions made in Mrs. Valentina's behalf, and, inasmuch as it is a capital case, prompt disposition of the appeal is asked.

A final decision in the case will be rendered by the court next Monday.

ATTEMPT MADE TO WRECK LACKAWANNA TRAIN.

Bolt Was Placed in a Frog, But Train Fortunately Passed Over It.

It was learned last night that an attempt was made to wreck a passenger train on the Lackawanna road at the bend between Morristown and Morris Plains.

A large bolt was placed in a frog. When struck by a train leaving Morristown at 5:10 p. m. the bolt snapped, breaking a piece of the rail.

As Rooney, the switchman, could not throw the switch he made an investigation and reported to the railroad officials. Lackawanna detectives are of the opinion that the work was done by men employed on the road.

Miss Rose Rubenstein, of East Seventh street, returned home last night after a two weeks' visit with friends in New York.

Plainfield, N. J., January 24, 1906.

The most effectual way of eliminating the lobby at Trenton would be to raise the standard of lawmakers.

Belmont, Keene, Vanderbilt, Morgan, Depew, Lawson and Cassatt were the easy prey of Col. Mann. And yet they are known as shrewd men.

Senator Colby was the only one who had the courage to vote against the confirmation of Dill's appointment to a judgeship. Good for Colby.

When he accepted the nomination, Senator Frelinghuysen, of Somerset, promised that he would do all in his power for proper automobile legislation. He is carrying out that promise now, and if his bill becomes a law, not only will many of the evils be eradicated, but the State treasury will be enriched a hundred thousand dollars a year.

AUTO BILL INTRODUCED.

Frelinghuysen's Measure Presented to the Senate Yesterday.

Senator Frelinghuysen, of Somerset county, introduced in the State Senate yesterday an automobile bill most radical in its provisions. It provides for an annual State registration fee of fifty cents per horse power for all vehicles and an additional fee of twenty-five cents per horse power for all drivers.

If the bill should become a law in its present form, it would bring the State an annual revenue of about $125,000, which would be devoted to the improvement and repair of the stone roads in the State. The number of automobile licenses issued by New Jersey in the three years the present law has been in force has been 14,619, for which the State received a dollar each, or $14,619. A dollar is also charged under the present law for each transfer of license, and there have been about 400 of these, so that the total income to the State on account of automobiles in the three years has been about $15,000, or $5,000 a year.

UTILITY FRANCHISES ON THE AUCTION BLOCK.

Is the Plan Proposed by Barber Bill Introduced Yesterday—Would Limit Their Lease of Life.

Assemblyman Alfred N. Barber, of Trenton, sprung a new idea in franchise legislation yesterday when he introduced a bill in the house the distinctive feature of which is that all public utility franchises shall be granted by competitive bidding. The bill was drawn by Mr. Barber and embodies his views on the franchise question.

The bill is entitled "An act regulating the granting of rights, privileges and franchises, and renewals thereof, by municipalities in this State to individuals, associations or corporations, to use public streets, highways and public places for public utility purposes." No franchises are to be granted except in accordance with the provisions of the act.

OUR NAVY BEST—ROOSEVELT.

Declares Americans Could Whip the Japanese, Ship for Ship.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Dr. James Scherer, president of Newberry College, of Newberry, S. C., who lived in Japan several years, had a talk with the President today regarding the Japanese and the Japanese navy.

Dr. Scherer expressed the opinion that, man for man, the Japanese navy was the best in the world. The President immediately took issue with him, maintaining that the American navy was the best. He was of opinion that, in the unfortunate event of war between America and Japan, the Americans would defeat the Japanese, ship for ship. He expressed, however, his great admiration for the fighting qualities of the Japanese.

OPPOSED BILL HAS BEEN WITHDRAW

Mr. Martin Explains the Introduction of the Anti-Grade Crossing Measure.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—Assemblyman Martin yesterday withdrew from the files of the House bill 14, to which the citizens of Orange have taken so much objection. This is the bill relating to the abolishment of grade crossings, and in speaking of his action in withdrawing it, Mr. Martin said last night:

"I originally prepared a bill on the general lines of the Assembly bill 14, at the request of the Roseville Citizens' Committee which was revised and approved by Sheriff Sommer. This bill permitted all municipalities to apply to the Court of Chancery to abolish dangerous grade crossings without expense to municipality. It was introduced in 1903 by Assemblyman Garrabrants. It never came out of committee. It was modified to apply to cities of the first class only, and again met similar fate in 1904.

"In 1905 further concessions were made in the bill to railroads permitting the court to determine what portion of the cost should be paid by cities of the first class. Mr. Taylor introduced it, but it was opposed by the railroads, as the manner of doing the work and laying out the general plan was taken away from the railroads and placed in the Court of Chancery.

"Senator Bacheller sought to pass another bill on the subject, but it met with general opposition. This session I took the original bill 99 of last session and interlined it, intending to allow elevation or depression without expense to any city, except not to exceed one-half the cost of changing street pavements, water pipes and sewers, if improved, at the discretion of the chancellor.

"It was introduced with a view to assist Orange, East Orange and the city of Newark. I am and have always been opposed to the city paying anything toward an improvement on the railroads, and if the bill as originally introduced or as printed is ambiguous I shall take pleasure in amending it or withdrawing it and substituting another, which will accomplish the purpose without equivocation."

Yesterday Mr. Martin said that at a near day he would introduce another measure for the same object.

NEW JERSEY AFFAIRS AT NATIONAL CAPITOL.

Doings in the Senate of Interest to People in This State.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Senator Kean has introduced a bill to correct the military record of William J. Morris.

William Hamilton H. has been appointed postmaster at Ocean Grove.

Senator Dryden has been notified that the War Department will be prepared in a few days to turn over to the Historical Society the patent or deed for the portion of the Gloucester battlefield which Congress voted last year to be set aside for memorial purposes.

Both New Jersey Senators have filed resolutions from citizens of Elizabeth, asking for the passage of the pending pure food bill; also resolutions from the Commercial Law League of America, asking for the passage of the Lodge bill for the reorganization of the consular service; also resolutions from the American Mining Congress of Denver, asking for the establishment of a national department of mines and mining, the chief officer of which shall be a member of the President's Cabinet. The passage of other laws for the benefit of mining interests is also asked. This memorial has been sent to every member of the Senate and House and a strong effort will be made to pass such a bill.

A memorial from the New Jersey State Historical Society, signed by Mary W. Budd, its secretary, of Mt. Holly, has also been sent to all members of the delegation in the two houses, asking for the support of the Adams bill providing for an increase in the annual appropriations for experiment stations.

Senator Dryden has introduced a bill to increase the pension of William Hibbs, late of Company L, Third N. J. Infantry, to $24 a month. Adjutant-General Breintnall and others of prominence in the State are very much interested in this bill, and have urged the Senator to introduce it and advocate its passage.

Wiley on the Canal.

Washington, Jan. 24.—During Monday's session of the House, when a discussion of the Panama Canal was in progress, the suggestion that the work should be done by contract received the emphatic support of Mr. Wiley (Rep., N. J.). He further declared that what was first needed was a satisfactory definite plan, and that could be secured only from practical canal men. Of the present commission he said only one, Mr. Harrod, had any practical knowledge of canal construction.

Mrs. Kennedy Buried.

Samuel Kennedy, a former resident of this city, died at her home in Brooklyn on Monday, and the funeral services were held at her home in Plymouth church, in that city, this afternoon. She was a cousin of Mrs. A. L. Force and of T. O. Doane, John H., Charles and Hervey Doane.

The January sale of furniture at Woodhull & Martin's store is now in full swing. Goods can be purchased now and held for future delivery if desired, by paying a small deposit. You will find a large stock of furniture from which to make your selections, such as couches, bed outfits, chairs, rockers, etc., all at low prices. Hair mattresses will be renovated and made over equal to new at prices lower than usual. An inspection of the stock will repay you many times.

The January Furniture Sale

has developed into a

Great Expansion and Alteration Sale.

It's hardly three years since we took possession of this big building, and at that time we thought we'd have room enough for all time to come. But our Furniture, Carpet and Housefurnishing Departments have made such rapid strides that we're compelled to add nearly 10,000 feet of floor space, and while we were at it we decided to build large enough to have room for the Carpet Department on the main floor, so, when these alterations are completed the Furniture and Carpets will be together on the main floor and the Housefurnishing in the basement. The contracts have been given out and the carpenters, masons, painters, etc., will soon be clamoring to commence work, but before they do commence we've got to get rid of about $10,000 worth of Furniture that was bought for the January Sale. We thought the prices were down to the lowest notch, but this new move means that they must go down still lower. You can imagine what this means when every manufacturer in the country is advancing prices. This is a chance of a lifetime to buy new, up-to-date Furniture for about what it costs to make.

FEAR ITALIAN RIOT AT BIG DEMONSTRATION.

Orange Officials Plan Quick Suppression of Trouble.

Orange, Jan. 24.—The Orange police have unearthed plans on the part of the Italians for a big demonstration to be held tomorrow night. The Italians did not send out circulars this time; instead they have quietly passed the word around among themselves. Several socialists have promised to be present, and the projectors of the meeting purpose to have a big time if the police don't interfere.

Chief of Police George P. Washer announced yesterday that he would not permit the meeting to be held. He said, it necessary, he would detail the entire police force to the spot, and as fast as persons tried to hold the meeting they would be arrested. When the city lockup is filled, the chief says, he has other quarters all engaged for the big batch of prisoners he expects to make.

Two companies of the Fifth Regiment, National Guard of New Jersey, have announced that they will hold themselves ready for service if the crowd gets too strenuous for the police, and the fire department will also hold itself in reserve.

OUT OF PRISON; SCALDS WIFE.

She'll Not Testify Against Husband on Attempted Murder Charge.

Millville, Jan. 24.—Arriving at Millville from prison, where he had been serving a sentence of several months for wife beating, James McCall told his wife to prepare for death. He took a boiler of hot water from the stove and threw it over her. The woman is horribly burned and physicians fear she will not recover. She said last night that she will not testify against him if he recovers. McCall was sent to jail by Justice Miller for ninety days, charged with being drunk. He will be rearrested and tried for attempted murder when his present sentence expires.

Several palefaces were adopted at the meeting of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, last night.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The advance sale for the Elks' minstrel show has been very heavy and at the present time a good part of the house has been bought up. There is no doubt but what the local artists will be given a rousing reception and that the size of the audience will equal the one at the night performance of "Johnny Jones."

Willie Collier appears at the New Plainfield on Saturday night, February 10, in Augustus Thomas' comedy, "On the Quiet." There will be no matinee, this being the first Saturday afternoon performance that has been skipped since the house opened. Mr. Collier has refused to play matinees since his road tour began.

Fred Bennett, the genial stage manager of the local theatre, has been busy since Monday answering letters of congratulation over his narrow escape from injury in the Jersey Central wreck at Berckman street. He has a host of friends in the theatrical world and he has already heard from a great many of them since it became known that he was on the Easton express and was showered with broken glass.

George M. Cohan's latest play, "George Washington, Jr.," will have its premiere at Springfield, Mass. The author, who is a personal friend of Manager Counihan, takes the title role and today the New Plainfield's manager sent him the following telegram:

"Plainfield and the whole world bows to your superiority in the impersonation of the Father of Our Country. W. J. Counihan."

"The Galloper," Richard Harding Davis' new farce which was first performed in this city, is to be rendered into book form by the author. Mr. Davis has been a prolific writer as a war correspondent, novelist and dramatist. The idea of rendering a play into "story" form is not a new one; several authors have hitherto tried it with more or less success. The most notable instance, perhaps, was that of Wilson Barrett, who "novelized" "The Sign of the Cross."

Books Printed in Japan.

San Francisco, Jan. 24.—Customs Collector Stratton is holding up a consignment of American school textbooks printed in Japan, pending further investigation as to their admissibility. They are first, second, third and fourth readers, and are believed to be a violation of copyright of readers used in the public schools of the United States. The wholesale price is invoiced as seven and one-half cents per copy. The wholesale price charged by the American publishers is fifty-seven cents per copy, 800 per cent. higher.

TO DIVIDE TAXES ON THE RAILROADS.

Miller Bills Set Forth Two Plans for Distributing the Moneys.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—Assemblyman Lewis H. Miller, of Cumberland, the home county of Governor Stokes, has anticipated the "Administration," as the supporters of the State house machine still call themselves, and introduced a bill providing for the disposition of the taxes raised under the bill introduced last week by Leader Perkins from the taxation of railroad main stem property. Governor Stokes intended to have presented such a measure himself and said that he was only waiting before doing so to see what would become of his taxation bill. Mr. Miller labeled his bill very carefully "By request."

It is an equal taxation act similar to Assembly bill No. 1, but distributes the moneys as follows: One-half of one per centum of the entire assessed valuation shall be retained by the State treasury for general State purposes; the balance shall be distributed by the State treasurer to reduce the State school tax.

Mr. Miller introduced another distribution measure in order to have it ready in case the first does not prove satisfactory. The second one provides that one-half of one per centum of the entire assessed valuation shall be retained by the State treasurer for general State purposes; the balance shall be distributed by the treasurer among the several municipalities through which the railroads and canals may run, in proportion to the value of the main stem or waterway located in each such municipality.

HE WOULD AMEND THE PRIMARY LAW.

Martin Bill Delays Preliminary Voting Except in Gubernatorial Years.

Trenton, Jan. 24—Primary reform held the center of the stage in the House yesterday morning. Mr. Martin introduced his bill amending the primary law in several important particulars.

It provides that the primaries shall be held two weeks later than they are now, except when Gubernatorial candidates are to be elected. The necessity for beginning a Gubernatorial campaign earlier than the other campaigns is the cause of the exception.

Provision is made for a recount of a primary vote by extending to primaries the provisions for a recount of the general election law. A way is also provided for amending formal defects in the petitions.

Remembering the confusion and trouble the Essex men had last fall, because the county convention was held the day after the primaries, another provision of Mr Martin's bill provides that no convention shall be held within three days of the primaries.

All county committees must be elected at the primaries. Now it is optional with the committees whether they will be elected at the primaries.

In furtherance of primary reform, Mr. Bierck, of Hudson, introduced a direct primary law. It is a voluminous bill, and provides that all nominees for all elective offices in the State shall be chosen directly at the primaries, just as ward officers are now, instead of at conventions.

ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR "THE NOOSE."

Bill Changing Death Penalty Method Calls for All Executions in State Prison.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—The much-talked of bill substituting electricity for the rope in the execution of persons condemned to death was introduced in the Senate Monday night by Senator Wakelee, of Bergen county. It provides that the death penalty shall be inflicted by electrocution; that executions shall take place within the State prison limits, and that the body of the executed shall be interred with quicklime unless claimed by relatives. The bill will, in all probability, have a hard time, and is more likely to die in the Judiciary Committee, to which it was referred, than to become a law. A similar bill last year, providing that all hangings should take place in the prison, was strongly opposed by Warden Osborne, of the State prison, who did not want the job of killing people, and the citizens of Trenton, who did not want the opprobrious term of "hangman's town" applied to their flourishing city.

Among the other bills in the Senate were:

Mr. McKee, supplement to building and loan associations act. Regulates purchase and sale of lands by trustees appointed to wind up affairs of building and loan associations.

Mr. Hutchinson, authorizes incorporated cities, boroughs, towns, villages and townships to borrow money and negotiate temporary loans in anticipation of the receipt of taxes and assessments, and to secure the repayment of money so borrowed.

John's Bathing Experiment.

John Cose, a Plainfield boy, broke through the ice on the New Market pond Thursday, and thought he was going to drown. "Is there no one to help me?" he cried, and a score of boys began to heave a pile of cordwood into the water, so that he was able to keep afloat till they had leisure to help him out without getting wet themselves.—The Constitutionalist, January 1, 1891.

Sesame Club Meeting.

The Sesame Club will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. J. Hervey Doane, of 425 East Seventh street.

SILENT AS TO TALK WITH THE PRESIDENT.

Jersey City's Mayor and Counsel, However, Are Pleased with Their Reception.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—Mayor Mark M. Fagan and Corporation Counsel George L. Record, of Jersey City, arrived at the State House from Washington shortly before noon yesterday. They were enthusiastic over their visit to the White House and unstinted in their praise of President Roosevelt as a host.

At the luncheon Monday Mayor Fagan was the guest of honor and sat at the President's right. The other guests besides Mr. Record were Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Alice Roosevelt and her fiance, Nicholas Longworth; former Mayor Fleishman, of Cincinnati; Secretary Taft, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, the President's sister, Major Barber, U. S. A., who has just returned from the Philippines; the army officers who are in attendance at the White House and Lincoln Steffens.

During the dinner the President directed much of his attention to Mayor Fagan. After the luncheon the President withdrew to a corner with Mayor Fagan and Mr. Record and engaged in earnest conversation with the Mayor for some time. What the purport of this conversation was, neither the Mayor nor Mr. Record would divulge, saying that to speak would be discourteous to the President.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Henrietta Crosman will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night, in a revival of "As You Like It" and in the character of Rosalind, most famous of her impersonations and the most brilliant portrayal of Shakespeare's comedy heroine ever seen in this country. While this assertion may seem strong it is based on the unanimous verdict of the New York critics who have pronounced unreservedly in praise of Miss Crosman's work in the Shakespearian play. Everybody who keeps in touch with the drama is aware of the distinct success this artist has achieved in "As You Like It." Her portrayal of Rosalind is the most brilliant accomplishment of her theatrical career. She comes to this city direct from a New York engagement in "As You Like It," and will be supported by the entire company that appeared with her at the Garrick theatre revival of the Shakespearian play. The cast will include such well known players as Malcolm Dunn, William Herbert, Addison Pitt, William Owen, Willard Bowman, George Sumner, Helene Wintner, Louise Galloway, and Irma Perry. The New York verdict on this company was that it was superior to any other seen in that city in "As You Like It."

The representative melodramatic production of the season will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, and is called "The House of Mystery," a play in four acts, written by the successful author, Langdon McCormick. Each and every act abounds in wholesome comedy, sentiment, pathos and original effects, infolding a plot new in theme, sensation, realistic portrayed by an exceptionally clever company of players, while as a scenic production, it far excels anything of its kind heretofore presented. The Mittenthal Bros.' Amusement Company in offering this attraction to the public has spared no expense in making "The House of Mystery" rank first among all others of its class. The electrical effects, illusions, etc., as introduced in the third act of the play is a work of stage mechanism once seen, always remembered. Let nothing prevent you from seeing "The House of Mystery."

The announcement of the production at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night of Paul Armstrong's new comedy, "The Heir to the Hoorah," has special interest for many people who will remember Mr. Armstrong as the sprightly, sporting writer, who erstwhile entertained his readers with picturesque accounts of pugilistic encounters over the signature "Right Cross." Mr. Armstrong is said by New York critics, who are familiar with his personality, to have come pretty close to duplicating himself in the character of Bud Young, the husky and emphatic partner of Joe and Dave Lacy in "The Hoorah" nine. One of Armstrong's favorite metaphors, familiar to all his acquaintances, he has put in the mouth of Bud Young in Act II of the comedy. Meeting for the first time, Miss Madge Casey, Mr. Young is overcome with her manifest charms, and tells her so in these words: "Say, you've got the rest of them beat the length of the Santa Fe Trail."

Lively farce will rule the stage of the New Plainfield theatre Saturday night, February 10. William Collier, clever, funny and essentially American, is to present "On the Quiet," a comedy by Augustus Thomas. Mr. Collier visits Plainfield for the first time since his London successes, with a prestige gained by few of our native players. He has just returned from a visit of four months in London, where his performances of "The Dictator," and "On the Quiet" set the English metropolis by the ears and earned the patronage of the royal family.

RECEPTION TO HONOR REV. DR. C. R. BARNES.

Former Plainfield Pastor Will Be Seventy Years Young February 1.

One of the best known and best loved of the many ministers who have labored in the Methodist churches of Jersey City is Rev. Dr. Charles Randall Barnes, formerly pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, and Thursday, February 1, his friends are to be given opportunity to give him special honors. For on that day the venerable clergyman will have reached the psalmist allotted span of life.

A reception has been arranged by Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Barnes, a brother of Rev. C. R. Barnes, at their home, 25 Kensington avenue, Jersey City, for the evening of February 1, that friends may congratulate the doctor on his birthday. It will be held from 5 until 9 o'clock.

Dr. Barnes is one of the best known men in the Newark conference. He has had many charges, filling each comfortably, and has always been prominent in the work of the denomination. For the past few years he has been retired from active service, but is always ready to fill a vacant pulpit or to help in any way the church of which he has been a minister for so many years. Dr. Barnes has been pastor in Jersey City several times, having had charge of Hedding church, and also the church in Lafayette.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." FOR THE GENTLER SEX

SOME GOOD RECIPES.

Boiled Custard.

Heat three and one-half cups of milk in a double boiler and pour onto the yolks of six eggs beaten with one-half cup of sugar and mixed with half a cup of cold milk. Stir well and turn back into the double boiler to cook until a spoon will be coated when dipped into the custard.

Tomato Sauce.

Put one-half of a common sized onion sliced thin into one pint of canned tomato and cook half an hour. Rub through a strainer to take out the seeds. Add a rounding tablespoon of butter, rubbed smooth with two level teaspoons of cornstarch, a level teaspoon of sugar and a saltspoon of pepper. Cook three minutes.

Corn Meal Mush.

Put one cup of corn meal into a double boiler and pour on one and one-half cups of boiling water. Let stand one hour, turn in two cups of milk and cook an hour, adding a saltspoon of salt. Serve with milk.

Sausages and Mashed Potato.

Prick the sausage several times with a steel fork and lay in a frying pan with boiling water to cover. Drain and fry until browned on all sides. Make a bed of mashed potato on a platter and arrange the sausages on it. Garnish with a sprig of parsley and serve hot.

Chicken Timbals.

Heat one cup of milk in a double boiler, add two level teaspoons of cornstarch mixed with a little cold milk. Cook five minutes, add a tablespoon of melted butter and two eggs beaten well. Stir in one cup of minced chicken and two tablespoons of chicken gravy or stock seasoned highly with salt, celery salt and a little pepper. Turn into buttered timbal molds and steam one-half hour. Turn on serving plates and add a spoonful of tomato sauce to each.

Luncheon Dish.

Season one quart of hot mashed potatoes with salt, butter and a little cream or hot milk to make rather moist. Put the potato in a shallow pudding dish well buttered and hollow out the center to hold a little more than a cup. Chop the remnants of cold boiled ham fine and season with a teaspoon of vinegar, a little mustard and pepper and add a tablespoon of butter rubbed with a level teaspoon of flour. Brush the inside and outside of the potato with a beaten egg, pour the seasoned ham into the center and set the whole into the oven to heat the meat and brown the potato. Or the ham may be heated through in a saucepan before pouring into the potato and fine crumbs be sifted over the whole.—Newark Advertiser.

LITERARY NOTES.

The February Century is called the midwinter fiction number—it is also an issue of distinctive Keats interest, and a number beautiful in its color and tint pages, including as it does another of Anna Whelan Betts' quaintly charming pictures of life fifty years ago, "The Guitar;" the fourth of Ivanowski's beautiful sketches of the seasons, "Winter;" in tint, the "standard portrait" of Keats by Joseph Severn, an illustration by Harrison Fisher; and, most notable of all, another of Timothy Cole's engravings of old Spanish Masters, St. Agnes, by Alonzo Cano. Madame de Pastourelle, promising to prove one of the most appealing and charming characters Mrs. Ward has drawn, is the dominant figure in the February chapters of "Fenwick's Career." There will be keen interest, too, in the first chapter of the new novel of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, "A Diplomatic Adventure," which opens in Paris with a mystery and promise of a duel which may or may not unravel the mystery. Elliott Flower, whose stories have a happy way of dealing with questions of the day, has a specially lively and timely tale in "The Bride That Went Astray," in which the denouement is quite as much of a surprise to the characters as to the reader. There are half a dozen other short stories, including "The Intellectual Miss Lamb," by Florence Morse Kingsley, author of "The Transfiguration of Miss Philura," "The Singular Miss Smith," and "Titus."

True stories of important movements and of good, healthy combat are the dominant traits of McClue's for February. Even after the peep behind the curtains afforded by the sessions of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and of the legislative insurance investigation, and by the upheavals of last fall's political campaign, there are disclosures in this number concerning railroad abuses, life insurance juggling, and political trickery which will take hard hold of every citizen. There is the case of Everett Colby, "The Gentleman from Essex" told by Lincoln Steffens, which is full of the sturdy effort of honesty and youth. It shows how a young man, with aggressiveness and a conscience can beat the machine to a standstill and wins for himself more than the machine dared give him because he was honest. Ray Stannard Baker, continuing his series, "The Railroads on Trial," tells the astonishing story of how Armour, through his private car line, monopolized the fruit transportation business of America, practically told the railroads that they might as well burn their own refrigerator-cars, and, turning to the shipper reaped a golden harvest by daring and open methods. Then he writes of the revolt of honest shippers against Armour. An editorial under the title "Manufacturing Public Opinion," lets in a little light on the shadows of the publicity making methods which has gilded the rotten structures of the life insurance companies, and of the get-rich-quick-at-any-cost corporations; and it lets the public gaze on these publicity men fooling some editors and buying others, but always drawing the wool over the eyes of paying citizens, of whose press they try to make a trust trumpet.

ELKS LODGE MEMBERS DROVE HER TO SUICIDE.

Their Conduct With Town Clerk's Wife Ended in His Killing Himself.

Bridgeport, Jan. 24.—Four city officials, each a member of the local lodge of Elks, will be brought before an investigating committee headed by Mayor Reynolds to answer charges for unseemly conduct with Mrs. William S. Schreiber, wife of Town Clerk William S. Schreiber, who committed suicide Friday by inhaling gas. It is charged now that these men, by their behavior, were more or less responsible for the act of the town clerk, who was held in high esteem by the public.

The local lodge of Elks held a meeting last night to expel these four members from the lodge, as their actions were in violation of the laws of the order, of which the deceased town clerk was a prominent member.

One of the accused men is the City Hall janitor, Patrick McLaughlin, who was driving about Bridgeport early Thursday morning with Mrs. Schreiber, whom he afterward left at a resort along the shore in Milford. Indignation is high against the accused men and nothing short of dismissal from public positions will satisfy the people. Janitor McLaughlin cannot be found.

Seven Women Stabbed.

St. Louis, Jan. 24.—Seven women were stabbed Monday evening while on their way home from their places of employment, all being attacked on crowded thoroughfares in the downtown district. Miss Cora Davis was attacked at Eighth and Olive streets, Miss Rita Martin on Ninth near Olive, Miss Maude Hall at Eleventh and Olive, Miss Mary Tilley at Eleventh and Locust, Miss Grace Oglesby at Eleventh street and Washington avenue near Eleventh street, and Mrs. Martha Young at Twelfth street and Washington avenue. Six of the women received stab wounds in the lower limbs and the seventh in the shoulder. A sharp, double-edged weapon was used. The attacks were made between the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock in the evening.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TO PASS ON FEE BILL.

Senator Jackson Has Asked for McCarter's Legal Opinion on His Measure's Constitutionality.

In order that the Anti-Fee bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Jackson may have no obstacle in its way when it is brought to a vote in the upper branch of the Legislature, that measure has been placed in the hands of Attorney General McCarter, who is carefully going over every provision in the bill with particular reference to the constitutionality thereof.

That there might be no doubt about it, and also to prevent the bill being sent back for revision, thus delaying its passage, Senator Jackson decided not to take any chances and asked the Attorney General to give an opinion as to whether or not the measure was constitutional in every particular. Senator Jackson said yesterday:

"I have not the slightest doubt that the bill for the abolition of fees for county officials will go through the Senate with a rush, but in order that no objection can be made on its constitutionality I have had the attorney general to carefully look it over. That would be the only objection which I can discover to its passage. Even in a county like Gloucester, where the county officials would only receive $2,000 a year, there is no objection to the bill. Senator Avis, of that county, is in favor of it.

"I notice that some of the Democratic organs are objecting to the bill, but that is partisan opposition, pure and simple. It is not against the bill itself. It has also been suggested, I see, that a better plan would be to fix the salary limit, beyond which the counties could not go and leave it to them to decide how close to the limit they would approach. Off-hand, I should say that such a method would be unconstitutional, and it is for just such features as that which caused me to ask the opinion of the attorney general."

GEN. MURRAY TO GIVE WAR SKETCH TO REGIMENT.

Colonel Patrick Collins Likely to be Custodian of the Picture.

Quartermaster General C. Edward Murray will shortly present to the Second Regiment, for hanging on the wall of Colonel Collins' headquarters, at Trenton, a picture taken in 1862 of the old Seventh Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, encamped on the lower Potomac river. This picture represents an old war-time scene. The camp is shown in full detail and it is interesting and valuable as a relic.

General Murray will give the picture to the Second Regiment because that regiment is the successor of the old Seventh. The picture will be suitably framed and it is likely that General Murray will present the picture to Colonel Collins, as custodian, in person.

GEN. GRANT ON GEN. LEE.

Son of the Union Warrier to Talk to Confederate Veteran Camp.

New York, Jan. 24—General Frederick Dent Grant will discuss his father's old foe, General Robert E. Lee, in his address at the dinner of the Confederate Veteran Camp of New York, in the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf-Astoria tonight.

For the first time in the history of the camp women will sit at table with the men, and take part in the affair, instead of being relegated to the galleries and the boxes.

The dinner is to be given in memory of General Lee. Major Edward Owen, commander of the camp, will preside. On his left will sit General Joseph Wheeler, while General Grant will be on the right. Besides the toast, "General R. E. Lee," to which General Grant will respond, General Wheeler will speak about "The Private Soldier of the Confederacy."

Young Police Commissioner.

Police Commissioner Bingham, of New York, sprang a complete surprise yesterday morning when he announced the appointment of Capt. Rhinelander Waldo as First Deputy Commissioner to succeed Thomas F. McAvoy. The new police chief is much the youngest man to hold such a responsible place in the metropolitan police department. He is thirty years old.

Porpoises Seen in Coast Waters.

Sea Isle City, Jan. 24.—The residents of this place yesterday witnessed the unusual sight of a large school of porpoises playing in the surf a short distance from the beach. Fully a hundred of the big fish were in the school and their appearance here is accounted for by the mildness of the weather.

DIAMOND DUST.

The New York Giants will open the National League season on April 14 in Brooklyn.

"Billy" Lauder, former third baseman for the New York Giants, and who wasn't fast enough for Plainfield two seasons ago, has refused an offer of $2,200 to play the third sack for Toronto.

"Billy" Beck, formerly of the Plainfield team, has received several offers to pitch in the Connecticut State League this season. He has declined them all, preferring to keep his job and play Saturdays and Sundays.

It is none too early to enthuse over the local baseball season. It is the wish of every ardent fan that Manager Daab return here this year with his fast bunch of players and supporters of the game are given an excellent opportunity of showing in a substantial way their willingness to have the team here.

"Billy" Foxen, who has twirled for Hoboken and who was the mainstay in the box for Hartford last season, will play with Jersey City of the Eastern League this season. Jersey City loaned him to Hartford and at the close of last season Foxen was drafted by Providence, but the National Commission has decided that he belongs to Jersey City.

that this suit should be delayed pending a decision of the other, nor does counsel for the complainant claim that he was misled in the matter in any way by the defendant's counsel. The only conclusion that can be drawn from the circumstances is, that the complainant having incorporated the testimony taken in this case into the Rhode Island case, practically abandoned this and took the chances of a favorable decision in the other jurisdictions. I do not think this affords any valid excuse for the admitted delay.

"Rule 30 of the Court of Chancery of this State provides that if a suit therein be suffered to lie without substantial prosecution for one year, it shall be considered abandoned. The first rule of this court adopts the rules of practice and proceedings of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, when the equity rules do not apply, so far as they are applicable; without deciding the applicability of the above rule to this case, it may nevertheless be properly referred to as showing the equitable principle involved. Equity rule 69 allows three months and no more for the taking of testimony, unless upon special cause shown, the court shall extend the time. No special cause is here shown, and while the matter of an extension of the time rests in the sound direction of the court, and should be reasonably exercised, nevertheless where it appears that a cause has been absolutely dormant for a period of two years and eight months without excuse, the discretion of the court ought not be favorably exercised. The case of Streat v. Steinan, 38 F. R. 548, is in many respects like the present. The motion will be denied."

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Announcement has been made at a special meeting of the University of Chicago Board of Trustees that John D. Rockefeller had given to the university $1,450,000.

Of this sum $1,000,000 is for the permanent endowment, $350,000 to cover the current expenditures or deficit of the various departments of the university up to July 1, 1907.

The remaining $100,000 of the gift is to provide a fund, the interest of which is to go to the widow of President W. P. Harper during her life time.

Investigating Gambling in Trenton.

Trenton, Jan. 24.—The existence of alleged gambling resorts in this city was investigated Monday by the Mercer county Grand Jury, and, in order to make the investigation as thorough as demanded by Justice Reed in his charge last week, about 150 witnesses were summoned. The wholesale calling of witnesses spread consternation in the ranks of alleged proprietors of gambling resorts. Every house in the city, it is said, that is supposed to be a gambling place is under the Grand Jury searchlight.

FOUND SOLID GOLD BRICK VALUED AT $200,000 BENEATH AN OLD MILL WALL

Albuquerque, N. M., Jan 24.—In dismantling the old Albermarle mill in the Jemez Mountains, north of this city, Morris Brothers, contractors, discovered hidden under the foundations a big, solid gold brick, supposed to be worth about $200,000. It is supposed to have been stolen and hidden there by some former employe of the mill when the latter was in operation ten years ago. The contractors have been taking out the machinery to ship to the United Verde mine in Arizona. Great secrecy has been preserved about the discovery.

CANAL ABANDONMENT BILL OF 1905 IN; MR. COLBY MAY INTRODUCE MR. PARKER'S

Trenton, Jan. 24.—Morris Canal abandonment has made its appearance in the House in the shape of a bill introduced by Mr. Mills, of Morris. The Morris man said it was a duplicate of the measure which passed the House last year and was killed by the allegations of bribery in connection with its passage which caused such a sensation in the dying days of the last session. The introduction of the measure attracted no more than passing notice, and only little comment was made upon its appearance. It is understood that Senator Colby will introduce soon Cortlandt Parker's abandonment bill, the provisions of which have been published.

The Mills bill already introduced provides that the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company must accept the act and deposit $25,000 with the State to pay all expenses connected with the act. The Governor shall then appoint three commissioners (confirmed by the Senate), who shall appraise the value of all the stock of the company, and the stockholders shall receive from the sale of the property such appraised value. Upon such payment the State shall be deemed to have taken the rights of the stockholders for the State. Other provisions as to detail then follow.

The bill differs from that of last year in a single respect only. Last year's measure took care of a manufacturing firm in Montville which was entitled to a continual flow of one square foot of water from the canal. Recently the firm has arranged to get the water it needs elsewhere and the part of last year's bill which protected it is left out of this year's bill. Mr. Mills, the introducer, says that last year the people of Morris were about evenly divided over the bill, and the Assemblymen from Morris voted against it. Now, however, there is almost an unanimous sentiment in favor of the bill in the county and he purposes to push it vigorously. The committee on railroads and canals, to which it was referred, will give hearings, and all who wish will have an opportunity to be heard upon it.

AUTO TEST CASE IS LOST BY DEFENDANT.

Judge Blair Rules that Non-Residents Must Pay $1 Fee in New Jersey.

Jersey City, Jan. 24.—Judge John A. Blair, of the Hudson County Pleas Court, has handed down a decision sustaining the $1 automobile license fee charged owners of vehicles from other States using the roads of New Jersey. This is the test case brought by the automobile clubs of New York, in the name of Harry Unman, a member who refused to pay the fine imposed here for driving his machine without the certificate prescribed under Section 2, chapter 250, of the laws of 1895.

The court in its decision holds that the fee of $1 charged for a certificate entitling a non-resident automobile owner to run his machine on the roads of this State is not the imposition of an additional tax as claimed by the appellant, but is a license fee and within the police power of the State to impose. The decision continues:

"The exaction of this fee is not the creation of a new and distinct class among those using the public highways, although such a decision may be legally made in the matter of license fees between the manufacturers of motor vehicles and those who use them for pleasure.

"The law in question, although it may not establish the whole purpose of its enactment, to wit, the complete identity of the owner of the vehicle, does accomplish that object in a measure. Judgment in this case is therefore sustained.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION WON'T HIT LAW MAKERS.

Promised Reform in Dilatory Tactics —Two Hours a Week the Working Scale.

Nervous prostration is not at all likely to strike the New Jersey Legislature as the result of the present pace being set by the lawmakers. Both houses are grievously disappointing the many citizens of the State, who, just previous to the organization January 9, began to indulge in hopes that a reform was to come in the matter of giving greater dispatch to law making.

Following the very brief session of Monday evening, each house was in session about an hour yesterday morning and then adjourned for the week. This is the third week of the session and an average of less than two hours each week has been devoted to real business. One citizen was heard to remark in the corridor after adjournment yesterday: "This Legislature has gotten in the same old rut. It looks as though it intended to leave everything till the last week or so and then jam it through."

CLEVELAND'S FIRST VETO IS MISSING.

Message That Led to His Rise to Presidency Gone from Buffalo.

Buffalo, Jan. 24.—Grover Cleveland's famous veto message, written when he was Mayor of Buffalo, in 1882, that made him known to the rest of the State, has disappeared from the vaults in City Hall. With it have gone more than a hundred other public officials, claims against the city, objections to assessment rolls and grants of franchises.

Cleveland's message is at least the most notable of the missing documents from a historical point of view. It was his first public expression on graft. Politicians believe that it led to his nomination for Governor and started him on his way to the White House.

In concluding the message Mr. Cleveland said: "We are fast gaining positions in the grades of public stewardship. There is no middle ground. Those who are not for the people, either in or out of your honorable body, are against them, and should be treated accordingly."

MISS DOYLE'S FUNERAL.

Solemn Requiem Mass Conducted in St. Mary's Church This Morning.

Before a large gathering of relatives and friends in St. Mary's church this morning a solemn requiem mass was conducted over the body of Miss Nora Doyle, who died at the home of her brother, Dr. Lawrence Doyle, of Woodbridge. Rev. Father Bogan was the celebrant, assisted by Rev. Father Griffin, of Woodbridge, and Rev. Father Delehanty, of this city. There were numerous floral tributes, including many handsome set pieces.

The interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being John Conway, John Powers, John Conley, Henry Nischwitz and Robert and Frank Eick.

18 DIPHTHERETIC CASES AT HARVARD.

Cambridge, Jan. 24.—Dr. Marshall H. Bailey, the medical visitor for Harvard University, has given out a statement on the cases of diphtheria being treated in the Stillman Infirmary, the college hospital.

There are eighteen diphtheria patients in the university. The first to take the disease was taken from the the law school about ten days ago, and since then the other cases have developed. Five of them are law school men.

Mrs. Thomas Molloy, formerly of Glenside Park, who now resides in Newark, has been very ill for days past. An improvement for the better is shown now.

FLOUR MILLS USED IN THE OLD TIMES.

Primitive Methods of Grinding Wheat in Early Days of Washington and Idaho.

The first two mills in this State were built by the Hudson Bay Company, one in Vancouver and the other at Colville. When the one at Colville was built I have been unable to learn; the one at Vancouver was built in 1826. When that company took possession of this country as far as the fur trade was concerned in 1821, Astoria was their headquarters. In 1824, however, they determined that Vancouver would be a better place, as it would be nearer their inland posts, and also because there was far better agricultural land there. It, however, took until 1831 for the company to completely move everything to that place, writes Myron Eells in the Shelton Journal.

At first, in order to obtain flour, they used a great hollow stump that had been hollowed, in which wheat was pounded with a spring pole that worked a heavy pestle. They had there in their employ a Kentuckian named Cannon, who had come to the coast in 1811, in connection with Astor's expedition, who was a blacksmith and quite ingenious. When the wheat produced there outgrew the great stump and pestle, Cannon came to their relief and made a flour mill, procuring his burrs from the granite in the hills near by, and by rigging wheels and cogs he had a power that took four yoke of cattle to operate. Later they had an improved mill sent from England. Previous to 1828 they brought their flour from England.

When Dr. Marcus Whitman and Rev. H. H. Spalding came to the coast in 1836, they at first obtained their flour from the Hudson Bay Company, it being worth $24 a barrel at Dr. Whitman's in the Walla Walla Valley. In 1838 four more mission families came (among them being Rev. Cushing Eells and wife), all of whom wintered there. During that winter they usually had a "baking of bread" once a week. It was generally gone by the third day, and then they cooked corn wheat whole.

Dr. Whitman built a flour mill at his place in 1839. There is nothing in his writings, as far as I can find, that tells us about the building of it. T. J. Farnham reached his place about September 23, 1839. In describing the premises he says (p. 21, "Travels in the Great Western Prairies"): "And last to the grist mill on the other side of the river. It consists of a spherical, wrought iron burr, four or five inches in diameter, surrounded by a counter-burred surface of the same material. The spherical burr was permanently attached to the shaft of a horizontal water wheel. The surrounding burred surface was firmly fastened to timbers, in such position that when the water wheel was put in motion the operation of the mill was similar to that of a coffee mill. It was a crazy thing, but for it the doctor was grateful. It would, with help of himself and an Indian, grind enough in a day to feed his family a week, and that was better than to beat it with a pestle and mortar."

After Dr. Whitman had left for the East, in the fall of 1842, this mill was burned by the Indians, in November of the same year. Whether it was the result of carelessness or design is not known. It was said that two boys, known to be of malicious habits, were fishing and threw fire down on the bank of the river, which communicated with some straw that was lying near the mill. The sensible portion of the Cayuse Indians felt the loss deeply, so did Dr. and Mrs. Whitman, for much of their living came from it. About 200 bushels of wheat and corn and some flour were burned at the same time.

When Dr. Whitman returned he rebuilt the mill, procuring stone burrs, which he obtained from some granite quarries on Snake River, now owned by ex-Governor M. C. Moore. After the doctor was killed, in 1847, the mill was for a long time in a dilapidated condition, and at last the stones were taken to Fort Colville and used in a flour mill on the Colville River.

After a time the mill was abandoned and the stones disappeared. They had been seen many years ago, but no one paid any attention to them. Senator Ankeny afterward took much interest in them, and had several men looking out for them. At last Sheriff McMillen concluded that they must be in the bed of the river near where the mill had stood, and explored it. He succeeded in finding six pieces, which, when put together, formed about three-fourths of the lower stone, with a part of the iron frame that held them together. It is said that they were cut by Whitman's own hands. They were found last winter, and Senator Ankeny presented them to Whitman College.

Rev. H. H. Spalding was the next one to build a mill, and this was put in operation in January, 1840, at Lapwai, Idaho. He had considerable difficulty in finding suitable stones, his search having been for nearly a year, as he begun in February, 1839. The first quarry to which he sent he found too much injured by fire. The next one was too far away, on Snake River, near the Tukannon; but in November he found some near his home. A man named Blair dressed them and made the water wheel. One of these is in the museum of the Washington Historical Society, at Tacoma.

ARRANGE COLONIAL FETE

"The Grim Truth," By Miss Saunders, to be Presented at King's Daughters' Affair.

TO BE GIVEN ON FEB. 22

At the Casino—Proceeds for City Nurse Fund—Mrs. F. W. Butler in Charge.

The Cup Bearers' Circle, King's Daughters, of which Mrs. Harry L. Hall is the president, is planning to give what will be called a "colonial fete," at the Casino on Washington's Birthday afternoon and evening. The affair will be an elaborate one and will include an original play written by Miss Louise Saunders, entitled "The Grim Truth." In addition there will be a vocal and instrumental programme and some darkey character sketches. There will also be a sale. The proceeds will go towards the fund which supports the King's Daughters' city nurse.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Frederick W. Butler is president pro tem and is directing the arrangments for the fete, assisted by the circle of which there are twenty-two active and a number of honorary members.

Miss Saunders is in charge of the details for the production of her play, which is considered exceedingly clever. There are four persons in the cast—Miss Louise Saunders, Miss Josephine LaTourette, Miss Marion Hall and Miss Helen Stevens. The play will be given both afternoon and evening.

Other numbers on the programme will include vocal selections by Mrs. W. L. Saunders; violin selections by Miss Tiny Hyatt, together with character sketches and possibly vocal selections by a male quartette from the Oshkosh Club. So far as possible the spirit of the day will be carried out and members of the circle will embody the colonial idea in their plans.

PLAINFIELDER DESIGNS LARGE LOCOMOTIVES

WILLIAM M'INTOSH PLANNED ENGINES TO BE USED ON JERSEY CENTRAL.

William McIntosh, of College place, superintendent of the motive power for the New Jersey Central, designed three exceedingly large locomotives just purchased by the company for passenger service. They are what is known as the American type, eight wheeled They are designed for hauling light trains over crooked divisions where grades are heavy, and will be used for the service between Bethlehem and Scranton, a distance of 105 miles. They will pull one combination baggage and passenger, one coach and one Pullman.

Ten wheeled engines were used for their service, but repair charges were excessive on account of sharp curves which put the locomotives to a severe test. The new engines will be put in the service within a short time. The last number of The Railroad Gazette devotes considerable space to illustrating and giving a description of these engines.

WRITES, "DEAR MAMMA, DON'T WORRY ABOUT ME."

Mrs. L. H. Biglow Hears from Her Missing Son.

"Dear Mamma, don't worry about me; I am all right and having a swell time." was the message received yesterday by Mrs. Lucius H. Biglow, of Montclair, formerly of this city, from her son Earl, who, with two other lads, left home on Sunday to see the world. The message was written on a photo-postal card bearing the pictures of the trio and was dated Philadelphia.

Young Biglow was a student at the Montclair Military Academy, where he was considered a model by the instructors, but with the other boys was spending much time reading trashy literature. An effort will be made today to bring the boys home.

CLERGY IN SALOON WAR

Every Denomination Asked by Catholic Bishops to Attend Excise Conference

WANT LAW PASSED

Meeting at Trenton on Monday to Arouse Public Opinion—Bill Being Prepared by Former Justice Collins.

Bishop O'Connor and Bishop James A. McFaul, of the Newark and Trenton dioceses, respectively, of the Catholic church, who had called a conference of church rectors at Trenton, January 29, to consider the new saloon bill which they are preparing, have widened the scope of the meeting and have sent invitations to the important officers of all denominations in the State, some of which have been received by Plainfield clergymen.

They now propose that every moral agency in New Jersey shall be enlisted in support of the measure.

At this meeting the text of the bill that the Catholic clergymen desire to have introduced in the Legislature will be considered. It has been supposed heretofore that only Catholic clergymen, six from each diocese, would attend this meeting. Former Justice Collins is preparing the bill.

Starting at the conference it is expected that a new Father Mathew and blue ribbon movement will sweep, with the help of the different churches, through the entire State.

Clause by clause the bill will be discussed, so that, when it is introduced in its finished form, it will express the combined opinion on the liquor question of the entire clergy of New Jersey.

The bill will be introduced at Trenton before the last of the month. According to rumor, when the plan of the bill began to form in the minds of its creators, one of the first questions that had to be decided was how to arouse public opinion to a pitch where it would support such a measure. It was decided that the best means of doing this would be through the pulpit.

When the clergymen that attend the meeting at Trenton get down to a discussion of ways and means of enlisting public support, the importance of preaching saloon reform from the pulpit will be expressed by every one present. Following the meeting, it is said, requests will go out to the Catholic priests of the State, asking them to support the bill.

The same action, it is expected, will be taken by clergymen of other denominations and bishops. As a result, from one end of the State to the other, reform will be preached to the church-going population, as it was never preached before. It will be the greatest movement that has ever swept New Jersey, it is predicted.

Sermons, according to rumor, will begin Sunday, February 4. On that day, it is reported, the combined clergy of the State, from the pulpits of churches of every creed, will begin their work.

MORE DEACONS FOR THE CHURCH'S BOARD.

First Baptists Make a Change at Business Meeting.

It was decided at the regular business meeting of the First Baptist church, last night, to increase the board of deacons from seven to ten or eleven, it having been agreed that the board is too small to attend to the various duties incumbent upon it. A resolution was adopted providing for the election of the additional deacons at the next monthly business meeting and E. L. Bonny, Dr. J. B. Probasco and George A. Chapman were appointed a committee to make the nominations and present them at the next meeting.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, the pastor, was unable to attend the meeting owing to a heavy cold, and Charles W. McCutchen occupied the chair. Ten members were received by letter from other churches, and they will be given the right-hand-of-fellowship on Sunday. It is also expected that there will be baptism on Sunday night.

Arranging Girls' Extradition.

Louisa Hak and Lizzie Bednarik, the two servant girls who stole a large quantity of wearing apparel from their employer, Samuel P. Huntsman, will be brought to this city from New York next week. Chief Kiely has received word that the requisition papers are at Albany and that it is necessary for him to go there and get them before the girls can be placed in his custody.

William Claassen's Father Dead.

WANT PASTOR TO REMAIN

Rev. A.C.McCrea's Flock Well Pleased With His Work at First M.E. Church.

THE YEAR'S REPORT

Resolution Addressed to Newark Conference Adopted—Fifty-two Added to Church Membership.

Interesting reports were presented at the fourth quarterly conference of the First M. E. church held in Vincent chapel last night. Rev. Dr. Halleron, presiding elder, was in charge. The church finances were found to be in excellent condition, there being no debt.

A resolution was unanimously adopted, asking the Newark Conference to continue the present pastoral relation. This means that the church wants Rev. A. C. McCrea to remain. During his pastorate here he has done excellent work and his people are all united in a desire that he continue. Mr. McCrea says he is well pleased with the field.

The church has contributed $1,000 for general missionary purposes. The Women's Foreign and Home Missionary societies have given $500 for their work. The Education Society has received $50, the Church Extension Fund $120, the Freedman's Aid $40, and the conference claimants $450, besides contributions have been made to the tract and Sunday school work, the Y. M. C. A., Muhlenberg Hospital and the Methodist Hospital in Brooklyn.

Pastor McCrea's report for the past ten months shows that fifty-two persons have been received into full membership and fourteen on probation. There were six deaths, eighteen baptisms, ten weddings, and the pastor made 585 visits.

There were also reports from the heads of the Sunday school, Ladies' Aid Society, Epworth League and Junior Epworth League, showing each to be in a healthy condition spiritually and financially.

Although the matter has been discussed to some extent, no definite arrangements have been made yet for next year's music, and it is not known at present whether Mr. Skiff and the vested choir will continue or not.

Mr. McIntyre has secured an especially strong list of artists and his programme will be selected with great care.

The artist will be: Joseph McIntyre, pianist; Vladimir Dubinsky, 'cellist; Hjalmar von Damek, violinist, and Gwilym Miles, Welsh baritone. Among the numbers to be presented will be a "Sonata in A" for 'cello and piano, Bethoven, Mr. Dubinsky and Mr. McIntyre; solos by Gwilym Miles, baritone, and Hjalmar von Damek, violinist. NOTE FROM CANADA CARRIED BY SMELT MESSAGE IN BOTTLE FOUND IN FISH'S STOMACH BY LOCAL MERCHANT.

While cleaning a large bloater smelt that came in a consignment of fish from New York this morning, Fred Ivamy, the West Second street sea food man, made a discovery that caused him to jump with surprise. Inside the fish's stomach was a small, bright object that proved to be a bottel about the size of a man's thumb. It was securely corked, and when this was removed Mr. Ivamy extracted the following message, written on a small piece of note paper:

"Whoever gets this note will confer a favor by replying to the undersigned, Harry Durant, Margate, Prince Edward Island, Canada; January 4, 1906."

The bottle holding it was stamped with the firm name of the T. Eaton Co., Ltd., Toronto, and though almost as large as the smelt's mouth could easily have been swallowed by it. Fish of this kind frequently seize objects half as large as themselves and it is not uncommon to find odd things in their stomachs.

The probabilities are that Durant threw the bottle on the water and that at is floated the glint of the glass attracted the smelt. A remarkable part of the thing is the fact that but nineteen days elapsed from the time the message was written until it reached Plainfield, a distance of 1,000 miles.

DR. MOLDENKE TALKS INTERESTINGLY ON EGYPT.

Lecturer and Scholar Delivers an Instructive Lecture With Illustrations.

Before a large and appreciative audience in the German Lutheran church last night Rev. Dr. Charles Moldenke, of Washington Valley, delivered a lecture on "Egypt." It was illustrated with stereopticon views, greatly enhancing the doctor's description of the "land of the Nile."

Dr. Molednke is one of the very few Egyptian scholars of the world and has traveled extensively in Egypt as well as in other Oriental countries. In his lecture he spoke from personal experience of the many adventures and interesting researches he has taken part in. It was he who translated the hieroglyphics on the obelisk in Central Park, known as Cleopatra's needle, and edited the Egyptian antiquities in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The lecture was for the benefit of St. Peter's Lutheran church congregation.

AUTO OWNERS AROUSED

A BITTER FIGHT AHEAD

Opposition to Provision Imposing Heavy Fine or Imprisonment For Violations of the Law.

The introduction of the Frelinghuysen automobile bill in the Legislature, despite the effort of representative automobilists to have it modified, has aroused autoists, and will doubtless precipitate the most bitter war that the automobilists have ever waged, but Senator Frelinghuysen announces that he is ready to make the fight.

The features of the bill that are most strongly opposed by the automobilists are those providing a fine of $500 or two months' imprisonment for failure to comply with the law, and the arrest of the automobilists without a warrant. Another feature that is objectionable to the autoists is the provision that all owners or chauffeurs operating machines must be licensed by the State. The Frelinghuysen bill also proposes that, instead of running autos at twenty miles an hour in cities and villages and at crossings, they shall be run at eight miles an hour.

"It is just the same old fight of the automobilists against any restrictions that can be enforced," said Senator Frelinghuysen today. "The people demand protection, and the autoists will fight, just as they did last year. This bill is fair, embracing many of the provisions of the French and Austrian regulations."

If the bill should become a law in its present form, it would bring the State an annual revenue of about $125,000, which would be devoted to the improvement and repair of the stone roads in the State. The number of automobile licenses issued by New Jersey in the three years the present law has been in force has been 14,619, for which the State received a dollar for each, or $14,619. A dollar is also charged under the present law for each transfer of license, and there have been about 400 of these, so that the total income to the State on account of automobiles in the three years has been about $15,000, or $5,000 a year.

It is said by some of the State authorities that the average horsepower of the automobiles in the State is twelve. Assuming that 14,000 should take out licenses each year, the horse power would be 168,000, producing a revenue, at seventy-five cents per horse power, of $126,000. The net gain under the new bill, therefore, would be about $120,000 a year.

The new bill has the sanction of the New Jersey road department, and the ojcials of the department will endeavor to secure its passage.

"MAYOR BILL" SMITH NOW A BOWLING ALLEY OWNER.

After Numerous Ventures in This Locality Tries New Business in Essex County.

"Mayor Bill' Smith, who succeeded in making more history for New Market in the past few years than it had ever piled up in all its previous existence, has shaken the dust of the Middlesex county hamlet from his feet. He recently went to Caldwell, where he purchased a bowling alley and pool business, which he has since been conducting. His family remained at New Market until last week, when he became firmly established in his new capacity and had all his household effects moved over.

Since "Mayor Bill" received a share of his sister's estate he has embarked in fully half a dozen enterprises, none of which amounted to a great deal from a financial standpoint. As a rule they cut large gashes in his bank account and he formed the opinion that New Market was "four-flushing" him. He embarked in the automobile repair business in this city, but there were more expenses than receipts, and "Bill' gave Plainfield the "go-by" in a few months.

BELL WANTS HIS PATENT

J. W. Tygard Negotiating With Telephone Inventor For Sale of His Engine.

A BIG OFFER IS MADE

New Yorker Wants to Control Its Use for Flying Machines—Tygard Expects to Secure a Fortune.

For the exclusive use of his recently patented gas engine in air ship experiments, James W. Tygard, of South avenue has received a cash offer from Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, which proves beyond doubt that the invention possesses all the superior advantages claimed for it by the owner. It was seen by Mr. Bell for the first time last week during the automobile show and he at once entered into negotiations to secure it. When interviewed by a Daily Press reporter this morning, Mr. Tygard refused to state the money consideration named but admitted when the figure was mentioned that it was about $75,000.

Since the offer was made, the two inventors have been in daily communication and it is possible that terms will be agreed upon. Bell wished to purchase the engine outright but it has already cost the owner twelve years of incessant study and labor aside from expenditures reaching $85,000. Since bringing it to a state of perfection, or rather to the point that he sought he has received numerous offers but he expects to clear at least a million dollars. For this reason he will not sell it outright, although Pennsylvania Railroad officials fully a year ago named a handsome figure for all his patents and the right to make the engine. They are still negotiating with him as the invention promises to revolutionize the operation of trains on suburban lines.

The Tygard engine is a new type of the gas engine and was intended for automobile, marine and stationary use. The ordinary gasolene engine now a part of a large automobile's equipment weighs about 1,400 pounds. Other advantages claimed for it by the inventor and admitted by experts are great strength, extreme simplicity noiselessness and durability. In short it embodies just what Bell has been seeking in his air ship experiments and he made the offer with the understanding that he was to have the sole rights of it for aerial craft in the event of his successfully solving the problem.

Tygard was formerly a school teacher in Pittsburg and was always more or less interested in mechanical contrivances. When he first conceived the idea of the improved gas engine he entered the works of the Westinghouse Company and secured a practical knowledge of mechanical construction and applied it in his experiments. He moved to this city a few years ago and attained the results he sought soon after becoming a local resident He has a shop at his home on South avenue, where he exhibits the working of the machine and where he has been building small ones.

The lot purchased by the congregation and upon which it is proposed to erect the new parish house, is located on Woodland avenue, near Putnam avenue.

An attractive programme has been arranged for the entertainment to be given at Reform Hall, tonight. Charles M. Raybert will given an illustrated lecture on "The Life of Christ," and Miss May Smith and Mrs. Sadie Baglin will render vocal and instrumental selections. TOYED WITH WET GOODS

High Jinks Among Inmates at Industrial Home Quelled By Overseer Ayer.

STAR PERFORMANCE

Show Ends With the Arrest of Seventy-Year-Old Inmate, Who Goes to Jail for 30 Days.

Granted a day's leave of absence for good behavior, Thomas Hefferan, a seventy-year-old inmate of the Industrial Home, filled up on West End essence of joy and decided that life at the city's institution was altogether too hum-drum. The load he carried made him generous and he procured several flasks of wet goods to hand around to his friends at the home. They were smuggled in despite of Superintendent TenEyck's watchfulness and inside of half an hour after his appearance, the cold, unforbidding atmosphere of the place had changed to the roseate hue of a Missouri sunset.

Among the inmates who enjoyed Hefferan's liberality were Mary Luke and her husband and Mrs. Ann Sullivan. The first TenEyck knew that anything was wrong was when Mrs. Sullivan bounded out in the hall with a Comanche Indian shriek and did a reservation ghost dance. To add wierdness to her efforts, Mary Luke pulled the electric light globes from their sockets and Hefferan contributed a realistic fall downstairs with a bucket of coal clattering after him. Mr. Luke, who has been blind for many years, was unable to give his famous double shuffle that used to delight the West End youngsters but applauded with all the strength of his lungs and sang "Wait for the Wagon," the song the hand organs were playing when the city exiled him.

Superintendent TenEyck found it impossible to head off the celebrants and he telephoned for Overseer Aleck Ayers. The latter was quickly on the scene and succeeded in quieting everybody, after which he placed Hefferan under arrest and had him removed to police headquarters. He appeared before Judge Runyon this morning, humble and penitent but as a warning to the other residents of the home, he was sent to jail for thirty days to think over his conduct.

YOUNG CYCLIST RIDES INTO AN AUTOMOBILE

BOY ESCAPES WITH FEW SCRATCHES, BUT HIS WHEEL IS WRECKED.

John Frank, a young lad employed by Mefford Giles, the butcher, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon, while riding his bicycle in Park avenue. He was returning to the butcher shop and unmindful of all about him rode directly in front of an automobile being driven by Dr. B. VanD. Hedges. The physician was on the right side of the road and in his efforts to prevent a collision rode up on the sidewalk.

The boy was too close to the machine and was thrown down between the front wheels, while his bicycle was wrecked. Dr. Hedges jumped out of his auto and ran to the boy's assistance. He was taken to B. F. Schreiner's drug store at Park avenue and Second street, where a thorough examination showed that no bones were broken. A few scratches on his face were quickly attended to. Dr. Hedges then took the boy's wheel to a repair shop. Young Frank, who was very thankful for the attention given him by Dr. Hedges, assured the latter that he was all right.

THEY GOT GOLD FOR GOOD MEXICAN SILVER.

New York, Jan. 25.—Bankers familiar with the shipments of gold from this city to Mexico stated yesterday that at least $12,000,000 in gold will go to that republic. Records of the sale of Mexican silver dollars indicate that so far $25,000,000 has been sold in open market, for which the Mexican Government and banking institutions will receive in the neighborhood of $12,500,000 in gold. Already nearly $6,000,000 has been sent from this city to Mexico in connection with the movement.

The rapidity with which gold is being sent to Mexico to take the place of the silver reserve is attracting attention in the financial markets of the world. It was learned in Wall street yesterday that the total amount of silver currency issued by the Mexican Government amounts to $77,000,000. Of this amount $25,000,000 has been converted into gold within the last few months. This was rendered possible by reason of the remarkable advance in the price of silver to a price at which the Mexican silver dollar could be converted into silver bullion and sold for gold without the usual discount which has existed for many years. For the gold that is being received paper notes are being issued similar to the plan adopted by the United States Government. In addition, the Mexican Government has placed an order with the Philadlephia mint to coin about $5,000,000 into gold pieces.

Practically all the silver sold by Mexico has gone to India. The demand in that country for silver has exceeded all former records, and has made possible the big gold reserve which Mexico is now establishing.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The election of fire department officers to decide the tie vote, polled at the annual election held January 2, was held last night in the town rooms. The fire laddies worked like Trojan to get out their vote, each company being determined to carry off the prize. Spring election in the past could not touch the enthusiasm shown, but the rivalry has been good natured on both sides and the contest has been a good thing for the department in general, as it has roused the members to an interest in company business that has not been manifested in years. While Excelsior, being the older company, has generally been able to outvote the Bucket and Engine Company, still they have always found them worthy foes when the annual election came around, and on several occasions the younger company has walked off with the prize. This year even greater interest was shown than in the past, and the tie vote only increased the interest, so when the Township Committee decided that another election must be held both companies were eager for the fray. Excelsior fortified itself somewhat by taking in three new members at the annual meeting held two weeks ago. This made them feel quite hopeful, if not certain, of electing their ticket, but the Bucket and Engine Company kept right on working and when the vote was counted last night it was found that while the ticket headed by W. B. Noble for chief had won, still the Bucket and Engine standard carried by William Jamison, had made a good fight and was not defeated until the last vote was cast.

The boys in town Tuesday night gave Mr. and Mrs. William Deegan the usual reception tendered to those who are just starting out on the sea of matrimony. "Billy" didn't say anything, but nevertheless the boys were entertained in royal style.

The condition of Mrs. Lynus Walpole, who has been seriously ill with dropsy and rheumatism for the past two weeks, was considered critical yesterday and but little hopes are entertained for her recovery.

The Ladies' Circle of the Baptist church hold a pie and cake sale Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. D. Beekon, in the borough.

Yesterday was a little more pleasant weather and some of the residents are still hopeful that we will still have some winter yet.

Isaac Ryno, who has been detained at home for several days suffering from an attack of grip, is able to be around again.

Mrs. William Hazel, of East Second street, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. A. L. Frentz, of Westfield avenue.

Miss Elsie Long, of Murray Hill, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ryno, of the borough.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets tonight in the library rooms.

SKINNER HOME BURNED.

Actor's New Country Place Badly Damaged.

Morristown, Pa., Jan. 25.—The home of Otis Skinner, the actor, was badly damaged by fire Monday. The house is on the Spring Mill road, between Bryn Mawr and West Conshohocken. The actor leased the place last summer and had just had it remodelled. He and his wife are now in Chicago or that vicinity, and the house was in charge of servants. The fire is believed to have been caused by a defective flue. The roof and rear portion of the house were burned. In chopping away the roof to prevent the fire spreading, Thomas Dunn, of Conshohocken, fell through and was severely injured.

Annual Y. M. C. A. Meet.

It has been decided to hold the annual athletic meet at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night, January 30, and Thursday night, February 1, to determine the best athlete in the association. Prizes will be awarded competitors in every event. Already there is a large entry list.

Mr. and Mrs. John Manley, of Park avenue, will celebrate the eighteenth anniversary of their marriage tonight by entertaining a large company of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Francis E. Whiteside, of East Norwich, L. I., has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hockridge, of this city. She returned home today, accompanied by her husband, who has been visiting here a few days.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

At the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night local playgoers will have an opportunity to see Henrietta Crosman as Rosalind in "As You Like It," a dramatic achievement which ranks as the most meritorious undertaking in this line in many years. It is entitled to generous appreciation on the part of the public. Comparing Miss Crosman's Shakespearian attainment with the presentations made by Henry Irving in London, Harper's Weekly said: "It is no exaggeration to say that Miss Crosman's "As You Like It" suffers no detriment in comparison of its results with those of the palmy days of the Lyceum theatre in London."

An exceptionally clever company presenting the Mittenthal Brothers' great production of Langdon McCormick's original melodrama, "The House of Mystery," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. It is said that this will be one of the rare melodramatic treats of the season. The play is written in a free and easy manner, dealing with a theme carried out by characters entirely new to the stage, while the equipment, scenically and otherwise, is nothing short of marvelous. The third act is a most wonderful conception of the human mind, displaying as it does unique novelties, mechanical effects, illusions and sensational surprises such as were never witnessed in a production of this kind.

Being announced as a comedy, of course the primary mission of "The Heir to the Hoorah" is to make people laugh, in the language of Bret Harte, "frequent and free." And that it fulfils this mission adequately anybody who has seen the play, which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night, would testify with fervor. But aside from the robust humor of Paul Armstrong's miners and cowboys, "The Heir to the Hoorah" offers congenial pabulum to the discriminating intellects which require logic and satire, construction and finesse, and it offers in equal measure the means of satisfaction to those emotional souls who are not entirely happy unless their heartstrings are wrung at intervals and their lachrymose glands called into active operation. For there is pathos in plenty in the quaint story of a gold mine and a baby—the one the root of all the trouble and the other the means of its effacement.

One of the most noteworthy attractions of the season will be "Wedded and Parted," which Messrs. Sullivan, Harris and Woods, the largest producers of melodrama in the world, announce at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday, January 30, matinee and night. The lines of the play tell an effective story from a melodramatic standpoint, strong in theme, clean in morals and startling in novelty. The play is but recently from the pen of Theodore Kremer, and is regarded as one of his best efforts. An excellent company has been engaged to enact the many interesting characters, and the scenic equipment is entirely adequate. The play is particularly pleasing to the feminine portion of the theatre-going public by reason of a remarkably strong child's part which it contains.

The fun of Augustus Thomas' new comedy, "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," which is coming to the New Plainfield theatre Friday evening, February 5, all hinges on the pranks of a young scion of a wealthy family, who, one of the other characters in the play—a physician—thinks is mentally unbalanced because of a blow on the back of the head received at a college football game some months previous. The physician is a strong believer in and practiser of osteopathy. He treats and restores the youth to his normal senses and leads him to confess, among offenses, to the misappropriation of the boots of Mrs. Leffingwell and placing of the same outside the window of a room occupied by the affianced lover of his sister. He had taken some umbrage at the lover and the matron and sought to bring about double estrangement between the pair of lovers and the wedded couple. The consequent bickerings and complications furnish the comedy of the play to a laughable end.

ENGINEERS CONFER ON ORANGE WATER SYSTEM.

Plan to Tunnel the Mountain for About 2,500 Feet Is Proposed.

Rudolph Hering and City Engineer Fred T. Crane met with the water committee of the Orange Common Council Monday night and talked over the plans for improving the water system of the city. The committee went over the plans which had received the approval of last year's body and which were objected to by Mr. Hering largely on account of the expense of pumping into a great artificial lake in South Mountain Park and to the waste of water to supply Hemlock Falls. This plan, it was decided, should be abandoned. Mr. Hering's alternative proposition was also considered, involving some of the ideas worked out by Mr. Crane. The committee decided that the best solution of the problem would be to have the two engineers evolve a scheme upon which both could agree.

The professional men seemed to think that they would have no great amount of difficulty in doing this, as both were agreed upon the main problem of a new pipe line to the city and a general overhauling of the local distributing system. It was suggested that a tunnel of about 2,500 feet be built through the mountain at about Hemlock Falls, running from Campbell's pond to South Orange avenue and then running the main down to Orange, as originally proposed, furnishing the water by gravity. This tunnel would store from two to three million gallons, or a day's supply.

Rats Thought to Be Leaving Ship.

Atlantic City, Jan. 25.—Residents of Brigantine Beach report a plague of big brown rats of a species never before seen in this vicinity, and believe that the rodents are deserting the stranded ship Cherokee, now likely to be a wreck. It was at first believed that the rats were coming ashore in the cargo, but none have been seen in the upper part of the city, where the larger portion of the goods taken from the holds of the Cherokee is being stored. Old seamen claim that big brown rats are able to swim ashore and that they are only following their instinct that tells them their former home is likely to go to pieces.

Drug Clerk Is Missing.

Paterson, Jan. 25.—A drug clerk in the employ of Dr. Frank E. Keller, proprietor of the pharmacy at Totowa and Sherman avenues, took his departure suddenly Tuesday afternoon. The cash register was examined and it was found that the cash had been removed. Dr. Keller estimated that there was about $43 in the till. A report was sent in to the police and Detective-Sergeant Keppler is investigating.

The Man on the Box

By HAROLD MacGRATH

Author of "The Grey Cloak," "The Puppet Crown."

It is an unusually clever story in which a young army officer, a retired colonel and his pretty daughter and a Russian spy are the leading characters. The kind of a story that has snap, action and interest in every line; a story written for American readers.

IT WILL BEGIN IN THIS PAPER WITHIN A SHORT TIME. WATCH FOR IT.

FOWLER'S NEW CURRENCY BILL

JERSEY REPRESENTATIVE BACK TO NOTE HOW HOUSE REGARDS IT.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Chairman Fowler, of the House Bank and Currency Committee, has returned to Washington after a short absence, and expects to devote himself to the ascertainment of the precise feeling in the House of Representatives with reference to some action on the currency question.

The House Committee has before it the Fowler bill for general currency reform, and also a measure providing for permission to national banks to loan ten per cent., not only of their capital, but also of their surplus to individuals. The bills have been divided among sub-committees, and a meeting of the committee has been called for the thirty-first of January.

Mr. Fowler has lately had conversations with men prominent in the financial world, and finds them practically unanimous in their feeling that steps must be taken in the near future to provide for a material enlargement of the elasticity of the currency, unless the country is prepared to suffer seriously from panic conditions.

The obstacle chiefly in the way of action is the indifference of members from rural constituencies, whose need for currency is different in character from that which exists in financial centres.

TO INVESTIGATE HER DEATH.

Relatives of Woman Found Drowned Anxious to Have Case Looked Into.

Newton, Jan 25.—Beyond the empaneling of a jury and viewing the body, nothing further was done in the case of Mrs. George Harty, whose body was found Tuesday in a creek in Franklin Furnace. Dr. Charles M. Dunning, coroner of Franklin, did not take charge of the case until late in the day, and owing to Prosecutor Huston, of Newton, being away from home, it was decided to postpone the inquest until some time yesterday afternoon.

An examination of the body showed no particular marks of violence excepting a discoloration of one eye, believed to have been caused after the body had been in the water, as the current is swift and might have forced the corpse against some obstruction in the stream. It is not clear yet exactly how the woman met her death. A number of her relatives expressed themselves as desirous of an examination of the case, and are not satisfied with the suicide theory which the authorities are inclined to entertain.

The woman's husband, who is a cripple, told Sheriff Gunn Tuesday that he had found an empty two-ounce bottle which had contained iodine on the kitchen table when he woke up Tuesday morning, and the assumption is that the woman took the poison and then threw herself into the creek, which runs near the house. It is alleged in other quarters that Harty and his wife did not get along well together and that previous to the woman's death he had been in an intoxicated condition.

Plainfield, N. J., January 25, 1906.

From all parts of the State and from every denomination, ministers will go to Trenton on Monday to hold a conference on the proposed excise measure which is being prepared by former Justice Collins at the request of the two Catholic bishops of New Jersey. At first it was intended to confine the agitation within the Catholic church but a broader plan has been mapped out. The idea now is to interest every moral agency in the work and this will include an invitation to all Protestant clergymen. It is likely that one provision of the excise bill will be a license fee of $1,000, the amount of the fee exacted in this city. Among other features will be an "early closing" clause, similar to the regulation here, and a suppression of the dance hall and "side door" evils that have been responsible for the downfall of hundreds of young women. It is planned to present the measure to the Legislature before the end of the month.

TOBACCO KING'S WIFE SAYS HE KICKED HER.

Answer to Divorce Petition Recites Alleged Brutality.

Mrs. Lilliam M. Duke has filed an answer at Trenton to the divorce proceedings instituted against her by James B. Duke, of Somerville. The answer denies any wrongdoing on Mrs. Duke's part, and charges Mr. Duke with extreme cruelty, desertion and malicious attack upon the reputation and character of his wife.

Mrs. Duke alleges that her husband on their wedding tour, "in a most inhuman fashion, insisted and compelled defendant to take and continue long journeys in an open vehicle, exposed to rain, hail and snow, and cold, over a large part of Italy to France, traveling every day, depriving the defendant of sleep, exposing her to hunger, and that his treatment of her caused her to lose twenty pounds in weight, affected her with pain and sleepnessness, and wrecked her nerves and physical health."

Mrs. Duke further charges that on several occasions she was kicked out of bed, struck with a crutch, choked and shaken by her husband. She alleges that her husband has caused her to be pursued by detectives, "making her life a burden," and has organized former servants and paid witnesses to testify against her.

Mr. Duke's answer is in course of preparation. He says that if Mrs. Duke's charges are true she ought to have her divorce and he ought to be sent to State Prison.

LATER HEARING ON THE HILLERY TAX REPEALER.

Newark Delegation, Unprepared to Talk Today, Get Promise of Future Chance.

Trenton, Jan. 25.—Owing to the length of time taken up on considering the railroad taxation bills by the House Judiciary Committee yesterday, it was nearly 3 o'clock in the afternoon, before the committee took up the hearing on Mr. Martin's bill repealing the Hillery tax law.

When Chairman Perkins opened the hearing, Mr. Burnett asked that the committee give the Newark men a hearing on the bill next Monday afternoon. They had only received notice of the hearing on Saturday and had not had sufficient time to prepare themselves to talk upon the subject. Moreover, they desired to have a conference on the subject with the city tax board. Mr. Perkins replied that the committee would not conclude the hearing yesterday, but would adjourn it to some later day. This was saitsfactory to the Newark men.

William A. Lord, of Orange, then spoke against the bill.

Mrs. Underwood, of East Front street, is detained at home by illness.

N.P. NO MATCH FOR P.H.S.

City Lads Make It Two Straight in Interscholastic Basketball Series.

SCORE WAS 56 TO 6

P. H. S. Junior Team Defeats N. P. H. S. Seconds by Score of 19 to 9—Features of the Contests.

A double-header basketball game was witnessed at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon by a large crowd of enthusiasts, including many of the fair sex. Both games figured in the senior and junior scholastic leagues of the city. The first game between P. H. S. and N. P. H. S. first teams was practically a walkover for the former, the final score being 56 to 6. These teams met once before this year and judging from their showing yesterday, the borough boys seem to have made little improvement. The P. H. S. loomed up strong in team work, Collier doing excellent work. The first half ended with a score of 30 to 3 in favor of P. H. S., and the second half was almost a repetition of the first, everything going P. H. S. way. The passing was swift and straight and the shooting very accurate.

The best work for the borough lads was done by Peacock, it being one of his first appearances in this city in basketball since he was injured in football. For the city team, Howard Freeman and Captain Smith did good work. The lineup:

P. H. S.—Stuart Freeman, centre; Howard Freeman, right guard; Doane and Caldwell, left guard; Smith, right forward; Collier, left forward.

N. P. H. S.—Webster, centre; VanArsdale, right forward; Peacock, left forward; Burtis, right guard; Steiner, left guard.

Summary—Field goals, Stuart Freeman, 2; Howard Freeman, 5; Collier, 8; Smith, 6; Doane, 2; Caldwell, 4; Peacock, 1; Webster, 1. Goals from foul, Peacock, 2. Score first half, P. H. S., 30; N. P. H. S., 3; second half, P. H. S., 24; N. P. H. S., 3; final score, P. H. S., 56; N. P. H. S., 6. Umpire, Mr. Haynes. Referee, Mr. Heicher. Timer, Kenneth Robbie. Scorer, Roy Woodhull. Time of halves, 20 and 20 minutes.

The game between the second teams of these schools was more interesting from a spectator's point of view. Both teams kept the score down. The P. H. S. won by the score of 19 to 9. The best work for the borough team was by Captain VanArsdale. Leggett distinguished himself for P. H. S. The lineup:

P. H. S. 2d—Leggett, right forward; Morris and Lambert, left forward; Flanders, centre; Bogardus and Pound, right guard; Gavett, left guard.

N. P. H. S. 2d—M. VanArsdale, right forward; Kenney, left forward; McClintock, centre; Fisher, right guard; Day, left guard.

Summary—Field goals, Leggett, 3; Morris, 2; Bogardus, 1; Gavett, 3; Kenney, 1; McClintock, 1. Goals from foul, Flanders, 1; VanArsdale, 5. Referee, Stuart Freeman. Umpire, Webster. Final score, P. H. S., 19; N. P. H. S., 9. Times of halves, 10 and 10 minutes. Scorer, Roy Woodhull. Timer, Kenneth Robbie.

CUPID INTERRUPTED TRIP TO A THEATRE.

All-Night Absence from Home Revealed Marriage of Five Months Ago.

Announcement was made yesterday of the marriage of Miss Carrie Flaherty, daughter of ex-Chief of Police Flaherty, of Perth Amboy, and Joseph McNulty of Pleasant Plains, Staten Island, when they were on their way to visit a New York theatre.

The couple left the bride's home August 21, 1905, to join Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cox in New York and go to a play. Cupid managed the trip to suit himself, and when New York was reached the secret was whispered to those the couple met and a trip to St. Veronica's Catholic church on Christopher street was the result.

How the marriage became known is a story in itself. The couple were out Sunday on a visit to friends and did not return Monday morning. The young woman's parents objected to this, and then the bride and bridegroom confessed their marriage. Forgiveness was forthcoming, and Mr. and Mrs. McNulty will for the present live with the bride's parents.

Receive Bids for New Courthouse.

Jersey City, Jan. 25.—Bids for the work of erecting the new Hudson county Court House were received yesterday afternoon by the new county building committee. The site for the structure has now been entirely cleared and a high board fence erected around it. The excavation for the cellar is almost completed, and it is expected that the work on the foundation will be begun very shortly after the award of the contract. The property acquired for the site cost less than $15,000, which will leave, when other expenses are deducted, nearly $2,500,000 for the new county building.

From The Daily Press, Jan. 19.

The January sale of furniture at Woodhull & Martin's store is now in full swing. Goods can be purchased now and held for future delivery if desired, by paying a small deposit. You will find a large stock of furniture from which to make your selections, such as couches, bed outfits, chairs, rockers, etc., all at low prices. Hair mattresses will be renovated and made over equal to new at prices lower than usual. An inspection of the stock will repay you many times.

The January Furniture Sale

has developed into a

Great Expansion and Alteration Sale.

It's hardly three years since we took possession of this big building, and at that time we thought we'd have room enough for all time to come. But our Furniture, Carpet and Housefurnishing Departments have made such rapid strides that we're compelled to add nearly 10,000 feet of floor space, and while we were at it we decided to build large enough to have room for the Carpet Department on the main floor, so, when these alterations are completed the Furniture and Carpets will be together on the main floor and the Housefurnishing in the basement. The contracts have been given out and the carpenters, masons, painters, etc., will soon be clamoring to commence work, but before they do commence we've got to get rid of about $10,000 worth of Furniture that was bought for the January Sale. We thought the prices were down to the lowest notch, but this new move means that they must go down still lower. You can imagine what this means when every manufacturer in the country is advancing prices. This is a chance of a lifetime to buy new, up-to-date Furniture for about what it costs to make.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Richard Carle's return date to Plainfield has been set for Tuesday night, February 13. Nobody has any doubt but what the popularity of "The Mayor of Tokio" will overcome the thirteen end of the arrangements.

Eduard Waldmann, the German-American tragedian, who put on "Faust" with a local cast at the Casino, last winter, is again heading a big company. It was organized and is managed by himself. The first performance was given at Valparaiso, Ind., New Year's day, and a tour has been arranged to include most of the large cities in the middle west.

The large electric sign in front of the local playhouse that has read "Plainfield theatre" since the season began, was changed yesterday for the first time. It now says simply, "Elks—February 15, 1906." It is not necessary to say anymore as everybody knows that is the night of the big show. The idea is original with Managed Counihan, who is at the head of the publicity department of the production.

The scenic effects for Klaw & Erlanger's latest big spectacular production, "The Prince of India," were shipped last week from New York to Chicago, where it is to have its premiere. The entire equipment filled eighty 65-foot baggage cars, the largest amount ever carried for one play. The firm recently stated that if this production failed it would be the last of this kind that they would ever invest money in.

George M. Cohan's little daughter, Georgia Ethel, invariably accompanied him to the theatre when he was playing in "Little Johnny Jones." It was her especial delight to take an ocean voyage in the steamer that figures in the piece. When told her paternal parent was going in a new play, "George Washington, Jr.," she became dubious.

"Father," she asked him, "has it got a boat?"

"No," he replied.

"Well," she said with great earnestness, "either put in a boat or stick to 'Johnny Jones.'"

Convicted of Attempting Murder.

Hackensack, Jan. 25.—Benny Ontozzo, of Kingland, charged with attempted murder, was tried here Tuesday. Ontozzo was charged with firing two shots from a revolver at close range at the head of Tony Eulo, a track foreman on the Lackawanna. Eulo had discharged Ontozzo, and the latter, it is said, sought revenge. The jury convicted him.

PARK CLUB BOWLERS DEFEAT WESTFIELD

LOCAL TEAM TAKES TWO GAMES IN CENTRAL JOURNAL SERIES.

The Park Club bowlers continued their good work last night by taking two of the three games rolled with the Westfield Club, at Westfield, in the Central Journal League tournament. They took the first game by a score of 835 to 788, the second by a score of 748 to 722, and lost the last one by a score of 764 to 795.

From the scores it would look as if the bowling was poor, but the pins seemed to be glued down. Splits were the rule, rather than the exception. Both teams suffered about equal from splits and cut outs. In the three games the Parks had over thirty splits and five or six cut outs. Under the circumstances high scoring was impossible, and the Parks were very well satisfied to have won two of the three games. Daniel was high man for the local team with a score of 200 in the first game, while Walter Long rolled 187, next highest, in the same game. The scores:

TWO NEGROS HELD AS MURDER SUSPECTS.

Arrests in Baltimore and Wilmington in Allinson Case.

Baltimore, Jan. 25.—Rufus Johnson, a negro, who was arrested here Tuesday on suspicion of being the murderer of Miss Florence W. Allinson, near Moorestown, N. J., is held at headquarters, where he has been at intervals subjected to the third degree. Nothing has come of the examinations. Johnson was photographed today and his picture was sent to the Moorestown authorities. He said his home was in Raleigh, N. C., but that he has been here for two or three weeks. The police say, however, that they have information that he arrived from Philadelphia last Saturday night. Johnson admitted that he had worked about two miles from Moorestown on a farm, but said he left there last May, and went to work in Philadelphia.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 25.—John Wilson, a negro, was sent to the county workhouse yesterday for ten days for vagrancy, but really on suspicion of being the murderer of Miss Florence W. Allinson, of Moorestown, N. J. He was taken into custody Tuesday night at the instance of Dorsey Maguire, a white youth, of Washington, D. C. The latter received a similar sentence to be on hand as a witness. The Moorestown authorities are expected here today to try to identify the negro.

Wilson and young Maguire were stealing a ride on a freight train from Philadelphia Tuesday night, when the negro declared he was in Moorestown on the day of the murder and left there for fear of arrest. The local police say he does not fully answer the description of the slayer.

Awarded $4,500 for Trolley Mishap.

Jersey City, Jan. 25.—According to the testimony adduced at the trial in the Circuit Court of the damage suit instituted by Mrs. Julia Hogan, of 110 Ocean avenue, against the North Jersey Street Railway Company, she was of the new woman species and the real "bread winner" for the family, in that she went out to work, while her husband remained at home and attended to household duties. The jury returned a verdict of $4,000 for Mrs. Hogan and gave her husband $500 for the loss of his wife's services during her illness. The verdict will be appealed by the defendant company.

WILD DUCKS FLYING AS IN SPRING TIME.

Montclair Men Bag Many Birds in Rice Swamps Near Lincoln Park.

Roast wild duck will be the principal dish on the dinner tables of at least two Monclair men tonight. They went hunting yesterday in the wild rice beds of the bog and Vlie swamp, near Lincoln Park, and returned last night with a bag of black and teal ducks. The lucky sportsmen are Arthur Grayson and Ernest Richards. They went for an automobile ride to Dover Sunday, going by way of Caldwell, Pine Brook and Denville, and returned over the road through Boonton, Lincoln Park and Little Falls. As the automobile sped along the flooded meadows that skirt the Passaic River at Pine Brook several flocks of ducks were seen.

Both are enthusiastic sportsmen, and the sight of the birds created a longing for a canvas canoe and a ten-bore gun that was almost irresistible. On the way back, past the Boonton reservoir of the Jersey City water works, ducks were in plenty, close to the western shore, where the new road from Parsippany to Boonton passes. At Lincoln Park a couple of fine flocks flew over the riders' heads and settled down in Bog and Vlie swamp.

It was these that finally decided the question that had been in both men's minds since seeing the first duck at Pine Brook. This was as to whether or not the next day should be given up to a duck hunt.

Despite the fog Monday, the men started early, but on reaching Pine Brook the mist hanging over the meadows was so thick that a barn could not be distinguished fifty feet away, to say nothing of a duck. All day long the hunters waited, but the fog never lifted, and when night came they had not fired a shot.

The men made up their minds yesterday to try again, and, proceeding to Lincoln Park, it was not long before they "got busy."

They found ducks in plenty and easy of approach. The greatest number were seen in the wild rice pools. It was learned that the rice plants, in many cases, had fallen and lay in tangled heaps, but apparently some of the heads contained seed, for when the hunters waded in the water the ducks flew out. It is about two months earlier than ducks are usually seen in this part of the State.

PAINTERS OPEN THEIR SESSION AT PATERSON.

New Jersey State Association Begins Annual Convention with Over 100 Delegates Present.

Paterson, Jan. 25—The second annual convention of the New Jersey State Association of Master Painters and Decorators opened yesterday morning in Free Masons' Hall, on Market street, this city. When the meeting was called to order there were over 100 delegates present from out of town. They were given a warm welcome.

The convention was opened by Rev. D. Stuart Hamilton, who offered prayer. Mayor John Johnson then made a formal address of welcome. The morning session was taken up with an address by the president, Charles E. Van Syckle, the appointing of committees and the reports of officers.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates listened to the reading of several papers by prominent members of the association.

THINK BOTH DROWNED.

Boat of Missing Duck-Hunters Is Found Bottom Upward.

A letter was received Tuesday night from William Butler, of Keyport, by Chief of Police P. J. Burke, of Perth Amboy, which announced that Butler had picked up a much battered and upturned duck boat last Friday, which he believed belonged to Gustave Stone and Otto Hulof, missing from Perth Amboy.

George Stone, a brother of one of the missing men and Otto Mortenson, who was to have gone on the duck hunting trip with the two a week ago Tuesday, were notified and they went yesterday to Keyport and identified the boat.

Mortenson and Stone are convinced their friend and brother have been lost, because the duck shell was turned bottom side up when found.

Murdaco to Be Hanged Friday.

Jersey City, Jan. 25.—Members of the jury selected to attend the hanging of Nicolo Murdaco in the Hudson county jail here tomorrow received their summonses yesterday from Sheriff Kaiser. Murdaco killed his wife with an axe, cutting her head nearly off, on May 4 last. He was to have been hanged in August, but got a stay pending an appeal, which has been dismissed. There has been talk of an appeal to the United States Court, but Patrick Dooley, of Murdaco's counsel, said yesterday it was not likely the appeal would be made.

Policeman Catches "Wild Man."

South Orange, Jan. 25.—The mystery of a "wild man" who has been keeping the rural districts over the Orange Mountain in a state of terror since Sunday was solved Tuesday night when Patrolman Brodesser captured Morris Barrett, of No. 311 West 110th street, Manhattan. Barrett's ghostly form has been seen around the farms in Northfield avenue and Cherry lane recently. He is demented.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

There is a firm expectation entertained by the South Plainfield citizens generally that the borough bill now before the Legislature will be passed if fair dealing shall be granted by the Legislature.

No new cases of scarlatina have broken out since the children of Samuel Pyatt were taken with it two weeks ago.

The old barn, so long an eyesore on one of our main streets, is being demolished, and will soon disappear.

TWO BOYS BURIED ALIVE.

Fell Into Hole, and Sandbank Caved on Them—One May Die.

When playing on a sandbank at South street and Hancock avenue, Jersey City, yesterday afternoon, Frederick Hass, nine years old, of No. 343 Centre avenue, and John Ward, eight years, of No. 45 South street, fell in a hole and were buried. Frederick received injuries which may prove fatal.

Several days ago boys dug a hole in the sandbank and put a newspaper over the entrance, hiding it entirely. Hass and Ward were playing with companions when they stepped on the newspaper. The sand caved in from all sides and they were quickly covered up. Their comrades ran away in alarm.

The firemen of Hook and Ladder Company No. 7 unearthed the boys. Hass was taken to Christ Hospital, unconscious.

Erie's Bergen Tunnel to Go.

New York, Jan. 25.—Contracts will be let by the Erie Railroad in a few days for the so-called Bergen cut in Jersey City, which will eliminate the only tunnel on the Erie between New York and Chicago. The tunnel has limited the number of trains that could be safely run and the traffic has grown to such an extent as to make it necessary to build the four-track cut through the Bergen hill. In its construction about half a million yards of rock and 120,000 yards of earth will be removed. The cut is a part of the project to entirely reconstruct the freight and passenger terminal of the Erie in Jersey City.

Detective Wants to Retire.

Jersey City, Jan. 25.—Detective Sergeant John Clos, who has been a member of the local police department forty years, has filed with the police commissioners an application for retirement. It will come up for consideration at the meeting of the board tonight. Detective Clos, at a recent meeting of the police board, was transferred from night desk duty at police headquarters to street duty in the Central Avenue Police Precinct. It was charged at the time that politics was responsible for the transfer. Rev. E. L. Stoddard, of St. John's Reformed church, headed a movement to have him retired.

Jersey Postal Clerks to Meet.

Hoboken, Jan. 25.—President Fitzpatrick has issued a call for the annual meeting of the New Jersey State Postal Clerks' Association, to be held in this city on Decoration Day. At the present time the membership is 150, twenty cities in the State being represented. The only city of prominence not a member of the association is Jersey City. After the business session the local association will entertain the visiting delegates at a banquet.

Arrested on a Woman's Charge.

Califon, Jan. 25.—On a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace J. Wesltey Henderson, of this place, at the instance of Mrs. Hester Wolf, of Farmersville, through John Crampton, of Mountainville, overseer of the poor of Tewkesbury Township, Elias Fennimore, of Far Hills, was arrested by Constable John R. Stevens, of Bedminster Township. Stevens gave bail for his appearance before Mr. Henderson tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thornton, of East Third street, are entertaining relatives from Moodus, Conn.

HOBOKEN AGHAST AT REFORM WAVE.

Policemen Will Have to Attend to Duty, and Saloons Must Obey Law.

Chief of Police Hayes, of Hoboken, has asked the Common Council to revoke the licenses of four saloons which he claims have violated the laws. The presence of women and similar illegal practices are made the basis of the allegations against the places. The owners have until February 14 to answer.

This action is said to presage a new era in Hoboken. The city having taken to reform, it is taking it hard. Pulis in the police department have been abandoned. The patrolmen are to do duty, and shirkers will have to work or get out. Mayor Steil is said to have assurances that the Common Council will back him up in his reform work.

Chief Hayes has been chafing ever since he has been in his present position over his inability to make his men do police duty. Yesterday the Mayor said he was having the experience of his life. A policeman, whose brother-in-law was, until his death, a big politician in Hoboken, was recently caught off post, a trifle in the old days, but since a man was punished for taking a whole day off without permission from the chief, although told he might do so by a police commissioner, the friends of the man caught off post are anxious.

The Mayor said that not less than fifty men called on him Tuesday to have the man let off "because he is a good fellow." The Mayor says that this will not go while he is in office. He says he will back up Chief Hayes, and that there will be a lot of places in the city closed within the next few weeks.

He intimates that when licensing time comes around again the total of 400 saloons in the city will be very materially cut down. Hoboken is only a mile square, and has more saloons to that mile than any other city in the world.

If the license law proposed by the Catholic bishops and priests, which is being supported to a great extent by other denominations, goes through, the number of saloons possible in Hoboken will be sixty-five. Each will have to pay at least $1,000 license.

Trenton Doctors Plead Guilty.

Trenton, Jan. 25.—City Physicians Dr. Frank Scammell and Dr. Samuel Freeman, and Drs. Frank Chattin and W. J. Hall pleaded guilty to charges of nonethical acts before the Mercer County Component Medical Society Tuesday night, and promised to dispose of all their stock in the Trenton Emergency Hospital before May 1. If they meet that requirement they will be taken back into the fold. The specific charges against the physicians was the practice of medicine contrary to the ethics of a physician, and for their part in the Emergency Hospital work, a stock company for the purpose of giving treatment for $1 a year. The physicians claim that this is contrary to all medical rules and practices, and that the accused doctors have been grossly violating the society's regulations.

Elizabeth Nurse Hit by Trolley.

New York, Jan. 25.—Dr. H. C. Davis and Miss A. E. Buntle, a trained nurse, both of Elizabeth, N. J., tried to cross in front of a southbound Sixth avenue car at Twenty-third street early Tuesday evening. Miss Buntle was caught under the front platform and dragged several feet before Policeman Torpey could pull her out. She was bruised about the body. Dr. Davis escaped unhurt. Miss Buntle was attended by Ambulance Surgeon Cottle, of the New York Hospital. Dr. Davis accompanied her in the ambulance.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Jan. 28: "Korea: The Progress of Two Decades"—Luke 1, 76-79—The Hermit Nation an Object of Worldwide Interest.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

It is but a few years since the western world knew almost nothing of the conditions of life and the customs of the people of Korea. She was well termed the Hermit Nation, for her isolation was almost complete. Even the Chinese and Japanese, her nearest neighbors, were not on terms of friendly intimacy with her.

Rumors of strange social and political conditions filtered out through various channels, but reliable information was not obtainable. Nor was the curiosity of the civilized world very largely aroused. Korea desired nothing so much as to be let alone. Other nations were so indifferent as to be perfectly willing to leave her alone. No prospects of wealth from natural resources or mines or forests and no great gains from commerce with a people who had few wants and little to barter made any temptation for foreigners to break down the barriers which shut her in and them out.

A few years have served to change the view entirely. The story of the opening of the country to foreigners is not so dramatic as was that of Japan, not so tragic as that of China, but scarcely less interesting than either of these in a general way.

The land itself is well worth careful study. It is not extensive in area, has no immense stretches of plain and none of the immense mountain systems of the earth. But it has a varied and interesting territory. Some of the most beautiful mountain scenery to be anywhere found is hidden far away in her interior, difficult yet of access and seen by but few westerners. It is certain, however, to attract tourists as soon as roads shall replace rugged mountain paths.

The land is capable of sustaining a far larger population than it has ever had. The congested condition of the Japanese islands suggests the probable future of this peninsula so far as supplying inhabitants is concerned.

But the people themselves are the most interesting thing about the nation. Of a race bearing some resemblance to both Chinese and Japanese, they are at the same time from a different root stock and in many important respects distinctly superior to either of them. They are of larger and better physical proportions and in intellectual characteristics are to be measured by higher standards.

Social customs crystallized in special forms some hundreds of years back and have remained fixed, so they seem in many respects absurd when viewed by modern eyes.

Political affairs could scarcely be worse and any form of government continue to exist.

All has been in process of rapid change in the past few years. This has not come from the desire of the people, but has been forced on them. However, they will probably benefit by the change and adapt themselves to the new conditions.

Railways are coming where before were no thoroughfares at all. Commerce has come as result of war. Political betterment is already secured.

To us the deepest interest lies in the religious advancement to be seen.

The progress of our own mission work has been most encouraging.

Put some study on Korea. Send to the mission rooms and league headquarters for books and other literature on the subject and search your local libraries.

Suffering, God's Minister.

The world is not abandoned, and it is not lawless, and pain does not run riot as it pleases. Suffering is God's appointed minister. And by and by, when it has cleared off, it will be about suffering just as it is in the factories, where when they paint vases with beautiful flowers and running vines they are smeared with black and put into the furnace and are black when they came out until they are brushed and the black disappears and nought but these beautiful flowers and vines remain. Behind the groans and the anguish of men in this world God has been writing, and in the light of the eternal world results will be seen of which we have no conception here. It does not yet appear what we shall be. We are sons of God. We come through tears. There have been many in every age of the world who have been saved by the washing of their garments in blood. A strange bath! A strange white that comes from crimson! But so it is.—Beecher.

A Self Searching.

Am I really what I ought to be? Am I what, in the bottom of my heart, I honestly wish to be? Am I living a life at all like what I myself approve? My secret nature, the true complexion of my character, is hidden from all men, and only I know it. Is it such as I should be willing to show? Is my soul at all like what my kindness and most intimate friends believe? Is my heart at all such as I should wish the Searcher of Hearts to judge me by? Is every year adding to my devotion, to my unselfishness, to my conscientiousness, to my freedom from the hyprocrisy of seeming so much better than I am? When I compare myself with last year, am I more ready to surrender myself at the call of duty? Am I more alive to the commands of conscience? Have I shaken off my besetting sins?—Frederick Temple.

Friendship.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the too of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 28.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Home missions in our cities.—Luke xix, 41-48.

The greatest problem in government in our country today is the government of our large cities. So far as the national and state governments are concerned, the greatest problems involved in their conduct have been largely solved, but when we come to the municipal governments we find a very different state of affairs. In no other place has corruption in politics become so widespread, nor has the opportunity to defraud and to deceive the people been so great. The recent political revolutions against all that is worst in politics in such cities as St. Louis and Philadelphia go to show that when the people are thoroughly aroused they can bring about great and important changes. But what is most desired is that a condition in municipal life shall be reached where there shall not be an alternating existence of fraud and of reformation. We should aim to reach a condition where city life and city governmental affairs should always be honest and upright, and the surest and best way to bring about such a state of affairs is to completely evangelize and Christianize the citizens of our great cities.

The difficulties in city mission work are tremendously great. In the higher classes of society there are many who are absolutely indifferent to the claims of the less fortunate upon them. Many of them are indifferent to religion themselves and spend their entire time in leading idle and selfish lives. The mission problem today has also become more difficult for the reason that our large cities are becoming the homes of thousands of foreigners. The majority of the immigrants who come to our shores come first to the city of New York, many of them making their homes there. Their next point is Philadelphia and the great industrial centers of central and eastern Pennsylvania. Many others locate in the city of Chicago and other western cities.

In any great city where there are 500,000 to 1,000,000 foreigners who are ignorant of our language and customs the problem of missions becomes a hard and difficult one. Almost every influence draws this large mass of people instinctively from the missionary, and yet at the same time the work in nearly all of our large cities has been greatly blessed, and many churches consisting entirely of foreigners have been organized in our large cities, and hundreds of converts have been made. The importance of this work, so far as foreign populations are concerned, lies in the fact that many of the converts go back to their own countries to preach the gospel in their own tongue to their own people. City mission work is a great feeder of the foreign missionary field.

A Brazilian Leader.

The Christian Endeavor movement has taken a firm hold on Brazil, where there are now eighty societies, with a total membership of 2,500, in the following states: S. Paulo, Parana, Santa Catharina, Minas Geraes, Rio de Janeiro, Bahia, Sergipe, Alagoas, Pernambuco and Maranhao. One of Christian Endeavor's strongest supporters and talented leaders is Dr. Jose Carlos Rodrigues.

DR. JOSE CARLOS RODRIGUES.

A Tribute to Its Worth.

The story of Christian Endeavor for the year just breaks the record, remarkable as have been the growth and achievement in the twenty-four years of this movement. To picture it would be to unroll the panorama of the planet in its relation to the kingdom.

The sun never sets on its busy activities. Practically wherever human hearts throb with the unrest and sorrow and joy of life there unfolds the banner of Christian Endeavor and breaks on weary souls the cheer and uplift of its song of redemption.

Dr. Clark, alert, young, enthusiastic, wise and single hearted for the kingdom, anxious only to see the church measure up to its opportunity and responsibility—what shall we say of him? Well, only this—pray that his years may be long and many for the work yet to be done, and that all of us may open our eyes to see the strong right arm the church has in the organized movement of its young people, and love it and be in it and watch over it as over the dearest child of the home nest.—James H. Earle in Contributor.

In Wild Wyoming.

You will have a long hunt before you find a Christian Endeavor society to match the one in Buffalo, Wyo. Sixty young people, mostly in the high school, of fine intelligence and big energies, make it up. The homes of many of them are ranches more than fifty miles away. Empire builders they are, and at it with a will. Their society is on the recognition roll, and they sent a delegate to Baltimore.—General Secretary Von Ogden Vogt.

A Fish Driver.

Speaking at a prayer meeting one night, a Japanese Endeavorer of South Australia said: "I cannot be a fisher of men—I am not good at fishing—but, pastor, I will go where the fish are and drive them where you can catch them." That is just the best work our Endeavorers everywhere could be doing.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The February American Magazine is an automobile number. The leading article, "The Heart of the Automobile," by Leroy Scott, is a most entertaining account of what has happened in the automobile world since English law obliged a man with a red flag to walk before every motor allowed loose in a public place. It also contains a complete illustrated description of every 1906 pleasure car—all facts and figures. Among the other articles is Henry Kitchell Webster's "The Square Deal with Children," an account of the work of Judge Mack and the Chicago Juvenile Court—a story of intense human interest. The second of W. S. Haward's articles on "The Mastery of the Earth," appears in this number, and C. H. Caffin continues his series with a paper on contemporaneous American painting. The short stories of the month are fully up to the American's standard. Among the authors are Richard Washburn Child, W. B. M. Ferguson, Dorothy Canfield, Charles Battell Loomis, Charles C. Lofquest and W. Bates Adams. Miss Cholmondley's serial "Prisoners" is a hit.

The leading feature article of Success Magazine for February is the beginning of a history of the telephone industry in this country. Under the title "Fighting the Telephone Trust," Paul Latzke tells the dramatic story of the battle of six thousand independent operating telephone companies in the United States to overpower the gigantic trust that operates two and a half million telephones, and that has fenced New York City, its greatest stronghold, with court decisions and legal hindrances of every kind, to keep its monopoly privileges intact forever. Mr. Latzke, who is one of the publishers of the American Telephone Journal, speaks with the authority of knowledge when he goes into the history of the telephone from its earliest inception, and traces the progress of the litigation that finally resulted in favor of the Bell patents, and fastened "a gouging monopoly" on the necks of the American people. The whole makes a most graphic and absorbing story. Cleveland Moffett's continuation of his "The Shameful Misuse of Wealth" series deals this month with "Our Closed and Silent Churches." It seems perhaps a startling proposition to speak of our houses of worship as misusers of wealth, but the idea here presented is that the wealth represented by these costly edifices is non-productive and therefore misused, when these buildings are opened to the people only one or two days a week. Montrose J. Moses, in the "Progress of American Playwrights" speaks of the struggles of our native writers in their efforts to develop the American drama. In "Henry Irving's Fight for Fame," Bram Stoker, for twenty-seven years the personal representative of the great actor, gives a short resume of the characteristics that won for him an eminent position.

HIGH LICENSE FOR CHICAGO.

Saloon Fees Likely to Be Jumped Up to $1,000.

Chicago, Jan. 25—How to increase the police force as a means of preventing crime was the main question before the City Council Monday night. A proposition that the saloon license feees be raised from $500 to $1,000 was sent to the license committee for its first consideration.

The contrast between the reception given this proposal and what it would have met with if made a few years ago was the best evidence of the change which has come over the City Council in that time. As late as 1900 if such a proposition had been seriously advanced it would have been laughed out of court and contemptuously referred to some committee which was never expected to meet.

Today it is being most seriously considered. It was sent to a committee, the chairman and a majority of the members of which are in favor of it, and the chances of its passage are more than good.

Refused to Kiss Bride; Lost Fee.

Port Murray, Jan. 25.—Justice of the Peace John C. Beatty will complete fifteen years of service as a magistrate on May 1, and he will retire. Mr. Beatty is one of the best known residents of Mansfield township. The justice of the peace has officiated at twelve weddings during the fifteen years. In conversation with a reporter recently the magistrate told how a colored bridegroom once got the best of him. Six years ago a dusky employe of the terra-cotta plant came to his office and asked him to perform the marriage ceremony. After performing the ceremony the justice of the peace informed the bridegroom that it was always his custom to kiss the bride, but in this case he begged to be excused. The dusky groom thereupon informed Mr. Beatty that it was his custom to pay $2 to be married, but in this case he begged to be excused.

Banana Shortcake.

This is delightful in winter when desserts become rather difficult. Make a batter as for strawberry shortcake, and then while it is still hot spread with butter and a layer of bananas that have been sliced thinly with one orange (also sliced and cut up very small) added for every three bananas. Mix the fruit with one cupful of sugar and spread between and on top of the hot buttered layers of shortcake. Whip a cup of cream till stiff, sweeten and spread over the fruit without further seasoning.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

The latest and most sensational novelty yet given to the public is one that is creating a furore in New York. It is the thrilling and pulse-jumping automobile race in "The Vanderbilt Cup" now playing at the Broadway theatre, in which two enormous racing cars are driven at top speed to the accompaniment of sparks, dust, shooting flames and explosions that fairly shake the theatre, while the scenery wheels past at a gait that makes the head swim. There have been races on the stage before, such as the famous contest in "The County Fair," "The Suburban," "The Sporting Duchess" and "Ben Hur," but for up-to-date realism there is nothing to beat the motor race. And this is not merely an effect due to a clever "property man" and the electrician. The cars are racers, and ones that have seen service, too. One is the famous "Green Dragon," with which Barney Oldfield took every record from one mile up to fifty from California to Maine, and South to Florida, and the other is a big white racer built for speed and speed alone. That they travel and travel fast anyone who sees the race will witness. While the race lasts but one and three-quarter minutes, some distance is covered by the wheels. If the cars were run upon the ground and in the open, two and one-eighth miles would have slipped by at a speed slightly better than the best railroad time. The machines require careful handling, too, and Oldfield and his racing partner trust no one to touch them but themselves.

The biggest comedy hit of the year in New York is Fay Templeton in Geo. M. Cohan's music play, "45 Minutes from Broadway," at the New Amsterdam theatre, where she is now in her fourth week. Miss Templeton is undoubtedly the cleverest comedienne on the American stage. Her versatility was never more strongly tested than in this play, wherein she has serious and emotional, as well as broad comedy situations. Her work is particularly pleasing to women. She is a women's comedienne, always refined in all that she does and never resorting to the slightest suggestion of coarseness to make her comic points. Victor Moore, who plays the opposite role, "Kid" Burns, has made a hit second only to that of the star. Mr. Moore, too, belongs to the quiet, unctuous and refined school of comedy, and in him Miss Templeton finds a most able second, in full sympathy with her stage methods. It is a pleasure to witness the situations between these really great artists, who make their points through refreshingly natural methods. As for the piece itself, it far surpasses expectation and any one who sees it cannot leave the theatre disappointed. It is a very effective conglomeration of different schools of theatrical entertainment in to a powerful story of human interest, staged with novelty, variety and snap. "45 Minutes from Broadway" is quite the real thing in New York.

Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s, play, "The Clansman," has made a substantial success at the Liberty theatre. It is a powerful melodrama and both an education and an entertainment, for while it holds one's closest attention as a drama, it reveals the truth of the horrors of negro domination in South Carolina and the real reason for the organization of the Ku Klux Klan. Holbrook Blinn, the famous character actor who made an international reputation through his superb impersonation of Napoleon in "The Duchess of Dantzic," in London and New York, plays the role of Austin Stoneman, the Abolitionist, the prototype of Thaddeus Stevens. Mr. Blinn's makeup is remarkable. Sydney Ayres, the young leading man, who has played many important parts in notable productions, acts the role of Ben Cameron, the Clansman, who leads the Ku Klux Klan. Mr. Ayres presents an ideal impersonation of the fiery young Southerner. Miss Georgia Welles plays the heroine. The favor with which "The Clansman" has been received indicates a long run at the Liberty.

To Govern Auto Overspeeding.

A correspondent in Harper's Weekly makes what would seem to be a practical suggestion for the regulation of automobile overspeeding. Let some inventor, he says, set his brains to work and furnish automobilists with an attachment which will automatically give them a record, but meanwhile "let the local authorities devote a portion of the fines they receive to marking off the roads in eighths of a mile in a manner that will give drivers a chance to regulate their speed to the conditions imposed." If this is done, he says, local communities will get fewer fines, "but there will be more conformity to the law."

Leopard Skin Coats.

It is not a particularly happy new year for the leopard. Reports from Paris say the new styles in motor coats will be made from his spotted skin. No other costly pelt can compare with this favored fur, for it has the merit of being not only striking, but becoming, and it forms an ideal wrap to protect women from dust and microbes. Its hair being short, it readily sheds snow and rain. Little has been heard or seen of the new garment in America, but some society women who are about to return to these shores after looking in Paris for winter wardrobes may have leopard skin coats in their trunks.

Dr. Liebrecht of New York, has returned home after a short visit with friends here.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

In the event of Manager Daab returning to this city the coming season, there is a strong possibility that "Red" Waller will wear a Plainfield uniform. The two have been in consultation the past few days and "Red" winks his eye when asked if he is coming down this way.

"Dave" Driscoll, the idol of the Plainfield baseball fans, is a society favorite during the winter as recent reports indicate. At a reception given by the Knife and Fork Club, of Greenville, Tuesday night, the grand march was led by "Dave" and a charming belle of that place.

DON'T WANT POSTOFFICE MOVED

Owners of Building Explain that Lease Renewal Right Still Exists.

Bernardsville, Jan. 25.—In the story concerning the talked-of removal of the Bernardsville postoffice from its quarters in the Smith-Spinning building, in the park, it was set forth that Postmaster Abel had been notified by the owners of the building to vacate on April 1. This has given the impression that the owners don't want the postmaster as a tenant. This is far from being so, says Mrs. Catherine A. Spinning, one of the owners.

"It has been our custom," said Mrs. Spinning, "to notify the postmaster on the last day of each year of our desire that the lease be renewed for the year beginning the ensuing April 1. There was always included in this formal notice the alternative of vacating April 1. We have received no word from Postmaster Abel that he intends moving the office to other quarters. Some time ago he explained that the space for the office was too small, and we enlarged the office."

NEW YORK CHINESE IN RIOT; TWO ARE KILLED.

Fifty Shots Fired During New Year Celebration—One Wounded Man Will Die.

New York, Jan. 25.—During a New Year celebration in Chinatown yesterday afternoon a riot broke out among the Mongolians. It resulted in the killing of two Chinese and the fatal injuring of another. One Chinese was seriously wounded.

A policeman on Pell street saw several Chinese rush from the building and begin firing revolvers. About fifty shots were fired. Police reserves were hurried to the scene, and on their arrival the rioters ran in all directions.

Six, however, were captured and locked up. Each of the men arrested carried forty-four caliber navy revolvers.

Governor Takes a Rest.

Governor Stokes will go to Lakewood today for a rest. He will return to Trenton next week. The Governor has been very busy since the opening of the legislative session and now that the strain is off the political situation because of the masterly message he sent to the Legislature, he feels that a rest is important for his health. He is not sick, only tired out.

A $5,200 BANDIT CAUGHT IN NEW YORK.

An Italian Baker Taken Into Custody at His Shop—Other Arrests to Follow.

New York, Jan. 25.—One of the men supposed to be connected with the robbery of $5,200 from Paymaster William Sheik and William F. Harkins, near the Raritan Driving Park on December 28 last, was arrested in this city yesterday.

Since the hold-up the Delaware Construction Company has been energetic in having every clue followed up as it was their loss, the money stolen being intended to pay their laborers, who were laying the conduits for the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company.

It now transpires that four men took part in the hold-up, and the accused man, an Italian named Cosnio Scieno, was taken into custody in his bakery at 155 Elizabeth street.

So far the man under arrest refuses to talk, but the detectives are hopeful that other arrests will shortly follow.

None of the stolen money has as yet been recovered.

NEWARK CONFERENCE MEETS AT JERSEY CITY.

Expect to Have It Held Here In the Near Future.

The Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held in the West Side Avenue M. E. church, Jersey City, April 4-8 inclusive. This is the church of which Rev. William C O'Donnell, formerly of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, is the pastor. Bishop Hamilton, of SanFrancisco, will preside.

It has been the custom of the conference to meet in different places, although by a mere co-incident it has been held in Newark during the past two or three years. It is expected to have the conference hold a session here in the near future.

At the quarterly conference held at the First M. E. church, last night, James R. Joy and Samuel Bingaman were appointed as delegates to attend the lay conference to be held on Friday, April 7. It is expected that the local M. E. churches will be largely represented at the conference.

PTOMAINES IN ICE CREAM.

Family of Three Poisoned, Two of Whom May Not Recover.

Millville, Jan. 25.—Suffering with ptomaine poisoning there is slight hope for the recovery of Mr. and Mrs. Rusling M. Adams. Their daughter, Elsie, has been saved only after much difficult work of the physicians.

The family of three partook of home-made ice cream and all were stricken violently ill. The daughter reached Dr. Ralph Charlesworth by telephone, and when he arrived he found Mr. and Mrs. Adams in an unconscious condition. They regained counsciousness late yesterday, but still are in such a critical state that it is feared they will not recover.

MINISTERS FAVOR LOCAL OPTION BILL.

Pulpit Instruction on Miller Measure Will Ring Through Church and Auditoriums Sunday.

When a hearing is given on Assemblyman Miller's local option bill by the committee on municipal corporations at the State House at Trenton Tuesday a large number of local clergymen will attend. The ministers have decided to do all in their power to have the bill passed, and with this idea will attend the hearing. The present local option bill, the provisions of which have already been given, seems to meet with general favor among the clergymen.

After speaking upon violations of the excise law by Sunday selling, some of the local clergymen will take up the local option bill in the pulpits Sunday. The congregations will be given an idea of the provisions, and the pastors will show how its passage will affect the community.

Many clergymen and Prohibitionists throughout the State are interested in the measure, and it is thought that the hearing will be largely attended by the clergy and laity from Trenton and other portions of the State.

DRUG TRUST VERDICT CUT.

Decision Takes Off Nearly $10,000 of Damages Secured by C. G. A. Loder.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 25.—A decree reducing by nearly $10,000 the verdict obtained by C. G. A. Loder against the three associations forming the so-called Drug Trust has been handed down by Judge Holland. The verdict was for $20,738, and the decree instructs the plaintiff to file a remittance for $9,857.48. Unless this is done before February 1 a new trial will be granted.

If Mr. Loder consents to the reduction the court will then order the clerk of the Circuit Court to multiply the reduced amount by three, as provided by the Sherman Anti-Trust act, under which the suit was brought, which will bring the damages to be awarded the plaintiff to $32,641.56.

Mr. Loder's suit was the first to be brought in this district under the Sherman Anti-Trust act, and was to recover $100,000 for unjust discriminations.

CARNEGIE TO GIVE $25,000.

It Will Be Used for Public Library Building at Nutley.

Jesse Carver, president of the Board of Free Public Library Trustees of Kearny, recently received this letter from Andrew Carnegie's private secretary:

"Dear Sir—Responding to your communication on behalf of Kearny, if your city agrees by resolution of Common Council to maintain a free public library at a cost of not less than $2,500 per year and provide a suitable site for the building, Mr. Carnegie will be glad to give $25,000 to erect a free public library building for Kearny."

Mr. Carver presented the letter to the Town Council Tuesday night and it passed a resolution providing that the sum of $2,500 be placed on the tax levy for the purpose of maintaining the library.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

Plans Are Made For Early Introduction of Bill in the Legislature.

COLBY IS INTERESTED

E. H. Goodwin Maps Out Features of Such a Measure Before Civil Service Reform Association Members.

Plans for the early introduction of a civil service reform bill in the Legislature were perfected Tuesday afternoon at the organization meeting of the New Jersey Civil Service Association, held in Colby headquarters, in the Scheuer building, Newark. E. H. Goodwin, of New York, secretary of the Civil Service Reform Association and of the National Civil Service Reform League, was on hand with a tentative draft of a bill which, he said, was similar to that to be introduced shortly in the Pennsylvania Legislature. He gave a synopsis of the provisions of the proposed act and a motion was adopted providing for the introduction of the measure by one of the Essex delegation. Mr. Goodwin promised to have a complete draft of the bill ready within a week.

Senator Everett Colby, president of the association, was in the chair, and the first work of the meeting was to adopt a constitution and bylaws. Both were copied almost verbatim from those of the New York association at Mr. Goodwin's suggestion, and, according to the constitution, the object of the organization is "to establish a system of appointment, promotion and removal in the civil service founded upon the principle that public office is a public trust, admission to which should depend upon proven fitness. To this end," the constitution continues, "the association will demand that appointments to subordinate executive offices, with such exceptions as may be expedient not inconsistent with the principle already mentioned, shall be made from persons whose fitness has been ascertained by competitive examinations open to all applicants properly qualified, and that removals shall be made for cause only, such as dishonesty, negligence or inefficiency, but not for political opinion or refusal to render party service; and the association will advocate all other appropriate measures for securing integrity, intelligence, efficiency, good order and due discipline in its civil service."

Mr. Goodwin, in explaining his draft of a bill, went over its most important provisions and explained why he considered them the best. The proposed bill, he said, would apply only to State, county and city departments, and not to towns and villages. It would provide for a central civil service board of three members with an office in the capital and a corps of examiners.

"In Massachusetts," Mr. Goodwin said, "they have the central board, and in New York they have local boards. The former system is less ponderous and has been found to be effective there. In New York the peculiar disposition of the population would make it almost impossible for a central board at Albany to manage effectively the civil service department of New York City. For New Jersey it seems to me that a central board would fill the bill.

"Most of the boards," the speaker continued, "are in session only part of the time, but it is necessary at all times to have some representative who may always be found. In some States there is a salaried secretary, with offices in the capital city. The best plan, however, it seems to me, is to have a salaried president, who shall devote his whole time to the work. Such a representative always has the power to speak and the business of the board is often made easier on that account."

In New York, Mr. Goodwin said, the president of the board receives $6,000 a year. He added that he knew little of the salaries of New Jersey officials, but suggested that the bill provide for a president at a yearly salary of $5,000.

A method of picking the appointees, similar to that now in use in the local police and fire departments, was advocated by Mr. Goodwin. It was that the commissioners should have the power to appoint one out of the first three persons standing highest in the examination. No man, he said, could then come before the board more than three times for appointment. With such a method, Mr. Goodwin explained, it was possible for the board to reject a man who, though he was at the head of the list, was not properly qualified because of other reasons apparent to the commissioners. One important point in the bill, the speaker went on to say, was the provision made to prevent the assessments of officeholders by campaign committees. Some civil service statutes, he said, made it a misdemeanor for a man to contribute a percentage of his salafy toward a campaign fund, but he added that he considered that punishment too severe.

"I would suggest that a man be punished with dismissal for such an offense," concluded Mr. Goodwin.

William Wrage, of Flemington, brother of Mrs. H. Allegar, is at Muhlenberg Hospital to be operated for chronic appendicitis. Dr. Hedges is in attendance.

DARK CLOUDS HANG OVER RUM TRAFFIC.

Grand Divisions, S. of T., Endorse Move of Catholic Clergy for Stringency in Liquor Laws.

Over 200 delegates from every section of the State were in attendance yesterday at the sixty-second annual session of the grand division of the Sons of Temperance, held in Concordia Hall, Trenton.

A spirited discussion was engaged in upon the work of the society and the accomplishment of its purposes. At the afternoon session this resolution was adopted:

"The grand division, Sons of Temperance of New Jersey, in annaul session at Trenton, January 24, 1906, has learned of the movement in this State among the Catholic clergy for more stringent laws in relation to the liquor traffic, and is ready to co-operate with them. The friends of total abstinence in America have not forgotten the mission of Father Mathew to America many years ago, and the vast amount of good he was able to accomplish. It was the Sons of Temperance who escorted him through the streets of New York on his arrival on the shores of the new world. Resolved, that we earnestly petition the Legislature, at its present session, to favorably consider any legislation which may be proposed looking to an abatement of the evils of the traffic.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, attested by the grand scribe, be forwarded to Bishops O'Connor and McFaul, of the dioceses of the Catholic church of New Jersey."

SAY MARRIED MAN RAN OFF WITH THEIR GIRL.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stewart, of Littleton, Morris County, Seek McCurdy, a Neighbor.

Morristown, Jan. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stewart, of Littleton, were in Morristown yesterday morning seeking a warrant for the arrest of Hiram McCurdy, a neighbor, whom they accuse of running away with their daughter, Gussie Stewart, aged seventeen, last night.

The father said yesterday he had spent the night driving about the country seeking some trace of them without avail. McCurdy is not yet of age, but married Mary Tilts last July. It was stated that McCurdy had not supported his wife since their marriage.

The Stewarts are hard working people, the father having been employed on the McAlpin place, at Littleton, for thirty-five years. He was away as usual during the day yesterday, and Mrs. Stewart was also from home, leaving Mr. Stewart's mother, an aged blind woman, and her brother, William Masker, at home. The blind woman did not know that anything peculiar was going on, but Mr. Stewart says that the brother-in-law was fully aware of the purpose of the daughter to run away with McCurdy, but failed to inform her parents of her purpose. In the present state of the case there was nothing that could be done by the justice. The McCurdys claim to be related to the family of the same name lately connected with the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

SUFFRAGE LEAGUE SUPPORTS OREGON SISTERS.

Plainfield Organization Pledges Its Assistance in Fight.

The Plainfield and North Plainfield Equal Suffrage League met at the home of Mrs. David P. Hall, in Madison avenue, yesterday and pledged its assistance to the women of Oregon, who have by their law of initiative and referendum asked for full suffrage from the voters at the next election, to be held in June. One-tenth of the population and 1,000 other persons have signed the petition.

Mrs. Stephen Haff read a number of laws relating to truancy and paternal school to the Political Study Class. At a recent meeting of the league held at the home of Mrs. D. L. Thompson, of Rockview terrace, it was decided to ask the secretary to write a letter to Washington expressing the approval of the laws of the District of Columbia relating to child labor.

LEGISLATIVE HEARINGS.

Assembly Judiciary Committee Puts In a Busy Day.

Trenton, Jan. 25.—The House Committee on Judiciary was in session all day yesterday giving hearings on the railroad tax bills and Assemblyman Martin's bill to repeal the Hillery maximum tax rate law.

The morning hearing was devoted to the railroad tax bills. Representatives of the railroads were the only speakers, and the arguments advanced were on the line presented Tuesday afternoon by railroad counsel.

The hearing yesterday afternoon was on the Hillery law repealer, Corporation Counsel Lord, of Orange; City Controller Bonnett, of Elizabeth; Corporation Attorney Carey, of Jersey City, and others spoke for the repealer. Senator Hillery made a short address in favor of the law.

The hearing was continued until next Monday afternoon.

Mrs. William C. O'Donnell and son Monroe, of Jersey City, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Bowers, of Franklin place, have gone to Florida, where they will remain for a month.

"AUTO MAKES MAN FORGET HE IS A GENTLEMAN."

Vice Chancellor Pitney Says Machines Are the Serious Nuisance of the Day.

"The difficulty is that the use of an automobile makes a man forget he is a gentleman."

This sentiment was expressed yesterday by Vice Chancellor Pitney when hearing a case at Newark in which a motor car figured.

The action was brought by residents of Pompton Township, Passaic county, through the Attorney-General, to prevent the use of a traction engine by the Ludlow Steel and Spring Company, whose plant is in the township.

It was disclosed by witnesses that the machine frightened horses, cut up the pavement and had the general effect of an automobile.

"The serious nuisance of the day is the automobile nuisance," commented the Vice Chancellor.

"It all depends on whether you own one or not," suggested Judge Francis Scott, counsel for the defendant.

"No, it doesn't," declared the Vice Chancellor, who thereupon delivered the sentiment above expressed.

HIS LEG WORTH $50,000.

Disablement of Limb Causes Suit for that Amount.

Trenton, Jan. 25.—William Gumper, of New York, Tuesday, through his counsel, Richard A. Dawson, of New York, entered suit in the United States Circuit Court against Behren & Behren, of Hoboken, to recover damages for $50,000 for alleged injuries received in the works of the defendants in Hoboken.

In his declaration the plaintiff declares that he was employed by the firm of Behren & Behren at Hoboken September 7, 1905, when, while engaged in aiding in removing a punch machine by means of a block and fall, the chain of the apparatus broke and a flywheel weighing 900 pounds fell, breaking a leg and injuring him so severely that he was under the care of a physician for months.

The plaintiff also declares the defendants, their foreman and superintendent were negligent in failing to provide a proper and safe apparatus. He has spent nearly $2,000 for medical attendance claims, and is so disabled as to be a cripple for life, in the opinion of eminent medical men.

10,000 MILES TO WED.

Went from Buenos Ayres to London and Then Came to New York.

Edward A. Tulian, of Buenos Ayres, was married to Mrs. Ada E. W. Cranfurd, of the same city, by the Rev. Henry Marsh Warren, at the Calvary Baptist church, New York, after a journey of 10,000 miles for that purpose. They intended to have the ceremony performed in London, where they had gone from South America, but finding that they had to wait three weeks under the laws of the Episcopal church of England, they hurried to New York.

Mr. Tulian, who is stopping at the Park Avenue Hotel, New York, is performing a service in this country for the Argentine Government.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Worth Coddington have moved from Duer street to their new home in Watchung avenue.

Eugene Staat and Harold Wolff, of Chicago, nephews of Mrs. J. P. Emmons, of Prospect place, who have been making a trip through the east for the past three weeks, have left for two weeks' travel through the south before returning to Chicago.

DUAL GOVERNMENT IS ENDED IN WASHINGTON.

First Bill Passed by Legislature of Special Benefit to the Warren County Borough.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The first bill passed by the Legislature this year will, when it is signed by the Governor, give relief to the embarrassing state of affairs that has existed here since the first of the year, and will end the dual local government. It is generally understood that the bill was passed for the special benefit of Washington, and provides that any officer heretofore elected can take the oath of office within thirty days after the beginning of his term, and legalizes the acts of any official who failed to qualify within ten days after election, as required by law.

Mayor Charles B. Smith and Councilmen W. D. Gulick and Edward Shurts will now be entitled to their offices. Mayor R. M. Petty and Councilman C. E. Vass, the holdover officials, were actuated by a desire to have the borough affairs conducted in a manner that was legal in every way. There is a question in the minds of some of the residents as to whether the Legislature can restore the officials to office. It is held that if they really forfeited their offices, they are out, and if they did not forfeit, why the necessity of such a bill as the one just passed?

Bay Bridge Bill Again.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Congressman Van Winkle has introduced a bill for bridging the Newark Bay between Bayonne and Elizabethport. It is practically the same bill introduced in the last Congress by Mr. Benny, as amended by the committee. The only change made by Mr. Van Winkle is to extend the time for the commencement of the work upon the bridge to three years, and the time for its completion to five years.

Want Roosevelt at Rutgers.

The authorities of Rutgers College, of New Brunswick, have notified Congressman Howell of the passage of a resolution by its board of trustees, inviting and urging President Roosevelt to be present at the commencement exercises of the college on June 20. Mr. Howell is asked to arrange for the best and most effectual manner of presenting the invitation to the President.

Elizabeth Elks Entertain.

A large number of Elks and friends from this city attended the annual reception and dance given by Elizabeth Lodge, No. 289, B. P. O. E., last night. City Judge Runyon, Elmer D. Cutting and John H. Cose were among the Plainfielders who assisted in the entertainment part of the programme.

BUSINESS MEN LISTEN TO ABLE SPEAKERS

Maximim Tax Law Defended by Its Author and Permanent Pavements Advocated at Board of Trade Banquet.

AN IDEAL TOASTMASTER

Mr. Saunders Furnishes Bushels of Wit; Mr. Hillery a Lucid Explanation of Much-Attacked Statute.

Probably the most representative body of citizens that has assembled in Plainfield in years gathered at the Casino last night, when the local Board of Trade gave its annual banquet. The arrangements had been made on a more elaborate scale than ever before and the smallest detail showed careful preparation in order that the affair might prove a success. The guests numbered 140, most of them business men of the city and borough, though the commuter element was much in evidence.

The programme of the evening began at 8 o'clock with the serving of dinner in the auditorium, and there were constant surprises from the moment places were secured. The arrangements of tables to give every attendant the benefit of the position occupied by the speakers was perfect, while the decorations were most effective. The national colors, coat-of-arms and original designs were suspended from the ceiling and about the stage. Candelabra, cut flowers and plants adorned the tables. The menu arranged by Mrs. Lena Hellstrom, the Casino caterer, gave evidence of her skill in this capacity and a large corps of waiters prevented the slightest delay in serving. Andrew G. Carpenter's orchestra of five pieces was stationed back of an array of palms and rendered a musical programme.

The last course was placed on the table at 10:30, and from then on until 12:30 the time was devoted to addresses on stated subjects. Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of the borough, made a capital toastmaster, and his salient wit provoked many a hearty laugh. He introduced the speakers and subjects as follows: "Taxation," Hon. T. J. Hillery, of Boonton; "Permanent Pavements," Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth; "Morality and Citizenship," Rev. Father B. M. Bogan, Plainfield; "Why a Man from Orange Likes Plainfield," Rev. George A. Warner, North Plainfield. Informal addresses were made by Mayor James F. Buckle and Mayor Newton B. Smalley.

In introducing Senator Hillery, Mr. Saunders said:

"When the chairman of this dinner committee honored me with an invitation to preside he said that it had been decided that only outsiders were wanted as speakers on this occasion. I understood then why he wanted me, and he evidently understood that I lived just outside of the breastworks. But I understood something more, and that is that being one of the near outsiders, I was expected to glorify Plainfield, and now I come here and find that the whole story is printed in full on the menu card, even to the death rate. Now, what more is there to say and what more can be said. We are born to suffer from the hand of relentless fate. As some poet has said:

" 'Twas ever thus from childhood's hour
I've seen my fondest hopes decay.'

"Well, one thing has so far been proven, and let the newspapers now be silent, the board from which this dinner has been served is a board of trade, and not of politics. They know their business—a condition quite uncommon among politicians.

"I once heard an Irishman say, 'Every man loves his native land, whether he was born there or not.' So let us all, whether we belong here or not, join in drinking the health of fair Plainfield. In proposing this toast, let me give you a bit of sentiment:

"Here's to fair Plainfield, in peace may she reign,
As now, so forever a star of the plain.
Here's to thy women, so bright and so fair,
Here's to thy homes, to thy health-giving air.
Here's to thy soil, to thy men ever true,
Plainfield the Greater, the old and the new!

"As we look down on this plain field from the Watchung Mountains we are reminded of the glories of the Western plains. It is a great pleasure for a North Plainfielder to go up on the mountain, and with his feet planted on the rock of the immortal Washington, calmly look down on Plainfield. It is at all times a pleasure for a boroughite to look down on Plainfield, but to do it in this historic way is simply great. You have a broad unbroken field, where the sun rises on your eastern horizon and is seen slowly sinking in the West. You people of Plainfield are living in an eylsian field. But lest you run away with your conceit, lest you get the swelled head, let me remind you that the records of history show that the great men of this world did not live and move and have their being on the broad plains, but in the mountainous countries of the earth—in places like North Plainfield. Why, gentlemen, every student of history like myself knows this. Look at Socrates, look at Plato, look at Ararat, look at Vesuvius!

"But there are some extraordinary things in Plainfield. You cannot claim, with Atlantic City, that you have salt water bathing all the year round; but you have fresh water at all seasons and mosquitoes in January—in fact, all the year round. Even if the whiskey is short, there is the best kind of water, and plenty of it, if you have money enough to buy it. When you want the other thing, North Plainfield is not so very far away, after all, except, of course, when it comes to the home stretch. If hard times should strike you, should the Public Service Corporation, with its watery hand on your purse, also attempt to take you by the throat and stop your gas, in such a case just come over the brook and try our Watchung springs and cheap whiskey. We keep late hours over there, so do not hesitate to come, even if you have been out all night. You need not bring anything with you but a full purse and an empty stomach. You may lose both over there, if you like.

"Another great advantage which Plainfield enjoys is that she is so near a summer resort—so near and yet so far from North Plainfield! When these plains are steaming with August temperature of 100 degrees in this universal shade, over there at Mayor Smalley's stone cracker you will find plenty of men doing time around the quarry boiler, counting the number of votes that each one is going to cast at the next election.

"But we have had enough wine, so let us get aboard the water wagon. I am not responsible for the placing of so many water experts on this programme. It did seem that one president of a water company and two experts would be quite an even balance against one New Jersey State Senator; but when I read the autobiography of our guests from Morris county I was stunned to find that he was one of the original incorporators and is now a director of the Boonton Water Company. Think of a New Jersey senator being a water expert! Tell us how it happened, Senator Hillery, and please don't tell us that the leader of the Senate is going to put Plainfield up to the maximum tax rate.

The Senator said in part:

The first duty of every man is to love his native town, then his native country and after these two, his state. This causes us to meet on a common ground as we are all residents of New Jersey. Other states are wont to call her traitor but she is not and I defy anyone to prove her otherwise. She is rich in history and is numbered among the leading states in the Union. Her corporation laws, of which so much have been said and is being said, have been copied by other states and in many ways she stands supreme.

I have been asked to speak upon "taxation" and I must say it is a dry subject. I wont attempt a definition but I know it has a synonym, and that is "evil," because so many people are trying to avoid it. Somehow or other we always religiously cling to it and we have an annual discussion with it.

In his inaugural address, Governor Stokes mentioned the need of a maximum tax rate and its introduction into New Jersey is not a new thing. Many other states have it and it has been embodied in numerous reports of Boards of Taxation. The bill which I had introduced and passed in the Legislature provides that in cities of less than 50,000 inhabitants the maximum tax shall be $1.50 for each $100 of assessed valuation, excepting the state school tax; over 50,000 inhabitants the maximum rate is fixed at $1.70 plus the school tax. The bill also contains a referendum which makes it necessary for the people's vote before the maximum stipulated can be exceeded. These are minor features, however, as the law is, "shall there be a limit to taxation?"

The whole trouble in this state as well as in otners is the overlooking of personal property in making assessments. As it stands now, realty bears the greater part of the burden and it seems to be getting worse each year. The expenses per capita in this state are increasing faster than the wealth and it is through an equalization of taxation that the difficulty is best met with. Assessors claim that they cannot find sufficient personal property to meet the rate but it is generally because they do not want to find it. There is a great amount of personal property that is visible and can be easily taxed but it always escapes and the owner of realty, the small owner at that, continues to meet the greater part of the municipality's expenses.

It has been charged that the maximum tax law was passed for the benefit of the railroads but I defy any man to show that it is a railroad act. If it can be proved that the law is doing injury to anyone I do not desire to see it on the statute books.

At the conclusion of the Senator's remarks, Toastmaster Saunders introduced Mr. Bergen, saying:

"It is an old saying that nothing is certain but death and taxes. Let us amend this maxim and add—except water bills. We have with us a little corporal from Elizabeth who, as a lawyer, is without a peer in this State. I speak from experience, as he has been my lawyer in business

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY TO MRS. DAVID BOWDEN

SEIZED WITH FATAL HEMORRHAGE AFTER RETURNING FROM RECEPTION.

Within an hour after she had returned from a reception conducted by the Thistle Club in honor of Robert Burns' birthday, Mrs. David Bowden, of West Fourth street, was seized with a fatal hemorrhage at 3 o'clock this morning. In response to a call, Dr. Cregar was soon in attendance and immediately summoned the ambulance to have her removed to Muhlenberg Hospital. She died just before the vehicle reached its destination, and it returned to the house.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McDuff, of West Eighth street, and Mrs. Bowden took an active part in the evening's enjoyment. She laughed heartily on numerous occasions and the effort may have had something to do with the attack. On returning home, Mr. Bowden went to his room, leaving his wife to make some preliminary preparations for breakfast. She remained downstairs a long time, and, becoming concerned, he started to see what was keeping her. He was alarmed to find her missing, and after a hurried look about located her at the foot of the cellar steps. He thought she had fallen down them and injured herself, but later it developed that she had started to descend them to secure something and was attacked by the hemorrhage as she reached the bottom.

Mrs. Bowden was 58 years old and had been a local resident for the past twenty years, coming here from Scotland. She was a member of Hope chapel and active in its work for a long time and was also identified with the Shepherds of Bethlehem. She leaves one sister, Mrs. William Gray, formerly of this city but now of Elizabeth.

The funeral will be held from Hope chapel Sunday afternoon at 1:15 and interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

EQUAL TAXATION BOARD WANTS CITIZENS' VIEWS

WILL MEET AT ELIZABETH FOR THE PURPOSE NEXT THURSDAY.

In accordance with a resolution adopted by the Board of Equalization of Taxes of New Jersey, the Board has appointed Thursday morning, February 1, at 10:30 o'clock, at the Court House, Elizabeth, at which time it will be pleased to meet the citizens of the county who may have suggestions or views to present on the subject of the proper administration of the present tax laws, as well as the township or municipal authorities.

It is the duty of the board to investigate the method adopted by local assessors in the assessment of real and personal property in this State, and to ascertain wherein existing laws are defective or are improperly or negligently administered, to the end that it may make such corrections as are necessary, and to report from time to time to the Legislature. It is the intention of the Board to hold sessions in each county in the State.

"WALLY" COSGRAVE TO COACH PRINCETON'S TEAM.

Succeeds Hillebrand, Who Held the Position for the Past Five Years.

"Wally" Cosgrave, one of the most popular members of the Plainfield baseball team last season, has been secured by the Princeton 'Varsity team as the coach for this season. The selection meets with the approval of the student body and satisfaction has been expressed in all quarters.

Cosgrave believes that he can develop a fast team, although Captain Reid has expressed some doubt as to having a championship aggregation. Cosgrave was graduated from Princeton in the Class of '04, and while in College played one year at short-stop and three as centre fielder. Two consecutive years he was chosen for the All-American baseball team.

"Wally" will have no easy task to fill the place of Hillebrand, who has coached the team for five years, and who has now entered professional baseball by signing with Washington. Captain Reid says furthermore that the services of the two professional coaches, Clark, of Pittsburg, and Jennings of Baltimore, will be dispensed with. Jim Robinson will train the baseball men as usual.

CHARITIES CONFERENCE

Hugh F. Fox to Take Prominent Part in Annual Session at Newark.

THREE DAYS' SESSION

Suggestion That Local Charitable Institutions Be Represented—Subjects For Discussion.

The New Jersey State Conference of Charities and Correction is to hold its annual meeting at Newark on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 15, 16, 17. This conference promises to be the most generally interesting yet held. The final programme which will be ready in about two weeks, will include the names of attractive speakers.

The department of medical charities has for its chairman, Hugh F. Fox, of this city. Decatur M. Sawyer, of Montclair, is chairman of the department relating to the treatment of the criminal. J. J. Mulvaney is chairman of county and municipal charities, while the department of social welfare work and organization of charitable administration are in charge of the Rev. Stanley White, and the Rev. J. I. Vance, of Newark, respectively.

Among the topics likely to be discussed are: Visiting nurses, local provision and treatment of consumptives, babies' hospitals, the parole system, the care of discharged prisoners, a reformatory for women, the causes of juvenile delinquency, almshouse problems, abuses of the justice of the peace system, county schools of detention for truants, the federation of charities, friendly visitors, civic sanitation and hygiene, recreation work, parents' associations, the Y. M. C. A. as a social centre, and settlement work.

It will be seen that the subjects covered are wide in range, and it is difficult to think of anyone really caring for any phase of the welfare of his community who would not be benefited by hearing some of the topics. The clergy especially should welcome this opportunity of learning at first hand of conditions needing to be reformed, and of the measures needed to bring about reformation. Among the clergy especially interested in this work are Bishop Lines, Bishop McFaul, Father Foy and Father Fish, Rev. Walter Reid Hunt, of Orange, Rev. John R. Atkinson, of Elizabeth, Rev. C. L. Gooder, chaplain of Rahway Reformatory. The work being done by this organization for the relief of the dependent classes is one of which no Christian minister can wish to remain in ignorance. It is home mission work of unquestionable value.

All social workers whether isolated or working in societies should attend, for here they will be helped by coming in contact with others doing similar work. The isolated social worker especially will take back an inspiration which will help to tide over the inevitable times of discouragements.

It is planned to have the discussions on educational topics at hours that will make it possible for teachers to attend. It is understood that the State Teachers' Association will send delegates, and also the New Jersey Library Association. It is argued that representatives should be sent by at least the following organizations of Plainfield with the object of reporting the conference at a subsequent meeting: Every church, both by its priest or minister and by lay delegates; all church guilds and other church societies; the Common Council; the Board of Trade; the Board of Health; the Organized Aid Association; the Y. M. C. A.; the Relief Association; public schools; the Children's Home; the City Union of King's Daughters; the managers of the Day Nursery; the Monday Afternoon Club; the Rasores Club; Current Events Club; the Public Library and the medical associations.

Funeral of Patrick Sharkey.

The funeral of Patrick Sharkey was held at the home of his son, W. L. Sharkey, of Whitewood avenue, yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, had charge, and a large gathering of friends was in attendance. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery, the pall bearers being Henry Drake, William Hand, P. B. Goodfellow, Augustus Runyon, Lewis Willett and J. W. Fink, all members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R.

Dime Savings' Report.

The annual statement of the Dime Savings Institution published in The Daily Press today, shows it to be in the very best condition. The assets are $872,492.40, which together with amount due depositors of $803,886.02, and a surplus of $68,606.38, makes the liabilities the same as assets.

AUTO BILL FOES GETTING ACTIVE

CONDEMNED BY MAYOR SMALLEY AT TRADE BANQUET LAST NIGHT.

Automobilist circles of New Jersey are determined to make a hard fight against Senator Frelinghuysen's bill which imposes drastic restrictions on the use of the horseless vehicle in this State. The Somerset Senator's bill finds little favor in Plainfield and North Plainfield. Parts of it were condemned in vigorous terms by Mayor Smalley at the Board of Trade banquet last night. The fight against the Frelinghuysen bill is being led by the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey, of which Professor John E. Gill, of Trenton, is the secretary. Discussing the movement of the club, Professor Gill said:

"The automobilists of New Jersey, whether members of the associated clubs or not, are in the fight against the Frelinghuysen bill to win, and a remakable demonstration against the measure will be made. Six thousand letters will be mailed this week to as many autoists in all parts of the State and a hearing will be asked of the legislative committee to which the bill has been referred. When that hearing is held fully 5,000 autoists will be here in a demonstration against the bill. In the meantime a campaign of education will be carried on and members of the Legislature will be made acquainted with the facts as they actually exist."

ANNUAL MEETING OF MEN'S ASSOCIATION

R. E. BOHAN CHOSEN HEAD OF A TRINITY REFORMED ORGANIZATION.

Entertainment and business were combined at the annual meeting of the Men's Association of Trinity Reformed church last night. The first part of the evening was devoted to a sleight-of-hand performance by E. Warren Rankin, of this city. He gave a clever exhibition of magic which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Following this the business session was held. Frank P. Storr, president, was in the chair. Charles M. Dolliver, as secretary, reported that during the year eight meetings were held, twenty-one new members were received, and $35 contributed as dues. There were addresses by Rev. Dr. Schenck, James E. Martine, S. S. Swackhamer, Rev. C. E. Herring, Rev. W. T. Griffen, H. C. Krebs and others on popular topics and two evenings were devoted to the entertainment of the women. The total membership of the club is about eighty.

F. E. Smith, as chairman of the nominating committee, then presented these names for the various offices and they were elected:

President, Richard E. Bohan; vice president, Charles M. Dolliver; secretary, Frank Pierson; treasurer, M. F. Gano.

After the business Mr. Rankin continued his entertainment and was very successful in mystifying the members of the club. The programme was arranged by W. F. Oliver, as chairman of the entertainment committee. The new president will announce his committees within a short time.

MURDER SUSPECT FORMER PLAINFIELDER.

Myles Butler, a negro, who has been arrested by the authorities of Mt. Holly on the suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Miss Florence W. Atkinson, of Moorestown, formerly resided here. In January, 1904, while he was employed as a waiter for Mrs. Houchin, of Milton avenue, Rahway, he was committed to the county jail by Justice Cowie on a charge of larceny, of which he was found guilty.

At that time he served seventy-two days. He was again committed in June, 1905, being convicted of obtaining goods under false pretences. He served ten days. After that he came to Plainfield. Little is known of the man here.

Fine Menu Card.

The twelve page menu card prepared by the Monarch Printing Company for the Board of Trade's banquet was a sample of the printer's art. It was well arranged and appropriately illustrated.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER IS DEAD IN NEWARK

WM. TITUS PASSES AWAY ON 57TH ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING.

William Titus, founder of the bakery business at Lombardy street and Lombardy place, Newark, now conducted by the National Biscuit Company, died at his home, 24 Lombardy street, in that city, Wednesday, the fifty-seventh anniversary of his marriage. Death resulted from heart trouble and a general breakdown. Up to a week ago Mr. Titus was able to be about and his illness did not develop any serious aspects until last Sunday night. Since 1890, when he disposed of his business, then the largest of its kind in the State, to the New York Biscuit Company, which in turn was absorbed by the National Biscuit Company, Mr. Titus had not been active in business circles, other than to look after his real estate holdings.

Mr. Titus was born in Warren township, Somerset county, February 23, 1823. At fifteen years of age he was apprenticed to Jackson Pound, a baker, doing business in Madison. Mr. Titus followed his employer when he moved to this city, and subsequently to Newark. In 1842 Mr. Titus purchased a bakery which Pound had established at Lombardy street and Lombardy place, there, together with another employe. In 1848 he became sole owner of the bakery. At various time he enlarged his plant, and when he retired in 1890 the output of the bakery exceeded any other in New Jersey.

In politics Mr. Titus was a Republican and as such served two terms in the Common Council of Newark, covering the period from 1876 to 1880. He helped organize the North Ward National Bank in 1873, in that city, and had been a director of that institution since.

CONSIDERING DISPOSAL OF HARRISON CASE

PROSECUTOR CONSULTS COURT REGARDING MANSLAUGHTER INDICTMENT.

When nearing the end of the criminal cases before the Middlesex County Court, Prosecutor Berdine asked the court this morning what disposition it proposed to make of the indictments presented against the late William R. Stanbery and Oscar Harrison charging them with manslaughter. The death of Mr. Stanbery has complicated matters to some extent. The action against Harrison was somewhat dependent on the one against Stanbery.

Judge Strong informed the prosecutor that he would take the matter under advisement and let him known within a short time how he would proceed in the case. Mr. Stanbery finally got a decision in his favor in the damage suit brought against him by Mr. Harrison, and not long afterward he died.

The Grand Jury indicted both Stanbery and Harrison for manslaughter, holding them responsible for the death of Mrs. William A. Westphal, as a result of the auto accident at Dunellen. The action against Harrison may stand, but Prosecutor Berdine wanted further instructions from the court. W. L. Hetfield, Jr., of this city, represents Harrison.

JUDGE AGREES "D——" IS "UNPROFANE" WORD

JOHN VENABLE'S IDEA OF CUSS WORDS SUSTAINED BY COURT.

According to John Venable, a figure in local colored political circles, the word "d——" is "unprofane." He was arraigned in the city court this morning on a charge of using profane and indecent language, preferred by Mrs. Holmes, who occupies with Venable and his wife a house on West Third street. They had an agreemen between them regarding the use of the furniture and Mrs. Holmes asserted that the Venables didn't hold to the contract. She made some accusations at the house and in his excitement John is supposed to have let go some words that were not intended for parlor use.

"I didn't say any cuss words," argued John in court; "what I did say was "damn" and you know Judge that that word is unprofane."

Mrs. Venable came to her husband's assistance and said "certainly that's unprofane" as if that settled it, Noah Webster or anybody else to the contrary.

Hiding one of his broad smiles, Judge Runyon agreed with John with the word in question is "unprofane" and the defendant was discharged, "pending further developments."

PERMANENT PAVEMENTS

Mr. Bergen Urges Use of Wood, Asphalt or Brick on Streets in City's Centre.

FACTS AND FIGURES

Authority on Good Roads Says at Board of Trade Banquet that Brick is Preferable.

Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, gave an excellent talk on the subject of permanent pavements at the Board of Trade's banquet last night. His speech in full follows:

The subject assigned to me does not seem to contain any smiles or laughter, but it is interesting and important and always timely. It has been my opinion for a long time that the condition of the highways in a given locality is a fair and generally accurate indication of the state of civilization that prevails. If a stranger alights in a city and finds the streets well-paved and clean and brightly lighted at night, he soon begins to feel that he is in a prosperous and delightful community. But if he finds the streets rough, uncared for and unclean, he must come to the conclusion shortly that public spirit in that locality is not high proof.

The reason that I have passed over more entertaining subjects and agreed to speak about a public improvement in Plainfield is because I am very much impressed by the miracle that is working on and under and over and around Manhattan Island—something that cannot be disregarded wisely by the gentlemen of light and leading in every progressive suburb of the monstrous metropolis—and Plainfield is one of them. There are now more than 4,000,000 people in the big city, and the rate of increase is about 200,000 a year. That is to say, there will be 1,000,000 more in five years, and 9,000,000 or 10,000,000 all told within a quarter of a century, unless some strange disaster shall overcome us. Among those increasing millions there are many, and there will be more good citizens seeking rural homes, and I think we should all be glad to do something to make Plainfield still more attractive to them.

The subways in New York, by which it was expected that a business man could reach Harlem in fifteen minutes from the City Hall, are a failure as a means of rapid transit during the rush hours, and the growth of the city will choke additional subways as fast as they can be built. It is important, therefore, that suburban localities, desiring to grow, should offer such attractions as they can to desirable immigrants. For these reasons I will make a suggestion—I hope in the spirit it becomes a friendly non-resident—which you may find at least worthy of consideration at more formal meetings of your board. Remember that my suggestion is like a bill pending in the Legislature. It is open to amendment in all its parts, and may be voted up or voted down, as your fuller knowledge and better judgment shall dictate. I suggest that the parts of your streets indicated in colors on this map shall be paved with asphalt, brick or wood, in order to make your city more pleasant for its inhabitants and more attractive to strangers. I wish you would do me the favor to examine it at your leisure without regard to the particular street, block or ward in which you may happen respectively to live or own property. Please try to find out whether this plan, if carried out, would be a good thing for the city as a whole.

I have quite a strong prejudice against the practice—which happily does not prevail here—of looking at public questions according to their anticipated influence on this or that diminutive locality, and without regard to the common interest of all. At first view my suggestion may seem to be subject to that criticism, but I maintain that it is not.

The central part of a city like Plainfield is the common rendezvous of all its inhabitants. Property located there is assessed at a higher valuation and is, therefore, subject to higher taxation than land in the suburbs, and I think it is clear that if the central part of your city is made more attractive it would increase the market value and stimulate sales of more remote property. But I will not argue about the matter further than to remind you of one or two facts and submit a few figures that may be helpful if my suggestion should be deemed worthy of further consideration.

Do not, I beg of you, lose sight of the fact that a really good pavement is a costly thing, and it needs constant attention to keep it in good order. Eternal vigilance must be added to the first cost. The colored portions of the streets indicated on this map contain 28,160 square yards between curbs. I am indebted to your city engineer for these figures. The cost of paving these colored streets with asphalt would be about $2 a square yard, or $56,320 in all; with an agreement to keep the pavement in repair for five years. For brick of the best quality—and we do not want inferior brick at any price—the cost would be about $2.50 a square yard, or $70,400 in all.

The cost of laying the pavement with wood on a proper foundation, I am informer, would be about $3 per square yard. Any one of these kinds of pavements has one or more advantages over the others. Asphalt, perhaps, can be more easuy repaired; brick is cleaner, and, I think, more sightly; and wood is not so slippery or noisy as the others. No perfect paving has yet been discovered or invented, and so we are limited in our choice to a few good but still imperfect varieties. If I had anything to say about it I should prefer brick with a toothing course of granite blocks along each side of the rails of the street railroad.

The outlay required to make this improvement would certainly not be extravagant in a city containing property valued for taxation at ten millions and a quarter ($10,240,714) and owing a public debt of less than $350,000 ($345,400)—less, in fact, than 3 4-10 per cent. of the assessed value of property in the city, and perhaps not more than 2 per cent. of the real value, because we all know that assessors generally are bears in the spring and early summer of the year. The cost of these pavements could be reduced perhaps fifty cents a yard by using the telford now on the streets as a foundation for the new pavements.

There are other aspects of this matter that make me feel talkative, but perhaps I have said already more than you care to hear about it. In fact, it is unconstitutional for an outsider to meddle with the internal affairs of cities and towns; and in a narrow-minded community I might have been called to order some time ago by some churlish soul. My apology for saying anything along this line at all is a desire to see Plainfield continue to maintain, and, if possible, to increase her enviable reputation as a pleasant home for people of refinement.

W. H. Rogers Will Build.

It is William H. Rogers, and not the William H. Rogers Silverware Company of Plainfield, N. J., who will erect a new building between Leland avenue and the Netherwood station, for the manufacture of silverware.

BOARD OF TRADE'S BANQUET

affairs, and it was he who drew, without charge, the Annexation and Consolidation bills. This last mentioned bill still stands on the statute books and will, I firmly believe, be the means, later on, by which the two Plainfields will be united. Mr. Frank Bergen will tell us why permanent pavements add to the safety and beauty of cities and incidentally prevent the tearing up of water pipes."

Mr. Bergen's remarks will be found in another column.

The next speaker was Father Bogan. He was introduced in this wise:

"As no community is complete or safe without its priest, so no dinner is good without an Irishman for a speaker. We shall be glad to hear from that popular young priest of St. Mary's, Father Bogan."

The pastors of St. Mary's spoke as follows:

The greatness of America is her democracy, the peril of America is her democracy.

America as no other nation honors manhood, consecrates its rights and gives it the freedom to develop its power and satisfy its ambitions. America is the nation of the people—governed for the people by the people, and to become one of the people of America it suffices to be a man.

In this country all men are equal in citizenship; there is no civil or political privilege for the few; there is no civil or political inferiority for the many. In the long history of the human race, the few ruled, the many served. Manhood of itself was no title to equal rights with others. But the triumph of manhood was to come. It came in the workings of Providence that fitted a people for it—it came through America. The nation is great that builds up man.

America exults, not in vast domain and mighty seas, not in the fertile soil and salubrious air, not in magnificent cities and world-reaching commerce; exult in the manhood of thy sons, in the liberty they enjoy; exult in thy democracy.

The peril of America is her democracy. A French writer of the last century said of democracy that it is a government for gods, but not for men.

It is putting too high an estimate of manhood, this writer thought, to trust to the people the destines of the nation, to believe that when political power is distributed among the whole people, abuse will not be made of it. At the present day, with the record of American democracy before them, there are numerous political writers in Europe who assert that democracy is not a lasting form of government and that its ultimate failure, even in America, should not be doubted.

I have myself fullest faith in the democracy of America because I have faith in the people of America and because the democracy of this country has, amid terrific trials proven its right and power to live. I have faith too in the future of the democracy of the world because the manifest evolution of humanity is towards it, and the Being who moves humanity makes no mistake.

I admit that democracy requires delicate and constant care and that its safety will be the reward of never-ceasing vigilance Whence will come to democracy the potency of immortality? Whence the love of country, that zealous support of its institutions and unquestioning obedience to its laws? Whence the morality of patriotism? With reverence I pronounce the sacred word.—Conscience! The holiest, the noblest thing in man is conscience,—God's most precious gift to man.

"And I will place within them as a guide, my umpire, Conscience,
Whom if they will heed, light after light well used
They shall attain, and to the end persisting, safe arrive."

Conscience is the witness and avenger of duty; and duty alone leads the way to man's true grandeur and to the fulfillment of his true destiny. (I am not preaching a sermon, I am pleading as an American for the citizenship and democracy of America.)

If the blessings we enjoy today are the fruits of our peculiar institutions, with those blessings comes down to us the solemn duty of guarding and protecting the well-springs of our happiness and the resources of our national glory.

The history of republics teaches us a prolific lesson, and the history of nations assures us that none are so adamantine as to be impervious to decay. Man with all the weakness of mortality about him, is not more the creature of impulse and circumstances than a nation. Nations are not immortal, and their systems are as susceptible of political change and as liable to disease, derangement and death, as the human system to changes of temperature and climate.

Under a despotism it is not the duty nor the privilege of the people to raise their voice in the conduct of government, but under our system the people constitute the governing power; and if that power is recreant to itself, if it fail to perform its work and trust to corrupt and mercenary hands the guidance of its affairs, what result can reason apprehend but annihiliation, national death, and the overthrow of liberal institutions?

O let it never come to this! Think how precious to the world is our experiment in popular government; how full of promise to mankind; and if it fail, now humiliating to our boasted intelligence will be its downfall.

With us lies the responsibility of carrying our experiment to a successful issue. We are not without weapons for the defense and preservation of the work. The sword and buckler are in our keeping. The sword we are to use is the right of suffrage and the weapon we are to wield is the ballot, "which executes a freeman's will as lightning doth the will of God."

Intelligence is the whetstone of our sword, the polisher of our armor; and if, with the intelligence we possess, we make wisdom and morality our allies, no power, earth-born or hell-sprung, can successfully obstruct the irresistible march of civil and religious freedom, or thwart the destiny which God seems to have marked out for the American people in conducting us to the lofty summit of our present greatness and national renown.

A democracy in theory, our government in fact devolves upon a few whom the people choose as representatives. And as each representative raises his hand and solemnly swears with the Eternal God as witness, faithfully to discharge his official duties, the confidence of the people rests upon the religious obligations he attaches to his oath. If he makes his contract with the people in the spirit of levity and insincerity, his oath becomes a blasphemy and a fraud.

Upon this depend the preservation and the progress of the public. And as every true patriot must needs revere and uphold the preserving principal of government, morality (or religion) must be the foundation of real Patriotism. In defence of this statement I call upon none other than the immortal Washington. In his farewell address to the American people, he says:

"Of all the dispositions and habits, that lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. In vain would that man claim the tribute of patriotism, who should labor to subvert those great pillars of human happiness, those firmest props of the duties of men and of citizens."

Let it be simply asked: Where is the security for property, for reputation, and for life itself if the sense of religious obligations deserts the oaths which are the instruments of investigation in the Courts of Justice. And let us with caution indulge the supposition that morality can be maintained without religion. Whatever may be conceded to the influence of refined education, on minds of peculiar structure, reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail without religion—"The religious element, therefore, enters essentially into real Patriotism."

May moral principals ever actuate our lives, that in obedience to law we may best preserve the priceless gift of freedom and independence purchased for us with the blood of the nation.

How proudly to his children does the parent recall the deeds of heroes in the younger days of our nation. Honorably age has come upon our heroes now,—they have earned the right of a hearing, so—

"The broken soldier
Weeps o'er his wounds, or tales of sorrow done,
Shoulders his crutch, and shows how fields are won."

Eminently fitting it to cherish the memory of deeds that live to teach us the virtue of Patriotism. Not without pride do we look upon our country's growing greatness, ascending year by year to her destined place among the nations.

How strong the cheer that greets each armor clad that flies the Stripes and Stars! But not from every foe do they protect us. There are dangers still within the body politic from which not battle-ships protect us, nor regiments secure us. The body of our nation, though armor-clad and accoutred, cannot save the nation's soul from danger. We are continually a Christian Nation. On Christian principles our national morality is builded. Deny God and you bind the feet of American progress. The man who pretends to withstand the logic of the ordered firmament, denying the Creator a place in his acknowledgements, is not the least disloyal to our country. Such a man may swear allegience to the flag, but in his very oath proclaim himself dishonest. Take from the citizen his belief in God, and you leave him logically free to spread the creed of anarchy. Tell him there is no God, and perjury has no meaning for him, and the most enduring safeguard of our nation is destroyed.

It is an unqualified truth that pure democracy harbors within itself the seeds of its own downfall; and unless they are eradicated, the structure of political and social liberty, is liable to degenerate into lawfulness and irreligious, or by gradual and imperceptible transition become merged into absolute monarchy or deplorable despotism. But if we are to guard against these ripening dangers, we must hold fast those principles of virtue and integrity which alone can make the people great; hold aloft the shield of liberty as an aegis to petrify all who dare look upon it with the eye of an opponent, and around the castle of individual and national character build a wall of moral strength, invulnerable as the shield of Jupiter, imperishable as the time itself.

But what is the future of our country to be?

"By what astrology of fear or hope dare I to cast its horoscope?"

There exist now the doleful prophets, who see in the complex and conflicting elements of our national life the seeds of decay and dissolution. Is this,—the most glorious fabric ever erected by the hand of man for the security of human rights, and the shelter of human freedom, to share the fate of those republics which live only as a memory of bygone greatness?

Rome, the world-conquering empire, whose sun-eyed eagles spread their pinions under very quarter of the heavens; whose royal standards spoke allegience to the nations of the world, was pulled down from her towering grandeur; the sceptre of dominion dropped from her nerveless grasp; and, though venerable in her antiquity, proud in her desolation, and still beautiful in her ruins, she has for nearly a score of centuries presented to the rest of mankind the inglorius spectacle of the pomp of civilization and the pride of imperial power, when cast down by corruption and debilitated by crime and folly.

Greece, land of the mighty, where valor found a glorious death or laurelled victory; Eden of the classic world, where Plato's godlike lore was taught and Sappho's songs were sung, where the chisel gave form and beauty to the dull rock and made it breath and live, where Olympia's towers resounded with the Orphean lyre and, mid "shady grots and valleys green" the muses sent their vocal strains to salute the skies; Greece, the nurse of arms and the mother of science, is fallen. She has become the sepulchre of the night dead, whose moldering ashes spread as the dust upon the fields of banished glory. Her degenerate sons now kiss the servile chain, and, like the bright glow that lights the parting day, her splendor has departed. Her arts are no more; her shrines are laid low, and through her forsaken halls and fallen temples and o'er her ruined wal stalks gaunt desolation.

How shall it fare with us? It may be that our experience shall but add to the lessons of history, and that the disasters predicted by the prophets of the old-world despotisms shall one day overtake us. It may be that the mournful story of the past republics shall be written upon the broken and shattered ruins of our social fabric.

It may be that the sun of our national glory shall go down in blood, shining sullenly upon the "dishonored fragments of a once glorious union." That violence and turbulence shall rend asunder the bonds which now unite us, and scatter them in wild confusion through the world. It may be that the smiling fields of our prosperity and the green valleys of our contentment, where Columbia's sons now repose in security and peace, may be devastated by the tornadoes of anarchy, or blighted by the chilling frosts of despotism. It may be so, my countrymen, it may be that the lights of our nation's grandeur shall sink in shame and dishonor, if religious rancor or sectional animosity shall estrange a portion of the people from this now glorious and inseparable union; if infamous venality or political intrigue shall sap the foundations of patriotism and dry up the springs of loyality; if unlimited prosperity shall open the flood-gates of corruption, and material advancement, the only goal of our ambition, should blind us to the need of moral and intellectual cultivation; if wealth should make us aristocratic and debauched, like the effected nobility of Europe; if power should make us arrogant and tyrannous; fanaticism, intolerant; pride and the gross pursuits of venal ambition, insensible to the great Almighty source from whom our blessings flow. But I hold no such dolorous view of my country's hopes and prospects. I cast no such dismal horoscope of my country's future, for I hold that sin and vice alone can make a people weak; wickedness make men bold; ungodliness, infirm and tottering. But in the fear of the Lord there is the strength, the power, the beauty of perpetual youth.

poor and rich alike. The birth-right of American citizenship, transmitted as an inheritance is more precious than the boasted heraldry of royalty. By its proper exercise we are assured of the blessings peculiar to our American institutions. Inasmuch as the preservation of those cherished institutions depends upon the independence of the individual voter, so much the more disastrous must be their destruction, if the individual independence is exercised but indifferently, or worse, placed in the market as a purchasable commodity wherein the buyer shares with the seller in the iniquity of the transaction.

Upon us rests a grave responsibility. Upon us and those who follow us—upon the young especially. "The good man's hope and the patriot's trust,"—upon those parents and teachers to whom the education of youth is entrusted, rests with fearful weight this responsibility.

It is the virtue of word and example that gives power and influence to the nation. The little child at the mother's knee, who is being trained in virtue and truth, is already an element of strength, and the mother who is moulding his character is fulfilling the duty of citizenship better than if she had a thousand ballots and spoke on every suffrage-platform in the country.

Not many months ago, the Honorable David J. Brewer, associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, in a lecture to Yale University students, said: "Notwithstanding all the boastings we make of the grand history and the glorious life of this Republic, no thoughtful man doubts the magnitude of the work before us. There runs through the present life of the nation a multitude of imperfections and shadows. The national life is not perfect. Society as it exists today has many dark places. We are still far from the Millennial day. I may not notice all yet these stand out in bold relief:—There is undoubtedly corruption in political life,—perhaps not all that some despondent persons assert, but still there is a commercialism in politics which no thoughtful man can be ignorant of. We must live with the idea that we have a solemn duty to this Republic; that we are its large debtors, and that the only limit to our obligation is our capacity to help in lifting its life to a higher and nobler plane. To carry such a purpose into effect we must have both courage and candor. The question which each must ask, it not: "How can I become most popular?" but "How can I do the most good?" We often hear the sentiment: "Our country, right or wrong!" A higher thought is: "Our country let us always make it right!" This nation must not stand before the world as a highwayman. "Stand and deliver!" must not be the motto of the Republic. Victory must be seasoned with justice.

The emblem of liberty under which I stand tonight is the most beautiful, the most significant that floats over the earth. That old flag stands for what, after God, is the dearest in life to us, our firesides and our native land. That flag has been defended with a valor and heroism unsurpassed in the annals of time, and many a hero has poured out his heart's blood to save it from dishonor. The wild heroic cheer that greeted the gallant intrepid Jasper, as he replaced the fallen flag 'mid the tempest of shot and shell at Fort Moultrie, still finds an echo in every loyal heart.

"Dear to the heart of every son of liberty are its sacred folds." May it ever wave over our country's citadels in unsullied glory, and remain a shielding banner to all the down trodden sons of men, and whether its tattered folds are dimly seen through the clouds of war, or beautiful stripes streaming peacefully over the dome of our national capital, may it be the joy and pride of the American people! "First raised in the cause of right and liberty, may it forever spread out its streaming blazonry to the battle, the sunshine, or the storm." May virtue, valor, freedom, peace dwell upon the earth, wherever it may wave.

Summoning the spirit of a Southern patriot I shall conclude. There was a time, we're told, when, to be a Roman was greater than to be a king; yet there was a time when to be a Roman was to be the vassal of a slave. Change is the order of the universe and nothing stands. We must go forward or we must go backward,—we must press on to grander heights, to greater glories, or see the laurels already won, turn to ashes on our brow. We may sometimes slip, shadows may obscure our path, the bolders may bruise our feet, there may be months of mourning and days of agony, but however dark the night, Hope, a poising eagle, will ever burn above the unrisen tomorrow. Trials we may have and tribulations sore, but I say unto you, oh brothers mine, that while God reigns and the human races endures, this nation, born of our fathers' blood and sanctified by our mothers' tears, shall never pass away.

Following Father Bogan's speech, Rev. Mr. Warner spoke.

Mr. Saunders said:

"It is well that the Father came first on the programme, because the next speaker is an Orangeman. Isn't it a strange sight to see a priest, a Protestant minister and Senator Reed all sitting down together at the same table? It reminds me of the story of the little girl who said: 'Pa, where were you born?' "In San Francisco, my dear.' 'And where was mamma born?' 'In Boston, my dear.' 'And where was I born?' 'In Philadelphia, my dear.' 'Well,' said the little one, 'isn't it funny how we three people got together?' Let me introduce a gentleman 'known over the brook as 'Warner's safe cure'—the Rev. George A. Warner, of North Plainfield."

The young rector of Holy Cross churh paid a tribute to both city and borough, referring to the fine pavements, excellent roads and other improvements. He dwelt upon the beautiful autumnal appearance of the Washington Park section of North Plainfield when he first saw it last fall and impressed upon the assemblage that every community should strive unceasingly to make the city attractive to the eye. Like Mr. Saunders, the clergyman was humorous at times.

Mayor Buckle's introduction had coupled with it a reference to his intense democracy. The toastmaster recalled the mayor's remark about the saloon being a place to meet men and have heart-to-heart talks with them, much laughter being created by this reference. The mayor spoke briefly, telling what kind of a man he likes and why he is a Republican. After the applause had subsided, Mayor Smalley was introduced. He was accorded the biggest ovation of the evening.

North Plainfield's chief executive had a few words to say about good roads, making reference to the automobile bill introduced by Senator Josopeh Frelinghuysen in the Legislature a few days ago. He declared that he saw several defects in the proposed measure, among them being no provision for expending any of the funds, to be collected through its workings, for widening the highways. He said he spoke as a horseman and as such he wanted the country thoroughfares widened in order to accommodate both horses and autos in safety. The mayor also took a knock at the modern reformer, emphasizing his opinion that the majority of them are "fakes."

Seated about the tables were:

Mayor James F. Buckle, E. M. Laing, Rev. B. M. Bogan, Senator T. J. Hilliery, of Boonton; former Mayor William L. Saunders, Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth; Rev. G. A. Warner, L. B. Woolston, Mayor N. B. Plainfield, N. J., January 26, 1906.

Judging from last night's banquet, "consolidation" is not as dead as some try to have it.

Somehow or other they managed to get through the evening without hearing from Colby.

The "reformer" was shown no mercy last night. No chance was spared to "rub it on 'em."

Much to the credit of the committee and their well-chosen toastmaster, the annual banquet of the Board of Trade last night proved to be both delightful and instructive and at the same time served many good ends. It brought together the progressive merchants, the commuter with civic pride, and the professional man who earns his living here. The wisdom in selecting Frank Bergen as a principal speaker was demonstrated by the time the Elizabeth man had gotten underway with his topic. "Permanent Pavements" is a subject of more than usual interest in the community just at present, and no one listened to that speech without learning something of value. Senator Hillery met with a good reception, although his subject, "Taxation," was a dry one. He did the best that could be expected of one endeavoring to defend the maximum tax law and showed the traits of a lawyer in bringing out the good features and evading the many weak ones in that unpopular law, which will soon be off the statute books. Mayors Buckle and Smalley and Rev. Mr. Warner also sized up well as after-dinner talkers, as did Father Bogan, whose scholarly remarks were worth going a long way to hear. As for the toastmaster, former Mayor W. L. Saunders—well, he was capital.

LUNCHEON AND SALE BY KING'S DAUGHTERS.

Circle Realizes $100 for Charity at the Affair.

Under the auspices of the Daughters of the Cross, King's Daughters, of North Plainfield, a successful luncheon and sale was held at the Park Club, yesterday. There were 100 at the luncheon, while many more attended and assisted the worthy cause by patronizing the sale of useful articles and cakes. Over $100 will be realized as profit from the affair and this sum will go towards the circle's pledge in support of the city nurse.

The sale of useful articles was in charge of Mrs. Nelson A. Miller and that of the cake Mrs. William Murray. Miss Susan Rafferty is the president of the circle, and she received, assisted by other members of the order. Aside from the sale and luncheon the social features were greatly enjoyed.

Hermis in Winter Quarters.

"Hermis," the famous son of "Hermence," is spending the winter at Bound Brook, and according to Trained John Shields, is getting along finely. "He is doing as well as I could wish," said Shields to some friends the other day, "and there is no good reason why he should not train this spring. You know, perhaps, that he would have trained all right last year if he had received fair play. They jumped the races into him too quickly; one on top of the other. Had it not been for that he would have stood a preparation nicely. I think they will let me take my time with him this year, in which case I will bring him to the races in fine trim. His lameness has disappeared entirely and he is as rugged as ever."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Henrietta Crosman's talent will be exhibited in many respects at the New Plainfield theatre tonight, when, with her company, she will be seen in her revival of "As You Like It," coming here direct from the Garrick theatre in New York, where she scored a triumph even greater than she had formerly attained in her brilliant portrayal of Rosalind. When she presents "As You Like It" in this city she will show the portrayal of Rosalind which has been praised as the greatest impersonation of this delightful character the stage has seen in a score of years, if indeed it is not the most artistic conception of the role ever given.

A play, production and company will appear at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night as is seldom seen by the amusement loving people in this city. "The House of Mystery," a melodrama presented by the Mittenthal Brothers Amusement Company, of New Yor, is the most original in theme, realistic in effects and a complete scenic investure on the road today. Every act is a marvel of realism and every climax wrought with the most intense excitement, while the story is one of the heart, told in a manner that will endear it to all patrons of the drama. The mechanical and electrical equipment will prove to be a revelation in stage craft.

"The Heir to the Hoorah" will be given its first local presentation at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night. The new piece is announced as an American comedy in four acts, by Paul Armstrong, a clever young newspaper man who had previously written a fairly good farce called "The Superstitions of Sue" and a better melodrama which found some favor in the West under the title of "St. Anne's." "The Heir to the Hoorah," however, is neither farce nor melodrama, though it combines some of the qualities of each as they are understood in American dramatic nomenclature. It is a Western play and all four acts take place in interior scenes. The hero of the piece is Joe Lacy, a miner and typical rought diamond, one of a trio of chums who have seen hard days in their quest for gold, and who have finally been enriched by the Hoorah mine. Joe comes East, marries a society girl with a mamma, takes them both back West in a private car, and realizes after a little that the comic papers are not so very far wrong in their descriptions of the much-berated mother-in-law.

During the action of the play in "Wedded and Parted," which Sullivan, Harris & Woods, the largest producers of melodrama in the world, announce for presentation at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday, January 30, matinee and night, there is an exciting combat between one of the villains and the heroine. Instigated and paid by enemies of a sincere, honorable and true hearted woman, a scoundrel makes an effort to compromise her in the eyes of her husband, by making her an apparent participant in the notorious "badger" game. The struggle between the man and the woman is fierce and realistic. While the scene is sensational and exciting, there is nothing in it to offend the most fastidious, so skilfully has the dramatist, Theodore Kremer, drawn the two characters.

The plot of Augustus Thomas' new comedy, "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," that Charles Frohman is to produce at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday evening is based on a reckless joke played by a graceless scamp on a jealous husband and on his equally jealous sister, who is betrothed to a worthy young architect. The incident is woven into a dinner party that a blizzard of snow and ice deprives of its invited guests, yet brings to it an unexpected few, each antagonistic to the other, as the outcome of the aroesaid joke—the placing of a married woman's shoes on the window sill of the room occupied by the girl's affianced—this at a seaside hotel the summer before. At first the note of the play is said to adhere to light comedy, and, as the piece proceeds, the action grows faster and broader, until it attains the character of rattling farce for an act and a half, quieting down into comedy again for the fall of the last curtain.

The majority of musical attractions suffice with one or two comedians for their "fun" department, but not so with Richard Carle, who presents himself in the farcical opera triumph, "The Mayor of Tokio," at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday night, February 13, as his cast contains the names of nine high class comedians, for, in addition to Richard Carle, there is Fred Frear, J. A. Wallerstedt, William Rock, Sylvain Langlois, Jo Smith Marba, Edwin Baker, William Platt, an octette of high class and high priced artists seldom, if ever, seen in any one play; instead of one prima donna, Mr. Carle has two, Hortense Mazurette and Adele Rowland; instead of one comedienne, Mr. Carle has two, Emma Janvier and Minerva Courtney; instead of one soubrette, Mr. Carle has five, Madge Vincent, Florence Willarde, Ethel Lloyd, Constance Eastman and Ada Mitchell, and in the way of a chorus novelty Mr. Carle's "Blue Ribbon Chorus of America" comprises the dashing "Peanut Ballet," and the dainty "Geisha Girls."

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

There is some complaint being made about the custom of holding freight trains across the highway on the Lehigh Valley Railroad near the station. Trains are sometimes left across the road from fifteen to twenty minutes, regardless of the rights of persons who wish to travel on the highway. There is a law against such practices.

The pond was partly drawn out yesterday by the Middlesex Water Company for the purpose of determining whether the wells connected with the pumping station produce any effect in diminishing the flow of water in the stream leading to the New Market mill pond, which the mill owner at New Market claims they do.

SURFACE FINDS SCALE BAD IN SOUTH JERSEY.

Pennsylvania State Zoologist Pursues San Jose Bug Across Sand Flats and Marshes.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 26.—Dr. H. A. Surface, State economic zoologist, in his study of the San Jose scale and the best methods of fighting it, has journeyed to southern New Jersey.

He is still in that section, and reports that he finds the scale as bad there as in any section of Pennsylvania, with less being done by the fruit growers to cmobat it. He states explicitly that the best remedy he has yet seen in use is boiled lime sulphur wash, which he champions, despite Dr. G. G. Groff, who would put the bugs to sleep with gas.

Dr. Surface's excursion into Jersey is a part of his trip to study the scale in the eastern borders of the State.

Friends of the zoologist and firm believers in his bug wash are asking why advocates of Dr. Groff's methods were not present at the recent meeting of the State Horticultural Society in Gettysburg.

San Jose scale occupied an important place on the programme at that meeting, and it is understood that Groff was invited to appear and defend his bug theories against the views of Dr. Surface.

The latter scientist was on hand and expounded his theories to the apparent satisfaction and conviction of the horticulturists present, scoring a heavy black mark for his method of killing the pest.

John Bennett Injured.

John Bennett, aged twenty-one years, a machinist employed in one of the local shops, caught his hand in apiece of machinery this morning, smashing two fingers and otherwise injuring it. MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

FALSEHOOD, SAYS STOKES TO STEFFENS

GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY DENIES CHARGES MADE BY WRITER.

In a current magazine Lincoln Steffens, who has on several previous occasions made charges against prominent Jerseymen, only to have them flatly contradicted, repeats th assertion that Gov. E. C. Stokes was the "Pennsylvania Railroad man at Trenton." Mr. Steffens makes other serious allegations against the Governor, in upholding Senator Colby, the New Jersey reformer.

When asked what he had to say concerning the Steffens charges, Gov. Stokes replied that the statements concerning his were untrue in inference and in fact. He said that the suggestion that he had been influenced by the Pennsylvania Railroad or any other corporation was entirely without foundation.

"The falsehood," the Governor continued, "has been repeated again and again, and I have often denied it. It was repeated over again and over again during the Gubernatorial campaign, and yet in that campaign my opponents were not able to substantiate the charge by reference to a single vote which I had cast during my eleven years of legislative service. The majority of 51,000 which the people gave me was a sufficient refutation of the slander."

Concerning a resolution for limited franchises which Steffens intimates the Governor opposed, the executive denied the truth of Steffens' assertions.

"I was entirely friendly to the limited franchise resolution, and so expressed myself many times," he said.

The Governor said he knew nothing whatever of A. J. Cassatt's attitude on the subject, or the attitude of any of that gentleman's associates. Mr. Cassatt, he said, had never made any suggestion to him on this or on any other subject, either at this or any time.

The Governo: said he did not know where Steffens got his information for his article, but he did know that he was badly misinformed.

STORM IS COMING.

Nor'easter Expected to Arrive Here Some Time Today.

A storm is coming. At least the Government officers who have weather predictions in charge say so. Storm warnings were displayed this morning from Baltimore to New York and there will probably be a rough time off Cape Hatteras before the day is over. Strong northeast winds will prevail along the middle Atlantic and south New England coasts.

The forecast given out this morning said that there would be sleet and rain here tonight and tomorrow, accompanied by high winds.

Powder Company Pays for Dead.

New Brunswick, Jan. 26.—It was reported yesterday that a settlement has been made by the International Smokeless Powder Company, of Parlin, with the families of the victims at the recent explosion there, who were Frank Spratford and John Applegate, of Sayreville; Leon Redpath, of Boston, and John Price, of South River, paying $3,000 for the life of each of the four men killed.

Runaway Horse Injured.

A horse belonging to William Johnson, the milkman, ran away on Fairview avenue, this morning. At the Somerset street corner the animal was unable to make the turn and fell, making almost a complete somersault, badly injuring itself. A young Swede driver escaped injury, but the wagon was somewhat damaged. The animal was taken to Dr. Pococks' stables to be treated.

Lud Frazee was picked up by the local police, last night, helplessly drunk. He was still "under the influence" when arraigned before Judge Runyon this morning and he was put back in a cell to straighten out.

Reached His Majority.

George Herrmann, of 301 East Third street, reached his majority yesterday and last night he was given a surprise party. A substantial gift was a handsome piano. The affair was arranged by Harry W. Holmes.

TRIBUTE TO MR. ARNOLD

Trustees Past and Present of Crescent Avenue Church Present a Loving Cup.

TREASURER 25 YEARS

Take Him Completely by Surprise—Quarter of a Century Treasurer of the Church.

William F. Arnold, cashier of the City National Bank, city treasurer of Plainfield, custodian of school board funds, and for twenty-five years treasurer of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, was presented with a loving cup last night.

When Rev. Dr. William R. Richards was called to the pastorate of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church he was a young man, and was impressed with the size and importance of his charge, which at first made him feel a little uneasy. Upon assuming his duties, he asked to see the various officers of the church, including the treasurer. When the latter, who was but eighteen years old and naturally boyish in appearance, was introduced Dr. Richards looked somewhat surprised. The dominie said: "Well, if that young man can be treasurer I guess I can fill the position of pastor."

Mr. Arnold served the church as a trustee for twenty-seven years, and all but two years of that time as treasurer, completing the quarter of a century on January 15.

Last night the present Board of Trustees, together with many former trustees, met at the home of Townsend Rushmore. Mr. Arnold was summoned there, and to his great surprise was presented with a costly loving cup in appreciation of his services. Charles J. Fisk made the presentation in his happy manner. Mr. Arnold was completely surprised and it was some minutes before he could respond, thanking them for the beautiful testimonial, which bore the following inscription:

"To William F. Arnold, from his associates, past and present, on the Board of Trustees of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Plainfield, N. J., in appreciation of his faithful services of twenty-five years, closing January 15, 1906.

"BOLTON PARK" NAME OF SUMMER RESORT

AN ARTIFICIAL LAKE TO BE A FEATURE OF THE PLACE.

The extensive improvement and development of land in Plainfield and vicinity is now reaching the suburbs and includes farming districts. Ground has already been broken for a settlement on the old Ackor farm, located on the main road of the historic Washington Valley.

Bolton Hall, of New York, who has devoted considerable time and attention to the land question, is interested in this tract, which is situated not far from Plainfield. Starting from the Warrenville road at a point near the proposed trolley extension, this property extends back to the mountains to a considerable elevation.

The plan is to convert the lowlands into a ten-acre body of water, to be known as "Bolton Lake," by erecting a concrete dam on the northern boundary of the property. Beckenham road, running west to a point where the elevation starts, will connect the main road with Oxford Terrace at the center of the property. "Epping Retreat" will extend the full length of Bolton Park. This fertile land has been surveyed by F. A. Dunham, the civil engineer, and sub-divided into plots of from two to five acres. The present site of Bolton Lake is a perfect natural basis with pure springs flowing through the center. Not only will this make an ideal summer place, but it is intimated that the water will be made profitable in winter through the harvesting of ice.

The size of these farms will enable persons of moderate means to combine the profit of farming with the advantages of village life, and also be within easy access of Plainfield and New York. The work of developing this site is in charge of William Jeffery, the real estate dealer, who has been successful in his efforts to increase land values which have resulted in the building of many houses.

Guests of Honor.

W. G. Besler, vice president and general manager of the Central Railroad, and C. M. Burt, general passenger agent for the same road, both of this city, will be guests of Beach Commission President C. S. Steiner, at Asbury Park, on the night of the Lincoln Republican Club banquet, Lincoln's Birthday, February 12, at the Grand Avenue hotel.

J.W. MURRAY JR. RESIGNS

Tax Collector to Withdraw as First Asst. Chief of the Fire Department.

TAKES EFFECT FEB. 1

Mayor Buckle Will Act on Fire Board's Recommendations—Two Applicants for the Position.

John W. Murray, Jr., has placed in the hands of Mayor James F. Buckle his resignation as first assistant chief of the fire department. Mr. Murray states that he desires to withdraw from the department on February 1. He has served in it for over two decades.

The Common Council will meet Monday night, February 5, and it is not likely that any announcements will be made before that time.

When seen by a representative of The Daily Press, Mayor Buckle declined to say what appointments he would make as a result of Mr. Murray's resignation. "I shall act on the advice of the fire board. Whatever selections they make, I shall accept, for they are the ones who know what is best for the interests of the department."

It is generally expected that Second Assistant Chief Andrew Jennings, who has faithfully served the department for many years, will be promoted to the position made vacant by Mr. Murray. The only question is, who will be the new second assistant? Captain William Townley and Call-man John W. Cose are both after the job. Mr. Townley claims preference on the ground that the only incentive for good work in the department is promotion when the opportunity presents itself. On the other hand, Mr. Cose's friends declare that the call men are without representation and that this should not be the case.

Mr. Murray, who is now the city collector of taxes, will retain his place as a member of the Board of County Assessors.

RICE HEIRS REVIVE SUIT AGAINST MR. HAND

PLAINFIELDER DEFENDANT IN ACTION ON A $20,000 BOND.

Chief Justice Gummere, in Newark, has signed an order reviving the suit instituted by the late William M. Rice, of whose murder Albert T. Patrick was convicted. Mr. Rice's death caused suspension of litigation pending a settlement of Rice's will.

The application for the order was made by John R. Hartin, counsel for the executors under the Rice will, which the New York courts declared valid. These executors are James H. Baker, John B. Bartine, and William M. Rice, Jr., son of the millionaire. The defendant in the suit is Charles H. Hand, of this city, against whom Mr. Rice instituted suit to recover $20,000 on a bond.

The action was brought but a short while before Mr. Rice died.

JUNIORS' JOINT FAIR.

Franklin and Somerset Councils Plan One for March.

At a meeting held Thursday night, Franklin and Somerset Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., decided to jointly conduct a "Junior" fair. It will be given in Company K's armory the week beginning March 10 and an attempt will be made to have exceeded anything of the kind yet attempted locally.

Clarence H. Bilyeu is to be the general chairman of the entire affair and he will be directly assisted by Foster Hartpense as secretary, and P. H. Latourette as treasurer. The chairmen of the various committees have been appointed as follows: Press and printing, W. J. Firstbrook; prizes, Fred Soper; cloak room, Otto Pearson; refreshments, William Crevelling; floor, J. G. Bicknell; decorations, David VanWinkle; ice cream and candy, Harry Winn; door, F. M. Leggee.

Planning Sewer Extension.

Street Commissioner Gavett and Joseph O. Osgood are still at work on plans for the installation of sanitary sewers in those parts of the city requiring pumping stations. When their work is completed the plans will be laid before the street committee of the Common Council.

Fireman Lohsen Improving.

Fireman Lohsen, who was injured in the wreck on the New Jersey Central, continues to improve at Muhlenberg Hospital. Aside from his relatives from Red Bank no one else has visited him since the accident.

RESTORED $1,500 GEMS

For His Honesty Plainfield Messenger Boy Gets $100 as a Reward.

FOUND IN THE STATION

Little Fellow Picked Them Up—Saw "Lost Advertisement"—Owner a Philadelphian.

Victor Smith, fourteen years old, of this city, who is employed by the Central Railroad as a messenger boy at Jersey City, while walking through the waiting-room of the station there, last Sunday afternoon, picked up a small chamois bag containing several diamonds, a gold necklace and two diamond rings. The boy did not know the value of his find, and, in accordance with the company's rules, turned the jewel bag in at the station master's office. Up to Wednesday night no one came to claim the lost treasures and the little fellow eagerly scanned the morning papers in search of an advertisement for the lost article.

In looking over one of the papers yesterday he noticed an advertisement offering a reward of $100 and giving an exact description of the jewels, which he had found on Sunday. The finder of the jewels was requested to bring them to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York. Young Smith showed the advertisement to his superior officer and a representative of the road took the chamois bag of jewels and, with the boy, went to the hotel, where they met James Allen, a wealthy hosiery manufacturer of Philadelphia, who, with his wife, came to New York last Sunday afternoon, when the treasures were lost.

Mrs. Allen gave an exact description of her lost jewels, which tallied with that of the articles found by the boy. The railroad representative turned them over to Mrs. Allen, and Mr. Allen presented the boy with $100 as his reward. Young Smith comes of a poor family and the money will supply many a long-left want of the family. Overcome with joy upon receiving so generous a reward, the little fellow exclaimed: "Gee, what a bundle of money. Thank you, sir. I must go right home and give it to mamma." Mr. Allen took the boy's address and promised to remember him in a more substantial way later on. The jewels are said to be valued at about $1,500.

PLEASING PROGRAMME MOSTLY OF MUSIC

TWO CHURCH SOCIETIES COMBINE TO ENTERTAIN PUBLIC.

Instead of the monthly social, the Women's Association and Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church, united last night in giving a musical and literary entertainment. The change was appreciated and a large audience was present to enjoy the programme.

The Sagamore Club, comprising Fred Smith, violin; Joe Gavett, Munroe Long and Chester Briggs, mandolins; William Briggs, banjo, and Irving Martin, piano, rendered an attractive programme of popular selections. Assisting was Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, impersonator. Miss Emmons gave a number of her best recitations in a finished manner. She was recalled time and again, as were also the musical artists.

After the entertainment there was a social time and refreshments were served. The joint committee from the two societies in charge comprised Mrs. Gilbert T. Rhodes, Mrs. C. A. Rice, Mrs. Eugene M. Laing, Mrs. J. V. Beekman, Mrs. F. A. Weeks, Miss Ethel Millar, Miss Barry, Miss Lulu Fuller, Miss Jessie McIntosh and Henry Barlow and George Bentley.

Mrs. Jacob Blimm Surprised.

In honor of Mrs. Jacob Blimm's birthday anniversary, a masque surprise party was given at her home in Somerset street last night. There were thirty couples, including guests from New York. The evening was spent in dancing, music and games. At midnight supper was served and the guests removed their masks. Mrs. Blimm received hearty congratulations from all and wishes for many happy returns of the day.

Redeemed.

Full many a man who went astray
In the golden dawn of life's young day
Has found redeeming hope instead,
And the way to satisfaction's goal,
By taking the beaten path that led
To Geo. O. Stevens for his coal.

Rev. Dr. A. G. Young, of Lakewood, will preach in the Ebenezer church tomorrow.

MISS CROSMAN PLEASES

Crowded House Enthusiastically Applauds Her "Rosalind" in "As You Like It."

CAST IS A GOOD ONE

Miss Whitehouse As "Phoebe" Most Agreeable—Her Work of a Superior Order—Malcolm Dunn Capable.

For the first time since the New Plainfield theatre opened its doors, Shakespearean comedy held the boards last night, and the playgoing public responded in numbers that tested the capacity of the house. "As You Like It," the offering of Maurice Campbell, with Miss Henrietta Corsman as "Rosalind," was the attraction, and the verdict was that production, star and cast were of the first magnitude. The evening's entertainment will remain as one of the striking dramatic events of the season.

Although recently winning laurels in other lines, Shakespearean comedy is no new venture for Miss Crosman. She has appeared in it for years, and is universally acknowledged to be the most convincing Rosalind of the present generation of dramatic stars. She has retained all her former magnetism and her performance last night was as refreshing as though she were still seeking to win her first spurs as a delineator of this pleasing character. Her artistic conception of the role evoked spontaneaus applause throughout the five acts and won for her a warm spot in the hearts of Plainfield's playgoers.

The supporting company was equally strong in the respective parts and enabled the performance to move with absorbing precision. Malcolm Dunn's conception of "Orlando" was a splendid impersonation and Miss Frances Whitehouse, as "Phoebe," revealed dramatic ability worthy of special commendation. She has a splendid stage presence and her lines were delivered without the seeking for elocutionary effect too often the fault of Shakespearean artists. Her work in every way was finished and made a lasting impression.

The production was magnificently staged, the forest of Arden being one of the heaviest settings yet placed on the stage of the Plainfield theatre.

A delay in the arrival of the company's scenic car caused a postponement of the curtain's rising until 9 o'clock.

WELL-KNOWN VOCALISTS FOR BAND CONCERT

BEN LA VERE SECURES A SPLENDID ARRAY OF TALENT.

Arrangements have been completed by Ben La Vere for the fair which he will give in Saengerbund Hall for the benefit of the coming season's series of band concerts. In addition to having the assistance of a committee of local people he has secured the help of the New York publishing houses, and they have promised him the best vocalists in the business for his entertainments.

The opening night is Monday, February 5, and for that occasion he has arranged to feature William Elliott, a tenor new to Plainfielders, but well known to Broadway audiences. He will sing the best selections from Geo. M. Cohan's play, "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." Tuesday night Nick Parker will entertain with Von Tilzer hits, and on Wednesday Bert Fitzgibbon is to appear. Thursday night has been reserved for the "only" Mr. Redmond, otherwise "Billy," who will sing as he alone can sing the best vocal numbers from Cohan's play, "George Washington, Jr." Friday will be another banner night, as Theodore Morse, the author of "Blue Bell" and "Starlight," will appear with his comedy trio, comprising himself, Jack Drislane and Bert Fitzgibbon. On Saturday, the closing night, Harry MacDonald, one of the tenor soloists for the Edison phonograph company, is to hold the boards.

In addition to these attractions, Mr. La Vere will introduce the popular "shadow" dances, the stage at Saengerbund Hall possessing all the needed requirements, and he has other ideas in embryo that will make this fair overtop any of his previous efforts. With the dancing and nightly change of bill, together with the purpose for which the proceeds will be used, large attendances should be the rule. Mr. La Vere presented a good series of concerts last summer, and if the proper patronage is afforded he will do even better in 1906.

WIFE SECURES DIVORCE

Mrs. Searles Gets a Decree in Suit Against Dr. Frank R. Searles.

STATUTORY GROUNDS

Given Custody of Children, Lawyer's Fees and Alimony—Craig A. Marsh Her Counsel.

In a decision just handed down by Vice Chancellor Stevens, Mrs. Rose Myra Searles, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Lowerie, of Park avenue, is granted a divorce from her husband, Dr. Frank R. Searles, on statutory grounds. Mrs. Searles is given the custody of her three children and Dr. Searles is directed and ordered to pay all costs of the suit, counsel fees and permanent alimony. Craig A. Marsh, Esq., represented Mrs. Searles in her suit for divorce.

Dr. Searles, who formerly resided here and was associated with the late Dr. Chauncey M. Fields, is now practicing in Buffalo, N. Y.

The decree for divorce follows soon after Mrs. Searles recovered her verdict for damages against the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway, now known as the Public Service Corporation. Mr. Marsh, who also had charge of this case for Dr. and Mrs. Searles, obtained a verdict against the company for $15,000, of which amount $12,000 was for Mrs. Searles and $3,000 for her husband.

The accident in which Mrs. Searles was injured occurred August 18, 1902, and there was a settlement of the suit, in which Dr. Searles joined, on July 6, 1904. The company obtained an order for a new trial on the ground that a sufficient time had not elapsed since the surgical operation performed on Mrs. Searles, to enable the doctors to determine how much improvement would result from it.

Shortly before the day fixed for the new trial, Lindabury, Depue & Faulks, representing the company, settled with Mr. Marsh. Despite the testimony of physicians and surgeons of the highest authority in New York, who testified at the trial, Mrs. Searles has greatly improved and it is confidently expected that in time she will entirely recover. At present Mrs. Searles and her children are stopping at Truell Inn.

Mrs. Searles received a severe nervous shock and injuries to her spine at the time of the accident, which occurred at West Fourth street and Madison avenue. A trolley car on the Fourth street line collided with a carriage in which Mrs. Searles was riding, throwing her and other occupants out.

SINGLE TAX MOVEMENT TO COMBAT THE TRUSTS

THAT IS THE REMEDY ADVOCATED BY JOHN MOODY IN LECTURE IN ELIZABETH

John Moody, of Cranford, delivered an excellent lecture Thursday night at the parish house of Trinity Episcopal church, Elizabeth, the subject of his address being "A Trip into Trustdom." The speaker traced the promotion of trusts from their inception in this country and endeavored to show the way the evils of trusts may be offset by proper legislation in the places were they are dominant.

The chief remedy he advocated for successfully combating them was the single tax movement.

The lecture, which was largely attended, was the first of a series of four to be given for the benefit of the sinking fund of Trinity church. The others and the dates they will be delivered are as follows: February 1, "Theory and Practice of Architecture," by Stockton B. Colt; February 8, "The International Prison Conference at Budapest," by Mrs. Emily E. Williamson; February 15, "A Good Word for the Trusts," by Frank Bergen.

Benevolent Council Growing.

At the regular meeting of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., held last evening in Eagles' Hall, West Second street, three candidates were initiated and several propositions were received. After the meeting a social time was enjoyed, during which refreshments and cigars were served.

Board of Examiners to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the Somerset County Board of Examiners at Somerville on Friday and Saturday, February 1 and 2, for the purpose of examining candidates for teachers' certificates. County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Krebs, of North Plainfield, will be in charge.

SIX COPS UP BEFORE THE POLICE BOARD

Charges of Dereliction of Duty Lodged Against Them—After Reprimand Sentence is Suspended.

FOUR NEW POLICEMEN

Saunders, Meyers, Vanderweg, Paine, Flynn, McKeon, the Offenders, First Two Coming in for Worst Roasting.

Something akin to a bombshell was exploded among the members of the city police force last night, when six of the bluecoats were informed by Chief Kiely that their immediate presence was needed before the police board, then in session at headquarters. They appeared before their superiors and charges were preferred against them by the chief as follows: Patrolman Nicholas Meyers, loitering in places off post and failing to ring signal boxes; Patrolman James Saunders, off duty without leave; Patrolman James McKeon, neglecting to ring boxes; Patrolmen Martin Vanderweg and Charles Flynn, neglecting to ring boxes and loitering on post; Patrolman John Payne, neglecting to ring boxes and absenting himself from duty without leave. After a thorough sifting no serious penalty was imposed.

The charges were heard by Messrs. Randolph and Gloak, of the board, the remaining member, Mr. Mellick, being absent. Mayor Buckle and Ralph I. Tolles, president of the Common Council, were present, but not officially. In speaking to the board proper, the chief said the most serious offenders were Meyers and Saunders, the former especially. He declared Meyers made it a practice of going into buildings on his post and remaining there a long time, always providing an excuse to account for his not ringing in the signal report.

The night Mrs. J. P. Burd was robbed by a highwayman on Watchung avenue, Meyers was supposed to be on post in that vicinity, and to Sergeant Frederickson claimed that he was, yet said he didn't hear or know anything about the occurrence. Chief Kiely made a personal investigation and found that at the time the robbery was committed Meyers was in the basement of Hall's drug store, enjoying a rest. He added that Meyers made a favorite hang-out place of the Rink building and that he was in there more than he was outside doing patrol duty.

In Saunders' case, the chief explained, the trouble was his practice to remain off duty without securing the necessary permission, and thus hampering the workings of the department. He stated that Saunders, who is the only colored policeman on the force, has been before other boards on various charges, and that he had frequently been warned. The most trivial of the charges was against McKeon, who had failed to ring in on various occasions and was unable to give a satisfactory explanation.

After detailing the offenses, the chief personally scored each one of the men. He informed them as to what their duty is and that failure to perform it reflects upon him and secures the censure of his superiors. He declared that if the efficiency of the force is to be maintained, the policemen must realize the situation they are in and under no circumstances neglect their duty.

"You men who have been taking the matters of this department in your own hands," he said in conclusion, "must get busy at once or be dropped from the force."

The men were all allowed to go with suspension of sentence but Meyers and Saunders were instructed that they were on their last chance and the slightest breach of discipline would result in their dismissal.

Before adjourning, the board considered several other matters and decided to appoint four new men to the force. One will be stationed in the Netherwood district in response to the petition from residents of that section and the others will be placed where most needed. A letter bearing on the Netherwood situation was read from William Palmer Smith. The Board decided to accept an offer made by Dr. Lufburrow to instruct the police in first aid to the injured and lectures will commence as soon as the time can be agreed upon.

It was also decided to have the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium classes continued but to make attendance compulsory only with the younger men.

WAR ON THE ROOKERIES

Board of Health Starts Its Campaign Against Filthy and Unsightly Houses.

A HEARING ON FEB. 6

Owner, Agent and Tenants of Watchung Avenue Eye-Sore Summoned to Appear—Will Close Up the Places.

The Plainfield Board of Health has taken its first step to abolish the unsightly and untentable rookeries that exist in this city. A complaint having been received, action will be taken to close up the properties Nos. 36-46 Watchung avenue, near the brook, owned by the heirs of Hannah Durlach.

The complaint filed by Health Officer Thurlow states that the buildings on that property are unfit for habitation by reason of uncleanliness, rendering their condition dangerous to health. It is further set forth in the complaint that the floors of the building are filthy; there is an accumulation of rags and rubbish; the plaster of the ceilings and sidewalls is down; window panes are broken; there is an absence of a proper water supply, and there being but one well for the occupants of eight apartments.

The police have served notices on Henry I. Durlach, executor for Hannah Durlach, deceased; Milton I. Durlach, and John P. Emmons, their agent, and on Mary Fay, J. L. Laird, Mrs. James Tracey, Julia Doyle, Mrs. Abbie VanFleet, Mrs. Louisa Kuhn and Annie Snyder, lessees or occupants of this property, informing them that a hearing will be held at the office of the Board of Health on Tuesday afternoon, February 6, at 4 o'cloc, to enable the Board to decide whether the buildings referred to should be abolished, by reason of the unfit and sanitary condition cited in the complaint.

At this hearing an opportunity will be given all interested to be heard and present such evidence as they may have. The action is in accordance with the rules of the Sanitary Code. It is also expected that the Board of Health will proceed with any similar properties located in other parts of the city. It is the purpose of the Board to abolish all such buildings found to be unfit for habitation.

The buildings referred to on Watchung avenue have long been an eye-sore and a disgrace to that part of the city and it is expected that radical changes will result from the action of the Board of Health.

PAL OF "DUTCH" IDES GOES TO REFORMATORY

THE LENIENT JUDGE SCHENCK SENDS M'MILLEN TO RAHWAY.

John McMillen, one of the notorious "Dutch" Ides gang implicated in the robbery of several stores at Bound Brook, two months ago, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Schenck to the State Reformatory at Rahway. The bulk of the stolen property was recovered by County Detective Totten, and has been restored to the merchants.

Paul Rejalve, convicted of stealing $110 from the home of Joseph Spisak, at Raritan, where he boarded, was sentenced to two years at hard labor in State prison.

Samuel Zannetti, who pleaded guilty to stealing $90 from the home of Joseph Campanella, at Bound Brook, was sent to the State Home for Boys at Jamesburg.

"Stanley Dawfs" in Town.

The "Stanley Dawfs," who will appear at an entertainment to be given at the Park Club on Wednesday night, February 7, have arrived in town from Africa and are stopping with friends in the borough and city. They will spend most of the time prior to the entertainment getting acquainted with local affairs and securing hits. They talk excellent English and have already become popular with those who have met them.

Dr. Parsons to Address Men.

Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons, of Grace M. E. church, will speak at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting tomorrow afternoon. Through a misunderstanding, he was announced to speak at the W. C. T. U. meeting at the same hour. Another good speaker will be at the gospel temperance meeting conducted by the women.

Mr. Smith's bright, witty and entertaining lectures in the past have been enjoyed by large and appreciative audiences and tonight's lecture will no doubt be well attended. During the evening the choir, under the direction of L. D. H. Gilmour, will render special music. Besides this Miss Mildred Bass, a pleasing and entertaining elocutionist, will recite. These are not all the good things to be provided as the women of the church will serve coffee and cake at the close of Mr. Smith's lecture.

PRESIDENT WILL DINE THE GOVERNOR

MR. ROOSEVELT'S BID TO LUNCHEON THIS AFTERNOON ACCEPTED.

Trenton, Jan. 27.—Governor Stokes will be the guest of President Roosevelt at luncheon this afternoon. The invitation to the Governor, was received Thursday afternoon after the Governor's departure for Lakewood. It came in the form of a telegram signed by Secretary Loeb, which read as follows:

"The President would like to have you lunch with him Saturday, the twenty-seventh instant, at 1:30 o'clock. Please wire me if you can accept."

It was the Governor's intention when he left her to remain at Lakewood until next Monday, taking a rest prescribed by his physicians, but the invitation from the President caused a change of plans.

The invitation was telephoned to the Governor at Lakewood by Executive Clerk Edward D. Fox, and it was announced yesterday by Secretary Gray that the Governor would go to Washington last evening.

The purpose of the President in inviting the Governor to the White House is purely personal, so far as is known here, but it is surmised that the President, who has recently entertained several Jerseymen prominent in public affairs, may have more than a passing interest in what is developing in this State.

It was only last Monday that Mayor Fagan, of Jersey City, and that city's corporation counsel, George L. Record, were the guests of the President at luncheon. It was generally believed that that social function was a conference between the President and the Jersey City reformers, which might lead to big political changes in New Jersey. It was surmised that the interview which the President had had with Senator Colby, of Essex county, several weeks ago, had paved the way for Mr. Roosevelt's conference with Messrs. Fagan and Record last Monday.

Observant persons regarded the President's entertainment of these Jerseymen as an indication that he realized the great strength of the Colby-Fagan-Record movement to reorganize the Republican party in New Jersey, and as that is in line with his policy to make his fight against corporations within his party with the aid of independent corporations, he may be said to be entering into an offensive and defensive alliance with the reform element in New Jersey.

The belief was also expressed that the President's guests last Monday rquested him to agree to an appeal to the Republicans of New Jersey to come out to the State primaries next September and elect as delegates to all conventions men who can be depended upon to name candidates in sympathy with the new movement which it is expected will extend all over the United States.

When Messrs. Fagan and Record returned from the White House they declined to give any details as to their conference with the President.

To some persons the decision of Mr. Roosevelt to have Governor Stokes break bread with him today means that the nation's Chief Executive desires to hear the "administration" side of the break in New Jersey's Republican ranks and to make known certain views entertained by him.

Electricity and Chinese.

As the completion of the electric tramway in Singapore draws near the rumors among ignorant natives grow apace. The latest is that 500 Chinese heads must be procured and buried under the power house before the "kreta hantu" can start running. In consequence of this rickshaw coolies refuse to take fares into the country districts at night.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The attraction at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight is the Mittenthal Brothers' great production of "The House of Mystery." It is one of the best melodramas on the road and carries a competent company and several carloads of scenery and effects.

"The Heir to the Hoorah," announced as an American comedy by Paul Armstrong, will have its first production here at the New Plainfield theatre Monday night. The new play comes from the Hudson theatre, New York, where it had a long and successful season, extending from early Lent until the rose petals blew away in mid-July, and later brilliant engagements of four weeks at the Hollis Street theatre, Boston, and the Illinois theatre, Chicago. The title, which has a bit of mystery for the uninitiated, is explained in the fact that the "Hoorah" is an immensely rich gold mine and the "Heir" a male infant. Around the infant, a husband, a wife, a mother-in-law, a Japanese valet, some miners, a cowpuncher, a widow and a maiden aunt, Mr. Armstrong is said to have woven a very merry story.

The attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday afternoon and night is Sullivan, Harris & Woods' much talked of production of Theodore Kremer's new melodrama, "Wedded and Parted." Several excellent comedy situations are introduced, the character of a fat butler and a middle aged French maid being particularly funny. There is in the play a very pretty child's part, the acting of which goes at once to the heart of every mother in the audience. The scene in the famous woman's prison at Auburn introduced in this production is one of the most novel and original pieces of stagecraft ever attempted.

Charles Frohman's big fashionable comedy, "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," which is the sensation promised at the New Plainfield theatre for next Friday night, for a limited engagement of one night, recently concluded its long run in New York with all the indications of a brilliant and enduring triumph. The critics appear to agree that the humor of the author, Augustus Thomas, flows in abundant quantity throughout the comedy and that the characters are of a metropolitan type possessed of sufficient originality and novelty to make them exceedingly interesting. The story is one of jealousy with a modern Othello as its central figure, and the incidents are believed to be sparklingly told. "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots" is indeed viewed as the funniest of all Augustus Thomas' comedies.

The Richard Carle Amusement Co.'s newest and latest farcical opera triumph, "The Mayor of Tokio," will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre on Tuesday night, February 13, by the original company headed by its celebrated author-actor, Richard Carle, who will be surrounded by all the many costly and beautiful scenic electric and costume embellishments that have been the recipients of unstinted press and public praise in every principal city of the union, especially New York and Chicago, where its long runs, considered from both a financial and artistic standpoint, stamp this attraction one of the bigget things "theatrical" of the season.

New Brunswick Plans Changes.

New Brunswick, Jan. 27.—The Public Buildings Committee of the Board of Aldermen has decided to move the District Court from the Kent building, and the offices of the city engineer and street commissioner from the Viehmann building. The three offices will be in the Baldwin building, George and Bayard streets. The owners of the Kent and Viehmann buildings are Democrats. George A. Viehmann was the successful candidate for Mayor and the unsuccessful candidate for Senator on the Democratic ticket, while Charles W. Kent has been a candidate for alderman. The present city administration is Republican.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Hummer, of East Fifth street, entertained a company of friends at their home on Thursday night. Dancing was the feature.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

GOOD WHOLESOME ADVICE TO WOMEN.

Here is some carefully thought out advice for the unfortunate woman of pet hallucinations who imagines she is the victim of oppression and especial persecution at the hands of fate; who believes that she has been mismated and that marriage is, after all, a failure of the dismal dyed-in-the-wool sort; who thinks her husband's sole ambition is to deny her everything she desires, including the right to be happy in her own sweet way, says the San Francisco Call.

They are written by a mere man of common experience, a bald head and a mite of wisdom, whose mother, a true woman of the old school of rawhide and no-nonsense-around-the-house amenities, early trained him in the noble art of knowing his place in the domestic circle:

Take in that washing.
Be ladylike.
Don't trump your partner's ace.
Don't snore.
Carry your own tally punch.
Read the "Simple Life."
Forget it.
Blame it on central.
Stop telling people that you haven't a bug in the house.
Don't bite your nails.
Quit talking over the back fence.
Do your manicuring in private.
Remember you promised to obey him.
Ring off.
Remember you're not a Gibson girl.
Sell the punch bowl.
Quit the C. O. D. habit.
Give the parrot a chance.
Remember not to smile when your false teeth are at the dentist's.
Chuck the kimono.
Keep that stocking pulled up.
Stop sassing the gas man.
Learn to knit like grandma.
Leave the peroxide alone.
Make a cake once in awhile like mother made.
Or a pie.
Or some biscuit.
A doughnut or two.
Or even a bean stew.
Let the dead past bury its dead.
Don't play euchre for charity.
Don't whistle at the milkman.
Dust off your Bible.
Don't take beauty naps before the dishes are washed.
Chew your food thoroughly.
Chew it thirty times.
Chew it forty times.
Chew it fifty times.

By doing this you will give your husband a much needed rest and at the same time cure that dyspepsia.

Shed that red wrapper.
Take your physical culture in the kitchen.
Don't buy what you don't need, even if it is a bargain.
Look your prettiest at all times.
Don't argue with the cook.
Remember that even your friends have feelings.
Lay the duster down before you take up the novel.
Save your smiles for your husband; the letter carrier has a wife of his own.
Try to look wise.
Quit calling at the top of your voice from the front window for "Hennery" when the minister calls in the afternoon.
Don't let small things annoy you; not even the instalment man.
Use a button hook for those top buttons.
Shake the matinees.
Do something.
Do nothing.
Do as you like.

DO NOT LOOK UPON IT AS DRUDGERY.

The thoughtful wife looks back upon the year that has gone and reckons up her mercies. First of all she is humbly thankful that those whom she loves are spared to her for a little longer, and if there are vacant places since last the family gathered together, she tries in spite of her grief and sense of loss to be grateful for sweet memories and blessed examples.

Perhaps her thoughts will turn to the material side of life, and she will be thankful for the prosperity that has come to her and hers. Thus she will realize her blessings.

But how many women, it is to be wondered, are grateful for their daily work, or give praise that they are housewives. It has not become the fashion to speak slightingly of the "drudgery of the housework" that many women are prone to think it betokens superiority to declare themselves above it. This is quite as absurd as if men announced that they had souls above the "drudgery of business."

Such men do exist, but they are not looked upon as very wonderful beings; in fact we call them by the unkind name of tramp.

Much of the discontent of women with their home work arises not from their mental superiority, but because they have in fact very superficial minds. Were they built on a broader plane and grasped whole instead of half truths, they would realize the immense importance of their work to the world and endeavor to perform their duties with intelligence.

Household work is not by any means confined to wives and mothers. How many families throughout the land rise up and call blessed some spinster aunt or sister who devotes herself to their welfare.

It is not only among discontented women that the idea of "drudgery" is insisted upon. We find it in every walk of life under other names. There is no position so exalted as not to have been won by tedious plodding and maintained by a considerable amount of good, hard, honest work, foolishly termed "drudgery."

DELICIOUS CONCOCTIONS.

Little supper dishes are always a prime concern of the chafing dish girl at this season. Among the stand-bys is shrimp wiggle, a sightly and tasty concoction. Have ready a small can of shrimps and a small can of French peas. Turn both from their cans, rinse them and let them stand in the air for an hour or so. Make two cupfuls of white sauce with a cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of flour and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Season with salt and white pepper. Turn in the shrimps and peas and beat the mixture through thoroughly.

Sometimes my lady has trouble when she needs to heat a mixture in a small dish, because the size of her chafing dish frame suits only the pan made for it. To fill the need, the manufacturer has brought out what he calls a "hanger." It is a nickel disc, perforated in ornamental fashion, to admit the heat of the lamp and fitted with three nickel strips at the sides, each ending in a hook to catch it onto the frame. The disc thus hangs inside the frame over the lamp. On it may be set a small tea kettle, saucepan or other utensil, as occasion may require.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

It may interest many who use carbolic acid as a disinfectant to know that the difficulty of mixing it with water is quite overcome if boiling water is used. With a little shaking or stirring this makes a complete and permanent solution and will keep for many weeks unaltered.

If a cloth is wetted in vinegar and wrung out as dry as possible with the hands and wrapped around cheese and then the whole put in a large paper bag and kept in a cool place the cheese will retain the moisture and freshness of a new-cut cheese and will not mold.

Loosen knife handles are quite easily mended. Take the handle off, mix together three parts resin and one of bath brick. Nearly fill the handle with this, heat the steel beyond the blade till nearly red-hot, insert in the handle and press down in its place. It will be as firm as when new.

Before using preserved vegetables drain away all their liquor, place the vegetables on a sieve or colander and pour boiling water over. This process rids the vegetables of the water in which they were preserved and which often causes a bitter taste, and boiling water also tends to soften the vegetables and makes them more easy to cook Preserved vegetables, as a rule, do not require to boil so long as fresh.

To brighten the inside of a teapot, fill it with water, add a small piece of soap and let it boil about twenty-five minutes. The teapot must be thoroughly rinsed out afterward, so as to leave no taste of soap.

Art muslin curtains should never be washed in warm water. Put them in a lather of nearly cold water. If the curtains are green add a little vinegar; if lilac or pink, a little ammonia. Salt will set the colors of black and white muslins.

If a tin of paint has to be left open stir it thoroughly, so as to dissolve all the oil, then fill up with water. When it becomes necessary to use the paint pour off the water and you will find it as fresh as when first opened

To clean finger marks on doors rub the finger marks with a clean piece of flannel dipped in paraffin oil. The marks will disappear like magic. Afterward wipe with a clean cloth wrung out of hot water to take away the smell. This is better than using soap and water, as it does not destroy the paint. Paraffin oil is also excellent for cleaning varnished hall doors which face a dusty roadway.

If a lamp should be overturned do not attempt to put out the flame with water, for it will simply spread it. Instead, throw down flour, sand, garden earth or salt, any of which will have the desired effect.

To prevent a lamp smoking, soaking the wick in strong vinegar and drying thoroughly before using; it will then burn both sweet and pleasant. This has been tried and never known to fail.

To Mend Broken China.—Half an ounce of gum arabic dissolved in a wineglassful of boiling water and adding plaster of Paris to form a thick paste. Apply with a brush to the edges of the broken china and join evenly together.

To Clean Pamboo Furniture.—Dirty bamboo furniture may be cleaned with a small brush dipped in warm water and salt. The salt prevents it from turning yellow and the washing makes the bamboo look bright. Rub very dry with soft cloths, and you will be delighted with the results.

How to Keep Coal.—Coal should be kept in the dark. Its nature changes under the influence of strong light, especially under sunlight. It becomes friable and is less able to give out a strong heat when burned. When stored it should have salt sprinkled over it. This keeps it in condition and prevents its undue drying.

THE DINNER TABLE.

Bisque of Lobster.—Ten minutes before dinner put two ounces of butter into a saucepan, and when it bubbles sprinkle in four ounces—four heaping tablespoonfuls—of flour. Let it cook without coloring, then add a cupful of hot cream, a pint of hot stock or water, and about a cup of coral of lobster dried in the oven and pounded fine. This gives it a beautiful pink color. Little dice of the boiled lobster are then to be added. It makes a pleasant change to marinate the lobster dice before adding to the soup.

Oysters Southern Fashion—Roll fresh crumbs and drain large, fat oysters. Cover the bottom of ramekins or common shells with crumbs, put in three or four oysters, more crumbs, and a teaspoonful of butter on the top side of each. Season all with salt and pepper, and if the ramekins are used bake in the oven fifteen minutes. If the fireproof shells are used broil them instead of baking. Cover with a tin if broiling on top of coals, or if broiling under the gas leave uncovered until brown.

Frozen Eggnog.—Use six fresh eggs, half a pound of sugar, half a pint of brandy or whiskey, and three pints of cream whipped to a froth. Do not buy the double cream, as the single cream will usually whip in cold weather. "If it whips perfectly, mix in the following order before freezing: Beat the yolks of the eggs and the sugar together until it is a froth, then add the whites of the eggs and lastly the whipped cream. If the cream does not whip perfectly freeze the liquid part mixed with the yolks of the eggs and the sugar, and when partly done add the whites and the whipped cream. In any case let stand packed well for two hours after freezing, so that it becomes hard. Then open the freezer and work in the liquor slowly with a wooden paddle, working it over until smooth. Cover and let stand an hour more to ripen. A grating of nutmeg is an improvement. — Philadelphia Telegraph

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Plainfield Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow;

Urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Plainfield people endorse our claim.

Mrs. W. W. Mills, of 86 Summit avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I am willing to reiterate my former statement given in behalf of Doan's Kidney Pills, feeling that some other person may be benefited thereby. I had suffered with a severe pain in the small of my back and across the hips, and if I did any lifting or stooping my back became lame and sore. I used plasters but they only helped me for the time being. I was feeling unusually bad when my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and they were so highly recommended for troubles like mine that I procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. In a few days I felt their good effect, and when I had finished taking them I was relieved in every way. I am glad to recommend this reliable remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

COLBY MEN ARE IN A REFORM LEAGUE.

Launch Permanent Organization to Further Political Principles They Espouse.

Citizens who have been prominent in the Colby movement met in the Scheuer building, Newark, Thursday afternoon and organized the Essex County Republican League for Limited Franchises and Equal Taxation. Gardner Colby was elected chairman. Among those present were Senator Everett Colby, Assemblyman William P. Martin, William Fellowes Morgan, Henry C. Hines, Gustav Sommer, Gustav A. Kayser, George F. Serbe, Philip C. Walsh, Jr., of Essex, and Edward K. Tucker, of Union; William Stainsby, John S. Gibson, Henry Hahn, Lathrop Anderson, George Virtue, Alderman Jerome Coughton, Gardner Colby, Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, Alden Freeman, R. Arthur Heller, Edward S. Perry, Harrison Van Dyun, F. K. Gahrs, A. L. Hatfield, William Riker, Jr., Henry Wright, Frank F. Smith, J. R. Whitfield and Benjamin F. Jones. Mr. Anderson was chosen temporary chairman and Mr. Hahn secretary.

The meeting was a continuation of one held about two weeks ago, and the committee of five then appointed to prepare a constitution of the organization reported through Mr. Jones, who said that the committee had held several meetings and had prepared a constitution and mapped out a plan for a State organization to be represented by a branch in each county.

The constitution was read and declared the objects of the organization to be to promote the best interests of the Republican party in the county of Essex; to eliminate bosses and the corporate control of the Republican party; to further the cause of equal taxation, limited franchises, taxation of franchises, popular selection of United States Senator, popular interest in primary elections, and such other progressive measures as may be necessary in the interests of the people; to promote honest elections and prevent political corruption in every form.

The constitution provides for the establishment of branches of the county organization in every ward and township in the county.

TWO "AT HOMES."

Given by Mrs. Kinney In Honor of Her Guest.

Mrs. William C. Kinney, of Arlington avenue, gave two delightful "at homes" Thursday and yesterday afternoon, for Mrs. Otis E. Hovey, of Sycamore avenue, North Plainfield. During the two afternoons about 150 persons called. The home was attractively decorated with palms and cut flowers. The prevailing color in the reception room was pink and that of the dining room red, there being a profusion of tulips and carnations.

Mrs. Kinney and Mrs. Hovey were assisted in receiving by Mrs. William M. Stillman, Mrs. James R. Joy, Mrs. Eugene Hatch, Mrs. Chapman Fisk, Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, Mrs. William T. Kaufman, Mrs. W. A. Pinto and Mrs. Roger F. Murray. In the dining room pouring tea and chocolate were Miss Virginia Hegeman, Miss Edith Fisk, Miss Grace Kaufman and Miss Elsie Harman.

Profitable Real Estate Deal.

Elizabeth, Jan. 27.—Henry Keenan, an Elizabeth liveryman, has just made what to him was a very profitable real estate transaction. He sold to Senator John Kean a narrow strip of land adjoining his stables on West Jersey street which was wanted by the Senator as a driveway to the rear part of the large Kean office building in Broad street. The price paid, it is said, was $15,000, the highest, it is asserted, ever given for the same amount of land in Elizabeth.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

A theatre party of twelve of the city school teachers witnessed the performance of "As You Like It" last night.

George M. Cohan, the prolific composer of musical comedy successes, has signed a contract with Klaw & Erlanger to write exclusively for them for the next five years.

Chairman Counihan, of the Elks' minstrel committee, has received the "paper" for the show and will commence billing the city next week. The people won't miss the production for the want of knowing about it.

"Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," booked for presentation at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night, will be the third of Augustus Thomas' plays to appear this season. The other two were "De Lancey," in which John Drew starred, and "The Education of Mr. Pipp," Digby Bell's vehicle.

Paul Armstrong, the young newspaper man who wrote "The Heir to the Hoorah," tried for a year without success to have it produced. None of the managers would touch it until he interested the Late Kirke La-Shelle. The latter decided to put it on, and it proved to be one of the most successful ventures he had ever undertaken. Before it had left New York the play broke half a dozen box office records.

New Rochelle, N. Y., where "As You Like It" was played Monday night, is but "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." Plainfield is about an equal distance from the "Great White Way," and yet the hour and a half was lengthened by the railroad companies into eighteen hours in bringing the Crosman car to this city. The scenery reached the house at 8 o'clock, and Stage Manager Fred Bennett's men broke the company's time record in placing it in position.

Won't Eat Anything But Drink.

Morristown, Jan. 27.—George Force, ten years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Force, has never eaten anything but drink. The boy is strong and rugged. He has been coaxed, threatened and frightened, but he will have nothing but milk. Oranges, bananas and other tempting fruit have been offered him, but he will have none of them. He drinks about two quarts every day. He takes the milk through a tube. Salt he must have, and he takes it on half an onion or radish, licking it off, but never eating the vegetable.

To Address the Friends.

Isaac Wilson, a prominent minister of the Religious Society of Friends, will attend the Friends' meeting at Watchung avenue meeting house tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. All are welcome.

WANT A BROOK CLEANED

Dunellen People Agitate the Dredging of Bonegut, a Cedar Brook Tributary.

BREEDS MOSQUITOES

Choked Up with Weeds and Is Stagnant—Want the Board of Health to Take Action.

Residents of Dunellen, particularly those living near by Bonegut brook, a tributary of Cedar brook, which runs through the town, have started an agitation to have the brook dredged and cleaned out before spring. E. H. Carney, Mrs. Charles Hill and Mrs. William Parnell, who reside near the course of the stream, claim they have been compelled several times during the summer months to keep all windows of their houses closed in order to avoid the stench that arises from the stagnant water. Howard Bird, who resided in Piscataway and does business here, as well as other residents, have requested the Board of Health to take action in the matter, and it is said Piscataway Township has offered to bear a proportion of the expense necessary to do the work.

It is estimated that the cost of dredging and cleaning out the brook would amount to about $175. It is claimed by those residing in the immediate vicinity of the brook, that fever and malaria is caused by the stagnant water and that it also affords a breeding place for mosquitoes. Taxpayers of the borough are of the opinion that they should not be compelled to risk their health, which is threatened during the summer months, when the stream is nothing less than a stagnant pool.

State Entomologist Smith, who is waging a war on the mosquitoes, has had his attention called to this brook, with the view of having something done to stop the breeding of mosquitoes at least. Some eight years ago the late Christian Schepflin, at his own expense, had the brook cleaned out its entire course, but through the intervention of Joseph Peterson, who objected to the workmen trespassing upon his property, the work was abandoned. Recently the Aluminum Press Company, located at a point in the borough where the brook bends. This concern constructed a culvert and cleaned out the brook in order to protect the health of its employes.

The Dunellen Heights Realty Company owns the greater part of the property, through which the stream flows. The stream has not been cleaned out in so long a time that its course, which was never more than five feet wide, has gradually been choked up by weeds and water vegetation to such an extent that when there is a heavy rainfall cellars of nearby houses and hollow spaces near the brook fill with water and become stagnant pools. Unless the local Board of Health does something to relieve the bad condition now existing it is said residents along the line of the stream will call the attention of the State Board of Health to the stream.

NEW JERSEY'S CASH AND ITS TEACHERS.

Plan to Ask Commonwealth to Pay $200 Yearly to Each Retired Pedagogue.

Paterson, Jan. 27.—That there are various ways in which money can be saved in the public school department of this city was pointed out at the meeting of the Teachers' Committee of the Board of Education Thursday night when Superintendent Chancellor made a recommendation, which was subsequently adopted by the committee, by which, it was set forth, $600 a year will be saved to the city through having the State pay a portion of the money which the city now pays to three of the local teachers who have been retired on a pension.

In explaining the matter the superintendent said that in accordance with the law of 1903 for pensioning school teachers by municipalities, that the board last year retired three teachers, and that the law required that these teachers should be continued upon the payrolls. The general law of 1903, section 182, provides that the sum of $200 shall be apportioned for each teacher in service for the full year.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Chancellor, "that as a matter of justice between the municipalities and the State that this $200 should be apportioned to teachers retired on half pay quite as much as to those giving their actual teaching time to the service. I believe that Paterson would be the first city in the State to raise this question, but as several cities are now about to retire their teachers and principals or have recently retired them, the time is coming when this will be an important matter.

"I present this proposition to your committee that we should ask the State to pay $200 each to our teachers emeriti."

COLLIER'S EDITOR IS NOT GUILTY.

Cleared of Charge of Libel on "Town Topics" Editor.

New York, Jan. 27.—Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, was yesterday found not guilty of criminal libeling of Justice Deuel, of the Court of Special Sessions.

The verdict justifies all that was said about Justice Deuel regarding his connection with Town Topics, while at the same time holding a judicial position which, under the statute, is against the law.

Justice Deuel's removal from the bench within the near future is forecasted by the verdict, as well as criminal prosecutions that will probably be brought against certain persons in Town Topics.

OCEAN GROVE TENTS TO GO.

Campmeeting Association Decides to Abolish Canvas Shelters.

Asbury Park, Jan. 27.—No longer will Ocean Grove be designated as the "Tented City." Soon the little white tents, the last link binding the campmeeting city to a primeval past, will be transformed into pretty little bungalows which the Campmeeting Association is arranging to construct along the borders of Wesley Lake and in Auditorium circle.

Several reasons are put forward for the passing of the tents, chief among them being the disastrous storms which in recent years have swept away the frail canvas coverings and made wrecks of these time-worn relics. The bungalows will be one-story affairs with three rooms and will cost $400 each. News of the innovation was made public yesterday by the real estate committee.

Gambling Outfit Sold.

Jersey City, Jan 27.—Under an order from Judge Parker, Sheriff Kaiser yesterday sold at auction a complete gambling outfit in Ficken's warehouse, Harmon street and Arlington avenue, this city. Two layout tables, two roulette tables, two faro tables, 4,000 chips, two case keepers, bottles of beer, glasses and trays, etc., together with the furnishings that were in an elaborate gambling place run by Harry Stout, James McCullen and Richard Gill, in Hoboken, were in the lot.

SNAP SHOTS.

When men form a lodge the women at home at once get up an auxiliary, and it is perhaps this parrot-like dependence that has led Kansas club women to organize a Women's Kansas Day Club. It will meet in the same town and on the same day that the men's Kansas Day Club meets, and the programme will be along the same lines. Perhaps at the bottom of it is the fear of the women to let their husbands go to Topeka, without them.—Atchison Globe.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Disturbs the Politicians.

Slowly but surely the press of the State, and the politicians, who are the last to learn anything, are awakening to a realization that the campaign for Sunday closing, high license and local option in the smaller municipalities, which was begun by the rectors of the Catholic churches, is gaining ground and is going to disturb all of the plans of the politicians this winter. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, has advised an invitation to all of the other church denominations to join in the movement, and it is understood that arrangements to do this are under way. On every hand it is conceded that the invitation will be eagerly accepted and that before the first day of March some tremendous hosts will march upon the State House. Mgr. Sheppard is capable of throwing 30,000 members of the Holy Name Society and other Catholic societes into the capitol on a single day to petition in person for the proposed legislation. Next to the churches it is already reasonably certain that the labor organizations of the State will aid in the cause, at least to the extent of asking that the employes of saloons be required to work no more than six days a week. So that the session is certain to be the most important that the State has ever known and the probability is that before it is half over all of the petty quarrels that now engage the attention of its members will be forgotten. For the lawmakers may rest assured that they will have no humble supplicants at their doors, but a militant force such as descended upon the bodies of 1892 and 1893, when the race track bills were being passed and repealed.—Hoboken Observer.

LITERARY.

A Garden of Babies, in full bloom, is described, with the aid of photographic illustrations, by Grace Hortense Tower in Good Housekeeping for February. Not the least novel feature of this "garden" was the fact that it was prepared by children—nor is this article the only striking feature of the February Good Housekeeping. The tricks of the trade in antique furniture and china are many and ingenious, as described by Bertha H. Smith. Bogus antiques are so made as to deceive the very elect, and are sold in vast quantities. Miss Smith's article, amply illustrated, is one of several features of unusual interest in this favorite household magazine. Coal costs enough, but vitiated air costs still more, paid for in doctor's bills and reduced capacity for work. This has been clearly demonstrated with facts and figures by Prof. S. H. Woodbridge of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in an article entitled Fresh Air as an Investment. This is a new and convincing treatment of a vital problem. The loss from bad air in school rooms is particularly set forth by Prof. Woodbridge. The February Good Housekeeping, by the way, is a particularly handsome and interesting number.

A good newspaper story appears in the second instalment of "The Looting of Alaska," by Rex E. Beach, in the February number of Appleton's Booklovers Magazine. It tells of an adroitly worded bill, so fashioned as to admit the Louisiana Lottery into North Dakota, which was introduced in the Senate about 1890, when the lottery's charter was about to expire. The Pioneer Press, of St. Paul, got wind of the affair, and sent a special representative to investigate. "One Spencer, a Senator from Alabama, was there as the representative of the lottery, working hand in hand with Alexander McKenzie while the Governor waged a fight on the side of morals, single handed. So absolutely were affairs under the gang's control, and so set were they upon success, that when Conde Hamlin made known his errand, his life was threatened, and he was forced to remain in hiding. There followed a sensational fight, waged by this young man alone against Alexander McKenzie's corrupt and desperate band. He was spied upon, assaulted and his life attempted, yet he completed his investigation, turning on the affair such a glaring light of publicity that the lawmakers took to cover and the bill, which would have disgraced North Dakota for thirty years, was killed."

CLOSE TO THE PEOPLE.

Something Doing in Hogwallow.—Yam Sims was kicked by his mule last Sunday just before he put on a clean shirt. He does not mind it much, however, as he is becoming accustomed to the hard knocks of the world.

Through the almanac the postmaster has been informed that Christmas will this year fall on the last of December. He has pasted up a notice on the stove to the effect that Christmas must be recognized in Hogwallow this year.

Sidney Hocks rode his mule up under a persimmon tree Thursday evening, and while gathering fruit the animal walked out from under him. He spilled a large bucket of persimmons, but otherwise escaped bodily injury.

Last Wednesday little Fidity Flinders became interested in the pursuit of a frawg and followed it into the huge mud hole in front of Sim's house. Fidity was soon rescued, but the frawg made good its escape.

Poke Easley has been disturbed several times this week by some midnight prowlers. He has an idea that a drove of hawgs have took up sleeping quarters under the house.

Buddy Hicks, a trifling looking young man of Bounding Billows, has been given the job of teaching the Wild Onion school. He is kin to Fletcher Henstep and Fletch got him in by a little political wire-pulling. Buddy don't know any more about running a school than a hawg does about fishing, but we wish him much success in his new venture.—Hogwallow Kentuckian, Dunk Botts, Editor.

Two Bits from Nemaha.—A number of our music inclined young men are talking of organizing an orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dodge and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mulverhill ate goose at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dodge, in Nemaha.—Nemaha (Ia.) Register.

The Stork's Tab in Maine.—The stork got busy on River Road this week. As a result of his visit, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eugene Dodge have a ten-pound daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Francis have a twelve-pound son. This makes six boys straight for Mrs. Francis.—Damariscotta (Me.) Herald.

Changes in Missionary.—How things have changed at the State capital since Governor Folk and the new state officials assumed office. Nearly everybody except Governor Folk now smokes pipes, and jars of tobacco are to be seen.—Jefferson City (Mo.) Tribune.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Dr. Fastenrach, a Zurich professor, spent much time the past five months standing up to his neck in the water of Lake Luzerne, testing the taming of fish. He has succeeded in taming about 200 fish so that they eat out of his hand and let him lift them out of the water.

Although the Kaiser's automobile is the only one without a number in Prussia, and consequently is not taxed, nevertheless his Majesty is taxed for carrying a gun.

Prof. Baldwin, of the Johns Hopkins University, has just returned from Mexico, where, at the request of the Mexican Government, he has spent six years inspecting the educational system of that country as a guest of President Diaz.

Fred Krempel, a well known naturalist of Milwaukee, will send Miss Alice Roosevelt, as a wedding gift, a piece of work modeled after the painting of the "Madonna and the Christ," made entirely of the wings of butterflies. Nearly 5,000 wings were used to make the likeness.

The Duke of Manchester has been appointed Captain of the Yoemen of the Guard by King Edward. The position carries with it a salary of $6,000 a year.

General Frederick Funston will soon be relieved from command of the Department of California and ordered to the Philippines, where he will be placed in charge of one of the brigades which is being formed on Luzon, with a view to their possible utilization in connection with any move which may be made against China.

COLOR LINE WITHDRAWN.

Board of Education of East Orange Rescinds Former Action.

The East Orange Board of Education, at its meeting Monday night, rescinded the resolutions passed early in December authorizing the segregation of the negro children in the lower grades of the public schools. This was not made known until yesterday.

The new resolutions authorize the continuance of segregated classes in the Ashland and Eastern schools, but eliminate the word "Afro-American."

Superintendent Vernon L. Davey said the resolutions had been rescinded not because the board had repented of its action, but because of the objection to the wording. With the rescinding of the resolutions the board will be unable to establish separate classes in any of the other eight schools of the city; but the children in the Ashland and Eastern schools will continue in the segregated classes.

Mrs. G. H. Bellis, of Elmwood place, will leave for Virginia about February 1 for the benefit of her health.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Appleate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

Governor Stokes and the two United States Senators are the guests in whose honor the reception will be given from 8 until 10:30 o'clock.

MARSHALL FIELD'S WILL.

$8,000,000 to Chicago Museum, Bulk of Estate to Grandchildren.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Details of Marshall Field's will were informally made public Tuesday. A large part of the estate is to be held undivided under a trusteeship for the benefit of the children of the late Marshall Field, Jr. The children are Marshall Field, third, twelve years of age; Henry Field, aged nine, and Gwendolyn Field, aged four. It is believed Mr. Field included all three of his son's children in the trust deed because of the poor health from which young Marshall, the natural heir, has suffered.

The city of Chicago is to receive about $8,000,000 for the Field Museum of Natural History. Mrs. David Beatty, the daughter, who lives in England, is also to receive $8,000,000. Sisters and nieces of Mr. Field each receive, in cash, gifts amounting to $100,000, while smaller sums are left to various charities in which Mr. Field was interested. Family servants are also remembered.

The Field estate ranks high among family fortunes in the United States. Formal announcement of the contents of the will have been postponed until an accurate valuation shall have been reached. The lump sum is expected to be between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000.

The Misses Nellie and Margaret Meaney, of East Second street, have returned from a visit with relatives at High Bridge.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

PARED TROUBLESOME CORN; NEARLY LOST HER LIFE.

Mrs. Samuel Bye Now Recovering After Passing Through Severe Ordeal.

Bothered by a painful corn during the early part of last week, Mrs. Samuel Bye, of Watchung avenue, sought to rid herself of the trouble maker by cutting it. When it had been removed she applied an irritating preparation that caused the foot to swell and soon the entire limb was affected by blood poisoning.

The family summoned a physician but while giving treatment, she became seriously ill and the early part of the present week brought the trouble to a point where her life was in danger. An operation was performed on the limb that proved successful and yesterday she was able to walk about. The swelling has been disappearing gradually and it is thought it will soon disappear entirely.

This lecture will be given at the Casino at 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

BOUND BROOK'S ONE COP

Typical Somerset Co. Community of 5,000 People With One Policeman.

AND THEY HAVE NO JAIL

Business Men Threaten to Wake Up and May Yet Be As Progressive as North Plainfield.

Bound Brook, with 5,000 inhabitants, has no police station or jail of any kind. Its police force consists of one man, who is only on duty at night. The authorities of Somerset county are of the opinion that the town is marked by all crooks as an easy place to perpetrate crime. This fact was gleaned from a member of the "Dutch" Ides gang, who is now serving time in State prison for robberies committed by members of the band some three months ago, when the stores of M. Rosenthall, a clothier; Voorhees & Giles, hardware dealers, and Frank Venelli's jewelry store were robbed.

It has been learned that crooks operating there have traveled in pairs, one pair watching a lone policeman as he patrolled the streets, while the other two perpetrated the robbery, and if the policeman happened to come near the scene of the robbery the two men detailed to watch him would start a fight among themselves, or else give a yell and lead the policeman on a merry chase to a side street or to some secluded part of the town far from the scene of the robbery, thereby securing the safety of their confederates from police interference, and giving them due time to make good their escape should they be detected by the person whose place they had entered, or by some citizen who happened to pass by on the street.

Should the policeman make an arrest there, he would be obliged to take his prisoner to Somerville, four miles away, in order to lock him up. No place is provided there for the temporary detention of those who come within the jurisdiction of the law, even the fire department houses, where cells are usually placed in towns of this size, being without this improvement.

It is very probable that the business men of the town will at the next meeting of the Common Council petition for an increase in the police force and for the placing of cells in the firehouses, or the construction of a building to be used for the detention of prisoners. The population of this town is made up of a citizenship distinctly cosmopolitan, the greater part of which are Italians, attracted there by the employment offered in the woolen industries. Should an increase be made in the town's constabulary, it is quite probable that one of the policemen would be of Italian descent.

Auto Smashes Wagon.

An automobile in charge of a chauffeur from the F. L. C. Martin Company, who was demonstrating the machine to a man who gave the name of A. E. Penfold, ran into a huckster wagon owned by Amos Stites, at Scotch Plains, this morning. The wagon was wrecked.

Had Sentence Suspended.

William Laing, who was arrested on Duer street Thursday for drunkenness, was given a hearing before Mayor Smalley last night. Sentence was suspended after he had been warned that another appearance in court meant a term in jail.

—Neuman Brothers always maintain a large assortment of strictly fresh vegetables. They have numerous specialties for today, from which to make selections for tomorrow's dinner.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Justice V. W. Nash, Sr., has returned from Bridgeton, where he paid an official visit to the A. O. U. W. Lodge. Next week he will visit a lodge of Workmen in Northern New Jersey.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Thus far thirteen persons have requested prayer at the Sunday evening evangelistic meetings at the Park Avenue Baptist church. Five persons recently professing conversion will be baptized tomorrow night.

ALUMNAE GIVES COTILLON.

Two Hundred Young People Guests of St. Mary Organization.

The alumnae of St. Mary's School gave another of its delightful cotillons in the school hall last night. Two hundred young people were in attendance, many guests coming from out of town. Daniel Corinne, of Jersey City, whose originality in cotillon affairs is well known, led the dancers through many pretty and intricate figures. During the midnight intermission refreshments were served.

The committee which arranged the affair comprised the Misses Mayme Burke, Anna Ryan and Julia Day and John Kyle.

Something Doing.

Workings of the county officials indicate that steps have been taken to again secure evidence against John Goff for illegal liquor selling. Constables were in the city yesterday and served several of Goff's neighbors and some of his boarders with subpoenas to appear before the grand jury, now in session.

Hospital Visitors.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital met yesterday and transacted routine business. Mrs. A. M. Wilcox and Mrs. R. Willard Ware were appointed visitors for the coming month and Mrs. Ware was made purchaser.

GOLFERS DEMAND AN EARLIER DATE.

New Jersey State Association Would Hold Annual Championship in May.

This is the time of year when golfers get together in annual meetings, elect officers, talk things over and begin preparations for another season. Quite fittingly, the United States Golf Association started the ball rolling with its annual meeting at Delmonico's a week ago. The other associations are to follow shortly, and many trust they will accomplish more than the parent body did at its 1906 session.

Next Monday will be a busy day for a good many, for both the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association and the New Jersey Golf Association will hold their annual pow-wows. The former is considering the advisability of changing the conditions governing its championship, fifty-four holes of straight medal play having been suggested.

The New Jersey body is known to favor an earlier date for its 1906 championship than has been the custom during recent years. If the tourney could be held in May instead of the first week in June a larger entry of Princeton boys could be secured. The course of the Morris County Golf Club has been suggested as a likely place for the next championship.

On the evening of February 6 the delegates from clubs in the Metropolitan Golf Association will assemble once again at the Metropolitan Club, and not to be outdone by the U. S. G A., the executive committeemen of the former have arranged for a banquet. The association will have to settle the open championship question, but now that the U. S. G. A. has voted to give more money for its professional event the M. G. A. is likely to decide to give another open tourney.

On February 8 the East Jersey Golf League will also meet in New York, when some innovations in the way of scoring in team matches are to be suggested. There is a vacancy to fill caused by the demise of the Newark Golf Club, but as the Glen Ridge organization has applied there need be no difficulty on this score.

MORRISTOWN GIRL NOT LOST WITH STEAMSHIP.

Miss Florence Van Wyck at Coronado Beach, Cal.—Victim Had Same Family Name.

San Francisco, Jan. 27.—The report received here from Morristown, N. J., that a Miss Florence Van Wyck, of that city, perished in the wreck of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's liner, the Valencia, has been denied at the offices here of the company. There was a Miss Laura Van Wyck among the victims, and it seems as if her name became confused with that of the Morristown woman who is said to have been visiting recently at the residence of her brother-in-law, Lieutenant William P. White, who was stationed at the Mare Island Navy Yard at Vallejo, Call.

The Miss Van Yyck who perished in the Valencia disaster was a daughter of Sidney Van Wyck, of San Francisco.

According to a dispatch received here yesterday, Miss Florence Van Wyck, of Morristown, N. J., arrived this morning at the Hotel Del Coronado, at Coronado Beach, Cal., in company with Mrs. R. P. Scherwin, wife of the general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

A LECTURE ON "TACT"

Rev. T. Moore-Smith Talks Interestingly on the Subject.

AT 'PLAINS CHURCH

Address Heard by a Large Gathering—Given in Connection With Musical Entertainment.

Rev. T. Moore-Smith, whose ability as a speaker is rapidly becoming known to Plainfielders, delivered a lecture on "Tact" at the Scotch Plains Baptist church, Saturday night. It was heard by a large gathering. The lecture in part was as follows:

What is "Tact?" Everybody ought to know, and yet how can you define "tact?" Asked what "salt" was, the little girl replied: "Please, sir, salt is the stuff which makes the potatoes taste very nasty when you haven't got none of it with 'em." The people who are without "tact" usually when they open their mouths put both feet in it, and generally their feet are very big. Tact tells one what to say, and how and when to say it, what to do, and how and when to do it. Tact is the rudder of the ship. It largely controls our speech and actions. It is the lines, or bit and bridle on the fiery steed. Think of the people who have tact how beautifully they do things. Think of the people who are tactless how they undo things, and generally make confession worse confounded. It has a value and beauty all its own. Its touch gives grace and beauty to life, and is a marvelous power in moulding and forming and finishing character. How it adds to the dignity and strength and usefulness of one's life in society, in business, in literature, in politics, in the affairs of nations, in diplomacy, in our daily contact with humanity.

The lecturer here referred to the early life of Oliver Goldsmith, Lord Byron, the Poet Shelly, Bradlaw, the infidel, and John Duncan, the professor, as examples of young manhood mismanaged by the tactless at a time when habits are formed, and the young life needs tender handling.

When Dr. Thomas Guthrie, of Edinburgh, visited the lowgate in that city on his pastoral rounds he happened one day to knock at the door of a man with a very bad temper and no love for preachers. Dr. Guthrie was received with a flow of language anything but polite. The poor, ignorant man lost his temper completely, rushed for a heavy poker and made a plunge for the preacher. Guthrie saw trouble; but his ready wit and good sense came to the rescue, and looking at the enraged man with a smile, he said in his sweetest way, "What? Would you rush on a defenceless man with an iron bar like that? You see I have nothing and you have that heavy poker, give me the tongs, man, give me the tongs, and then let us get at each other." But the enraged man was already won. Guthrie had won the day. His opponent looked at him with a grin, and muttered, "Sure now and you are a square kind of a preacher, and sure and sure ye be to come in." Guthrie accepted the invitation, and that man and his family became members of his church shortly thereafter.

Charles Haddon Spurgeon's tact never failed him. Once at a social gathering in one of the great lecture rooms at the Tabernacle he happened to arrive early, and was interesting himself looking at some pictures on the wall while the people were gathering. He noticed one woman coming in who seemed to think no eyes were turned her way, and passing a large table loaded with all kinds of good things, she espied a square of butter. Being of the light-fingered tribe, she felt she wanted that square of butter very much and the butter found its way to her pockets. Spurgeon had been a witness to the whole thing. He turned from the picture and meeting the woman he spoke in his usually pleasant manner and was received with many pious expressions. But Spurgeon was thinking about that butter, and what he could do in this matter. He had already decided. There was a large stove with a great fire burning brightly at that moment. He leads his victim to the fire and said she must have a good seat, and so saying he placed her alongside the stove with the pocket containing the butter next to the hot fire. Spurgeon watched to see how matters would work. The business of the evening proceeds. The hot fire affects the butter, and the old Dame who carried it feels the effects also. By and by matters grow too hot in that corner for the poor woman, and in desperation she rushes for the door, the butter running in every direction. Would she ever forget that lesson?

Tact means the mastery of self-influence with men; the formation of character; the right use of life.

CLOSE BASKETBALL GAME PLAYED AT LOCAL GYM.

Y.M.C.A. TEAM DEFEATED ATLANTIC BOAT CLUB FIVE.

One of the best basketball games of the season was played Saturday night between the first Y. M. C. A. team and the Atlantic Boat Club five, of Rutherford, the locals winning by the close score of 26 to 23. The game was played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and was witnessed by a large crowd of enthusiasts.

In the first half the visitors had things their way to some extent, although the locals were playing very fast. When the whistle was blown at the end of this half the score was 18 to 15 in favor of the visitors. In the last half there was an exhibition of playing that aroused the rooters on both sides to the greatest enthusiasm. Despite the strong work of the visiting five, the Plainfield boys took a brace and fairly won out with a final score of 26 to 23 in their favor.

Thompson's work in throwing goals was a feature, as was also the work of Leary and Scull. Ray Smith could not play, and his place was taken by Edward Neal, who did well. The lineup:

Y. M. C. A.		Atlantic B. C.
Neal		Shortnacaux
Thompson		Klie
	forwards.
Leary		Henke
Letson		Fagan
	guards.
Scull		Mills

Goals from field—Neal, 2; Thompson, 5; Scull, 3; Leary, 1; Shortnacaux, 1; Klie, 1; Henke, 6; Fagan, 3. Goals from fouls—Thompson, 4; Klie, 1. Referee, Walter Cahoone; umpire, Heicker; timekeeper, H. Smith; scorer, Barlow.

As a preliminary game, the P. H. S played the All-Scholastic and won easily by a score of 54 to 14. The High School boys played a strong game throughout.

ATTENDANCE AT COLLEGE SMOKER WILL BE LARGE.

Committee Urges Immediate Replies to Invitations Issued.

That the college smoker to be held at the Casino on Friday night, February 9, will be a "whooping" success, is now assured. Out of the 395 invitations sent out there have been 145 responses from college men who assure the committee they will attend. It is fully expected that 200 patrons will be present. There are a number of college men who have notified the committee that for reasons unavoidable they cannot join in the festivities, but it is known that every college man who will be in town that night will help out.

Replies are coming in with the remittance of $1,75, and the committee still urges that all persons who have neither replied yes or no, do so at once and send their money. This is imperative. Remittances should be sent to Owen H. Fleming, of Park avenue.

The committee is particularly anxious to know at the earliest date how many will be present so that definite arrangements can be made for the dinner. Those who plan to wait until the night of the smoker to pay their fee may find that the committee cannot provide for them.

PREFERS JAIL TO THE CITY INDUSTRIAL FARM

CHOICE OF COLORED PAUPER, ARRAIGNED IN CITY COURT FOR VAGRANCY

Jail, according to Lewis Webster, a bowed and shaking old colored man, is preferable to the Industrial Farm. He told City Judge Runyon that this morning, when arraigned for vagrancy, and the magistrate deferred to his preference. He was given a sentence that will keep him cooped up until the balmy weather of spring makes it safe for aged colored men to come out into the open.

Webster, who is known to the police, was pickel up yesterday. He was in bad shape, twisted with weakness and shivering with a deep-seated chill.

"Don' sen' me to thuh pooh fahm, judge, please," he quavered, when arraigned this morning. "I ain't like tuh go there."

"Well, you have to go somewhere, Webster. The only other place I can send you is the county jail."

"I druther go there," said Webster, earnestly. "I druther go tuh jail."

"Well, in that case," said the magistrate, "I guess we can accommodate you. "I'll fine you $100 and sentence you to sixty days. That will keep you warm and fed until May."

"Thank yuh, sah," said Webster gratefully.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD CITIZENS ALL ASTIR

MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT TO DISCUSS OPPOSITION TO MOVEMENT.

South Plainfield citizens, who have been seeking to have the place incorporated as a borough, have issued a call for a meeting to be held in the town hall tomorrow night, to discuss the antagonism to the movement displayed by other parts of the township. The opponents have announced that they will gather at New Market Thursday night and the South Plainfielders wish to determine what course to pursue. The majority are in favor of not attending the meeting or taking any part in that end of the discussion but at the gathering tomorrow night the whole matter will be gone over and a committee may be appointed to represent them.

The residents of the enterprising suburb have met with so much success so far in their effort to have borough government that there is little doubt but what it will be brought about. The opposition has made them more determined than ever and for this reason it is imperative that everyone within the proposed borough limit join in tomorrow night's deliberation.

"COMEDY CLUB" ORGANIZED.

Amateur Thespians Plan a Series of Dramatic Offerings.

For the purpose of giving three or four amateur performances during the year, a Comedy Club has been organized from among the members of the Park Club. The performance will be at the Park Club.

The cast for the play has been selected and rehearsals are now being held at regular intervals. Since the formation of the club considerable talent has developed, and it is believed that it will be one of the strongest amateur organizations in this part of the State.

BONFIRE IN A KITCHEN

Leads to a Hot Sunday Blaze on West Third Street.

BUILT BY CHILDREN

Alarm Box Goes Wrong and Delays Coming of the Firemen—Damage Amounts to $400.

Harry Rosenthal and his wife went away from their home at 540 West Third street yesterday afternoon and left their two children behind. In search of amusement the children built a bonfire on the floor of the summer kitchen. It was a very successful fire. Before it got through the house was damaged $300 worth and the furniture of the Rosenthals and of Samuel Thornton, whose family lives upstairs, was damaged to the extent of $100.

The Thorntons were at dinner, at 3:35 o'clock, when Thornton smelled smoke. He went out into the hall and saw a thick column of it curling upstairs. He went down to the lower floor to investigate, and discovered the kitchen of the Rosenthals full of flame. He went upstairs on the jump, snatched his wife about the waist and hurried her out.

At the same time a passerby saw the flames licking up the outside of the building, from an open window, and pulled box 46. There was something wrong with the alarm mechanism, and the blows sounded crazily. The box did not register at headquarters and at the West Second street house, and only the last two rounds came in at the West End house. Three minutes were lost while the firemen were figuring what the blows meant, but some one in the neighborhood of the fire, noting the queer blows and the delay, finally ran to No. 1 Hose Company's house and told the men where the blaze was.

When the apparatus did reach the house the lower story was all afire, the kitchen literally being filled with flame, and the fire had worked up into the attic along the sides and back. The blaze was hot, but it lost ambition when the streams hit it. The firemen did a lot of salvage work, and the loss was kept down.

Chief Doane learned how the fire started from Thornton. The latter saw the remains of the bonfire burning merrily in the center of the summer kitchen floor, and a neighbor saw the children run out, presumably when the blaze got beyond their control.

The building is owned by Abram Kunzman. It is insured. Neither Rosenthal nor Thornton are.

LOCAL DEALERS GOING TO ELIZABETH FOR ICE

SCARCITY OF THE COMMODITY GETTING MORE SERIOUS.

There being a growing scarcity of ice for the local trade, one of the local dealers went to Elizabeth Saturday night with several wagons to secure a supply. With slim prospects of securing a sufficient supply of natural ice, the local firm controlling the hygeia ice plant on North avenue will undoubtedly be forced to operate it. The capacity of this plant is twenty tons a day, and by commencing to manufacture ice now a large quantity could be stored away for the coming summer trade.

Thus far only twenty car loads of ice have been cut and shipped from Lake Hoptacong, but this has been sold for current needs, and Mr. Brady is now searching the country for a supply. Last winter 4,500 carloads of ice were shipped from Lake Hopatcong. Unless a severe spell of freezing weather arrives soon the local dealers will not be able to gather anywhere near an adequate supply of natural ice. The icehouses at Watchung are all in readiness to be filled and electric lights have been arranged at convenient points so that if it is possible to harvest ice the work can be carried on day and night

The dead woman was a sister of Mrs. Grace Harris, of Fourth street.

DISTRICT DEPUTY BARBER IMPROVING I.O.O.F. LODGES

HAS COMPLETED INSTALLATION AND ARRANGES SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION.

District Deputy Grand Master A. G. Barber, of Queen City Lodge, this city, on Friday last completed the task of installing the officers of all the lodges in the district, No. 10, numbering eleven in all. The work was accomplished in a thorough and efficient manner and the officer has been warmly complimented. The lodges are located in Elizabeth, where there are four; two in Plainfield, and one each in Westfield, Carteret, Woodbridge, Rahway and Perth Amboy.

The deputy learned that all have been making great strides in the growth of membership and that financially they are stronger than ever before. Since assuming his duties he has started a school of instruction for officers in all lodges to perfect them in the unwritten work and make the conferring of degrees a ceremony of more importance to older members, and he will hold meetings to exemplify the parts. The first will be held in the rooms of Queen City Lodge Tuesday night, and at that time he will make plans for further improvements during his term.

In all his initiatory work he has been assisted by the following staff, which will also accompany him in future visits: Grand marshall, Alexander Muir; grand warden, R. J. Neal; grand recording secretary, D. C. Patterson; grand permanent secretary, W. L. Leitheusser; grand trasurer, Charles W. DeGraw; grand guardian, F. G. Welch.

Went Through Show Window.

A scuffle between two well-dressed youths led to the smashing of one of the side panes in the big show window of S. C. Peck's dry goods store on West Front street Saturday night. One of the young men lost his balance and went through the window backwards. He was considerably cut by the falling glass, and his feelings were much agitated. Mr. Peck refused to make a complaint against him, and the young man promised to straighten out the damage question with the insurance company.

Grand Jury Concluding Labors.

It is generally believed that the Union County Grand Jury will complete its labors today and that on Wednesday it will make its final report to the court. There are said to be a large number of indictments, some of interest to Plainfield.

REV. A. C. NICKERSON TELLS OF BELIEF IN HEAVEN.

Subject of an Interesting Sermon Preached by Him Yesterday.

"The Belief in Heaven" was the subject of an interesting sermon preached by Rev. A. C. Nickerson at All Souls' church yesterday morning. The preacher sought to prove to his hearers that the Kingdom of Heaven is within oneself, the joys of which are something to be developed by doing that which is right. He spoke of the common error among some people that Heaven is beyond reach, while in reality it is possible for everyone to have it in a general sense within themselves.

Mr. Nickerson referred to the Golden Rule, the principle of which he thought was worth following, for it would help everyone to do right. He also urged all to seek the Kingdom of Heaven in the true sense and thus prepare themselves for the greater joys prepared by God for those that love Him.

The pastor did not speak of Heaven in the future sense in his sermon, but dwelt mainly on the fact that its joys can be obtained in the present, as indicated in the teaching of the Bible.

Miss Sadie S. Fountain Passes Away at Parents' Home.

Following a long illness from a complication of trouble brought on by rheumatism, Miss Sadie S. Fountain died Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. BIG RELIGIOUS MEETING

W. D. Murray and H. K. Carrol to Take Active Part in Student Volunteer Session.

AT NASHVILLE, TENN.

Fifth International Conference of the Movement—Feb. 28 Selected As Opening Date.

What it is declared bids to be the greatest student religious meeting ever held will convene at Nashville, Tenn., the latter part of next month, the occasion to be the fifth international conference of the student volunteer movement, of which John R. Mott, of Montclair, as chairman of its executive committee, is the leading spirit. It is of local interest inasmuch as W. D. Murray and H. K. Carroll, both of this city, will figure conspicuously in its deliberations. Wednesday, February 28, has been selected as the opening date and the sessions will continue through to March 4. The principal meetings will be held in Ryman Auditorium and the First Presbyterian church, of which Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, of Newark, was formerly pastor.

The local clergyman mentioned will be one of the speakers, his address, the subject being "The Pastor as a Base of Missionary Enterprise," to be delivered Saturday, March 3. No less than eight others—clergymen and laymen—from this State will speak. One of these is Rev. Dr. Francis L. Patton, president of Princeton Theological Seminary. Then there are Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, of East Orange, and Robert E. Speer, of Englewood, secretaries of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, and Dr. Henry K. Carroll, of this city, secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society. The remaining four are as follows: Rev. John W. Conklin, field secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church in America; Rev. Harlan P. Beach, of Montclair, educational secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions; H. T. Colton, of Upper Montclair, secretary of the Foreign Mission Department International Committee, Young Men's Christian Association, and W. D. Murray, of this city, chairman Foreign Department International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. At the opening meeting a "quiet session" will be held under the leadership of Mr. Mott and Mr. Speer.

The conference is held quadrennially, and this year about 3,000 delegates are expected to attend. In 1902 the convention took place in Toronto, Canada, and there were 2,957 delegates. In 1898 the meeting place was Cleveland, O., and there were 2,221 delegates. The aim is to have the delegates from among volunteers for the mission field and non-volunteers also. Under the basis of representation adopted, each institution of higher learning in Canada and the United States may send two delegates and one additional delegate for every 100 or fraction above the first 100 students, provided the names are received on or before February 14. The railroads have made reduced rates, and the delegates will be entertained by the citizens of Nashville.

There will be representatives from fifty-one boards and missionary societies, and missionaries and workers from the following fields: India, Arabia, Brazil, Burma, China, Chile, Ceylon, Cuba, East Africa, Egypt, Corea, Japan, Persia, Syria, Turkey, Central Africa, South America, South Africa and the Philippine Islands.

The purposes of the convention will be: "To bring together college professors and students and leaders of the missionary enterprise, both at home and abroad, for helpful association and conference; to consider unitedly the leading problems of the world's evangelization; to gain inspiration and a vision of the missionary possibilites of the church; to pray and earnestly resolve to enter with great consecration upon the work of extending the Kingdom of Christ among non-Christian nations."

As the object of the student volunteer movement is to bring young men and women, while college students, to decide to devote themselves to the foreign missionary cause, the convention consists largely in a discussion of missionary problems, talks about the mission field, the problems of the evangelization of the world, and the like. There will be a large exhibit bearing upon the progress of Christianity in the world. General sessions of the convention will be held morning and evening, while conferences on special topics will fill the afternoons.

The conference of foreign missionary officers will be held in Nashville also next month, ending the same day that the religious student gather-

THE FORUM.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Senator Hillery at the Plainfield Board of Trade banquet Thursday night proposed the impossible as well as the unwise when he thinks of getting personal property on the tax roll. There is no State in the Union that succeeds in getting anything like the full amount of taxable personal property on its lists, and the stricter the attempts the more proportionately is paid by the poorer communities.

Pennsylvania has no local tax on personal property and a light state tax on a few kinds only; machinery and household goods are entirely exempt. Nearly all Philadelphia's revenue comes from real estate and it is famous as the city of small homes.

Assessors find it impossible to comply with the letter of the law by placing all personal property on the rolls and would not be supported by public opinion if they could do so, and consequently they have to evolve arbitrary rules of their own. I have discussed this subject with assessors in this state and in rural New York and know they would be glad to be relieved of the burden of ferreting out personality so that they could devote their time and energies to making the real estate assessments fair and accurate.

Hudson county has ten times the real estate value of Salem county, and yet only twice the amount of personal property on its lists.

Personal property cannot be taxed equitably under one plan of assessment and one tax rate, and because people see this they connive at all manner of evasions, so that only the most honest and more unfortunate pay any proportion of personal property taxes.

The policy in New Jersey for a number of years has been to put very small valuations on manufacturing establishments, and this has built up its industries. The effect of a contrary policy a year ago in New York was related in 1893 by Mr. Coleman, Commissioner of Taxes in the City of New York, to legislative committee. He said: "In 1896, along the easterly and westerly shores there were large factories employing at one time a hundred thousand skilled workmen. The first case that came up was the Singer Sewing Machine Company. For three years they conferred with the department as to what their taxes would be. Finally they moved to New Jersey and from that time up to the present factories have been going almost every year, and today there is only one large factory that was here at one time, and that is the Hoe's establishmen."

Since that time New York has been less strict in its assessments on personal property, especially of the more intangible forms. Some of the New Jersey newspapers advocate the adoption in this State of the stricter system of Massachusetts. It is of importance, therefore, to note in this connection what the Boston Herald recntly said on this subject: "We in Boston drive industries out by endeavoring to exact from them, rather than from buildings and lands, he annual tribute of taxation. If we could double our industries, our lands and buildings would increase so enormously in value as to make our tax problem an unimportant one. We hold out to the world many favorable inducements in the way of settlement here, but so long as we continue our pernicious system of taxation, of placing the burdens of this kind upon personal property and upon stock of goods and machinery we shall simply see ourselves left behind in the race and realize that by our tax system we have simply played into the hands of our municipal rivals."

Tragedy May Hasten Track Raising.

Rahway, Jan. 29.—County Physician Westcott and Dr. F. W. Sell, of this city, who viewed the body of Mrs. Isaac Davis, victim of the railroad accident here Wednesday afternoon, have notified the prosecuting attorney of Union county of the facts in the case, and prominent residents, together with eye-witnesses, have been requested to go to Elizabeth tomorrow to tell the Grand Jury what they know. LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Half the charm of the performance of "The Heir to the Hoorah" lies in the cleverness with which it is portrayed, the exquisite measure of the actor to the role to which he is assigned. The late Kirke La Shelle, who produced this charming comedy, had always a facile gift of picking a player to suit the part, and in "The Heir to the Hoorah" he has achieved very nearly perfection along these lines. Guy Bates Post, Jane Peyton, Wilfred Lucas, Nora O'Brien, Ernest Lamson, Louise Rutter, Brinsley Shaw, Wright Kramer, Ben Higgins and Colin Campbell—these are a few of the principals in the cast which is remarkable for painstaking, spontaneous and exquisite team work, as well as for individual excellence. The play will be at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

One of the most sensational novelties of the present theatrical season is the production of "Wedded and Parted," by Sullivan, Harris & Woods, which is underlined for appearance at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night. The production is handsomely staged and is acted by a splendid company.

Augustus Thomas' laughable comedy, "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," which is to have a limited happy reign under Charles Frohman's direction at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night, gives every promise of converting that house into a veritable temple of mirth for the time being. The piece had a most triumphant career in New York all last season, where it played to capacity audiences. It should therefore carry the public here with it.

"Town Talk," theatrically considered, all centers on the coming engagement of Richard Carle in the newest farcical opera success, "The Mayor of Tokio," at the New Plainfield theatre, Tuesday, February 13, on which occasion the Richard Carle Amusement Co. will present in its entirety all the original scenic costumic and electrical elaborateness as seen in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Boston during its runs, and where it was voted by press and public alike, the most pretentious effort of Mr. Carle's marvelous career and the most emphatic artistic and financial triumph of the season. Mr. Carle, who has always been a stickler for life, color and beautiful choral arrays, from all accounts, has fairly outdone himself this year as his present fifty-seven singing and dancing girls are conceded to be a veritable Aladdin dream of youth and beauty. Foremost in this aggregation is the fascinating "Pony Ballet," the dainty "Geisha Girls," and the eminent "Carle Blue Ribbon Chorus of America."

—Workmen are engaged in making some extensive repairs at Woodhull & Martin's store. The firm is planning to locate its carpet department on the first floor and the housefurnishings department in the basement.

Victim Says He's a Newarker.

Elizabeth, Jan. 29.—A man who gives his name as John Milligan, and his residence as Shipman street, Newark, was picked up this morning on Anna street, here, by Policeman Thompson. The man had tumbled out of a carriage and was severely hurt about the head and shoulders. The policeman took him to the Elizabeth General Hospital and placed the horse and carriage in McCormack's livery stable here. It was the second fall out of his carriage that Milligan met with last night. The previous one happened on Magnolia avenue. He was picked up and taken into Joseph McLaughlin's saloon. He said he was from Bloomfield and got in his rig and drove off.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold a business and social meeting on Friday night.

January Furniture Sale

Only Two Days More.

It is a good thing this furniture sale lasts the month through—and is as strong and good now as at the start. It has given people time to think about the real needs of the home; time to discuss the family's furniture problems; to decide whether it is best to buy this, that or the other thing. There are still a couple of days left for pondering and for talking it over between man and wife or mother and daughter. But remember, this is a time for action.

Already announcements are being made of furniture sales of the kind that usually follow in the wake of our January sale. But you will note this difference. No other house offers ALL the furniture in their establishment at reduced prices as we do. Stuff bought for "special sale" purposes, passe patterns, and other of the less desirable pieces are offered cheaply; but you cannot go into any of the stores and select ANY piece you like, as you can here, and get it at a reduced price.

Besides, here you can choose from what is conceded by those who know, to be the largest and most varied collection of furniture to be found in any store in America. Remember that two acres of space are almost solidly covered with furniture of every imaginable sort, and that in all this collection there are no two pieces alike. To postpone buying until New York stores start their sales, will be folly. Use your better judgment—buy here and now.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

SAYS HE SPURNED BRIBE.

Perth Amboy Mayor Declares He Was Offered $10,000.

Perth Amboy, Jan. 29.—Dr. H. Martin Brace, Mayor of this city, startled several men with whom he was talking Saturday by telling them of an alleged attempt made a year or so ago to give him a present of a certified check for $10,000 if he would veto a certain ordinance then in the hands of the Board of Aldermen. An ordinance had in fact been passed by the aldermen, giving to a specified corporation certain rights in this city.

Heretofore an older, larger and more powerful concern had had control of the local field which the new company was about to invade, under a franchise given to it by the City Council. Every effort possible was made to defeat the new ordinance while it was before the aldermen, and when it was on the Mayor's desk, awaiting his consideration and action, he said, a certified check for $10,000 was tendered him if he would veto it.

The Mayor laughed and said that he told the man with the check to make the amount $300,000 or $400,000, so that he could leave this part of the world and all whom he respected and loved and so hide himself away forever.

No names were mentioned in making this matter public, but it is well understood about the time the Mayor speaks of the proffer of the check there were two corporations seeking a franchise. They were the Hudson and Middlesex Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Citizens' Electric Light and Power Company. Both gained franchises, the former invading the field of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company.

SUMMIT'S 'PHONE MYSTERY.

Insulting Language Used Toward Young Women Operators.

Summit, Jan. 29—The police force of this city is at present puzzled by complications in regard to a telephone mystery. From a telephone line on which there are but four wires, the young women operating the central station have been addressed in improper and insulting language. This has continued for about two months, and Saturday they decided to notify the police. They did so, and the police said that they would find out who was causing the annoyance without delay.

The police kept track of the four 'phones all day yesterday. They came to a conclusion that the bad words had come from the 'phone of Antonio Volumno, an Italian who keeps a cigar store and pool room opposite the Lackawanna depot. This place is frequented by boys, who, it was thought, caused the trouble. The other three 'phones are used by people who fully satisfied the police that they were not to blame.

Policeman Sheridan watched the cigar store yesterday, and was quite certain that the 'phone was not used. But the trouble occurred again yesterday, and the police are at a loss to know how it happened. This morning Volumno and his ten-year-old son were summoned into the police court and examined by Officer Sheridan. They protested their innocence, and said that, to their knowledge, no one else had used the 'phone. The Italian even consented to have his connection cut for a few days, so that it might be proven the trouble came from some other source. This was done, and the police are now awaiting further developments.

P. R. R. MAY TUNNEL THE ALLEGHENIES.

Nine-Mile Hole to Eliminate the Famous Horseshoe Curve.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 29.—The famous horseshoe curve on the Pennsylvania is to be elimniated.

Two methods are proposed and four sets of plans have been prepared. Two plans are for tunnels through the Alleghaney Mountains, one nine miles and the other ten miles long. Other plans are new routes across the mountains, one ninety and the other 105 miles long. The nine-mile tunnel plan probably will be adopted.

The tunnel would enter the mountain at or near Kittanning Point and emerge between Cresson and Lilly. This would be the second tunnel of the world.

Spring Millinery Display.

The beauty of Spring millinery is correctly forcasted by the display now in evidence at L. S. Plaut & Co.'s, Newark. This firm's far reaching facilities allow the comprehensive showing of trimmed, ready-to-wear and semi-ready hats, and millinery accessories far ahead of the regular season. Prominent features among the 1906 millinery fashions are flower hats, and the loveliness of the new conceptions, as shown by the Bee Hive, surpasses all anticipation. Pyroxaline, chiffon, hemp satin straw hats and tulle hats are also among the leading ideas. The new creations along these lines are surprises in originality and good taste. Flowers, feathers, wings, buckles and aigrettes predominate as trimmings. Among the flowers, moss rose buds and American beauty roses are favorites, spangled bands and straw and maline bands are also popular. Every day the exhibit at L. S. Plaut & Co. shows development that is a revelation in advanced ideas and rich in tastefulness. It will pay any woman to keep a close watch on this store's millinery exposition, for the pointers she will gain here are of incalculable value in planning her entire attire.

BIG RELIGIOUS MEETING

ing opens, and many attending the former meeting will remain over. Delegates to the missionary conference include secretaries and treasurers of boards and societies, and foreign missionaries who are home on furlough.

One of the important topics to be discussed at this conference is: "Shall There Be One Protestant Church in Corea?" This is suggested by Bishop M. C. Harris, of the Methodist Church, who is in charge of the work of that body in Japan and Corea, and is a question to which mission leaders have of late been giving much attention. Other matters will come up under committee reports, and include "Reference and Arbitration," which looks to greater comity on the mission fields and "Anglo-American Communities." The latter topic was discussed at last year's conference, and a committee was then appointed to determine what may be done toward bettering the spiritual condition of American and European residents in mission communities.

JERSEY POSTMASTER OUT.

Commission of Middle Valley Incumbent Revoked.

Califon, Jan. 29.—Excitement prevailed among the citizens of Middle Valley Thursday, when it was announced that the commission of Postmaster Joseph Apgar had been revoked, and that the department would receive applications to fill the vacancy.

No time was lost by John Brands, merchant, in whose store the postoffice is located, or by Justice of the Peace John H. Moore. Both circulated petitions, which were forwarded to Washington.

During the vacancy the office, it is said, is in charge of the assistant postmaster. As his accounts had been audited and found correct, Mr. Apgar is at a loss to know the cause of his removal. As reported, it was because he did not give the office his personal attention, but left it entirely to his assistants. Mr. Apgar is a farmer and lives some distance from the postoffice. A postoffice inspector recently visited the postoffice and learned that Mr. Apgar rarely took active charge of the office. He has been postmaster for eight years. Both applicants for the place are prominent citizens. Justice Moore is exceptionally prominent in local Republican politics.

PROF. LADD LEAVES YALE.

Takes Chair at Western Reserve—To Spend Next Year in Japan.

New Haven, Jan. 29—Prof. George T. Ladd, who for twenty-five years has been in the department of philosophy at Yale, left here yesterday for Cleveland, where he will enter on his duties as professor in Western Reserve University. He will serve for the balance of the college year, and in August go to Japan for a year of study and lecture. Prof. Ladd is an alumnus of Adelbert College, now a part of Western Reserve, in the class of '64. In 1881 he received his degree from Yale, and until last June taught here.

Prof. Ladd takes a keen interest in the extension of learning in Japan. He recently was invited to visit Japan by the Imperial Education Society. He has made two trips there, the last in 1899, and his visits have resulted in bringing to the United States many Japanese teachers and students, many of whom have become identified with Yale.

HOME MISSION WORKERS DELIBERATE

WOMEN OF ELIZABETH PRESBYTERIAL SOCIETY CONFER.

The conference of Home Mission Workers as arranged for by the executive committee of the Elizabeth Presbyterial Society for Home Missions, took place Friday afternoon in the Sunday school room of the First Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, and was largely attended. The president of the society, Mrs. Aug. S. Crane, presided.

The officers of all local societies and of each society in the Presbytery had been invited, and each had a representative of two or more women who presented a word of encouragement from her society or asked for help and advice along lines of advancement.

The subject of the meeting was "The Need of Specific Prayer and of Increased Usefulness of Our Societies."

Among those who took part in the discussions were Mrs. Samuel Parry, of Pluckemin; Mrs. W. W. Casselberry, of Dunellen; Mrs. Adrian Lyon, of Perth Amboy; Mrs. Potter, of Union; Miss VanDerbeck, of Lanington; Miss Alward, of Basking Ridge; Miss Beale, of Roselle, and Mrs. Clarkson, of Woodbridge; and from Elizabeth, Mrs. B. M. Ogden, Mrs. Ira B. Wheeler, Mrs. J. E. Keron, Mrs. J. A. Frazer, Miss M. J. Peck, Mrs. W. B. Hamilton, Miss E. Norris and others.

The whole meeting had a tone of deep spiritual interest and consecration and will without doubt mean an uplift along those lines to each society represented.

The annual meeting of this Presbyterial Society will be held on March 30, in the Presbyterian church at Dunellen, and will comprise a morning and afternoon session, to which all those interested in home missions are invited.

The work undertaken by this society, which is an integral part of the Woman's Board of Home Missions, at 156 Fifth avenue, New York, is the systematic raising of money through its auxiliary societies, to supply schoolhouses, teachers and hospitals among the exceptional, ignorant and poor people of this land, which includes the foreigners thronging to American shores, the Alaskans, Indians, Mexicans, the Freedmen, Mormons, mountaineers of the South and native populations of Cuba and Porto Rico.

Firemen Twice Called to the Store of Van Dyck by Flames.

The store of James Van Dyck, No. 665 Broad street, Newark, who has tea and coffee routes in this city, took fire from some undiscovered cause yesterday. The flames spread to adjoining buildings, Nos. 663 and 667.

After an hour's fight the firemen subdued the flames and returned to their quarters. Two hours later they were recalled by a fresh outbreak of the fire, which damaged the establishments of B. T. Babbitt & Co., Polster & Potter, photographers; J. McCloskey & Co., ladies' tailors, and P. B. Levy & Co., jewellers.

The total loss is estimated at $20,000.

An Appeal.

At a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital, held Friday, January 26, an appeal was made from the matron of the hospital for men's house jackets or gowns, either new or second-hand. They may be sent to the matron, Miss Wildey, at the hospital. They will be very acceptable and add greatly to the comfort of the men patients when convalescing.

DUKE'S ANSWER TO WIFE'S CHARGE

SCANDALOUS AND UNTRUE HE TERMS ALLEGATIONS MADE IN CROSS BILL.

Trenton, Jan. 29.—"Scandalous and untrue" and "wholly unverified" is the way in which the allegations made by Mrs. Lillian N. Duke in her answer and cross bill ar characterized by her husband, James B. Duke, who is suing for divorce, in an answer to the defendant's petition, which the millionaire tobacco man caused to be filed, through Richard V. Lindabury, with the clerk of the Court of Chancery Saturday. Two qualified admissions are made by Mr. Duke. One is to the effect that he did employ detectives to ascertain the relations between his wife and Frank T. Huntoon, whom he named in his petition, but he says "that he did not do this until he had himself made discoveries gravely involving the defendant."

The other admission is that "he has made inquiry of defendant's former servants as to her relations with the said Huntoon, and that he expects to produce the said servants as witnesses on the trial of this cause, but he says that such inquiry was made in the ordinary way, and that no improper means whatever have been resorted to for the purpose of procuring the testimony of the said witnesses."

Mr. Duke, in his answer, starts off with an explicit denial of the truth of the averments contained in Mrs. Duke's cross bill respecting his relations with Miss Mary Smith, housekeeper at his Somerville home. Next, Mr. Duke denies with great particularity the charges of cruelty set up in Mrs. Duke's cross petition. He denies that while he and Mrs. Duke were on their wedding journey abroad he compelled Mrs. Duke "to take long or fatiguing journeys against her will, or exposed her to rain, hail, snow or cold in an open vehicle, or deprived her of sleep, or compelled her to go hungry, or by harsh, violent or abusive words induced her to travel, either by day or by night, in an open vehicle or otherwise, against her will." The tobacco man avers that, on the contrary, he had regard to the wishes and pleasure of Mrs. Duke in all things on their journey, and that he neither traveled when she did not wish to travel nor went to places where she did not wish to go.

JOHNSON DENIES GUILT.

But Allinson Murder Suspect Fears to Go to Moorestown, N. J.

Baltimore, Jan. 29.—The local and Moorestown detectives are continuing efforts to fasten upon Rufus Johnson, colored, who denies guilt, the murder of Miss Florence W. Allinson, of Moorestown.

The Moorestown officers went to Richmond, Va., yesterday, hoping to recover a small mirror, said to have been seen in Johnson's possession while he was in Philadelphia, subsequent to the time the murder was committed, and which it is believed can be identified as Miss Allinson's. Johnson shows a great dread of being taken to Moorestown.

What is said to be positive evidence against the prisoner has been found in Philadelphia in a silver hair brush. It was found where the prisoner left it, and a child identified his picture as that of the man who had the brush.

GOV. STOKES AT HOME.

He Refuses to Talk of His Interview With the President.

Gov. Stokes returned to his home in Millville yesterday from Washington, where he lunched and talked with President Roosevelt Saturday. He refused to be interviewed on the subject of their conversation, but expressed appreciation of the President's cordiality.

When asked if the President would take any part in Jersey affairs he replied that he had no knowledge of any such intention on the part of the President.

GOV. STOKES AT REFORM LUNCHEON

COMMENT ON HIS INVITATION AFTER FAGAN-RECORD-COLBY VISITS.

Washington, Jan. 29.—There isn't a State in the Union whose internal political affairs are attracting more attention at the White House just now than New Jersey. While there isn't an iota of truth in the wild statements that the President intends taking a hand in New Jersey politics, in Congressional or Senatoral elections, the fact is that he is very much interested in the Colby fight for railroad and corporation reform laws, and also in the attendant scrap between the old-line Republicans and the camp followers of the Colby wing over the dividing of the larger and more important offices that make up a part of the spoils of the contest.

Saturday the President had Governor Edward C. Stokes as a guest at luncheon. The other day he heard what Mayor Mark Fagan, George Record and Lincoln Steffens had to say about it. Saturday he probably heard what the Governor thinks of Steffens and his latest magazine story on New Jersey politics. It was only a few weeks ago that Eevrett Colby and Fellowes Morgan, of Essex county, were White House luncheon guests. They reported that the President didn't talk much himself, but kept them talking, and wanted to know all about the fight and the conditions.

New Jersey's Governor came into town Friday night as unostentatiously as he does most things. He had spent the previous night at Lakewood, getting a little rest, he said, and arrived in Washington about 6 o'clock Friday evening. Colonel Anthony Kuser, a son-in-law of Senator Dryden, met him at the station and went to his hotel with him. Otherwise he was as entirely alone and unnoticed as any one of the several thousand ordinary mortals who come to Washington every day. Senator Kean learned of his presence in the city and called on him immediately after his arrival. Friday night the Governor dined with Senator Dryden. The principal object of his Washington visit was to invite the Secretary of the Treasury, Leslie M. Shaw, to be one of the speakers at the annual banquet of the New Jersey State Bankers' Association, to be held in Atlantic City next month. Senator Kean accompanied the Governor in his call upon the Secretary Saturday morning.

When it was announced a few days ago that the Governor would be in the city Saturday, the President invited him to lunch at the White House. The Governor, of course, accepted the invitation, called upon the President at the White House offices at noon, and later went in with Mr. Roosevelt to a family luncheon.

Governor Stokes said there was no political significance attached to his visit.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Manager Counihan is giving a matinee of "Wedded and Parted" tomorrow afternoon, because of many requests, principally from his out-of-town patrons.

Robert N. Stevens, the author of "An Enemy to the King," "The Ragged Regiment" and several other plays and novels and who died in England two weeks ago, began his career as dramatic editor of the Philadelphia Press.

Miss Jane Peyton, who takes the part of the widow in "The Heir to the Hoorah," is said to be the handsomest brunette on the American stage. She has talent as well as good looks—a combination that is rapidly bringing her fame and fortune.

In response to his congratulatory telegram the night of "George Washington, Jr.'s" premiere, Manager Counihan yesterday received the following wire from Geo. M. Cohan, dated New Haven: "Many thanks for your best wishes. Show a tremendous success."

Some of George Ade's friends in Indiana, his native State, are determined to thrust greatness upon him, and have started a movement to nominate him as a candidate for a seat in the lower house of Congress. If elected to office, his wit in debate should enliven the pages on the Congressional Record.

The appearance of Robert B. Mantell at the New Plainfield within the next few weeks will be an event of interest to all lovers of Shakespeare. Mr. Mantell's achievements in New York and elsewhere have marked him as a tragedian of power, and some people consider him the greatest Shakespearian actor in the country today. The staging of his production is directed by William A. Brady.

Union Veterans Rapidly Dying.

Washington, Jan. 29.—In the last six months taps have been sounded over the graves of 28,006 pensioners of the Civil War, according to a statement of Pension Commissioner Warner. This, he says, is an evidence of the rapidity with which the veterans are being diminished. The total number of pensioners on July 1, 1905, was 684,608. On December 31 it was 769,234.

THREE SHOT IN A FIGHT WITH THIEVES

LEADER OF THE GANG AND DETECTIVE MAY DIE.

The village of Mountain View, a flag station on the Lackawanna Railroad, was the scene of a mortal combat last evening between four railroad detectives and a band of thieves.

The Lackawanna road for months past has been robbed of brass journals. It was found that the thieves' rendezvous was the yards at Mountain View, and Detectives Hughes, Consey, Dowling and Jenicke went from Jersey City yesterday to watch for them.

About dusk, as they were hiding near the Morris Canal, five men drove up in a wagon and at the edge of the canal started to jump out. Detective Jenicke recognized one of them as Charles Brosano, of Paterson, who had been arrested a dozen times for stealing journals. Brosano leaped from the wagon and the detective ran forward, pistol in hand, and commanded him to halt.

Brosano and his companions drew revolvers and fire five shots at Jenicke. The detective fell, with a bullet wound over his heart. The five men ran when Jenicke's aides sprang out and fired on them. Brosano turned around and received several bullets. He fell into the canal.

His companions, while the detectives were trying to aid Brosano, leaped into the wagon and drove up the towpath.

Dowling and Consey fished Brosano out, and Hughes tried to shoot the horse. Although one of the bullets hit the animal, it continued its flight and the four men escaped.

Jenicke and Brosano were carried to the railroad station. They found it locked. No station master was in sight, and the only way to give the wounded men relief was to stop with torpedoes the Buffalo flyer, which was never known before to stop at Mountain View.

Brosano apparently died as he was being taken from the train at Paterson to a hospital, but he was only feigning. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. While being taken to the operating room he tried to steal a detective's revolver. He was shot in the breast, arm and back. Two bullets were taken from him. Jenicke begged that he be taken to his home in Hoboken, which was done. On the way Dowling discovered that he had been wounded in the groin. In the anxiety over Jenicke he had overlooked it.

On the arrival of the train at Hoboken Jenicke and Dowling were taken to St. Mary's Hospital. Dowling was found to be not seriously hurt, but the doctors said Jenicke would probably die.

Brosano, it is said, is the ringleader of the railroad thieves. A term of three years in State prison is hanging over him. He jumped his bail after conviction in Paterson six months ago.

WE WIN, SAYS TYPOTHETAE.

Employers Have All Their Plans in Operation, They Declare.

The officers of the New York Typothetae met Saturday and heard reports from the different firms as to the progress of the eight hour and closed shop strike of the printers. According to the Typothetae, the employers who are standing out have won and they have no hard feelings against the strikers. The following statement was given out Saturday night by the Typothetae through Secretary H. V. Boyer:

"At the end of the fourth week of our strike every one of our plants is operating with almost as many men employed as before the strike. Instead of losing members from our fighting line, as might have been expected, we have gained one—the Livingston Middleditch Company."

Told of Stock Market Reaction.

Edwin S. Hooley, of the firm of Hooley, Learned & Co., was one of a number of financiers who gave opinions in Saturday's Evening Mail on the reaction in the stock market last week, and the general business outlook.

WHITE MEN LAZY.

Rev. Dr. Jackson Says So; Also That They're Jealous of Negroes.

Rev. Dr. E. E. Jackson, colored, well known here as the recent pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, who is now in charge of a New York church, spoke from the same platform with the Rev. Thomas Dixon, in the Church of the Epiphany, New York, yesterday afternoon. The subject under discussion was "What Can We Do With the Negro?"

Mr. Jackson said the white men in the South were too lazy to work and the negro was needed to till the fields, and that the secret of the white man's hatred of their race was that they had grown up with them in slavery and now that the law made them equal the negroes were despised and condemned for their prosperity. They said they didn't want social equality—no negro ever talked of it—they didn't want to cross the line, nor did they want the white man to cross the line.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

MEDITATIONS OF A SPINSTER.

When two girls kiss, Cupid makes a face.

When lips say no, appeal your case to the eyes and take only their verdict.

Getting married is guesswork until it's too late.

Temperament is that faculty by which you can hate and love a person at the same time.

A lover's lies may be either black or white, but they always look rose-colored to the girl who wants to hear them.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

UNLUCKY EMBLEMS.

TheParasian has an idea that when lucky charms fail unlucky ones may succeed. Thus she seeks eagerly after various little emblems, such as these: A peacock's tail feathers in enamel, a little bunch of green ribbons, a tiny pair of crossed knives suspended from a ring, a round tablet of gold, bearing the number 13, a cracked mirror charm, or a single eye—presumably an evil one—painted upon a plaque. These are supposed to bring good luck when the usual lucky ones fail, just as the number 13 and the opal are claimed as individual luck bringers by certain English believers in their power for good.

DRESS HINTS.

Never dress older than you are. Dress younger.

Velvet that has become crushed may be restored by placing the linen side over a basin of hot water.

Make bloomers of the same material as the dress for schoolgirls. Make quite full, with elastics at the knees and waist.

To dry damp feathers throw a handful of salt on the fire and hold the feathers over, shaking them vigously. Don't put them so near the fire that they will burn.

If a new wash dress is mussed, but not soiled enough to go into the tub, make a little thin cold starch, squeeze a rag lightly in this, brush the wrong side of the dress first with the starchy rag, then with your bare hand, and iron as you go along. It will look like new.—Ex.

GET BUSY.

When you are worried.

When you have been disappointed.

When the outlook seems hopeless.

When the best girl in the world throws you over.

When people repeat the things your friends have said against you.

When you discover the unmistakable presence of sawdust in your doll.

When the goal seems about as impossible as the pot of gold at the end of a rainbow.

When the schemes on which you've staked everything goes up.

When you have about concluded that there is no use in trying any more.

When everything and everybody seems to conspire to keep you down.

When the world and everything in it appears to be going to the dogs, and you feel ready to go along.

In short, whenever you feel laziest or maddest, or saddest, or most despairing—get busy!

There is no cure like it.

It is amazing how just getting busy will knock the kinks out of life. —Philadelphia Bulletin.

RULES TO HEED IN MANAGING A MAID.

When engagaing a maid be careful to explain her work to her, and let her understand that the work must be done in your way and not in the way of any former mistress she may have had. And the explanation must be made so that it shall not reflect upon the routine of any other household.

Try to arrange the hours so that the maid may have an opportunity to attend church on Sundays.

When the servants do well encourage them by a few words of praise.

Do not allow them to have visitors after certain hours in the evening.

Give your orders for the day as early as possible.

Insist upon being informed when anything is broken or lost.

See that the maid wears a clean apron while making the beds, and that she knocks at each bedroom door before entering.

Tell the maid who opens the door not to let visitors stand in the hall, nor to give parcels to strangers without previous instructions.

Retain your temper under all circumstances.

Pay your maid's wages promptly.

LUNCHEON DISHES.

Cold sweet potatoes may reappear as croquettes. Reheat them and press them through a seive. For each two cupfuls of potatoes, add a teaspoonful of salt, an egg, three tablespoonfuls of very finely chopped blanched almonds and heat the mixture. If it is too stiff, add a little cream carefully. Roll into cork-shaped croquettes, cover with egg and bread crumbs and fry in smoking hot fat.

A tasty luncheon dish for a morning when hearty food is not desirable was suggested: Sweetbreads and ham served on toasted English muffins. Parboil the sweetbreads and then broil them. Have ready very thin slices of broiled ham, cut round like the muffin. Put the ham on the hot toasted muffin, then the sweetbread and dress with cream sauce.

Finnan haddy a la Delmonico is another dainty dish. Wash the fish and let it stand for half an hour in cold water. Then drain and cover with hot water and soak fifteen minutes. At the end of that time drain the fish and dry it, remove the bones and skin and break into flakes. For each cupful of fish allow a cupful of thin white sauce Put the fish in a buttered baking dish, cover with the sauce, top with buttered crumbs and brown in a quick oven.

WITH ONIONS.

Onion Leftovers.

Chop cold boiled onions fine, add a little white sauce and put in a baking dish with bread crumbs over the top. Brown in the oven.

Baked Onions.

Peel and boil for about forty-five minutes. Dry with a cloth, squeezing the water out of them, put in a baking dish, put a small piece of butter on each and bake for an hour with a covering of buttered paper.

Fried Onions.

Cut large white onions in thin slices so as to form large rings. Drag them around in a pan of flour until they are thoroughly covered. Plunge them into a kettle of hot lard and fry until they are golden brown and quite crispy. Drain on a cloth, season with salt and serve on a folded napkin.

Onions Supreme.

Peel and cut into thick slices a half-inch thick. Throw into a kettle of boiling salted water and cook for thirty minutes until transparent. Drain, saving the water. Take half a pint of it and add a thickening of a tablespoon of butter and one of flour, salt and pepper. Take from the fire and add two beaten egg yolks and four tablespoonfuls of cream. Stew over a pan of hot water for a minute and be careful not to curdle.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

SEASONABLE RECIPES.

Spaghetti Creole.

Cook half a pound of spaghetti in salted, rapidly boiling water until tender. Let one pint of canned tomato, three-fourths of a cup of sliced onion and half a teaspoonful of salt cook until the onion is tender. Stir a pound of Hamburg steak in a very hot frying pan until it turns from red to brown. Then add the spaghetti, drained and rinsed in cold water, half a cup of butter, half a cup of grated cheese and the cooked vegetables. Lift the whole with two forks or a spoon and fork until the ingredients are evenly mixed, then serve at once.

Onion Glaces.

Pour a third of a teacup of olive oil into a frying pan. When hot add six or eight good-sized sliced onions. Cook slowly until they are lightly browned, skim them out and put in a saucepan. Rub a heaping tablespoonful of flour into the oil and add a half pint or a little more of soup stock. Season with salt, pepper and a little nutmeg. When this has boiled pour it on the onions and add a little celery, chopped fine. Cover and simmer until the onions are thoroughly done. Serve with Hamburg or broiled steak.

CRISP ORANGE CHIPS.

Put three pounds of sugar over the fire with a gill and a half of water and a fifth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Mix over the fire and cook, scraping down the sides occasionally until it barely reaches the hard crack when tested in water. Turn it out on a buttered marble slab and as it cools add a few drops of oil of orange. Fold together until this is worked in and then cut the lump in two. Color one-half of it orange color and pull the other half until it is white. Work it out into a flat mess on the clear orange-colored part, wrap one around the other, white outside, and flatten out again with a heavy buttered iron, if necessary to handle it. Pull out into a ribbon, cut into chips and lay on a cool marble; leave till cold and break apart.

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCES MY HERO.

Warburton was graduated from West Point, ticketed to a desolate frontier post, and would have worn out his existence there but for his guiding star, which was always making frantic efforts to bolt its established orbit. One day he was doing scout duty, perhaps half a mile in advance of the pay-train as they called the picturesque caravan which, consisting of a canopied wagon and a small troop of cavalry in dingy blue, made progress across the desert-like plain of Arizona. The troop was some ten miles from the post, and as there had been no sign of Red Eagle all that day, they concluded that the rumor of his being on a drunken rampage with half a dozen braves was only a rumor. Warburton had just passed over a roll of earth, and for a moment the pay-train had dropped out of sight. It was twilight; opalescent waves of heat rolled above the blistered sands. A pale yellow sky, like an inverted bowl rimmed with delicate blue and crimson hues, encompassed the world. The bliss of solitude fell on him, and, being something of a poet, he rose to the stars. The smoke of his corn-cob pipe trailed lazily behind him. The horse under him was loping along easily.

SUDDENLY THE ANIMAL LIFTED HIS HEAD.

Suddenly the animal lifted his head, and his brown ears went forward.

At Warburton's left, some hundred yards distant, was a clump of osage brush. Even as he looked, there came a puff of smoke, followed by the evil song of a bullet. My hero's hat was carried away. He wheeled, dug his heels into his horse, and cut back over the trail. There came a second flash, a shock, and then a terrible pain in the calf of his left leg. He fell over the neck of his horse to escape the third bullet. He could see the Apache as he stood out from behind the bush. Warburton yanked out his Colt and let fly. He heard a yell. It was very comforting. That was all he remembered of the skirmish.

For five weeks he languished in the hospital. During that time he came to the conclusion that he had had enough of military life in the west. He applied for his discharge, as the compulsory term of service was at an end. When his papers came he was able to get about with the aid of a crutch. One morning his colonel entered his subaltern's bachelor quarters.

"Wouldn't you rather have a year's leave of absence than quit altogether, Warburton?"

"A year's leave of absence?" cried the invalid. "I am likely to get that, I am."

"If you held a responsible position I dare say it would be difficult. As it is, I may say that I can obtain it for you. It will be months before you can ride a horse with that leg."

"I thank you, Col. Raleigh, but I think I'll resign. In fact, I have resigned."

"We can withdraw that, if you but say the word. I don't want to lose you, lad. You're the only man around here who likes a joke as well as I do. And you will have a company if you'll only stick to it a little longer."

"I have decided, Colonel. I'm sorry you feel like this about it. You see, I have something like $25,000 laid away. I want to see at least $5,000 worth of new scenery before I shuffle off this mortal coil. The scenery around here palls on me. My throat and eyes are always full of sand. I am off to Europe Some day, perhaps, the bee will buzz again; and when it does, I'll have you go personally to the president."

"As you please, Warburton."

"Besides, Colonel, I have been reading Treasure Island again, and I've got the fever in my veins to hunt adventure, even a treasure. It's in my blood to wander and do strange things, and here I've been hampered all these years with routine. I shouldn't care if we had a good fight once in a while. My poor old dad traveled around the world three times, and I haven't seen any thing of it but the seas."

"Go ahead, then. Only, talking about Treasure Island, don't you and your $25,000 run into some old Long John Silver."

"I'll take care."

And Mr. Robert packed up his kit and sailed away. Not many months passed ere he met his colonel again, and under rather embarrassing circumstances.

CHAPTER II.

INTRODUCES MY HEROINE.

Let me begin at the beginning. The boat had been two days out of Southampton before the fog cleared away. On the afternoon of the third day Warburton curled up in his steamer-chair and lazily viewed the blue October seas as they met and merged with the blue October skies. I do not recollect the popular novel of that summer, but at any rate it lay flapping at the side of his chair, forgotten.

At this particular moment this hero of mine was going over the monotony of the old days in Arizona, the sand-deserts, the unlovely landscapes, the dull routine, the indifferent skirmishes with cattle-men and Indians; the pagan bullet which had plowed through his leg. And now it was all over; he had surrendered his straps; he was a private citizen, with an income sufficient for his needs; It will go a long way, $4,500 a year, if one does not attempt to cover the distance in a $5,000 motor-car; and he hated all locomotion that was not horse-flesh.

For nine months he had been wandering over Europe, if not happy, at least in a satisfied frame of mind. Four of these months had been delightfully passed in Paris; and as his nomad excursions had invariably terminated in that queen of cities, I make Paris the starting point of his somewhat remarkable adventures. Besides, it was in Paris that he first saw her. And now, here he was at last, homeward-bound. That phrase had a mighty pleasant sound; it was to the ear what honey is to the tongue. Still, he might yet have been in Paris but for one thing: She was on board this very boat.

Suddenly his eyes opened full wide, bright with eagerness.

"It is she!" he murmured. He closed his eyes again, the hypocrite!

Permit me to introduce you to my heroine. Mind you, she is not my creation; only Heaven may produce her like, and but once. She is well worth turning around to gaze at. Indeed I know more than one fine gentleman who forgot the time of day, the important engagement, or the trend of his thought, when she passed by.

She was coming forward, leaning against the wind and inclining to the uncertain roll of the ship. A gray raincoat fitted snugly the youthful, rounded figure. Her hands were plunged into the pockets. You may be sure that Mr. Robert noted through his half-closed eyelids these inconsequent details. A tourist hat sat jauntily on the fine light brown hair, that color which has no appropriate metaphor. (At least, I have never found one, and I am not in love with her and never was.) Warburton has described to me her eyes, so I am positive that they were as heavenly blue as a rajah's sapphire. Her height is of no moment. What man ever troubled himself about the height of a woman so long as he wasn't undersized himself? What pleased Warburton was the exquisite skin. He was always happy with his comparisons, and particularly when he likened her skin to the bloomy olive pallor of a young peach. The independent stride was distinguishingly American. Ah, the charm of these women who are my countrywomen! They come, they go, alone, unattended, courageous without being bold, self-reliant without being rude; inimitable. In what an amiable frame of mind Nature must have been on the day she cast these molds! But I proceed. The young woman's chin was tilted, and Warburton could tell by the dilated nostrils that she was breathing in the gale with all the joy of living, filling her healthy lungs with it as that rare daughter of the Cyprian Isle might have done as she sprang that morn from the jeweled Mediterranean spray, that beggar's brooch of Neptune's.

Warburton's heart hadn't thrilled so since the day when he first donned cadet gray. There was scarce any room for her to pass between his chair and the rail; and this knowledge filled the rascal with exultation. Nearer and nearer she came. He drew in his breath as the corner of his foot-rest (aided by the sly wind) caught her rain-coat.

"I beg your pardon!" he said, sitting up.

She quickly released her coat, smiled faintly, and passed on.

Sometimes the most lasting impressions are those which are printed most lightly on the memory. Mr. Robert says that he never will forget that first smile. And he didn't even know her name then.

I was about to engage your attention with a description of the villian, but on second thought I have decided that it would be rather unfair. For at that moment he was at a disadvantage. Nature was punishing him for a few shortcomings. The steward that night informed Warburton, in answer to his inquiries, that he, the villian, was dreadfully seasick, and was begging him, the steward, to scuttle the ship and have done with it. I have my doubts regarding this. Mr. Robert is inclined to flippancy at times. It wasn't seasickness; and after all is said and done, it is putting it harshly to call this man a villian. I recant. True villiany is always based upon selfishness. Remember this, my wise ones.

Warburton was somewhat subdued when he learned that the suffering gentleman was her father.

"What did you say the name was?" he asked innocently. Until now he hadn't had the courage to put the question to any one, or to prowl around the purser's books.

"Annesley; Col. Annesley and daughter," answered the unsuspecting steward.

Warburton knew nothing then of the mental tragedy going on behind the colonel's state-room door. How should he have known? On the contrary, he believed that the father of such a girl must be a most knightly and courtly gentleman. He was, in all outward appearances. There had been a time, not long since, when he had been knightly and courtly in all things.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." FOOLED WITH TRAIN; PANIC RESULTED.

One Woman's Fright Proved Fatal, and Four Others Fell in Fainting Fits.

Henry Alney, thirty years old, of 21 Flarview avenue, Orange, was held Saturday in Hoboken by Acting Recorder Laverty in $2,000 bail for the Grand Jury, on a charge of creating a disturbance Thursday night at the Lackawanna Railroad station in Hoboken.

It was testified that because of the young man's antics four women fainted from fright. One of the passengers on the train, Mrs. Jefferson Marshall, fifty-five years old, of 77 Third avenue, Newark, died in the car, it is alleged from fright.

The principal complaint against the prisoner was J. Campbell Smith, a business man of Newark. Smith said he was returning home on the train Thursday night with his wife when Alney began to raise ructions. Smith said the prisoner threw the lever which disconnected the couplings between the last car and the one in front ofit. This all happened just as the train was due to leave the station at 9:30.

Alney than seized a red lamp, Smith said, and signalled the engineer to go ahead. As the train moved out of the station the last car was being pulled along by means of the air-brake hose only. The last car had gone only about ten feet when there was aloud report caused by the bursting of the air-brake hose.

The severing of the hose had the effect of bringing the train to a dead stop. Instantly there was a rush of passengers to get off the train, and several women fainted in the excitement which followed.

Mr. Smith said he saw four women faint in the car, one of them being his wife. Alney was immediately placed under arrest.

He refused to say anything in court, except that he was employed as a bond salesman in the office of a broker in Manhattan. He refused to tell in what office he was employed.

Victim Probably a Jersey City Man.

Trenton, Jan. 29.—Tony Cortese, a track-walker of the Reading Railroad, made a gruesome discovery Thursday while patroling his section, when he came upon the mutilated body of a man lying near the tracks between Janney and Parkland. The top of the skull was cut off, the left leg was badly mangled and his right side crushed. It is believed from papers in the clothese that the victim was James McDonald, of Jersey City.

DIAMOND DUST.

Fred Smith, who has been manager of the Trenton Y. M. C. A. team for several seasons, declares that he will not take the job this year. Just where he will be located is not known as yet. It is quite likely that Egner, the star twirler of the team, will remain in Trenton.

The Westfield Standard in its last issue announces editorially that Charles H. Denman will not be identified with baseball in Westfield this year. Reasons for this are said to be a new position which Mr. Denman accepted recently. With Mr. Denman out of baseball the prospects for spirited rivalry at Westfield are slim.

If "Red" Waller should wear a Plainfield uniform this season, he would prove to be as popular as he was otherwise in past seasons. Notwithstanding opinions to the contrary "Red" has proved himself to be a pitcher of exceptional ability. Nearly every week last season he worked on Saturday and Sunday and won a majority of his games.

Frank Burke, manager of the Elizabeth Stars, is hustling these days getting a team together for this season. The aggregation playing for him last year will play Sunday ball at Bayonne this year under the name of the Baysides. Manager Burke had a very successful season in '05, the patronage at the Sunday games being the largest in the history of the town.

LEAL'S BASKETBALL TEAM DEFEATED BY MONTCLAIR.

Local Organization Snowed Under by a Score of 82 to 14.

The Leal's School basketball team was completely snowed under on Saturday at Montclair, when the Military Academy team were the victors by a score of 82 to 14. It was a high score record in the game for the season. As the score indicates, the game was a farce as far as playing was concerned, for the Montclair boys scored at will, the whole contest seeming to be a mere goal-shooting practice for the home five. The large court proved a great handicap to the visiting team. The lineup:

Leal's School.	Montclair M. A.
Howard	Kenney
right forward.
Alpaugh	Stretely
left forward.
Endicott	Partridge
centre.
Brokaw	Cornwell
right guard.

Score at end of first half—Montclair, 50; Leal's, 10. Final score—Montclair, 82; Leal's, 14. Referee—Burkhalter. Umpire—Randolph. Time of halves—20m.

Newark Police After a Fagin.

The Newark police are looking for a man who they say has been teaching boys of tender years to steal, receiving their plunder, disposing of it and giving them a small return. The man is known to the police, and they expect to have him behind the bars today. Ten boys are under arrest. The prisoners range in age from eight to eighteen years. Their principal plunder consisted of electric wire and water pipes, which they stripped from houses. A number of complaints have been lodged against them.

Approaching Nuptials.

The marriage of Miss Mary Anderson Reinhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. A large number of invitations have been issued for both the ceremony and reception.

PATERSON SCHOOL BOYS MAKE AN AWFUL THREAT.

Declare They Will Go On Strike If Their Hours Are Not Changed.

Unless the parental slipper or some other influence interferes the boys in Miss McNab's class at Public School No. 8 in Paterson will go on a strike today.

Owing to the congested condition half day sessions have been held at the school for several months. One-half of the pupils report at 8 o'clock in the morning and are released at noon. The other half report at 10:30 and remain in session until five. Miss McNab has charge of the morning class and Miss Boyle has charge of the afternoon class.

Principal Black announced Friday that he would change the detail about in order that the children who had been studying late in the afternoon might have a morning session.

The afternoon pupils were pleased, but instantly there arose a spirit of revolt among the boys in Miss McNab's class. They held a meeting and appointed a committee to file a protest with the principal. Mr. Black told the committee that the boys must obey orders and that the new rule would take effect this morning.

"Let us go on strike," suggested one of the boys when the committee returned and reported the result of the interview with Principal Black. Every boy voted "yea." It was also decided to report to school at the usual time today and then formally declare a strike.

Passaic Priest Not Molested.

Passaic, Jan. 29.—Three policemen were present when the service began this morning at St. Michael's Greek Rite Catholic church in this city, but the threats that were made against the priest, the Rev. Nicholas Molcsanyi, were not carried out. The Rev. Andrew Hodobay, of Philadelphia, the delegate of the Greek Church in this country, who conducts services here every other Sunday, met a delegation of those who are opposed to Father Molcsanyi and told them not to commit violence, as the law would be taken against them.

Death from Pneumonia.

Mrs. George Sipler, aged twenty-seven years, of Reaville, died yesterday in Muhlenberg Hospital, following an illness of one week with pneumonia. She was visiting her cousin in the borough when she contracted her illness. Her condition grew rapidly worse and it was decided to remove her to the hospital. She is survived by a husband and two small children. The funeral services will be held from 15 Pearl street, the borough, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be at Hillside cemetery.

Ordnance of Baptism Administered.

At the First Baptist church last night the ordnance of baptism was administered to two young women and two young men. The pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, was sufficiently recovered to preach at the morning service, but had assistance in the evening, the sermon being preached by Rev. Joseph Greaves. Next Sunday the ordnance of communion will be observed, at which time fifteen persons will be received into membership.

Slept in Cider Saloon.

Samuel Hibbard, arrested for disorderly conduct yesterday by Detective McCarthy, was arraigned in the city court yesterday. He was taken into custody at Bennet Britton's cider and cigar store, for insisting on sleeping in the place in spite of Britton's protests. Sentence was suspended.

Sunday Drunk Freed.

William Laing, arrested for drunkenness, was brought before Judge Runyon in the city court yesterday afternoon. Sentence was suspended.

MILLIONS IN CLAY INVESTED IN STATE

VALUE OF ANNUAL OUTPUT NEARLY $13,000,000.

New Jersey has $19,056,314 invested in its clay manufacturing industries, according to the annual report of the State Bureau of Statistics, which has just been issued. While the report is for the State fiscal year ending October 31, 1905, the statistics given cover the year 1904.

The document shows that the value of the goods manufactured during the year aggregated $11,992,975, while the total sum paid to the 10,508 employes was $5,595,590. The total value of the raw materials used in the manufactories was $3,702,041.

Taking up the brick and terra cotta industry first, the report shows there are 55 establishments in the State. The total capital invested in 1904 was $10,058,070 and in 1903 $8,526,505, showing an increase of $1,531,565. But the report points out that the statistics for 1904 were gathered according to a new plan, in some particulars, in order that they might conform to the United States statistical reports. The increase shown in capital, therefore, is not so much a real increase as a more thorough covering of that item under the new plan.

In the matter of raw material used during the year, a decrease of $617,749 or 28.8 per cent., is shown. The amount in 1904 was $1,527,640 and in 1903 $2,145,389. A decrease is also shown in the value of the goods made. In 1903 the total output of the 55 concerns was valued at $6,330,099, while in 1904 it dropped to $5,809,788, giving a loss of $502,311 or 8.2 per cent.

The average number of persons employed in this industry was 5,569. The average number per establishment in 1903 was 91, and the average number employed in each establishment in 1904 was 101, showing an increase of 11.1 per cent. The aggregate amount paid in wages for the year was $2,291,852. The average yearly earnings per employe also shows a decrease, amounting to $34.49, or 7.7 per cent. In 1904 this item was $411.54, and in 1905 it was $446.03.

Following the government plan again, the report this year goes into detail as to salaried employes, separating them from the wage-earners. In the brick and terra cotta industry, there were 317 salaried employes and their salaries for the year aggregated $369,812. The total sum expended, therefore, by the 55 plants for raw material, wages and salaries during 1904 was $4,189,304.

One interesting feature of the report is that giving the kind of power used. For instance, it is shown that in the 55 brick and terra cotta works 35 electrical motors were used having a horse power of 738, indicating a growth in the use of electricity in this form of manufacturing. The number of steam engines reported is 90, with a total of 10,106 horse power.

Outlining the pottery industry as given in the report, the facts to be given follow: The number of separate potteries is 37, and the increase in capital for 1904 over 1903 is $1,304,607, with the same conditions applying as already given for the other industry. The aggregate capital in 1903 was $7,250,152, and in 1904 $8,554,759.

A decrease is shown in the value of the raw material used, and while there is an increase in the value of the total manufactured output for the year it is less than 1 per cent. In 1903 $1,543,147 worth of stock was used, and in 1904 the amount fell to $1,394,169. This was a decrease of $148,978, or 9.6 per cent. The exact increase in the value of the manufactured pottery goods was but $10,625, or 0.1 per cent. In 1904 the 37 potteries turned out goods to the value of $5,521,340, and in 1903 the amount made was $5,510,715.

The average number of persons employed per pottery in 1903 was 116, and in 1904 but 102, a decrease of 12.1 per cent. The 37 potteries in 1904 paid to the 3,777 workmen total wages of $2,274,947. The average wages earned by each potter was 1.5 per cent. less than in 1903. In 1903 each potter earned an average of $611.41 for the year, while in 1904 the average was but $602.32, or 9.09 less.

In the item of salaried employes the report for the potteries shows 291, who were paid an aggregate yearly salary of $402,775. These figures show that the total cost of the potteries for raw materials, wages and salaries was $4,071,891.

In the way of power, one pottery got along with a water wheel of 124 horse power, 25 electric motors were in use, developing 135 horse power, and 3,025 horse power was furnished by 48 steam engines.

In the brick and terra cotta industry the 55 concerns were busy an average of 240.17 days during the year, and the employes made an average of 57.47 hours per week. Each potter made an average of 55.02 hours per week, and the 37 potteries kept in operation an average of 301.60 days of the year.

Six art tile works are listed in this report. They make this showing: Total capital, $443,485; cost of raw materials, $150,232; total value of goods manufactured, $661,847; total employes, 527; total wages $225,628; salaried employes, 27; total salaries, $30,566; average amount earned by wage earners for the year, $428.15.

ST. MARY'S PARISH RAISED $19,140 DURING PAST YEAR.

Most Gratifying Financial Statement Just Issued by Father Bogan.

The financial statement just published by Father Bogan, of St. Mary's church, is most gratifying to him and every member of the parish. It shows that during the past year more money was raised than during any previous one. The receipts were $19,140, and the expenditures $18,120, leaving a balance of $1,200.

A gratifying feature of the work is that $2,000 has been paid off on the Parochial School debt and $3,000, the expenses of the school for the past year, have been paid. There is no debt on the church, this being one of the obligations imposed when it was consecrated.

The total indebtedness of the parish is $10,000, which covers the cemetery, convent and other property owned by the parish, and which is not so burdensome but that it can be well cared for.

CHOKED BY WHEAT CAKE

Dunellenite Made It to Show Wife How Buckwheats Should be Made.

AND IT WAS TOO GOOD

Looked So Tempting Beekman Connover Cut Off Piece So Big It Almost Strangled Him.

In his anxiety to show his wife how breakfast cookery should be done, Beekman Connover, a Dunellenite who is a familiar figure in his town, nearly choked to death over a big piece of buckwheat cake Sunday morning.

Connover watched his wife preparing cakes for breakfast, and he did not like the finished product. He went to the stove and told her he would demonstrate the proper method of turning out browned "wheats." He made one—large, brown and succulent—and held it up for her inspection.

"There," he said, with pride, "that's the sort of a cake to make," and put it on his plate. After pats of butter and a sweet stream of rich brown molasses had been added to the creation it looked so good that Connover fell more deeply in love with his handiwork.

"That certainly is a fine cake," he said, and moved by an ever-growing admiration for the culinary triumph, he cut off a chunk that embraced half the cake and stuffed it into his eager and watering mouth.

About fifteen seconds later he discovered that his esophagus was not up to his gustatory ambition. The chunk of cake stuck in his throat, and he couldn't bulge it. He choked and grew red in the face, while his frightened wife looked helplessly on. Finding it impossible to get it up, Connover seized a fork and ran it into his throat in an effort to jam the cake down. Wrought up by his struggle for breath, he made a wild stroke and jabbed the fork in his tongue, paralyzing the member. He continued to strangle slowly, and finally toppled over in an half-conscious condition.

His fall aroused Mrs. Connover to action and she hurriedly summoned Dr. Brakeley. A minute or so later Connover roused himself to a final desperate effort and essayed a mighty gulp. It saved him; loosened by the saliva that flowed around it, the cake slipped down slowly, and the pressure on Connover's windpipe relaxed.

When Dr. Brakeley arrived at the house Connover was lying on a couch, weak, breathless and bleeding from the fork wound in his tongue, but convalescent. The doctor gave him a tonic and left him recuperating rapidly. He was able to be about yesterday, but looked sick whenever his friends mentioned buckwheat cakes.

25 YEARS OF WEDDED LIFE CAUSE FOR CELEBRATION.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hope Entertain Many of Their Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hope, of East Fifth street, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, last night, guests being present from New York, Newark, Elizabeth, Westfield, Cranford and this city. The evening was spent playing games, while a vocal and instrumental programme of music was a feature. Mr. and Mrs. Hope received a large collection of gifts, including silverware, linen and other useful articles.

The couple was married in this city twenty-five years ago by Rev. Thomas H. Stockton, who was pastor of the First M. E. church 1880-1883, and they have resided here ever since. They have a large circle of friends, many of whom extended their congratulations last night.

Where Silence Is Golden.

The Public Service Corporation has issued an order forbidding all employes to talk of the company's business. The violation of this rule will cause instant dismissal, no matter how trivial the offense. Officials of the company say the car employes, especially, have been too prone to tell about affairs of the company, and, as a result, stories have been circulated that were erroneous and detrimental to the company. All information that is to be given out in future will come from the high officials.

YOUNG BIGLOW ONCE MORE AT HIS HOME

RUNAWAY BOY LOCATED IN NORTH CAROLINA BY HIS FATHER.

Earl Biglow, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., who together with two other students from the Montclair Military Academy, ran away from home a week ago, telling some school friends that he was going south for a good time, is home once more. His father located him in North Carolina, with another one of the trio, and brought them back to Montclair.

Young Biglow thought the trip a big joke and was wonderfully displeased to have it interrupted by his parents. He and his companion were thoroughly enjoying southern climes and as they had plenty of money did not appear to want for anything. The third boy only went as far as Baltimore, when he returned home. The other two decided to go further south. A few days ago Mr. and Mrs. Biglow received a photo-postal card from their son. This was dated Baltimore and it said that the writer was going south. It was through the postal card that Biglow was found, the police assisting the father to recover his son.

CURRICULUM CHANGE IN THE N.P.H.S. SCHOOL

COMMERCIAL COURSE LENGTNENED FROM 3 TO 4 YEARS.

At a regular meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education last night it was decided to lengthen the Commercial course, now a part of the curriculum, from three years to four. The present senior class will be graduated this year as usual, but hereafter four years will be required, as of the others. The matter was taken up on the advice of Superintendent Krebs, and the course was considerably revised. It will now be as follows:

First year—English, algebra, ancient history, penmanship (instead of music), bookkeeping I. Second year—English, German (plane geometry or Med. and Mod. history), penmanship (instead of music), bookkeeping II. Third year—English, German II, English history, stenography I, typewriting I. Fourth year—English, chemistry (elective), German (elective) III, American history, stenography II, typewriting II, commercial law and business arithmetic.

Acting on a suggestion by one of the members, it was voted to issue a complete report of school affairs in pamphlet form for the benefit of the taxpayers. Superintendent Krebs and Mr. Townsend have been at work upon it for some time and it will embrace all receipts and expenditures for the school year and give a complete synopsis of the courses and general information about studies. Twelve hundred copies will be distributed before the annual meeting on March 20.

Mr. Townsend informed the board that the truancy problem had been well taken care of by Superintendent Krebs and that the practice has been all but stamped out. It was also reported that the new heating apparatus, which has been giving considerable trouble, is now working satisfactorily.

Approaching Nuptials.

Invitations were issued yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reid, of 933 West Seventh street, to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anna Eugenia Reid, and Richard Browning Kent, of Sioux City, Iowa. The couple will reside at Sioux City, where the groom and his father are the owners of two large hotels.

Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, will make his initial appearance as a lecturer in this city, tonight. Dr. McCrea is a delightful speaker, and his discourse cannot fail to be full of pleasure for his hearers.

AUTO BILL A POOR ONE

Senator Jos. Frelinghuysen's Measure Unique For Its Seive-like Qualities.

MANY WEAK POINTS

Hardly a Redeeming Feature in Proposed Law Presented by Somerset County's Representative in Upper House.

In its issue of yesterday, the Trenton True American, editorially, spoke of the Frelinghuysen automobile bill as follows:

"Senator Frelinghuysen, of Somerset, in response to a very strong opposition to automobiles on the part of the farmers of that county, has introduced a bill for the control of automobilists and their machines that is unique for its seive-like qualities.

"The bill provides for a speed rate of eight and a half miles an hour in cities and towns, and twenty miles an hour in open localities. From Atlantic Highlands to Bay Head there is an almost continuous line of boroughs. The territory is open, but, according to the Frelinghuysen bill, automobiles would have to move along at a snail's pace, or furnish food for the voracious maws of unscrupulous county constables and justices of the peace.

"The law, as it stands, provides that automobiles shall not exceed the speed of twenty miles an hour, but at no time shall the lives, limbs or property of any person be endangered.

"The bill also provides for a registration fee of fifty cents a horse power. Now automobilists are taxed for their machines at the same rate that other property is taxed. The larger machines cost more money than the smaller, and pay proportionately higher taxes. Notwithstanding the apparent double taxation feature of this provision, the automobilists are willing to submit to it.

"Then it is provided that all chauffeurs shall be taxed twenty-five cents per horse power for their licenses. The reason assigned for graduating the registration fee, according to the horse power, is that the big touring cars are injurious to the stone roads, and the registration fees will supply funds for keeping them in repair. This is in accordance with Road Commissioner Hutchinson's suggestion. But why a chauffeur's license should be graded as to cost according to the horse power of the machine he is expected to drive, is past understanding.

"In nine cases out of ten the employer will have to meet the expense of his chauffeur's license. Suppose a man owns a 40-horse power machine, and hires a man to run it. He pays $10 for the man's license. At the end of a week he finds the man undesirable, and hires another. The owner of that 40-horse power machine may pay for a dozen licenses in the course of a year.

"Examination and registration fees in the law, medicine and chemistry are not graded according to the prospective opportunities of the applicants. Such a proposition would be laughed out of court. Nor should the license of a chauffeur cost more than sufficient to cover the incidental expenses.

"The proposition that inexperienced persons should not be permitted to endanger the lives, limbs and property of the people is sound, and automobile operators should be required to pass certain tests; but Senator Frelinghuysen's scheme is so complex in its conception as to make very remote the possibility of its execution in the spirit of justice.

"Tourists visiting the State shall be required to pay a registration fee of $1 a day, says the Frelinghuysen bill. This clause is entirely unenforceable. For its successful operation the State will have to establish registration bureaus at every bridge across the Delaware, at every ferry house in Jersey City, Hoboken and Camden, and an automobile patrol to keep 'smugglers' out of Sussex, Passaic and Bergen counties. Governor Stokes might be induced to send a regiment of National Guardsmen, with the gallant Colonel Frelinghuysen in command, to the northern frontier. The present law requires non-residents to have their machines registered as Jersey folks' machines are. If the license fee is to be fifty cents per horse power, why should non-residents be made to pay one dollar a day?

When it comes to creating a new lot of jobs, varying in fatness according to the scruples of the holder, the new auto bill is excellent. It provides for a commissioner of motor vehicles, and as many inspectors as may be needed. Of course, the commissioner is to receive an 'adequate salary,' and the inspectors will regale themselves with fees collected with the aid of magistrates, whose compensation is dependent upon their soaking their victims, and the alacrity with which the victims respond.

"There are many other objections

HIGH BRED ANIMALS FOR THEIR STABLES

MESSRS. M'CUTCHEN AND BUTTFIELD ADD TO THEIR BLUE RIBBON STOCK.

Charles W. McCutchen, of the borough, has just purchased two valuable thoroughbred horses, one being a full sister to his prize winner, "All-Ablaze," which won two blue ribbons at Madison Square Garden and at the Plainfield show. The animal is a good mate to "All-Ablaze," both being a chestnut color. Mr. McCutchen has also purchased a high-stepping brown gelding. Both horses come from a well known Lexington stock farm.

William J. Buttfield, of the borough, has also added another thoroughbred to his stock of fine horses, having bought a mate to "Miss Banahan," who performed so well at various horse shows. She won second honors at the last show in Madison Square Garden, besides taking the blue ribbon at Orange and New Brunswick and winning second honors at Morristown.

SNEAK-THIEF GETS TWO HANDBAGS IN CLOAKROOM

MEMBERS OF K. T. AUXILIARY THE VICTIMS—SAW THIEF AT WORK.

While members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Knights Templar were preparing the lodge rooms for a salmagundi party yesterday afternoon, a nervy sneak thief abstracted two handbags from their things in the cloak room. He worked in full view of the women.

Mrs. H. W. Marshall caught sight of a well dressed man moving about the cloak room as she walked across the lodge room floor. She became suspicious and called her fellow members' attention to the man.

"I'm going to see what that strange man is doing up here," she said, and started for the cloak room.

"Oh, don't be Mrs. Butt-in," said the other women. "He isn't doing anything. Don't make a scene." They persuaded Mrs. Marshall to stay inside, and the strange man was not molested.

When the women started to dress for the street, Mrs. James S. Pray, of 235 East Sixth street, and Mrs. Henry Woodland, of 49 Grandview avenue, discovered that their handbags were missing. Mrs. Pray found her's lying on the stairs, rifled of $1.50 in money. Mrs. Woodland's bag, in which she had $3, was not found.

One woman reported that some trading stamps belonging to her were missing, while another some samples of dress goods. Another had lost a piece of ribbon.

The police were notified of the theft. Mrs. Marshall gave them a good description of the man.

LADIES AUXILIARY HAS SALAMAGUNDI PARTY

TWENTY-FIVE TABLES USED IN PLAYING PROGRESSIVE GAMES.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., conducted a progressive salamagundi party in the Masonic rooms, last night. The attendance was very lareg and twenty-five tables were used in playing. Much amusement was afforded by the contrast in the games and the downfall of participants at certain stages who had successfully passed numerous ordeals.

The prize winners were announced as follows: Women, Mrs. Robert A. Meeker, Miss Mary Collier, Mrs. M. H. Ewart, Miss White, of Somerville; Mrs. Julius Williams, Mrs. George Macintyre and Miss Martha Codington; men, B. F. Coriell, George Macintyre, W. W. Warnock, Louis Van-Alstyne, E. A. Lowe, Edward Sebring and W. G. Tunison, of Somerville.

The rooms were prettily decorated with potted plants and palms and during the serving of refreshments an informal programme of music was given.

The committees which had charge were Mrs. Ewart, Mrs. W. R. Codington, Mrs. Julius Williams and Mrs. George Macintyre, reception; Mrs. Henry Woodland, Mrs. W. W. Warnock, Mrs. B. F. Coriell and Mrs. Pray, refreshments.

TALKED ON PURE FOOD

Miss Lakey Blames the Indifferent Woman For Adulterated Articles.

LABEL AS A REMEDY

Address Before Monday Afternoon Club—Bill Before New Jersey Legislature.

A large and appreciative audience greeted Miss Alice Lakey, of Cranford, at the Casino yesterday afternoon, when she gave an address before the Monday Afternoon Club on the subject of "Pure Food." Miss Lakey is chairman of the food investigation committee of the National Consumers' League and she has secured samples of food adulterations from the Bureau of Chemistry at Washington, with which samples she illustrated her address.

Miss Lakey gave in detail many of the adulterations in spices, canned goods, confectionery, meat and milk, and urged the desirability of national laws compelling the manufacturer to label his food supplies with the articles used in their manufacture. She stated that the advance in the purity of marketable foods was very great in Massachusetts and some of the other New England States, where for twenty-five years battle has been waged against food adulterations. In New York and New Jersey progress had been slower and the laws in New Jersey, she said, were few and inadequate. She spoke of the bill before the Legislature of this State last year which passed with a large majority but was lost in the Senate, which bill, with some modifications, would soon be presented again.

Miss Lakey was of opinion that the indifferent woman was the abettor of fraud and deceit and that the remedy for the present widespread adulteration of food with cheap and harmful articles was the will of the women who would refuse to use goods not labeled and who would exert all her powers to influence legislation that would secure pure food supplies to those who desired them.

"LOU" WILTSE RETURNS FROM SYRACUSE VISIT.

Has Not Yet Completed His Plans for the Coming Season..

"Lou" Wiltse, the popular baseball twirler, returned home yesterday from Syracuse, where he and his family have been visiting since the holidays. As yet he has not decided where he will play ball this season. While away Manager Heckert, of the York Tri-State League team, of which Wiltse was a member last season, was in town for the purpose of getting the player's signature to a contract, but "Lou" has not yet affixed his name to a paper.

Wiltse is quite anxious to get into faster company, having the confidence that he can make good. It is barely possible that he may wear a Cincinnati uniform this season, if he can be reinstated. "Ned" Hanlon, formerly of the Brooklyn Nationals, who is now managing the Cincinnati team, it is said, is anxious to secure Wiltse, and if the National Commission will reinstate him there is a strong possibility that the Plainfielder may go West. If he does not, he will likely return to York, Pa., providing he is offered as much as he received last year.

It is the opinion of many players that "Lou" is even a stronger pitcher than his brother George, and that if given a fair chance with a good team, will make even a better record than the latter. "Lou" is in the best condition, having kept in training all winter, and he believes that the coming season will be one of the best for him.

Thieves Visit Blacksmith Shop.

Thieves attempted to force an entrance to W. L. Sharkey's blacksmith shop on Lincoln place last night, but were frightened away before accomplishing their purpose. They had opened a window and in doing so had knocked down a lot of iron, the racket it made evidently causing their flight. A year ago the shop was entered and $25 worth of tools were stolen.

Lecture to School Teachers.

Superintendent O. I. Woodley, of the Passaic schools, will deliver a lecture on "Language Work" before the teachers of the city and borough in the City High School tomorrow afternoon. It was to have been given last week but circumstances caused a postponement.

Suffered Paralytic Stroke.

Charles M. Wilson, the well known contracting carpenter, sustained a slight stroke of paralysis on his right side yesterday afternoon. He was unconscious until this morning, but is now resting easily, with prospects of recovery after a long rest.

GETS $1,000 VERDICT FOR BLIGHTED LOVE

JURY FINDS FOR JULIA AGOCHEEK IN HER SUIT AGAINST FAITHLESS SWAIN.

Julia Agocheek's suit for $5,000 damages against Joseph Stanischef, which was instituted early last year, came to trial in the Supreme Court at Elizabeth yesterday. The jury gave the plaintiff, who sued in tort for breach of promise, a verdict for $1,000.

The damage action supplanted criminal proceedings which Miss Agocheek instituted against Stanischef when she first set out to hold him to account for his faithlessness. The pair came to this country from Austria together, Stanischef promising to marry the girl and right the wrong he had done her in the new world. He put her off, and finally married another girl. Miss Agocheek then took action and Stanischef was arrested on his wedding morning and taken from his bride's side to the county jail. Counsellor Newcorn, acting for Miss Agocheek, decided to abandon that line of procedure, however, and withdrew the criminal charge to sue for damages.

The case went to the jury yesterday afternoon. They found for the plaintiff after a brief consideration.

TEARS AND LAUGHTER IN "THE HEIR TO THE HOORAH"

PAUL ARMSTRONG'S DELIGHTFUL COMEDY A MOST REFRESHING PLAY.

Though hampered by a cryptic-sounding title, "The Heir to the Hoorah," produced at the New Plainfield theatre last night, proved to be the greatest laughing show that has been seen in the city this season. There were peals of it from the first to the last act and yet Paul Armstrong so cleverly interwove pathos with humor that there were moments when men and women in the audience became sober and the feminine portion had glisteping eyes. At the close of the second act the curtain was raised and lowered seven times so vociferous was the applause. The attendance was very large.

The company was the same which originally produced the play at the Hudson theatre, New York, with Guy Bates Post in the leading role. Miss Nora O'Brien was seen in the part of "Geraldine," who starts out to be a conventional little snob but learns the error of her ways and June Peyton was refreshing as the "widow." Wilfred Lucas, as "Bud Loung," furnished the greater part of the comedy but divided honors with the kind-hearted compuncher, who, when he dons his first evening clothes under protest, declines to take off the spurs which were worn during his waking hours for twenty years.

Amicably Settled Damage Suit.

In the Circuit Court at Elizabeth this morning the case of John S. Lechthaler, of that city, against the U. S. Express Company, in which the plaintiff sought to recover $2,500 damages for the death of his two-year-old daughter, was settled without going to trial. It was on April 22 last that the plaintiff's child started to cross the street and was run down by an express wagon and crushed to death. It was impossible to learn the terms of the settlement.

Will Address School Teachers.

Superintendent H. M. Maxson, of the Plainfield High School, and Superintendent H. C. Krebs, of the North Plainfield High School, have arranged for a joint meeting of the teachers of the city and borough schools to be held at the City High School tomorrow afternoon. At that time Superintendent O. I. Woodley, of the Passaic Public Schools, will make an address. Mr. Woodley is a speaker of recognized ability and cannot fail to interest all.

A Second "Carnival Sitting."

DOES NOT OPPOSE FITZ

New York Papers Fake Sermon Report Nailed By Dunellen Pastor.

A SURPRISE TO HIM

Mr. Fletcher Sees Sermon in The Globe, Attributed to Him, That He Never Preached.

Under date from Dunellen the New York Evening Globe published an article yesterday purporting to be a report on Rev. Frank Fletcher's opposition to the coming of Bob Fitzsimmons' gymnasium-boxing-school retreat to the borough. Mr. Fletcher is pastor of the Baptist church. The Globe said he preached against Fitzsimmons' scheme Sunday night.

Part of the Globe report read:

"Parson Fletcher upbraided the county authorities for allowing the hotels to sell liquor on Sundays without molestation. He declared that as ar esult of this state of affairs Dunellen and New Market were the stopping-off place on Sunday for Plainfield rowdies.

"'And now,' he declared, 'we are going to be disgraced further by Fitzsimmons, the prize fighter, coming in our midst to open up a sanitarium for the cure of physical wrecks from other places. I hope the Christian people will rise up in their might and keep this prize fighter where he belongs, and not allow him to come here.'

"The church folk are aroused over the matter, and there is no telling what the end will be."

Mr. Fletcher was amazed when shown the article by a Daily Press reporter yesterday afternoon.

"I preached no such sermon," he said, "and never have referred in any way to Fitzsimmons. I have scarcely given this proposed retreat a thought, and never felt a glimmering of opposition to it. I don't know of anything on which to base opposition. I am perfectly content to have Fitzsimmons or anyone else like him to settle in the borough and carry on any orderly enterprise he may see fit to invest his money in. As for Fitzsimmons in particular, from what I have read of him, I think he is a good, clean sportsman of his kind, sober and honest. I don't see why he would not make a good citizen of the community.

"I would like to know where the Globe got that yarn and why they worked my name, of all others, into it. Do you newspaper men sit in your offices and just cook these things up?"

The Morning Telegraph, of New York, sent a long telegram to Mr. Fletcher about his supposed sermon. The dispatch asked him to state his objections to Fitz as a neighbor and a co-worker in the community. "What is the difference in your mind," queried the Telegraph, "between Fitzsimmons' aims to build up physical wrecks and your aims to build up wrecks of souls?" Fitzsimmons, it said, was shown the Globe report, and he declared his feelings would not disgrace Dunellen. "Please answer," prayed the Telegraph.

Mr. Fletcher wired a reply as fast as he could indite it. He sent in a vigorous and categorical denial of the supposed sermon that will make the pugilist feel pleasant and the Globe very sick.

In an effort to find if there was any possible sort of foundation for the Globe story, Mr. Fletcher asked all the other ministers in Dunellen if they had preached on Fitzsimmons. They hadn't thought of such a thing. Neither Mr. Fletcher nor the reporter could find anybody, clerical or lay, who had expressed opposition to the Fitzsimmons scheme. Quite a number said the prospect of having an exchampion heavyweight surrounded by real sports and swells was pleasing.

HIS NINETY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY.

L. H. Taylor, of High Bridge, Quietly Observes the Occasion at Home.

High Bridge, Jan. 30.—At "Solitude" yesterday, with the exception of the calling of a few relatives and friends, Lewis Hazelins Taylor, honorary president of the Taylor Iron and Steel Company, of this place, quietly celebrated the ninety-fifth anniversary of his birth. Much has been written and said of the history of this remarkable man at his recent birthday anniversaries, and of the historic mansion, "Solitude," in which he has resided his entire life, excepting two years when he was in California; of his revival of the iron industry here, the organization of the Taylor Iron Works, and later the incorporation of the Taylor Iron and Steel Company, which affords employment to hundreds of workmen and furnishes the managese steel, of which safes are made at Plainfield.

Not only did Mr. Taylor devote his time to develop the iron industry here, but he also became interested in various fields of enterprise, among which were the organization and construction of several railroads. From a charitable standpoint Mr. Taylor was never found wanting. Many families round about whose needy condition have been made known to him have had their larders and coal bins replenished at his expense.

In politics Mr. Taylor is an ardent supporter of Republican principles, and seldom missed casting his ballot on election day. He belongs to the local Reformed church, was instrumental in its erection and is one of its chief financial supporters. For fifty-four consecutive years Mr. Taylor was president of the company which has grown to such large proportions.

Were it not for his snowy white hair one would not take him for a man who had nearly rounded out a century. He is also remarkably bright for his years. With the exception of rheumatic attacks and impaired hearing he enjoys good health and is in full possession of all his faculties.

Effingham Pinto is detained at his home in West Eighth street by illness.

Mr. and Mrs Francis DeLacy Hyde are sojourning at Atlantic City for a time.

MAN LONG THOUGHT DEAD JUST EXPIRES

ODD TALE IN WHICH ELIZABETH PEOPLE ARE CONCERNED.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 30.—After mourning for years because she supposed that her son, Warren R. De Camp, was dead, Mrs. Henrietta Marsh, of Elizabeth, N. J., died twenty years ago. Warren De Camp died here recently. About thirty years ago he left home and entered the army. His death was reported to his mother from Ogden, Utah, by his commanding officer.

Last winter De Camp wrote to his folks, but they could not believe that he was alive and paid no attention to the letter. A letter from G. H. Marsh, of Elizabeth, indicates that De Camp was the man who was supposed to be dead. The body will be held until Marsh is heard from.

Elizabeth, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Henrietta De Camp, Warren R. De Camp's mother, who died here twenty years ago, was also mourning over the loss of another son, Russell De Camp, who, like his older brother, strangely vanished from Elizabeth, and has never been heard from since. He is believed to be dead.

Mrs. De Camp also had one daughter, Elizabeth, who married Edward C. Marsh, an Elizabeth grocer, and who is now living retired at 140 Catherine street, here. Mrs. Edward C. Marsh died two years ago in the Elizabeth General Hospital. She was fifty-nine years old. She leaves a son, Gardner H. Marsh, who is a stenographer employed in Jersey City, and lives at 144 DeHart place, Elizabeth.

On Thursday night his father, Edward C. Marsh, received a telegram from Lincoln, Neb., informing him of the death there of his brother-in-law, Warren R. De Camp. Edward Marsh did not know what to do in the matter or whether or not the message was genuine, as he thought his brother-in-law had been dead for years. He finaly decided to submit the telegram to his son, Gardner, who concluded there must be something in it, and wrote that night to Lincoln, asking for all information in the case.

No answer as yet has been received by him to this communication, but a reply, he thinks, may arrive this week. The Marshes and De Camps were among the old families of Elizabeth. The singular disappearance of the two De Camp boys more than a quarter of a century ago caused, at the time, quite a stir among those in the community who knew them. Whether or not the body of Warren De Camp will eventually be brought to Elizabeth will entirely depend on whatever decision is reached by the Marsh family in the matter after a reply to their letter has been received.

The records of James C. Ogden, Elizabeth's oldest undertaker, show that the De Camp family originally came to Elizabeth from Rahway. A sister of Warren De Camp, Mrs. Gennet C. Baker, thirty-nine years old, died in January, 1890, and another, Elizabeth C. Marsh, died in January, 1904. Both were buried in the old family plot at Rahway by Mr. Ogden. Mrs. Baker's husband, William, who was chief usher at the Pennsylvania Railroad station, here, dropped dead in the baggage-room in January, 1904.

TALK OVER RIVER PLANS.

No Action Can Be Taken at Present on Rahway Stream.

Rahway, Jan. 30.—E. Savage, president of the Rahway River and Harbor Improvement Association, who, with George H. Cowie and T. H. Roberts, visited Washington Saturday to interview Senator Kean and Congressman Fowler, reports seeing them and also Senator Dryden and Congressman Burton, of Ohio, chairman of the River and Harbor Appropriation Committee, before whom the facts of the Rahway matter were laid.

Mr. Burton stated that nothing could be done immediately, as no appropriation can be made at this time. Mr. Fowler promised to give the matter thorough attention and Mr. Dryden took interest in it also. The association meantime will be carrying on its own work at this end of the route. After the interview had closed the visitors from Rahway were entertained by Mr. Fowler and Mr. Dryden.

Swindled by Fake Photographer.

Bound Brook, Jan. 30.—A swindled who claimed to be a representative of a photographic company in New Brunswick, is said to have robbed people in this vicinity of about $100 through selling certificates, making a special offer in the photographic line. In each case the victimes paid $1.50. One man happened to be in New Brunswick yesterday and called on the photographer who was supposed to be represented by the swindler and called for a fulfilment of the agreement on the certificate. The photographer told him that no one was authorized to represent him.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.
Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.
If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CAT CALLED OUT POLICE RESERVES

SET MUSIC-BOX GOING AND FAMILY THOUGHT IT WAS BURGLARS.

There was a burglar scare in the wealthy and exclusive Park place, Brooklyn, section early yesterday morning. It was a scare that brought out the reserves and patrol wagon before it was over.

John A. Ernst, his wife and three daughters live in the big house No. 318 Park place. It was shortly before daybreak that the eldest daughter was awakened by the strains of sweet music. At first she thought she was dreaming, but when more fully awake she recognized a popular rag-time melody and knew it was no figment of the imagination, but the big music box down in the parlor.

Then it occurred to her that music boxes are not set off of their own accord. There was only one conclusion. It was a burglar and he had set the music going by accident. He evidently knew very little about music boxes because he didn't turn the music off. It played from the selection into another without a stop.

The entire family was awakened in a short time and a council of war was held. As it would have been dangerous to go downstairs Mr. Ernst telephoned to Police Headquarters and they in turn notified the Grand avenue station.

A squad of police piled into the patrol wagon and hurried to the house. They found it dark, and after surrounding it tried to gain an entrance. Every door was locked. Mr. Ernst threw down a key. The police entered, and with drawn pistols and gum-shoe tread, entered the parlor. Seated upon the plush cover of the big music box was the burglar, carefully engaged in grooming his head and ears.

It was Toby the tomcat.

QUITS HORSE BREEDING.

Philip N. Jackson Decides to Give Up Enterprise.

Bernardsville, Jan. 30.—Philip N. Jackson, of Newark and Bernardsville, who last spring embarked in the horse breeding business here, has decided to give up the enterprise and dispose of his stock, comprising about thirty horses. They will be sold at auction. At the time Frederick P. Olcott closed out his stock of trotting horses, early in January, 1905, Mr. Jackson was present at the sale and purchased a number of colts and brood mares.

In the lot were some fine blooded animals, and it was believed at the time that Mr. Jackson's venture would be attended by success. A few weeks later Mr. Jackson purchased the 300-acre farm of former Township Collector Frank A. Ballentine, and equipped it for stock raising. This farm is located on the road leading to Liberty Corner, about two miles distant from Bernardsville, and while at the time of the purchase it was regarded as one of the best farms in this section, particularly adapted to the purposes for which Mr. Jackson intended it, he was compelled to spend considerable money on improvements.

Frank D. Ward, formerly trainer for Mr. Olcott for five years, was engaged to take charge of the enterprise, and brought into play his long years of experience in the business. Mr. Jackson, it is understood, found the venture to be an expensive luxury, hence his decision to discontinue.

SAVED THE LIMITED.

Section Foreman on Pennsylvania Found Broken Rail.

New Brunswick, Jan. 30.—Thomas Prenderville, local section foreman at Metuchen, made an important discovery at Metuchen Sunday and saved the Pennsylvania Limited from wreck. The foreman discovered a broken rail on the main line and as quickly as possible rushed to the signal tower at Metuchen and notified the operator, who set the signal against the flyer, which was approaching at the rate of fifty miles an hour.

Prenderville's prompt action was the means of avoiding a terrible accident. The broken rail was at a point where the Pennsylvania tracks are located on an embankment fifteen to twenty feet high. For three hours passenger trains were held up and switched to another track.

Bellevue Patients in Peril.

New York, Jan. 30.—Eight hundred patients in Bellevue Hospital were endangered by fire in the laundry building Sunday, yet, through the quiet and effective work of the hospital fire brigade and the regular firemen, who responded with muffled bells, only a small number in some of the outlying pavilions were awakened. By the prompt work the fire was confined to the laundry with a few thousand dollars' damage. Spontaneous combustion is believed to have started the blaze, a remarkable feature of which was that sheets of asbestos, supposedly fireproof, burned like tinder, according to Steward Philip H. Smith, chief of the hospital fire brigade.

John A. Koch, of East Second street, is again at his place of business after a week's illness.

Plainfield, N. J., January 30, 1906.

Reform is in the air. So is the axe that hovers over the chicken's neck. And the grafters are going to get it just where the axe hits the chicken.

If that second assistant chiefship of the fire department is withheld from him this second time, John Cose can sit down and figure how much politics is like a shell game to the aspiring one

Why is it that the ministers of Plainfield do not show any interest in the local option law now before the Legislature or in the general agitation to improve the liquor law, the subject of conference among the clergy of the State?

"The Man on the Box," one of the best works of fiction presented in the last few years, was begun in serial form in yesterday's issue. The story is by Harold McGrath and the book sale has been one of the greatest on record. In its dramatized form the story is now being presented by Henry E. Dixey, and it is proving as popular as the book itself.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, called himself a foreigner at the Board of Trade banquet the other night, because he lives on what Mayor Smalley calls the chilly side of the brook. We do not feel that way toward North Plainfielders. We regard the North Plainfielder as our brother. And we would like to be our brother's keeper.

Two of the cops spanked by the police committee were charged with being off duty. One of the things brought out by Corporation Counsel Marsh in interpreting the police rule-book at the Kiely trial was that an officer is on duty all the time. How did those two cops get away from duty without committing suicide or resigning? Clearly, they were only technically guilty, if at all. Pay their expenses.

Senator Hillery was brought here for the avowed purpose of showing the good points of his tax law but he failed to "make good" for he attempted the impossible. The arguments presented by the representatives of the various progressive cities of the State at the conference on the tax repealer have brought out its manifold defects. But how is it, we want to ask, if the powers that be were so anxious to get Hillery here to enlighten the people on his queer statute, that they do not take as much interest in the judiciary committee conference? In short, why is it that nearly every city in the State, except Plainfield, is represented?

to the bill, but the fact that it has originated in the Senate should seal its fate. It is a revenue measure, and the Constitution provides that all revenue legislation shall originate in the House.

"The present automobile law needs amending, but in the amending let it be remembered that the automobile has as much right, no more, on the roads as the horse and the bicycle. That it is a vehicle that in the hands of the reckless, or inexperienced, may be dangerous, is warrant for legislation to guard the public against its improper use. To do more than that would be injustice.

"The automobilists ask for a square deal, and they are entitled to it."

SURPRISING STATISTICS IN THE SCHOOL REPORT

SUPT. BAXTER'S ANNUAL STATEMENT IS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

The forthcoming annual report of Charles J. Baxter, State superintendent of public instruction, contains some surprising statistics of the magnitude of the public school interest. They will probably prove a revelation to all except the comparatively few people who study these statistics intelligently in the annual reports.

For the fiscal year 1904-5 the total amount of money for public school purposes aggregated $9,759,602.33. It came from the following sources: Amount appropriated from the State fund, $1,211,679.13; amount appropriated from income of State school fund (riparian leases), $200,000; State school tax, $1,801,911.92; amount raised by district school tax, $6,546,011.28.

This last item will cause many people to open their eyes in astonishment. The general supposition has been that the free public school system of New Jersey derived its chief income from the 2¾ mills State school tax. Until a few years ago this tax was collected directly out of the taxpayers, but thirty-five per cent. of this amount is now paid yearly out of the surplus in the treasury, under the system inaugurated by Governor Stokes when he was Senator from Cumberland. The State tax, including the thirty-five per cent. appropriation, last year amounted to $3,000,000, which is less than one-third the total amount expended in the support of our public schools. This is supplemented by local taxes for the support of the schools levied by the several school districts, aggregating last year $6,546,011.28. The total amount raised for public schools in New Jersey is nearly one per cent. upon the ratables.

Of this total $5,208,838.19 last year went for teachers' salaries; $2,066,635.15 for building, enlarging and repairing schoolhouses, and $435,427.75 for txetbooks and apparatus. There are 9,157 teachers in the State, of whom 8,038 are females. The aerage salary of the teachers is $568.83, being an increase of $5.58 over the preceding year. The total value of public school property in the State is $22,094,076, and the average value of the 1,986 school buildings is $11,592 each. The total number of pupils enrolled is 277,435, an increase of 14,564 over the year before.

Two items of disbursement that will puzzle some people are these: For transportation of pupils $9,791.07, and for tuition of pupils in adjoining districts, $31,751.99. The school laws of New Jersey, as Superintendent Baxter explains in a circular sent out to school officers this week, provide that school facilities must be provided for every child of school age in the State. If the child lives too remote from a school in its own district it must be sent to the nearest school in another district, and its transportation and tuition expenses must be paid out of the school moneys in the district where the child resides. The attorney general has given Mr. Baxter an opinion unreservedly indorsing his views to this effect, as set forth in his circular.

PRINTERS' UNION FINED.

Chicago Judge Also Sends Union President to Jail for Contempt.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—President Edwin R. Wright, of Typographical Union No. 16, was yesterday fined $100 and sentenced to thirty days in jail for contempt by Judge Holdom, of the Supreme Court. Edward Bessette, a member of the union, was fined $50 and sentenced to thirty days in jail. The union itself was fined $1,000.

The charge against the union and its members was violation of an injunction granted some weeks ago by which the members of the union were enjoined from interfering in any manner with the operations of the printing establishments operated by members of the Chicago Typothetae.

"It is not a question whether the injunction is right or wrong," said the Judge. "That will be decided by the upper court, but while it is in force and effect it must be obeyed. If this court cannot be upheld, then government is a fraud and a sham."

An affidavit signed by sixty members of the union, stating that they wer opposed to violence in any form in connection with the strike, was filed with the court.

HE SEES A BOOM IN EAST END REALTY

R. FRENCH SAYS ACTIVE OPERATIONS WILL START IN THE SPRING.

Active real estate operations will be carried on this spring in the East End by the Highland Park Realty Company, which has recently bought the Cole farm, extending from East Front street nearly to the Central Railroad and just above Leland avenue. The tract consists of seventy acres of cleared land. The Highland Park Realty Company, of which Elston M. French is president, is composed of prominent citizens, who are using every effort to make this part of the town a first class residential district.

While other sections of the town have hitherto been given attention by the city government, Mr. French argues it is now time for improvements in the east end of the First ward, which is rapidly increasing in population and new buildings.

Mr. French says: "The Highland Park Realty Company intends spending a large sum of money opening several new streets and also building a number of new houses during the year, and this active work on their part should be encouraged by the city's hearty co-operation. While the company has only had charge of this tract for a little over a month, nearly forty lots have already been sold; this being a good indication of the desirability of the tract. Nearly all the lots are situate on a terrace of from three to five feet above the street levels, and are thirty to forty feet higher than ground in the center of Plainfield. All lots sold are subject to restrictions, so that no spite houses, stores or factories can be built on neighboring property."

SALES AND RENTALS BY E. M. FRENCH AGENCY.

Realty Deals of Importance Reported for January.

During the month a number of fine dwelling properties have been sold and rented through the agency of Elston M. French.

The property on East Front street adjoining the Hyde and Randolph estates was recently purchased by Charles H. Wetzel, a wealthy resident of Brooklyn, who will remove to this city after making some extensive alterations on his new home. Mr. Wetzel's property is particularly attractive on account of the magnificent park of trees on its southerly side and picturesque Green brook in the rear.

Another deal is the sale for a large consideration of the lot of land on the southerly corner of West Seventh street and Madison avenue to Henry B. Coombe, at present residing on Madison avenue. Mr. Coombe expects to erect a handsome home on the tract in the near future.

George O. Earhart, of New York City, has purchased a large tract of land on Rahway road, near Prospect avenue, formerly owned by Robert B. Vail, of Rahway. It is the intention of the new owner to improve the property in the spring.

R. E. McConnell, a New York banker, has rented the large dwelling located at 923 Woodland avenue formerly occupied by W. W. Davenport. Mr. McConnell will take possession of his new home on February 1.

Fred Endress' property on Plainfield avenue, adjoining Robert H. McCutchen's home, has also been rented on a long lease to Frank H. Lewin, of Brooklyn, who will take possession on March 1. The property contains about ten acres of cultivated land and is one of the prettiest places on the outskirts of this city.

Mr. French states that the demand for modern houses to rent is greater than the supply at present.

Mrs. Gjetelsen Surprised.

Mrs. John Gjetelsen, of Watchung avenue, was given a surprise party by a dozen friends last night in honor of her fifty-first birthday. Music, games and refreshments were among the features of the gathering. The affair was arranged by Miss Yetta Ogren and Miss Hilda Hansen. Mrs. Gjetelsen received numerous presents in honor of the occasion.

MADE FIGHT AGAINST FREE ABOLITION BILL

EXPONENTS OF FAT OFFICE CLAIM MEASURE CAN'T BE FRAMED.

Senator Jackson's bill, No. 6, abolishing fees in county offices, was given a hearing yesterday at the State House, Trenton, by the Senate committee on revision of laws, composed of Senators Horner, McKee and Avis. Senator Jackson was not present.

In the absence of Senator Jackson, Chairman Horner said that a prima facie case had been made for the bill and therefore the opponents of the measure would be heard first. The counties were taken up alphabetically and the roll called.

When Passaic was reached Assemblyman Wright said he was both opposed and for the bill, but he gave place to Prosecutor Brown, of Ocean.

Prosecutor Brown said the bill would appeal to his people in most particulars. He said that the county clerk was the hardest worked official and should have a greater compensation. He attacked section four, which gives the approving of accounts to the Board of Freeholders. He said these men were not the ones qualified by education to do this work. He advocated having this work done by one appointed by the Governor, as the best judge of accounts. He also said that the county judge would be a good man to do this work.

Mr. Brown said there was no public demand for the bill in Ocean county and that the salary bill would work a hardship to the county. He believed that it would raise salaries and cost the county more than under the fee system.

Mr. Wright, of Passaic, spoke of his county having a population of nearly 200,000. There was much work in the sheriff's office and under the proposed bill this officer would receive $6,500. He advocated $7,500 for the sheriff, $6,000 for the county clerk and $6,000 for the surrogate.

Senator Lee, of Atlantic, said he believed in the salary system, and wanted the bill to be fair to every one. He believed that salaries would be based on the amount of business done. The committee thought that back to fee system.

Joseph L. Hoff, representing the surrogate of Burlington county, read a statement from the surrogate's office, showing that there was an enormous amount of business there. And the attorneys of the county not having enough moneys to keep balances for work on hand in his office, work was frequently held up. The surrogate believed that his office should be better recompensed than under the provisions of the proposed Jackson law.

Senator Horner, in speaking on the difficulty of framing a law for all counties, said that in some counties the sheriff's office was the busiest, in others, the county clerk, while in some the surrogate's business was deluged with work. He agreed with statements made to him that with the exception of Hudson and Essex, the Atlantic county clerk was the busiest county official in any county of the State.

The committee discussed the advisability of equalizing the work of the different county officers, because in some counties sheriffs did the most work, in others, county clerks, while in others the surrogate was the busy man, but they believed such a course might be unconstitutional.

Senator Jackson, the author of the county salary bill, came in to the hearing at this point. He had been at the State Home for Girls with the Senate committee in charge of that institution.

Senator McKee recommended that when the salary list of the bill reached $5,000, that this be the lowest salary for all counties of smaller population. Senator Jackson said that was not commensurate with the work to be performed.

Senator Lee said that this was getting away from the economy provisions of the bill and that Atlantic county wanted a fair salary bill.

Assemblyman Wright said that the office of sheriff in Passaic county was worth much more than the county clerk, for the sheriff had to hang a couple of men a year and that was worth more money.

County Clerk Patterson, of Camden, said that the bill would work hardships to second class counties, because the disposition would be to ask the Board of Freeholders for more clerks. He thought the fixing of clerks' compensation should be in the hands of the freeholders. If the clerk was of one political faith and the Board of Freeholders of a different political color the freeholders might cripple the clerk. He believed that in such a case the judge would be the safer officer to fix clerical assistance.

At this point the hearing was continued to Monday, February 12, at 4 p. m.

Blew Open a Safe.

Burglars wrecked the safe of the Dillistin Lumber Company, of 70 Barclay street, Paterson, early yesterday morning. The noise of the explosion was so great that it frightened the robbers, who fled without any plunder. The noise attracted many persons to the spot. William Kelly, a telegraph operator, says he saw two men running from the lumber company's office. Their work was that of amateurs.

HIS PLEADINGS DEFECTIVE.

Delay, Therefore, Caused in Suit for $1,000 Before Circuit Court.

In the Union County Circuit Court at Elizabeth yesterday, before Judge Heisley, a suit for $1,000 was brought against the Electric Boat Company, in which several Plainfielders are interested, by Joseph Strain and Charles H. Ebie, who were employes of the company, and were sent to Japan to help construct some electric boats there for the Japanese Government. The men went to Japan in November, 1904, and returned in June, 1905. They were brought to Japan by Arthur L. Busch, who was at one time superintendent of the Crescent Ship Yard, at Elizabethport, when Lewis Nixon controlled that plant.

Mr. Busch returned from Japan last July, when the Electric Boat Company's contract was finished. Strain and Ebie were respectively foreman of fitters and riveters under Mr. Busch. The money they are suing for is overtime, which they claim to be entitled to, but which they allege was never paid. Their lawyer is Jeremiah A. Kiernan, of Elizabeth, while Attorney General McCarter appears for the defendant corporation.

When the case opened Mr. McCarter raised a point that the pleadings of Mr. Kiernan were defective. Judge Heisley, on reading them, said he agreed with the attorney general, but thought the case ought to be tried on its merits and passed upon by a jury. Judge Heisley said he would not consent to an indefinite adjournment, but would put off the case until this afternoon, in order to give Mr. Kiernan a chance to amend his pleadings and have the issue decided by the court.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Theodore Kremer, the author of "Wedded and Parted," has written some twenty odd plays of this style, all but a few of which are now being performed by road companies.

Wilton Lackaye and "The Pit," the play that has drawn crowded houses all over the country for two seasons, is to be one of the early offerings at the New Plainfield.

The "Comedy Quartette," that forms part of the olio in the Elks' minstrels, is sure to be a "scream." We'd like to tell you about it but promised not to when given a peek at last night's rehearsal.

"The Heir to the Hoorah," which was in this city last night, will be at Trenton tonight and Wednesday is presented at Norfolk, Va. From there it makes big jumps westward in order to get to SanFrancisco early in March.

The villain in the Augustus Thomas comedy, "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," which is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night, is not only overpowered in the act of a burglary, but he is instantaneously reformed into a law-abiding, respected citizen as well, through a laughable process of osteopathy performed in full view of the audience.

In each character Mrs. Leslie Carter plays she wears genuine precious stones worth many thousands of dollars, besides the stage jewelry, which is itself valued at a high price. As the queen in "Adrea," for example, Mrs. Carter wears a crown, the jewels and workmanship in which cost $5,000. In "Zaza" all of the jewels she wears are genuine. Her collection of previous stones which she keeps exclusively for stage use, is valued at $100,000. This is aside from what she wears in private.

Will Establish a Game Preserve.

May's Landing, Jan. 30.—The Atlantic County Game Preserve Society has elected County Clerk Lewis P. Scott president and has leased the old Stone mansion, together with 9,000 acres of land, near Estellville, about five miles from this place. A large number of deer, quail, rabbits and foxes inhabit the tract. It is the purpose of the society to propagate this game and stock preserve with Southern quail.

The Hope chapel Christian Endeavor Society will hold a business and social meeting tomorrow night.

For Local Option.

Paterson, Jan. 30.—Laurel Lodge of Good Templars had charge of a gospel temperance service Sunday night in the Union Avenue Baptist church and heard an address by Edward S. Black, of Newark, on the "Glorious Mission of the Good Templars." The congregation indorsed by a standing vote the pending local option bill.

A district meeting of Knights of Pythias will be held in Unity Lodge rooms Thursday night, when a new district deputy will be voted for.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"Wedded and Parted," the greatest of Theodore Kremer's plays, is holding the boards at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and will be put on again tonight. It is a melodrama full of absorbing heart interest and is replete with realism from start to finish. It is acted by a capable cast and is enhanced by a scenic mounting seldom carried by an attraction of this kind.

"Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," the biggest comedy success its author, Augustus Thomas, feels that he has yet had, is to be sent by Charles Frohman to the New Plainfield theatre next Friday for an engagement of one night. The play tells a story that never lags and heaps up domestic complications of the amusing sort in a way that keeps the audience always laughing. The twentieth century Othello in the action is regarded a comical and decidedly clever creation, and the whirl of fun that surrounds him is thought well adapted to drown the biggest possible case of blues.

A strong play of human emotions is "A Wife's Secret," which will make its first bid for popular favor in this city at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night. According to the opinions of critics in other cities where this attraction has appeared this season and last, it is one of the most powerful dramas of its character seen on the stage in a number of years. The story deals with a young wife, nursing a secret sorrow in her bosom that she dare not reveal to her husband, who finally turns her out for fancied wrongs without giving her a chance to vindicate herself. Her pathetic suffering, loyalty and moral courage, trials and hardships and final triumph over her enemies, furnish a beautiful story upon which the playwriter has built a highly dramatic and thoroughly human play. The production of scenery and effects is said to be an elaborate one, and Messrs. Spencer and Aborn, who have the attraction in hand, are reported to have selected a splendid cast of melodramatic favorites to render this their latest offering. Foremost in the cast are Miss Virginia Thornton, in the title role; Mrs. Charles G. Craig, in the unique comedy character of old Aunt Dilsey, a philosophical negro "mammy;" Augustin Glassmire, J. Hooker Wright and others of like standing.

Manager Counihan announces for the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday night, February 13, Richard Carle in the farcical opera triumph, "The Mayor of Tokio," is in the opinion of the press and public, one of the real legitimate successes of the season and justly so inasmuch as there is nothing shoddy about the production and the company is of exceptional merit. The production was built under the personal direction of Mr. Carle, assisted by Archie Gunn, the famous poster-artist who devised the color scheme for two acts and designed each of the four hundred and twelve costumes, and D. Frank Dodge, the celebrated Japanese landscape artist, painted the two massive scenes, said to be a glorious panorama picture of life and color. The company, comprising 90 people, contains many names of players prominent in opera, burlesque and extravaganza, foremost of which are Hortense Mazurette, Emma Janvier, Adele Rowland, Minerva Courtney, Madge Vincent, Florence Willarde, Ada Mitchell, Constance Eastman, Ethel Lloyd, Fred Frear, J. A. Wallerstedt, Sylvain Langlois, William Rock, Jo Smith Marba, Edwin Baker, William Platt, Jesse Caine, and numerous others of equal importance, including the popular "Peanut Ballet," the dainty "Geisha Girls," and the "Blue Ribbon Chorus of America."

WASHING DISHES.

Those who have in charge the most delicate china wash one piece at a time in warm, soapy water, and then rinse them well in cold water, letting them drain on a tray, and drying with soft linen glass cloth to give them a polish.

Fine dinner plates and dishes are washed with soda in the water, so as to make certain that no finger marks are left on them, without rinsing in hot water. They are then rinsed in running water, and put on a plate rack without being dried. If there is a gilt on the china hotter water must be substituted for the soda, which is particularly hard upon gold and sometimes makes it rub off altogether.

New thoughts upon dishwashing do away with many pet theories held by housekeepers First and most radical is the order of washing the dishes followed by a housekeeper trained at a cooking science school. The usual order was followed, and with the glass and the silver, the teacups and saucers, and then the astonished visitor, who wielded the dish towel, found that she was being handed tinware

"I never allow milk buckets, pans or any of my bright tinware to go into the dish water after butter dishes or greasy plates have been in it," said this housekeeper. "The tin dishes that have been merely used in preparing the meal, or even those that have been used for custards and sauces, do not hurt the dish water if they have been prepared properly, by rinsing out anything sticky by a little broom and cold water. They are much cleaner than the plates and platters which have had gravy on them, no matter how fine they may be. As you see, all of my tinware is bright, because I keep it so by putting it into the suds while it is still hot and clean."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

FITZSIMMONS' PLACE TO BE A UNIQUE RESORT.

Will Break Ground Next Week for Other Buildings On Former Dryden Property.

Robert Fitzsimmons, the heavyweight prize-fighter, who recently purchased the Senator John Dryden farm, at West Dunellen, consisting of seventeen acres, for $1,000, has announced his complete plans for the erection of buildings and other accessories for the health resort that he intends conducting. In addition to the three large buildings now on the property he will break ground next week for the erection of a building containing fifty bedrooms, a large glass dining room and a large social hall, which will be fitted with all modern conveniences, including steam heat, and electricity for lighting and cooking purposes.

Ground is now being surveyed for a 50x100 gymnasium, which will be fitted with bowling alleys, rowing machines, grow-tall apparatus and other muscle builders. The swimming pool will be 26x40 feet, and the depth will vary from three feet to twelve. The pool will be constructed of tile. A nine-hole golf course will be laid out, and a baseball diamond will also be a feature. Fitz expects to invest $100,000 in the new enterprise before his entire plans are complete. Fitz positively stated that no liquor or tobacco will be allowed in any portion of the premises. When complete the resort will be one of the most unique of its kind in the country.

GEESE FLYING NORTH.

But Weather Sharps Say They May Be Fooled.

Shortly after midnight this morning large flocks of wild geese flew over the city going northward, and their "honk, honk," made one think of the contemplated automobile airship. Persons acquainted with the habits of these geese, said that it was a sign that there would be no further cold weather. Others whose memory carried them back into the fifties said that in 1858 there was a similar winter and the geese flew north in January, but they regretted it shortly afterward, as a most severe winter set in and continued for several days, that robins and blue birds had begun to build their nests and that they were destroyed by the thousands.

"Geese," said one old timer, "can get fooled as well as anybody else, although they are not the only ones who 'make a goose of themselves.'"

Annie Morando Again.

Mrs. Annie Morando, of this city, was arrested for drunkenness at Elizabeth Saturday afternoon, and gave considerable trouble to the police, and then in court gave an exhibition of vindictiveness. When Officer Moser went to arrest her on Elizabeth avenue, near Broad street, she dropped down on the sidewalk and refused to move. As she weighs 230 pounds, the cop had his troubles. The patrol wagon was called. Fighting, scratching and calling names, the woman was finally forced into the wagon. In police court yesterday Judge Mahon gave her thirty days. There is a heavy ink well on the judge's bench. "I'm sorry I did'nt hit him in the eye with it," remarked Mrs. Morando amiably, as the cops led her to the lockup.

Mrs. George Saums, of West Front street, is seriously ill at her home.

CHAPTER III.

THE ADVENTURE BEGINS.

It was only when the ship was less than a day's journey off Sandy Hook that the colonel came on deck, once more to resume his interest in human affairs. How the girl hovered about him! She tucked the shawl more snugly around his feet; she arranged and rearranged the pillows back of his head; she fed him from a bowl of soup; she read from some favorite book; she smoothed the furrowed brow; she stilled the long, white, nervous fingers with her own small, firm, brown ones; she was mother and daughter in one. Wherever she moved, the parent eye followed her, and there lay in its deeps a strange mixture of love. All the while he drummed ceaselessly on the arms of his chair.

And Mr. Robert, watching all these things from afar, Mr. Robert sighed dolorously. The residue air in his lungs was renewed more frequently than nature originally intended it should be. Love has its beneficences as well as its pangs, only they are not wholly appreciable by the recipient. For what is better than a good pair of lungs constantly filled and refilled with pure air? Mr. Robert even felt a twinge of remorse besides. He was brother to a girl almost as beautiful as yonder one (to my mind far more beautiful!) and he recalled that in two years he had not seen her nor made strenuous efforts to keep up the correspondence. Another good point added to the score of love! And, alas! he might never see this charming girl again, this daughter so full of filial love and care. He had sought the captain, but that hale and hearty old sea-dog had politely rebuffed him.

"My dear young man," he said, "I do all I possibly can for the entertainment and comfort of my passengers, but in this case I must refuse your request."

"And pray, why, sir?" demanded Mr. Robert, with dignity.

"For the one and simple reason that Col. Annesley expressed the desire to be the recipient of no ship introductions."

"What the deuce is he, a billionaire?"

"You have me there, sir. I confess that I know nothing whatever about him. This is the first time he has ever sailed on my deck."

All of which perfectly accounts for Mr. Robert's sighs in what musicians call the doloroso. If only he knew the colonel! How simple it would be! Certainly, a West Point graduate would find some consideration. But the colonel spoke to no one save his daughter, and his daughter to no one save her parent, her maid, and the stewardess. Would they remain in New York, or would they seek their far-off southern home? Oh, the thousands of questions which surged through his brain! From time to time he glanced sympathetically at the colonel, whose fingers drummed and drummed and drummed.

"Poor wretch! his stomach must be in bad shape. Or maybe he has the palsy." Warburton mused upon the curious incertitude of the human anatomy.

But Col. Annesley did not have the palsy. What he had is at once the greatest blessing and the greatest curse of God—remembrance, or conscience, if you will.

What a beautiful color her hair was, dappled with sunshine and shadow! . . . Pshaw! Mr. Robert threw aside his shawl and book (it is of no real importance, but I may as well add that he never completed the reading of that summer's most popular novel) and sought the smoking-room, where, with the aid of a fat perfecto and a liberal stack of blues, he proceeded to divert himself till the boat reached quarantine. I shall not say that he left any of his patrimony at the mahogany table with its green-baize covering and its little brass disks for cigar ashes, but I am certain that he did not make one of those stupendous winnings we often read about and never witness. This much, however: he made the acquaintance of a very important personage, who was presently to add no insignificant weight on the scales of Mr. Robert's destiny.

He was a Russian, young, handsome, suave, of what the newspapers insist on calling distinguished bearing. He spoke English pleasantly but imperfectly. He possessed a capital fund of anecdote, and Warburton, being an army man, loved a good droll story. It was a revelation to see the way he dipped the end of his cigar into his coffee, a stimulant which he drank with Balzacian frequency and relish. Besides these accomplishments, he played a very smooth hand at the great American game. While Mr. Robert's admiration was not aroused, it was surely awakened.

Mr. hero had no trouble with the customs officials. A brace of old French dueling pistols and a Turkish simitar were the only articles which might possibly have been dutiable. The inspector looked hard, but he was finally convinced that Mr. Robert was not a professional curio-collector.

Col. Annesley and his daughter were old hands; they had gone through all this before. Scarce an article in their [illegible]

Once outside, the colonel caught the eye of a cabby, and he and his daughter stepped in.

"Holland House, sir, did you say?" asked the cabby.

The colonel nodded. The cabby cracked his whip, and away they rolled over the pavement.

Warburton's heart gave a great bound. She had actually leaned out of the cab, and for one brief moment their glances had met. Scarce knowing what he did, he jumped into another cab and went pounding after. It was easily ten blocks from the pier when the cabby raised the lid and peered down at his fare.

"Do you want t' folly them ahead?" he cried

"No, no!" Warburton was startled out of his wild dream. "Drive to the Holland House—no—to the Waldorf. Yes, the Waldorf; and keep your nag going?"

"Waldorf it is, sir!" The lid above closed.

Clouds had gathered in the heavens. It was beginning to rain. But Warburton neither saw the clouds nor felt the first few drops of rain. All the way up-town he planned and planned—as many plans as there were drops of rain; the rain wet him, but the plans drowned him—he became submerged. If he could find some one he knew at the Holland House, some one who would strike up a smoking-room acquaintance with the colonel, the rest would be simple enough. Annesley—Annesley; he couldn't place the name. Was he a regular, retired, or a veteran of the Civil War? And yet, the name was not totally unfamiliar. Certainly, he was a fine-looking old fellow, with his white hair and Alexandrian nose. And here he was, he, Robert Warburton, in New York, simply because he happened to be in the booking office of the Gare du Nord one morning and overheard a very beautiful girl say: "Then we shall sail from Southampton day after to-morrow." Of a truth, it is the infinitesimal things that count heaviest.

So deep was he in the maze of his tentative romance that when the cab finally stopped abruptly, he was totally unaware of the transition from activity to passivity.

"Hotel, sir!"

"Ah, yes!" Warburton leaped out, fumbled in his pocket, and brought fourth a five-dollar note, which he gave to the cabby.

Warburton rushed into the noisy, gorgeous lobby, and wandered about till he espied the desk. Here he turned over his luggage checks to the clerk and said that these accessories of travel must be in his room before eight o'clock that night, or there would be trouble. It was now half after five. The clerk eagerly scanned the register. Warburton, Robert Warburton; it was not a name with which he was familiar. A thin film of icy hauteur spread over his face.

"Very well, sir. Do you wish a bath with your room?"

"Certainly." Warburton glanced at his watch again.

"The price—"

"Hang the price! A room, a room with a bath—that's what I want. Have you got it?" This was said with a deal of real impatience and a hauteur that overtopped the clerk's.

The film of ice melted into a gracious smile. Some new millionaire from Pittsburg, thought the clerk. He swung the book around.

"You have forgotten your place of residence, sir" he said.

"Place of residence!"

Warburton looked at the clerk in blank astonishment. Place of residence? Why, heaven help him, he had none, none! For the first time since he left the army the knowledge came home to him, and it struck rather deep. He caught up the pen, poised it an indecisive moment, then hastily scribbled Paris: as well Paris as anywhere.

Our homeless young gentleman lighted a cigar and went out under the portico. An early darkness had settled over the city, and a heavy steady rain was falling. The asphalt pavements glistened and twinkled as far as the eye's range could reach. A thousand lights gleamed down on him, and he seemed to be standing in a canon dappled with fireflies. Place of residence! Neither the fig-tree nor the vine! Did he lose his money tomorrow, the source of his small income, he would be without a roof over his head. True, his brother's roof would always welcome him: but a roof-tree of his own! And he could lay claim to no city, either, having had the good fortune to be born in a healthy country town. Place of residence! Truly he had none; a melancholy fact which he had not appreciated till now. And all this had slipped his mind because of a pair of eyes as heavenly blue as a rajah's sapphire.

"But there's always a fatted calf waiting in Washington," he laughed aloud. "Once a soldier, always a soldier. I suppose I'll be begging the colonel to have a chat with the president There doesn't seem to be any way of getting out of it. I'll have to don the old togs again. I ought to write a letter to Nancy, but it will be finer to drop in on 'em unexpectedly. Bless her heart! (So say I!) And Jack's, too, and his little wife's! And I haven't written a line in eight weeks. But I'll make it up in ten minutes. And if I haven't a roof-tree, at least I've got the ready cash and can buy one any day." All of which proves that Mr. Robert possessed a buoyant spirit, and refused to be downcast for more than one minute at a time.

He threw away his cigar and re-entered the hotel, and threaded his way through the appalling labyrinths of corridors till he found some one to guide him to the barber shop, where he could have his hair cut and his beard trimmed in the good old American way, money no object. For a plan had at last come to him; and it wasn't at all bad. He determined to dine at the Holland House at eight-thirty. It was quite possible that he would see her.

He left the hotel, hailed a cab, and was driven down Fifth avenue. He stopped before the fortress of privileges. From the cab it looked very formidable. Worldly as he was, he was somewhat innocent. He did not know that Ne York hotels are formidable only when your money gives out. To get past all these brass-buttoned lackeys and to go on as though he really had business within took no small quantity of nerve. However, he slipped by the outpost without any challenge and boldly approached the desk. A quick glance at the register told him that they had indeed put up at this hotel. He could not explain why he felt so happy over his discovery. There are certain exultations which are inexplicable. As he turned away from the desk, he bumped into a gentleman almost as elegantly attired as himself.

"I beg your pardon!" he cried, stepping aside.

"What? Mr. Warburton?"

Mr. Robert, greatly surprised and confused, found himself shaking hands with his ship acquaintance, the Russian.

"I am very glad to see you again, Count," said Warburton, recovering.

"A great pleasure! It is wonderful how small a city is. I had never expect' to see you again. Are you stopping here?" I had intended to try to reproduce the Russian's dialect, but one dialect in a book is enough; and we haven't reached the period of its activity.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." DR. SHEKEL AND MR. SNYDE.

I have read of his fame in the papers
And gazed on his picture with pride,
"Dr. Shekel can cure! The friend of the poor!"
But I never have seen Mr. Snyde.
Yet in high patent-medical circles,
Where Shekel is lauded to fame,
I've heard it inferred, by a hint, by a word,
That Shekel and Snyde are the same!

That a psychical, strange metamorphical change
Comes over that healer of pain,
That at will he can slide to the aspect of Snyde,
Or presto! be Shekel again.
(Shekel and Snyde in a single man
Graft on a purely medicinal plan
To sell a brew to the idiots who Believe in a Heathen Science.
Snyde in secret mixes the stuff,
Shekel in public sells enough
What a frightfully neat appliance!)

When invalids come to his office
A kindly old man doth appear.
"I can cure you," says he, "for a nominal fee,"
Then he fades to a room in the rear,
When he mixes a poison prescription,
Phenacetin, chloral, cocaine,
And labels the dope, "Shekel's Waters of Hope,"
As he grins in a cynical vein.
"It's swift and it's sure; if it kills it's a cure!
'Twill ease 'em of money and pain."
Thus chuckles inside the demoniac Synde
Ere he changes to Shekel again.

(Shekel and Snyde is the way they do
To play both ends and the middle, too.
"The more you take, the more we make,"
Is the motto of Heathen Science.
Shekel shows his benevolent side,
But when he changes to hideous Snyde
He rolls his pills for the Tast that Kills—
What a frightfully neat appliance!)

There's "Shekel's Pate Pills for the Puny," "Brain Cordial," and "Belgian Nerve Bean."
Cheap whiskey in some, in others bad rum,
In others judicious morphine.
When a funeral trolls by his office,
"Tut, tut!" says the Doctor inside,
"It's really a shame, and there's no one to blame
But that naughty bad man, Mr. Synde!"
Then he fades to the rear and turns to the queer
Old Devil who sings the refrain,
"It's swift and it's sure; when it kills it's a cure!"
Ere he changes to Shekel again.

(Shekel and Snyde—just another name
For the double deck of a bunco game
To squeeze the tin from the pale and thin
Believers in Heathen Science.
The ranker the poison the more they sell—
Quacks would starve if folks kept well.
So their favorite trick is to keep 'em sick
By their frightfully neat appliance.)

—Wallace Irwin, in Collier's Weekly for December 2, 1905.

BASEBALL PROSPECTS IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

INTERACADEMIC LEAGUE PROMISES TO ENLIVEN MATTERS.

As the basketball season is on the wane, interest is being renewed in baseball and preparations are being made among the various school teams for 1906. In every school in this part of the State the baseball enthusiasm seems to exceed that of other years, which is no doubt due to the fact that the outlook for material is very promising.

Although a little early to make any predictions, the Interacademic League is expected to furnish a closer race than last season. What the season will bring for the Interscholastic it is difficult to say although in most cases many of last year's players will be found on the various teams with which they played. All that is needed to make the season a success is close contest for premier position in the two leagues.

While Plainfield will not be represented in the Interscholastic League, there will be representation in the Interacademic League by Leal's School. In the schedule just announced it is learned that the Montclair Military Academy will play here on May 5, and Newark Academy will appear here on May 26. Both of these games will be good ones, and as the local management is planning for a strong team, it ought to make a better showing than ever on the diamond.

The Plainfield High School team will be a strong one this year and with Smith and Davis as the battery, it should be able to score many victories. Among the games scheduled is one with Montclair High School on June 2. Manager Gavett is now busy completing his schedule, which will be the strongest in the history of the High School.

It is regretted that there will be no games between the P. H. S., Newark H. S. and Orange H. S., as such contests would arouse considerable enthusiasm and increase the interest in the sport as well as maintain friendly relations. Contests with Newark, Orange and teams of like strength would show just how good the local team is.

The P. H. S. candidates for the team will soon begin practice and within another month the regular aggregation will be selected for the season's work. Games will be seen here this season with Morris High School and possibly Erasmus Hall, of New York, while other aggregations from the metropolitan district will appear on the local diamond.

WANTS HALF OF THE BIG ASTOR FORTUNE.

Man in Pittsburg Is Organizing the Heirs to Get About $180,000,000.

Pittsburg, Jan. 30.—Declaring it his intention to get possession of $180,000,000, half of the present fortune of the Astors, a man introducing himself as Abner Emery, of Lewiston, Okla., is in Pittsburg trying to find the heirs of John Emery. John Emery, according to the story told by Abner Emery, was a partner of John Jacob Astor, and they were in business together when Astor started the fur trade in Astoria, Wash.

It is asserted that John Emery left a will, leaving his share of the business to his heirs, but that this will was not discovered for seventy-five years. Abner Emery says that this will was opened several years ago, and that since then he has been hunting the other heirs. He says that he has found 480 heirs.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

BASKET BALL.

The management of the P. H. S. girls' basketball team has cancelled all games until after the mid-year examinations.

It is reported that Ray Smith, of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team, may be obliged to retire from the game owing to his health. He is one of the best players on this fast team.

It is regretted that Co. K does not organize a basketball team. The armory is well equipped for play and there is plenty of good material in the organization to draw from.

The P. H. S. basketball team will play the Y. M. C. A. first team on Saturday night, the association having cancelled the game scheduled with the Xavier Deaf Mutes, of New York.

Manager Paul Collier, of the P. H. S. basketball team, has scheduled a game with the Monclair High School team to be played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on February 21. The first game this season between the teams resulted in a victory for Montclair, it being the first scholastic defeat for P. H. S.

ADMITS HE KILLED MISS F. W. ALLINSON.

Rufus Johnson Makes a Full Confession of His Crime.

Baltimore, Jan. 30.—Rufus Johnson, the negro arrested here for the murder of Miss Florence W. Allinson, at Moorestown, N. J., on January 18, confessed last night to the police after days of strenuous denials and earnest pleas not to be taken to New Jersey. He was driven to confession by the disproval of successive false statements.

He says that he had no accomplice. In his statement Johnson said that he went to the Allinson barn very early on Thursday morning, January 18, and that while he was lying in the hay, between 6 and 7 o'clock, a woman, he does not know who, came to the barn and fed the cow. About 11 o'clock, he said, Miss Allinson came to the barn. He choked her into insensibility and was about to leave when she showed signs of returning consciousness. He again attacked her, and after she once more became insensible he cut a strap from a blanket and fastened it about her neck.

Detective Brings Johnson Back.

Mount Holly, Jan. 30.—Detective Parker went before Justice Clevenger yesterday and entered a formal complaint of murder against Rufus Johnson, the negro now under arrest at Baltimore in connection with the murder of Miss Allinson. Armed with the warrant Parker left for Trenton and today will obtain extradition papers from Governor Stokes. He will then proceed to Baltimore to bring Johnson back here.

WOMAN OF 102 IS DYING.

Mrs. Doremus Until Recently Was Active and in Good Health.

Caldwell, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Sarah Hall Doremus, who is nearly 103 years old, is confined to her bed for the first time in thirty years, a victim of diabetes, and her death is expected within a few hours.

"Aunt Sally," as she is known to the residents of the Parsippany end of the county, has lived there all of her life. Her husband, John Doremus, was more than eighty years old when he died, and her son, Abraham, with whom she lives, celebrated his golden wedding anniversary before his mother became a centenarian. When ninety-five years old "Aunt Sally" walked more than three miles to church every Sunday. On her one hundredth birthday relatives invited her to take an automobile ride, but she refused. She went to Newark behind a pair of horses, however.

MANY ACCIDENTS IN A DAY.

Pedricktown Physicians Busy Dressing People's Injuries.

Pedricktown, Jan. 30.—A series of accidents, all in one day, has stirred up Pedricktown people and doctors and surgeons were kept on the go. Miss Anna Boody fell down cellar and broke her arm; Wilson, a young son of Curtis Mathis, fell on a piece of glass and cut an artery in his hand; a small son of William Tull fell down stairs and broke an ankle; Howard Cooper was kicked in the face by a colt; while driving in the barn on a load of hay Frank Hampton was thrown off and badly injured; John Pedrick ran a rusty nail in his foot, and Mrs. Hannah Lester is suffering injuries received in a fall.

Grand Jury Investigating Accident.

A large delegation of Rahway citizens were before the Union county Grand Jury today relative to the investigation being made as to the killing of a woman on the Pennsylvania Railroad recently. It is thought that the Grand Jury will make some recommendations as to railroad crossings at Rahway.

Andrew Wilson is seriously ill at his home in Craig place.

LOCAL OPTION APPROVED.

Meeting of Chatham Names Committee to Advance Miller Bill.

Chatham, Jan. 30.—A union service was held in the Ogden Memorial Presbyterian church Sunday evening to take some action in regard to the local option bill now before the Legislature and to urge the members from this district to do all they can toward passing the Miller bill. Rev. D. Macnaughtan presided.

Guy Winton said that local option was no new thing, as Chatham Township voted on it some thirty years ago, and no liquor was sold in the community for several years. He said then that the old conditions were revived here by Madison, which was then part of Chatham Township.

Ralph E. Lum explained the provision of the present bill. On motion of Rev. C. E. Huselgrave, Ralph E. Lum, Lawrence Day and Charles E. Hewitt were named as a committee to confer with the law-makers of this district and send a representative to Trenton tomorrow for the furtherance of the bill.

NEW IDEA IN SOUVENIRS.

Sunday School Members Out of Town Send Back Postal Cards.

Burlington, Jan. 30.—Souvenir postcard collecting has reached into the churches and a collection is now being started by the First Baptist Sunday school of this city. The idea has been adopted as a means of keeping in touch with the members of the Sunday school who are out of town over Sunday. Each scholar absent is requested to mail a souvenir card of the place where he is stopping and with his name signed, to the secretary of the school, who will place it on the bulletin board in the Sunday school room.

A few of these cards have already been received and one of these is from the superintendent of the school, Dr. W. E. Hall, who, with Mrs. Hall, sailed two weeks ago on the steamer Celtic for an extended tour through the Holy Land.

RENEW LIQUOR LICENSES

Regular Applications to be Filed With Common Council on Monday Night.

TWELVE AT PRESENT

Not Likely That Any New Ones Will Be Granted—No Repealer of Saloon Zone Ordinance.

A question of absorbing interest will engage the attention of the Common Council on Monday night, when the various applications for liquor licenses will be presented. Action is taken between the regular February and March meetings, so that those who are to receive their licenses may have them by March 1.

There is every reason to believe that there will be at least twelve applicants, omitting that of Charles Schanz, who retired from the business under peculiar circumstances. For a time it was thought that John J. Goff would apply again for a license for his hotel on West Front street, but recently it was announced that he had been instructed that it would be useless for him to make another attempt, in the light of previous events.

Those who will undoubtedly apply are Jerome Leary, J. A. Staats, A. D. Findlay, Henry Windham, Messrs. Clark, Michael Watson, Henry Haurand, John Rafferty, Jacob Blimm, Charles Gloeckler, Frank Linke and the Eastern Bottling Association. These are all regular applicants and now hold licenses. Whether there will be any new applications is not known at present. The license committee has no intimation that there will be.

There has been some speculation as to whether there would be an attempt to repeal the "saloon district" ordinance adopted by last year's Common Council. A representative for The Daily Press, in speaking with one of the members of the Common Council on this subject, was informed that he had no knowledge of such a move and he doubted whether the ordinance would be repealed.

If there are no new applicants for licenses from persons wishing to do business outside of the "quarantine district," there would be not necessity for repealing the ordinance. As far as can be learned there is no disposition on the part of the present members of the Common Council to agitate the question of repealing the ordinance or to stir up the license question in any way.

The $1,000 license fee adopted last year is also likely to remain as it is. A majority of the members, it is said, favor this fee, and if the question is raised, would vote to have it continued another year.

As to the place now conducted by John Goff on West Front street, it has been intimated that the property may change hands and that another party will apply for a license. This is probable, if the owner, George Seeber, of the Rising Sun Brewing Company, learns that it is impossible for party will apply for a license.

FLORISTS' CHANGE.

Miss Lincoln to Transfer Business to Mrs. Denton.

Owing to poor health, Miss Lincoln, the Park avenue florist, has decided to retire from business for a year or so, and she has made arrangements whereby Mrs. L. J. Denton, the West Front street florist, will take possession of her greenhouse and combine the two businesses. Mrs. Denton leases Miss Lincoln's business and will be the sole proprietor. The change will take effect soon. Miss Lincoln is now planning to spend some time in travel in the hope that the change may prove beneficial.

Mrs. Denton's store on West Front street has been leased to a Mr. Morris, of Lakewood, who will conduct a clothing business there.

His Eighty-first Birthday.

Dan S. Roberts, the former liveryman, is quietly celebrating his eighty-first birthday at his home on Prospect place today. Since retiring from business a short time ago, Mr. Roberts has been living quietly but still takes a keen interest in the affairs of the city and borough. He has been kept busy during the day responding to congratulations.

Lincoln's Birthday Entertainment.

A Lincoln entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on Lincoln's birthday, Monday night, February 12, at 8:15. There will be orchestral and vocal selections. The Musical Stewart will be a special feature. A silver offering will be received at the box office.

Bride-to-Be Entertained Choir.

Following the rehearsal for the Reinhart-Corbin wedding at Grace church, last night, the choir of the church was entertained by Miss Reinhart, who provided a pleasant repast in the parish house.

CHECKS WORTHLESS, ELLIOTT IS ACCUSED

MANY COMPLAINANTS AGAINST MAN WHO ISSUED CHECKS FOR SMALL SUMS.

Upon the complaint of Alexander Kane, Justice Mosher issued a warrant today for the arrest of William Elliott on a charge of passing worthless checks. Mrs. Elliott called on Mr. Kane yesterday, purchased a glass which cost him twenty cents and, it is alleged, gave a check for $1 in payment, receiving eighty cents in change. This morning, Mr. Kane asked H. E. Gayle to cash the check and was informed that it was no good, that he had received a similar one recently.

That aroused Mr. Kane's suspicion and he called at the First National Bank, upon which the check was drawn, and was told that it was no good. He was given to understand, it is alleged, that Mr. Elliott had frequently given checks for various amounts not exceeding one dollar, but that he had no account at the bank at present.

Further investigation by Mr. Kane, it is said, brought him the information that W. B. Heidloff and A. M. Griffen had also received these checks.

J. G. GASTON MAY BE SOMERVILLE'S P. M.

Postmaster George W. Cooper Said to Be Slated to Go.

There is a strong possibility that a new postmaster will be appointed for Somerville within a short time and among those prominently mentioned for the place is John G. Gaston, a well-known business man and first vice president of the First National Bank at Somerville.

It is understood that since the investigation of the affairs of Postmaster George W. Cooper, other things have come to light which show them to be in an unsatisfactory condition and as a result a change will be made.

Former Senator Charles A. Reed left this morning for Washington, where he will have an interview with President Roosevelt regarding the postoffice affairs at Somerville. It is understood that he will seek the appointment for Mr. Gaston.

Mrs. Odell's Engagements.

Mrs. Fred Odell, formerly organist and choirmaster at the Church of the Holy Cross, has been engaged to preside at the organ for the rendition of several oratorios to be given at St. Mark's Episcopal church, Tarrytown, N. Y. In March Stainer's "The Daughters of Jairus" will be given, and on Maund. Thursday, April 12, "The Crucifixion." These oratorios are to be given by the large church choir. Mrs. Odell is still residing here for the present.

Girls Extradited.

Lizzie Bednarik and Louise Rehak, the servant girls who stole, it is alleged, $300 worth of clothes from Samuel Huntington's house and decamped to New York, were turned over to Chief Kiely by the authorities there yesterday. The transfer followed the completion of extradition proceedings at Albany. Chief Kiely went to Albany personally, to make sure that no hitch occurred.

Cast Included Local Women.

Miss Florence Racey, who took the part of "Mrs. Kennedy" in the performances of "Wedded and Parted" at the New Plainfield theatre yesterday afternoon and night, is a former Plainfield young woman. She resided on East Fifth street and is well known by residents in that section. She has been on the stage for several years and has been meeting with favorable criticism.

AUTO BILL A FOOL THING

That's What William Jeffery Wrote Governor Who Wants to See Him.

GIVES HIS OBJECTION

Plainfielder Voices Mayor Smalley's Proposition for Wider Roads as a Solution of the Automobile Question.

Upon the invitation of Governor E. C. Stokes, William Jeffery, of North Plainfield, an exponent of equal taxation and limited franchises, will soon visit the home of the State Executive to discuss Senator Frelinghuysen's proposed auto measure. When Mr. Jeffery considered the bill it stirred him to such an extent that he immediately decided to write the Governor. In this letter he freely expressed his ideas in the plain and straightforward manner for which he is noted.

Governor Stokes was evidently impressed with the argument put forth by Mr. Jeffery and courteously invited him to call and talk with him in person about the matter.

Mr. Jeffery's letter to the Governor, and the reply, follow:

"January 26, 1906.

"Governor Stokes,
"Trenton, N. J.

"My Dear Sir:

"First, I am a voter of the county of Somerset, residing at 95 Duer street, North Plainfield. I am a Republican.

"Senator Frelinghuysen's proposed bill affecting automobiles is a fool thing, and I cannot persuade myself to believe that our State will countenance such discriminate legislation. It is well enough to regulate the speed of automobiles and tax automobiles at a moderate rate, if the taxes are spent in improving our roads. We have a lot of sixteen-foot roads hereabout and, as Newton Smalley remark at the Plainfield Board of Trade dinner last evening, sixteen feet is not enough. It makes very little difference whether au auto travels at eight miles an hour or twenty, except that by traveling quickly the driver of a horse and carriage might feel that the quicker the pass was over the better. It is fair to assume that the owners of automobiles exercise the same care with their machines as you do or any other person with their property. Climbing telegraph poles and destroying property with automobiles is very expensive.

"Owners of automobiles will exercise more care in selecting chauffeurs for fear of having their necks broken than you or your legislators can by trying to legislate brains into chauffeurs' heads.

"The fine and imprisoment of this proposed law is similar to the law unenfroced in New York, where they provide a fine of $500 for spitting on the sidewalk, and nobody gets fined.

"Yours very truly,
"WILLIAM JEFFREY."

"State of New Jersey,
"Executive Department.
"January 29, 1906.

"My Dear Mr. Jeffery:

"I have your very bright and readable favor of the twenty-sixth. I shall be very glad to talk with you in person about this matter.

"Very sincerely yours,
"(Signed) E. C. STOKES.

"Mr. William Jeffery,
"Plainfield, N. J.

NABS A FLEEING AUTOIST

Officer Checks F. L. Bulkley's Attempt to Get Away After the Accident.

VERY NARROW ESCAPE

Thrown Out of Buggy When Touring Car Crashed Into It—Bulkley Rebuked by James E. Martine.

A big covered touring automobile, driven by the owner, F. L. Buckley, of Westfield, ran into and wrecked a buggy driven by Morris A. Keizer, of New York, on West Front street, in front of the Babcock building, late yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Nathan Sachs, of 23 Somerset street, and her small child, who were in the carriage with Keizer, were thrown out. Buckley was arrested, after an attempt to get away.

Buckley is charged with fast driving. He denies the accusation, but his machine hit the buggy with force enough to tear the rear all to pieces. Buckley claims he was pocketed by cars and wagons, and that he couldn't avoid smashing into the buggy, although he was on his lowest speed notch. Mrs. Sachs struck the roadway with considerable force when the crash occurred, but escaped with a bruised arm. The baby was not hurt.

Buckley drove on without pausing to see the extent of the damage. He had three women in the machine with him. A man in a buggy, driving ahead of him, told Officer Saffron at Somerset street of the accident, and the bluecoat held the automobilist up to place him under arrest.

The auto, followed by Keizer, Mrs. Sachs and the latter's husband, to whom the carriage belonged, was taken to police headquarters. James E. Martine, who saw the accident and declares Buckley was going fast, confronted the autoist at the station house door and gave him a warm laying out. Buckley had been losing his sangfroid rapidly and the Martine lashing took the last bit of ginger out of him.

He was quiet and anxious to please when Judge Runyon, who was summoned by Chief Kiely as soon as Buckley was brought in, had him arraigned. The magistrate decided that he was responsible enough to release under his own recognizance, and put off the hearing until Saturday morning, to give both the police and the defendant a chance to secure witnesses.

Mr. Sachs has retained Lawyer Francis J. Blatz, of the First National Bank building, to press the case against Bulkley. Mr. Blatz said this morning that he had evidence to prove the autoist had made a wide and reckless sweep to the wrong side of the roadway in hitting the buggy. It was intimated that a civil action would follow Bulkley's refusal to settle for the damage to the buggy.

LODGES ARE INTERESTED.

Will Compete for Gavel to Be Awarded at Band Concert Fair.

Interest in the coming band concert fund fair has been aroused among local lodges by a voting contest that Promoter La Vere has announced. Visitors to Saengerbund Hall are to be entitled to a vote, and the organization receiving the largest number will be awarded a handsome gold mounted gavel. Several lodges have already planned to secure it and are securing the aid of friends in getting votes.

The preliminary plans for the fair have been completed and it will be a big event. All the singers who are to appear will do a double "turn" on the night they hold the programme, giving selections at 9 and 10 o'clock among the vocalists already secured are "Billy" Redmond, Fred Elliott, Jack Drislane, Theodore Morse, Bert Fitzgibbon and Nick Parker.

M. C. Van Arsdale has again been secured to act as treasurer of the band concert fund, and F. M. Slater will act in this capacity during the fair.

Flash Went Off Too Soon.

There was a party at J. W. Van Scikle's house, East Third street, last night, and Willie Van Sickle, who owns a camera, wanted a picture of the gathering. He posed the guests and got his father to hold the pan of flash powder while he sighted his machine at the group. The powder went off too soon, and caught Mr. Van Sickle with his guard down. His hands were burned and his mustache and hair were singed. The guests were scared, but there was no other damage. Willie didn't take a picture.

Exchanged Properties.

Henry P. Seader and John Goodman, of the borough, have exchanged properties. On April 1 Mr. Goodman will occupy Mr. Seader's house on West Fifth street, corner Stanley place, and Mr. Seader will remove to Mr. Goodman's house, 102 Manning avenue.

KEROSENE HURRIED FIRE

It Worked So Well That the Stove Blew Up.

BOYFIRE-BUILDER HURT

Donald Patterson's Face Burned, His Hair Scorched Off, and More Serious Injury Very Narrowly Averted.

Donald Patterson, the young son of James Patterson, of West Front street, wanted his breakfast in a hurry early this morning, and an older brother went into the kitchen to help him. The brother decided that kerosene would liven up the fire and poured some on. Donald touched a match to it.

In the explosion that followed he lost a lot of hair and skin, and the kitchen was nearly wrecked. The lids and other loose sections of the stove were blown all over the room, and the rest of the family, who were still in bed, were awakened with a start that threw them into a panic.

Donald had a narrow escape from serious injury The sheet of flame that followed the explosion came too quickly to give him time to jump back, and it enveloped his head and face. The hair from the top of his head, and his face was scorched, but his eyes closed instinctively, just in time to save them from injury.

Donald was made comfortable with home remedies. The stove was in worse shape than the boy, and breakfast was a good deal later than if Donald had made the fire with a rotating stick.

MERCHANT WANTS BOTTLE FOUND IN FISH'S STOMACH.

Fred Ivamy, the Finder, Decides to Let Him Have It For Window Display.

Fred Ivamy, the West Second street seafood dealer, who found a bottle containing a message in the stomach of a bloater smelt, has received an offer from W. P. Gill, of the W. P. Gill Company, commission merchants, New York, for the glass receptacle. Mr. Gill is well acquainted with the members of the T. B. Eaton firm, of Toronto, whose trade name was stamped in the bottle and he wants to send it to them for a window display and souvenir.

The finder intended keeping it for the same reason but Mr. Gill has been so anxious to secure it he has decided to let him have it. Accordingly the bottle will be sent back to its original starting point after travelling a distance of more than 2,000 miles.

The fish that carried the bottle was in a barrel sold Mr. Ivamy by the Gill company and the fact of its discovery was learned by the firm through the newspapers.

MISS FOUNTAIN'S FUNERAL.

Quotations from Her Valedictory Address Used in Service.

At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Fountain, of Jackson avenue, the funeral of Miss Sadie S. Fountain was held yesterday afternoon. It was in charge of Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends.

The service was concluded with quotations from Miss Fountain's valedictory address delivered by her last June at the graduating exercises of the North Plainfield High School. The young woman was but eighteen years old and was greatly liked by a large circle of acquaintances.

The floral tributes were numerous and included set pieces from school friends and others. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

Forty-one Indictments.

The Union County Grand Jury having completed its work, presented a report to the court this morning. Thirty indictments were presented, making forty-one in all. There were two presentments, one against the Pennsylvania Railroad for the killing of Mrs. Eliza Davis at Rahway on Wednesday, January 17, and the other against the Public Service Corporation for the killing of Raymond Devine.

LOCAL FIRM TO HAVE ITS OWN ICE PLANT

SMALLEY BROTHERS PLAN TO EVADE PROSPECTIVE SHORTAGE.

Anticipating that there will be a great shortage in the ice crop this winter, Smalley Brothers, the North avenue butchers, have decided to install an ice-making machine of their own. The machine will be put in the cellar and operated by a gasolene engine. Pipes will be run to and within the large refrigerator for freezing purposes and in this way the firm expects to have all the ice that it will need during the summer.

There are other business houses in town also considering this idea and it is believed that if there should be a failure in the local ice crop there will be an unusual demand for machines. It is said that small machines can now be purchased with capacity from ten pounds a day to any number desired. Smalley Brothers have placed the order for an ice-making machine and it will be installed soon.

There is now no denying the gravity of the situation as regards the ice crop. The local dealers are planning to meet the condition and it is expected that the hygeia ice plant will be started just as soon as everything is put in readiness. It is also possible that the daily capacity will be increased from twenty tons to double or more than that number. Reports from Pennsylvania indicate that the crop there is light and in Maine it is said that very little ice has been harvested.

PICTURED BEAUTIES OF THE GRAND CANON.

The beauties of the Grand Canon and the Yosemite Valley were attractively pictured in Vincent chapel last night by Rev. A. C. McCrea, the pastor, who visited that country during 1904. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Brotherhood of the church. There was a large attendance of members and friends.

With the assistance of J. Hervey Doane, who operated the slides, a large number of views of the Grand Canon and Yosemite were shown and Mr. McCrea described them in an interesting way. In addition Mr. McCrea also displayed views taken in San Francisco.

During the evening a silver offering was received for the benefit of the Brotherhood's treasury.

NURSERY A SUCCESS.

King's Daughters' Enterprise Becoming Popular With Mothers.

The King's Daughters' Day Nursery is meeting with gratifying success. Scarcely a day has passed that there has not been from three to six or more children at the nursery and it is expected that there will be more within a short time. Mothers who have occasion to place their children there for the day are much taken with the well equipped quarters and especially the cleanliness of the place. Some of the children have expressed a desire to remain all night at the nursery in preference to going home when their mothers have called.

The wisdom of starting this nursery is now evident from the support and patronage given. The returns for keeping the children are nominal at present, but as the place becomes better known and the objects are understood better, a substantial sum will no doubt be realized in this way.

The McIntyre Concert.

Tomorrow evening's chamber concert at the Casino offers a programme of the greatest interest to real lovers of music. The great Dumky trio, by Dvorak, a Beethoven sonata for 'cello, and piano solos by Gwilym Miles and Van Damek, the violinist, should attract a big audience. The tickets are selling at Armstrong's.

C. E. Business and Social Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church held a business and social meeting at the home of the Misses Giles, of Fairview avenue, last night. Mr. and Mrs. Matthew S. Mawhinney were elected to membership.

Ten Days for Long.

Charles Long, who was arrested for drunkenness by the borough police, was fined $5 and given five days in jail by Mayor Smalley last night. He was unable to pay the five-spot and the days will be lengthened to ten.

GETS BLACK HAND NOTE

T. J. Winckler, Former North Plainfielder Receives Warning at Asbury Park.

DEATH IS THREATENED

Card from Portland, Oregon, Tells Him He Has But Four Days to Live—Police Investigating.

Asbury Park people are greatly wrought up over the sending of a "Black Hand" postal card to one of their most energetic councilmen, Thomas J. Winckler, a former resident of North Plainfield and son of the late Augustus J. Winckler. It came in his mail last Saturday, bearing the supposed insignia of the order, a black hand, and containing the warning that he had but four more days to live. The matter has caused much more than the usual amount of discussion from the fact that the card Mr. Winckler received is identically the same as one sent to Angelo Giuffra, of Millville, both bearing a Portland, Oregon, postmark.

Giuffra and Winckler are both confectioners and this fact is thought to be of some significance. Giuffra has become thoroughly frightened and has asked the Millville police for protection.

When Councilman Winckler was made acquainted with the strange coincidence he said he had never heard of Giuffra. He was at a loss to account for the threatening card but is inclined to take it as a practical joke despite the fears of his friends.

He regards it as remarkable that his name should have been correctly spelled with a "c," a feat, he says, that is never accomplished by strangers. This is one of the things that makes him look at the matter in the light of a "josh." He says he has never aroused, to his knowledge, antagonism among Italian people, has never refused them employment, never mixed in their feuds or been connected in any prosecution or controversy in which they are interested. The Asbury Park police offered to take the matter up and he has given them the card but declines the services of a body guard, such as was asked for by Giuffra.

FIRST M. E. BROTHERHOOD PLANS SOCIAL EVENTS.

Meetings at Home of Members for Informal Entertainments.

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church is planning a number of social affairs and entertainments to be held soon. Early in February the church choir will render Dudley Buck's "The Triumph of David" and Gounod's "Gallia" under the auspices of the Brotherhood.

It has also been arranged to have the society meet at the homes of various members for a social time. Last week the president, Nelson A. Miller, entertained, and Dr. F. W. French has invited the members to meet at his home in February. Rev. A. C. McCrea will also entertain the Brotherhood a little later.

Empire Dancing School.

John Vardon has sold a half interest in his dancing academy to James A. Gallagher, of New York, and the hall will be known hereafter as the Empire Dancing School. Two receptions will be held every week, Wednesday and Saturday nights, and the place will be conducted in a first-class manner. Invitations will be issued to every dance. The new management becomes effective February 10. It has also been arranged to give private dancing lessons at the school every Monday and Thursday nights and lessons will also be given at the house upon application. Bids are now being received for music.

May Give German Play.

The senior class of the Plainfield High School is considering among other plays to be given this year one taken from the German entitled "The Nephew as Uncle." A committee recently appointed to select a suitable play is expected to report within a short time when rehearsals will begin.

Don't Forget the Turkey Supper.

In arranging your dates do not forget to reserve either tomorrow or Friday night for the turkey supper at Trinity Reformed church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society. Music will be furnished each night. Supper will be served from 6 to 9 o'clock.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The publication of Rev. Frank Fletcher's denial of the yellow story about his alleged opposition to Robert Fitzsimmons' retreat, which appeared in a New York paper, was much discussed yesterday. No hint of objection to the pugilist's coming was given.

The date for the marriage of Miss Stelle Sofield and William Tabb, whose engagement was announced yesterday, has not been set. Miss Sofield is wearing a handsome diamond solitaire, the gift of her fiance.

W. E. Davis left for New York, today, to go into business in that place. He has placed accounts amounting to $200, remaining unpaid from his meat business, in the hands of Robert L. Pierce for collection.

The alteration of the small Siriski building on North avenue has been practically completed. It adds much to the effect of the business block.

Mrs. Edmund Teel is visiting in Easton. She will be in Dunellen again before returning to the West, if she decides to go back.

George Bunting and J. H. L. Peters, Sr., are attending a county meeting of the assessors at New Brunswick today.

William Farrier continues to improve from his long illness.

Earl Ising is studying at the Plainfield Business College.

Mrs. William Craig is very ill.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Practically the last month of winter begins tomorrow. The local ice users are beginning to worry over our next summer's supply of ice. The large ice house at the Back Pond has been ready for the harvest for the past month and if the weather will only change so that four or five inches thickness can be cut the work of filling the house will be started.

Mrs. J. H. Parks, who fractured her ankle by taking a misstep while coming down stairs at her home on Monday morning, is doing nicely, but it will be some time before she will be able to use the limb again, as the fracture is a bad one and will take some time for the bone to knit.

William D. Johnston has purchased the Bornmann cottage on Westfield avenue, which has been occupied the past year by John Kandelky and family.

William Trayno, who has conducted the borough blacksmith shop for several years past, has purchased the property of Mrs. Mary Shea.

The local bowling team is not putting up the brilliant game that was rolled when the season first opened in October.

The monthly communion will be held at the close of the sermon at the Baptist church Sunday morning.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

There is admitted to be a rattling lot of wholesome fun in "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," the uppertendom comedy by Augustus Thomas that Charles Frohman is to present at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday evening for an engagement of one night. Every moment in the play is pronounced bright and every situation highly amusing. The story sounds at least good and the characters rich in laugh-inviting traits. Added to this is the open fact that there never was a stronger cast in a New York comedy production nor a longer list of important players seen in a light work of its kind. There are accordingly reasons why the play should be a hit here and why metropolitan New York became so captivated by it.

The wholesome and beautiful air of the parsonage pervades the first act of "A Wife's Secret," the new emotional drama which will be seen for the first time in this city at the New Plainfield theatre Monday, February 5. It tells a beautiful story of devotion and fidelity of a woman, tempered with melodramatic realism, and spiced with rich humor and brilliant comedy. Its characters are said to be as real as if they had been taken from a drama of real life and placed upon the stage. "A Wife's Secret" won unstinted praise everywhere last season, and reports from other cities where it has appeared so far this season add to the general opinion that it is one of the strongest and most satisfactory of this style of attraction.

William Collier, with the plaudits of both London and New York still ringing in his ears, will add to the local joy and laughter by appearing in the successful Augustus Thomas Comedy, "On the Quiet," at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday night, February 10. Mr. Collier is the same breezy and delightful American comedian that he has always been, only perhaps a little more so, since his late double triumph in London, where he captivated and upset the staid gravity of the British theatregoers, according to all reports, by his uproarous performances of "The Dictator" and "On the Quiet." It is said the triumph has not turned his head in the least nor has it affected his comic powers, unless it has been to extend and add to their laugh-making qualities.

The costumes seen in Richard Carle's production of "The Mayor of Tokio," are acknowledged as being one of the most beautiful and costly wardrobes seen on the American stage today. Spangles of every known color of the rainbow bedeck each gown to an exceptional degree. Over three million spangles are used in the entire production and Miss Mazurette's gown worn in the first act alone carries over thirteen thousand of these varied-color spangles that weigh seventeen pounds and seven ounces.

PROPOSES A COMMISSION ON THE DEATH PENALTY.

Hutchinson's Resolution, if Adopted, Will Postpone Suggested Abolition of Hanging at Least a Year.

Trenton, Jan. 31.—Samuel Hutchinson, of Mercer, has introduced a joint resolution, which, if adopted, will settle the question of any change in the present method of capital punishment for another year at least. In substance it provides:

"That a joint committee of the Legislature, composed of three members of the Senate and five members of the House of Assembly, with power to sit during and after this session of the Legislature, to send for persons and papers and to administer oaths and affirmations, be appointed to inquire into and report to the Legislature at its next session as follows:

"What the sentence of the law now is in the several States of the Union and the leading nations of Europe for crimes, particularly those involving the taking of human life.

"Whether the sentences, as originally pronounced, are usually carried into effect with strictness or are mitigated by a pardoning power.

"What the statutes of such States and nations show as to the increase or diminution of crimes, particularly those involving the taking of human life, with special reference to the increase or diminution after the changes in, or the mitigation of, the penalty for such crimes.

"What changes (if any) in the statutes of this State relating to crimes and criminal procedure are demanded or suggested by an enlightened public opinion and by the data gathered in the inquiry.

"The necessary expenses of the committee, when approved by the Governor, shall be paid by the treasurer of this State, out of the treasury of the State, on the warrant of the comptroller."

Bishop's Long Service.

Bishop John Scarborough, of the Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, Sunday night preached in St. Paul's church, Camden, to one of the largest congregations St. Paul's church has ever witnessed. In the course of his remarks he referred to the fact that it was the last Sunday in his thirty-first year as bishop of the diocese. He was ordained February 2, 1875, at St. Mary's church, Burlington. From a few scattering missions he has seen the district develop until at present there are many fine church organizations.

No real concern in New Jersey has ever transacted a business nearly approaching in volume that done by this great State Store. It has been a year so filled with gains, with new high records, that comparison with past years simply serves to show that the house some people thought so many years in advance of Newark has come into its own, that trade has wholly justified our enterprise, and that it is only a question of a little time when we will be pressed for space in which to properly transact our business.

We look forward full of hope, courage and confidence.

THE PLAIN TRUTH.

What More Can Plainfield People Ask?

When well-known residents and highly-respected people of Plainfield make such statements as the following, it must carry conviction to every shadow:

Mrs. Martha Snedeker, of 244 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Some six weeks ago I began using Doan's Kidney Pills for an attack of kidney trouble that had been annoying me for a long time, procuring the remedy at Randolph's drug store. My main symptoms were severe backaches and pains in the top and back of my head, a stiffness in the limbs—especially my arms, and a sediment in the urine that looked like brick-dust. I had a languid feeling of weakness and depression and physicians did not help me. Doan's Kidney Pills did seem to reach the cause of my troubles, however, and that very quickly and now all those aches and pains I have described have disappeared and the kidney secretions are perfectly normal, all of which is due to the healing virtues of Doan's Kidney Pills and their direct action on the kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

The Constant Wearing of a Hat Propogates Dandruff Germs.

There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair; yet if the scalps of these same men once became infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. Baldness would ensue as the final result. Newbro's Herpicide kills these germs and stimulates unhealthy hair to abundant growth. Herpicide is a pleasant hair dressing as well as a dandruff cure and contains not an atom of injurious substance. Sold by leading druggists. PLAINFIELD WOMAN'S INTEREST IN INSURANCE

WANTS LAWS TO LIMIT COMPANY DOING FOREIGN BUSINESS.

New York, Jan. 31.—A letter written by Susan Corey, of Plainfield, N. J., to Representative Landis, of Indiana, relative to insurance matters, was made public here yesterday. The writer includes in the letter a communication which she sent to Senator Armstrong, chairman of the New York State investigating committee. She believes that the foreign business done by the big insurance companies is a great source of evil. She declares that the Mutual Life trustees reported in 1883 that foreign expansion was wrong in principle, and opposed in every way to the interests of American policyholders. The Plainfield writer accuses the Mutual trustees of not having lived up to their original report, although the reasons why they should are, she declares, just as strong now as they were in 1883.

The Plainfield policyholder says that the foreign business of the American companies is more or less of a sham; that there is juggling of the books and accounts; that the companies have been obliged to account for their actions many times in foreign courts of justice; that the procureur general of the Paris court accused the Mutual Life of publishing "false allegations, falsifying figures, making whimsical calculations, and playing with the facts shown by the balance sheets."

She wants laws passed to limit or prevent foreign business.

CASE QUIETLY SETTLED.

Kiszonack Fined $200 by Somerset County Judge.

Somerville, Jan. 31.—The second trial of Charles Kiszonack, the wealthy saloonkeeper, of Raritan, for shooting former Policeman John Stevenson, at one time a resident of Plainfield, was set for yesterday in the Somerset County Court here. When a crowd of residents of this place and Raritan gathered at the court house this morning it was made known that the case had been quietly disposed of in court on Friday afternoon of last week. Only the prisoner, his counsel and Prosecutor Reger, Judge Schenck and the court officers were present at the time. Kiszonack was called to the bar and retracted his former plea of guilty and pleaded non vult.

Prosecutor Reger informed the court that he would accept this plea on behalf of the State. Alvah A. Clark and A. M. Beekman, counsel for Kiszonack, made an extended plea for mercy in his behalf, in which he reiterated his former defense that he had shot Stevenson by mistake for a burglar at night as Stevenson was in the act of breaking in the rear door of his saloon. The lawyers also stated that Kiszonack had already paid Stevenson's mother $400 for doctor's bills and other expenses contracted by the wounded man. Judge Schenck imposed a fine of $200 on the prisoner. Kiszonack paid the fine and was released.

JERSEY AFTER OIL TRUST.

Resolution Introduced Calling for Forfeiture of Its Charter.

Trenton, Jan. 31.—In the Senate yesterday Mr. Minturn introduced the following resolution:

"Whereas, It appears from testimony of witnesses produced in New York City in the case of the State of Missouri against the Standard Oil Company that the iniquities and evils incident to this greatest of all trusts are due to the laxity of the corporation laws of this State, under the provisions of which the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey was organized, and that the laws of the different States and the United States are habitually violated by its agents and subsidiary corporations, to the subversion of popular rights and the lasting disgrace of our State; therefore,

"Resolved, That the attorney general be and he is hereby directed to institute legal proceedings in the name of the State against the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and its subsidiary corporations in the State for the purpose of annulling and forfeiting the charter of such company upon the ground of the violation of the common law relating to monopolies and of the Elkins law and laws relative to interstate commerce."

THE DIVINE BERNHARDT CRIED FOR HER DOG.

Portland, Me., Jan. 31.—Sarah Bernhardt was seen in a role of real life here by 100 spectators, when she wept like a child over the body of her favorite collie dog Spot, who was instantly killed by a trolley car. With a shriek Mme. Bernhardt ran to the scene of the accident and leaned over her dead pet.

The dog had been released from her private car, which stood on a siding, and when a rat ran across the street Spot chased it. Just then the car came around the corner and the front trucks passed over the animal.

Flowers for Classmate.

Plainfield, N. J., January 31, 1906.

Let's see, wasn't there a municipal ownership election sometime ago?

The Metropolitan space writers should chip in and buy her a wedding present.

If you want to realize "what fools we mortals be" just read a few extracts of the proceedings of the Legislature.

Now that "Pompadeur Jim" has made his bow before a Daly audience, it would not be too much to expect to hear Francis Wilson at the Metropolitan.

One of the strongest reasons against any investigation of the insurance companies is that the public has grown accustomed to disagreeable surprises.

If the evidence warrants it, Judge Runyon should make an example of the Westfield autoist who is alleged to have smashed into a carriage yesterday. Leniency is a good quality in its way but it is high time that drivers of automobiles be taught that others have some rights on a public thoroughfare.

That all charges and expenses incurred in any general, special or primary election be paid by the respective municipalities, towns, boroughs and townships is the gist of a bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Miller. Such expense is now borne by the county and it will take a pretty strong argument to convince the people that a change is either necessary or desirable.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley has the right idea when he declares that wider road beds will solve the automobile trouble. Like most people he finds no difficulty in picking out flaws in Joseph Frelinghuysen's auto bill. He contends that the speed limit question is made of too much importance, for he argues that if the machine is going to hit you the sooner the thing is over the better. The chances of it hitting you, he says, decrease in proportion to the width of the road. Therefore he favors a broad road. And we say again, he has the right idea.

MISSION SERVICES.

Rehearsal for Anniversary Celebration of Grove Street Mission.

There will be a special service for singing at the Grove Street Mission tonight beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Special songs will be rehearsed for the first anniversary services to be held on Sunday. There will be prominent speakers from Newark, Elizabeth, New Market and Bound Brook. Mr. Tullar, of New York, will probably conduct the singing at all of the Sunday services, which will be held at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and at 7:30 o'clock at night. The pastor, Rev. Phil. A. Parson, will have charge of the anniversary services.

A Defenseless Law.

The Hillery tax law should be repleaed. It is a defenseless enactment, put through by the railroads a year ago, by the help of the Morris county Senator, whose name was attached to it and who has since spent most of his time trying to explain his equivocal position. With equal taxation, with uniform values, with the revenues passing through the local governments, and without the present inconsistent system, a uniform rate might be a good thing, or even a necessary thing; under present conditions its only effect would be to increase the burden on private property and lessen that on corporation property. We are aware the present Legislature has a majority of corporation members, but it is not credible that it would venture to sanction this scheme of discrimination. The act should be eliminated forthwith.—Newark Call.

ACCOMPLISHED MUSICIAN LOCATES IN PLAINFIELD.

G. C. M. Smith Returns from a Long Study in Germany.

George C. M. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, of Craig place, who recently returned from Europe, where, since August, 1901, he has been perfecting his musical education, has a very promising career before him in the musical world. During his absence he has attained great mastery of the violin, piano and other instruments, while as a director he is considered a peer.

Mr. Smith was born in Plainfield November 27, 1883, and at the age of nine years began taking lessons. His first public appearance was a year later. He was graduated from the North Plainfield High School in the Class of '01, and before going abroad in August, 1901, he took part in many local concerts.

While abroad he studied at the Royal Conservatory of Weimar, Germany, the seat of the Grand Duchy Saxon-Weimar-Eisenmach. Besides the violin and piano, Mr. Smith took up the bassoon, theory (harmony), sight-singing, musical dictation, history, conducting, etc., under the following masters: Violin, Concert Master Rosel, Kammervirtuos, Kotcher and Uhlig; piano, Kammermusiker Saal; bassoon, Kammermusiker Sode and Reik; theory and history, Music Director Rorich and Prof. Degner; sight-singing and conducting, Dr. Mullerhartung and Prof. E. W. Degner.

Mr. Smith played in the court orchestra after the second year at the conservatory under the royal conductors Krzyzanowski and Richard.

At the beginning of 1905 Mr. Smith was admitted to the Philharmonic Orchestra at Leipsic, after passing a most difficult examination. He was offered this position for the following season, but preferred to return to his home. After leaving the Philharmonic Orchestra he made an extended trip through Germany, Bohemia, France, Switzerland and Italy, at the same time making a special study of the music of the different countries.

Mr. Smith will now remain in Plainfield if sufficient interest is shown in the course of studies to be taught. He intends to teach violin, piano and bassoon, as well as in theory (harmony), sight-singing, musical dictation and history.

Ensign Magee Transferred.

Ensign and Mrs. Magee, of the local corps of the Salvation Army, have received their commissions as the officers in command of the army corps at Albany, N. Y. They will conduct their farewell meeting on Sunday night at 8 o'clock. Adjutant Hopkins and Captain McDonald, women officers, of North Carolina, will succeed Ensign and Mrs. Magee in charge of the work here and will conduct their first meeting in the new hall on Wednesday night, February 7, at 8 o'clock.

Clinton Ave. B. B. Club Organized.

The Clinton Avenue Baseball Club has organized for the coming season by electing these officers: President, John A. Kriney; vice-president, N. Barnes; secretary, A. Scott; treasurer, E. Dorfflinger; manager-captain, John Martin. The club has purchased new uniforms and a strong team will represent it on the diamond this season.

In Insurance Co.'s Fight.

Charles A. Reed, of the firm of Reed & Coddington, has been engaged as one of the counsel by the insurance companies of this State to oppose the passige of the proposed measure which calls for the investigation of these companies. Other counsel includes R. A. Lindabury and John L. Griggs.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Miss Nannette Comstock, who was seen in this city as the Red Cross nurse with Raymond Hitchcock and "The Galloper," has left the cast since the New York engagement of the play began.

"Wedded and Parted," which was at the New Plainfield yesterday afternoon and night, was booked by Manager Counihan for the coming Saturday. It is a strong melodrama and has recently been playing all the large cities in Pennsylvania.

After reflection, Thomas W. Ross, who reached fame in "Checkers," has broken his contract with Frank Howe, whereby he was to create the principal role in "Blue Grass," a play of racing life that is soon to be produced in Philadelphia. Mr. Ross refused the part of a negro.

"Mrs. Leffingham's Boots," concededly one of the greatest comedy hits of New York's last season, is admitted to be the biggest comedy success its author, Augustus Thomas, and its manager, Charles Frohman, have yet had. It is at least reported to make everybody happy that sees it and is even called a greater triumph than "The Earl of Pawtucket" or "The Other Girl," which were written by the same author.

The first part of the Elks' big minstrel jubilee will be a revelation to Plainfielders. It will have a chorus of fifty voices and a professional orchestra of twelve pieces. The scenery and electrical effects have been especially engaged for the occasion and the costumes will be supplied by the New York house that formerly designed the gowns for Weber & Fields' burlesque. City Judge William N. Runyon will be in the center and Charles J. Ward, John Nicol, John H. Cose, W. J. Counihan, Thomas M. Muir and William J. O'Keefe are to be on the ends.

New Dental Parlors.

The New York Dental Parlors will be opened at 131 East Front street tomorrow, when an exceptional opportunity will be offered to secure first class dental work at reasonable prices. All kinds of work, including gold fillings, gold crowns, bridge work, cement fillings, as well as full sets of teeth, will be made a specialty. Teeth extracted without pain in the most approved manner. The office will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning till 8 o'clock in the evening, and on Sundays from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Read the firm's advertisement in today's Daily Press.

Warning to Borough Delinquents.

Borough Collector Brown has announced that the names of all tax delinquents will be sent to Somerville tomorrow where the usual procedure will be instituted in order to secure payment.

TAKE ALL THREE GAMES IN CENTRAL LEAGUE SERIES.

The Park Club bowling team rolled the Newark Bay five on the local alleys, last night, winning all three games in the Central Journal Bowling League tournament. The first game was taken by the score of 863 to 795, the second by a score of 852 to 751 and the third by a score of 904 to 855. The Parks rolled a strong game throughout, especially the third one, when every member of the team put up a good score. Long was high man with a score of 200, and in the first game he and F. O. Ball each put up a score of 191.

Morse was high man for the visitors, rolling 184 in the first game. The other scores were generally fair, but not high enough to overcome the good work of the locals. The scores:

Increase Amount of Paper Money.

Representative Fowler, chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, introduced a bill in Congress yesterday empowering the Secretary of the Treasury to accept deposits of gold coin in sums not less than $20 and to issue gold certificates in denominations of not less than $5. This bill is designed to increase the amount of paper money of the smaller denominations. The smallest gold certificate now is $20.

Whist Club Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, of Richmond street, entertained a whist club at their home, last night. There were four tables and the playing was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Gilbert Fletcher received the prize for the women and Councilman Herbert Buxton the one for the men. After the play refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Fred VanEmburgh will entertain the club in two weeks.

Mrs. Sipler's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. George Sipler, of Reaville, who was taken ill while visiting local relatives and died from pneumonia at Muhlenberg Hospital, was held yesterday afternoon from the home of her cousin on Pearl street. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, officiated, and interment was made in Hillside cemetery. Four cousins acted as pallbearers.

Injured by Bicycle.

Charles Wilson, an employe of the Pond Tool Works, was knocked down by a boy on a bicycle at Plainfield avenue and Fifth street yesterday afternoon, and painfully injured. His head was cut and his wrist sprained. The boy rode on at scorch speed, and concealed his identity. Wilson's hurts were attended to at Mallinson's drug store, Liberty street.

Realty Transfers.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges has purchased the property on Watchung avenue, now occupied by Dr. J. H. Carman, and expects to take possession in the near future. Dr. Carman has purchased the Dumont property on the opposite corner and as soon as extensive repairs are completed will move there.

SENATOR MINTURN HAS A NEW FRANCHISE BILL.

Joint Committee Gives Hearing on Martin Resolution to Probe Insurance Companies.

Trenton, Jan. 31.—In the Senate yesterday Mr. Minturn, of Hudson, introduced a bill providing that street railway franchises shall not be granted for a longer period than five years, renewable at the option of the governing body. For a longer concession a vote of the people must be taken.

In the House H. D. Thompson introduced a joint resolution for the appointment of a committee to ask Congress to allow New Jersey to improve the shellfish industry.

Both branches adjourned until next Monday night.

The Senate and House Committees on Banking and Insurance gave a joint hearing yesterday on Assemblyman Martin's resolution for the investigation of insurance companies, trust companies and State banks. Mr. Martin made an address in which he said that such an investigation was necessary in order to bring out the real facts, but he made no allegations.

Former Attorney General John W. Griggs, representing the New Jersey Bankers' Association, entered a protest against the investigation of trust companies and State banks. He said they were as completely examined by the State Department of Banking and Insurance as national banks are examined. Mr. Martin consented to change the resolution by confining it to the investigation of insurance companies.

Richard V. Lindabury, general counsel for the Prudential Insurance Company, made an address against the investigation of insurance companies. He said these companies were properly examined by the State Department of Insurance, that the investments of the Prudential Company were fully disclosed in the company's reports and are gilt-edged.

Will Not Row This Year.

Princeton, Jan. 31.—Statements in various quarters have had it that Princeton University will put a crew on the water the coming season, but it is announced on good authority that Carnegie Lake will not be finished in time next spring for any rowing and that the development of a crew this year will not be possible. There is a strong sentiment among the students, however, to start rowing, and there is every likelihood that training will be begun early next fall for crews next year.

Mulcts Railroad $7,500.

Morristown, Jan. 31.—The jury in the case of Meyers vs. the Central Railroad Company yesterday brought in a verdict of $7,000 damages for Mrs. Meyers and $500 for her husband. Mrs. Meyers was on a canal boat going through a lock when a car from the track above fell over upon it, injuring Mrs. Meyers so badly that she has since been an invalid.

HILLERY TAX LAW MADE FOR RAILROADS?

ONLY REASON FOR PUBLIC SUPPORT IS CRY OF MUNICIPAL EXTRAVAGANCE.

A warm tilt between Corporation Counsel George L. Record, representing Jersey City, and Senator Thomas J. Hillery, of Morris county, featured the continuation Monday in the assembly chamber at Trenton of the hearing by the judiciary committee on the Martin repealer for the Hillery maximum tax rate law.

J. Harry Bachellor, former Senator from Essex, appeared for Newark. He said that Newark in the past had favored a maximum tax rate law, but representing that city he thought the Hillery law was unconstitutional because of the referendum clause allowing different municipalities to vote a higher tax rate. This, he said, would result in unequal taxation. He contended that large cities would be obliged to raise their ratables very high; in fact, higher than the actual value of properties in order to get enough money to pay the sinking fund charges which were fixed by past municipal bond issues. This would result in large cities paying an unfair proportion of county taxes. Municipalities having a lower property valuation would be the ones to gain by larger cities' increased ratables, and unfairly, too. He further said that there had been no attempt to decrease municipal expenditures. Because of this the result on economic lines claimed for the law had radically failed.

In answer to a question from Chairman Perkins as to what he considered a fair maximum tax rate, former Senator Bachellor said that, without speaking for Newark, he believed 2 per cent. of its ratables.

Counselor Demorest, representing Bayonne, said that his municipality, to meet its past debts from coming taxation must have a much higher tax rate than is allowed by the Hillery law or must issue bonds to pay interest on those securities. He did not believe that with a tax rate now of $2.70 the people would vote aye on a proposition to increase it.

Mr. Demorest said that a tax rate of 2 per cent. would not be sufficient for Bayonne unless property was assessed way beyond its true value.

Malcolm McLear, for Newark, said that his city had been robbed for years because the assessors in the other Essex municipalities were vastly under-estimating property.

Mr. Record was the next speaker. He said that he looked upon the Hillery law as the most unjustifiable piece of legislation enacted in the past ten years. "So far as I understand, this act was introduced at the instigation of the railroads. I believe that Senator Hillery introduced it honestly and in good faith and is in good faith defending it. This law," Mr. Record continued, "was drawn to suit the railroads, and was passed to counteract the effect of the Duffield act of last year increasing the tax on railroad second-class property."

Mr. Record attacked the motives of the Republican party in passing the bill in the closing hours of the last Legislature, and said it was put through by cracking of the party whip.

SAENGERBUND FESTIVAL ARRANGEMENTS IN NEWARK.

Torchlight Parade, Competition for the Kaiser's Trophy and Other Things Planned.

SEEK TO REFORM THE LIQUOR LAW.

Conference of Clergy and Others Appoints Committee to Draft a New Law.

Trenton, Jan. 31.—A conference of clergymen and others was held here Monday and a committee was appointed to draft a new liquor bill and report on February 14.

The conference is the outcome of the movement started by Bishops John J. O'Connor and James A. McFaul, of the Catholic church, to reform the Excise law. The committee which will draft the new bill consists of former Justice Gilbert Collins, of Jersey City; Bishop McFaul, of the Roman Catholic church; Bishop Scarborough, of the Episcopal church; the Revs. H. C. Minton and George B. Wight, Peter Backes, of this city, and Father C. J. Kelly, of Hoboken.

Bishop O'Connor, of Newark, in speaking of the movement for a reform in the liquor laws in the State, today said:

"The legislation which is advocated is not intended to abolish the decent saloon, but all right-minded citizens will, I believe, assist us in our endeavors to close those dens of vice which are ruining the health and the morals of those who frequent them.

"The clergy, as a class, do not advocate prohibition. There may be individuals among them who are convinced that the evils of the liquor traffic can be eliminated only by prohibition, but we believe that a reformation is possible, with the co-operation of all law-abiding citizens, and we are confident that the saloonkeepers who conduct their places with decency will themselves thank us if this reformation be established.

"The purpose of the conference in Trenton is to agree upon some line of action that will be practicable, and that will commend itself to the good sense of the citizens of New Jersey who have the interests of the State at heart."

Somerville, Jan. 31.—The three-year-old daughter of Mrs. William E. Vossler, of Bound Brook, nearly lost her life Sunday by having her breath taken away by a cat, which attacked her as she lay in a baby carriage on the front portico of the Vossler home.

Sunday Mrs. Vossler placed her baby in a carriage on the portico, and entered the house. A man in an automobile who passed the house saw a cat crouched on the baby's breast in the carriage, and tooted his horn to give an alarm.

Mrs. Vossler heard the noise and hastened to the door. She found her baby in an almost lifeless condition, with the cat still on its breast. The animal had its nose pressed against the child's mouth, and it refused to relax its hold until it was removed by force.

Two physicians were summoned, and they worked over the child for nearly an hour before there were signs of returning life.

CARPENTERS THROWN 40 FEET.

Four Hurt by Falling Scaffold—Condition of One Serious.

East Orange, Jan. 31.—By the collapse of a scaffold forty feet from the ground four carpenters who were nailing sheathing on a new building at 103 North Fifteenth street, East Orange, for Harry Kolodin, of Newark, were thrown to the ground and narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday.

Two of the men wer eable to catch ropes and slid to the ground in safety, but C. H. Riddle, of 278 South Ninth street, Newark, and Munson Condit, of 60 Hedden place, East Orange, who were in the middle of the scaffold, had no chance to save themselves, and fell to the ground with the wreckage. Condit was taken to his home and Riddle was removed to the Orange Memorial Hospital unconscious. It was at first thought the latter was fatally injured, but later he seemed to be out of danger. The rest of the men on the job were so scared by the accident that they all quit work for the rest of the day.

The Mariechen cleared frfom Seattle, for Vladivostok, January 19, with a cargo of general merchandise valued at $250,000. This is a total loss, but the ship may be saved. No lives were lost.

"No, I am at the Waldorf."

"Eh? I have heard all about you millionaires."

"Oh, we are not all of us millionaires who stop there," laughed Warburton. "There are some of us who try to make others believe that we are." Then, dropping into passable French, he added: "I came here tonight with the purpose of dining. Will you do me the honor of sharing my table?"

"You speak French?"—delighted. "It is wonderful. This English has so many words that mean so many things, that of all languages I speak it with the least fluency. But it is my deep regret, Monsieur, to refuse your kind invitation. I am dining with friends."

"Well, then, breakfast to-morrow at 11," Warburton urged, for he had taken a fancy to this affable Russian.

"Alas! See how I am placed. I am forced to leave for Washington early in the morning. We poor diplomats, we earn our honors. But my business is purely personal in this case, neither political nor diplomatic." The count drew his gloves thoughtfully through his fingers. "I shall of course pay my respects to my ambassador. Do I recollect your saying that you belonged to the United States army?"

"I recently resigned. My post was in a wild country, with little or nothing to do: monotony and routine."

"You limp slightly?"

"A trifling mishap,"—modestly.

"Eh, you do wrong. You may soon be at war with England, and having resigned your commission, you would lose all you had waited these years for."

Warburton smiled. "We shall not go to war with England."

"This army of yours is small."

"Well, yes; but made of pretty good material—fighting machines with brains."

"Ha!" The count laughed softly. "Bah! how I detest all these cars and ships! Will you believe me, I had rather my little chateau, my vineyard, and my wheat fields, than all the orders. . . . Eh, well, my country: there must be some magic in that phrase. Of all loves, that of country is the most lasting. Is that Balzac? I do not recall. Only once in a century do we find a man who is willing to betray his country, and even then he may have for his purpose neither hate, revenge, nor love of power." A peculiar gravity sat on his mobile face, caused perhaps, by some disagreeable inward thought.

"How long shall you be in Washington?" asked Warburton.

The count shrugged. "Who can say?"

"I go to Washington myself within a few days."

"Till we meet again, then, Monsieur."

The count lifted his hat, a courtesy which was gracefully acknowledged by the American; while the clerks at the desk eyed with tolerant amusement these polite but rather unfamiliar ceremonies of departure. These foreigners were odd duffers.

"A very decent chap," mused Warburton, "and a mighty shrewd hand at poker—for a foreigner. He is going to Washington: we shall meet again, I wonder if she's in the restaurant now."

Mr. Robert's appetite, for a healthy young man, was strangely incurious. He searched the menu from top to bottom, and then from bottom to top; nothing excited his palate. Whenever persons entered, he would glance up eagerly, only to feel his heart sink lower and lower. I don't know how many times he was disappointed. The waiter ahemmed politely. Warburton, in order to have an excuse to remain, at length hit upon a partridge and a pint of Chablis.

Nine o'clock. Was it possible that the colonel and his daughter were dining in their rooms? Perish the possibility! And he looked in vain for the count. A quarter-past nine. Mr. Robert's anxiety was becoming almost unendurable. Nine-thirty. He was about to surrender in despair. His partridge lay smoking on his plate, and he was on the point of demolishing it, when, behold! they came. The colonel entered first, then his daughter, her hand—on—the—arm—of—the—count! Warburton never fully described to me his feelings at that moment, but, knowing him as I do, I can put together a very respectable picture of the chagrin and consternation that sat on his countenance.

"To think of being nearly six days aboard," Mr. Robert once bawled at me, wrathfully, "and not to know that that Russian chap knew her!" It was almost incredible that such a thing should happen.

The three sat down at a table seven times removed from Warburton's. He could see only an adorable profile and the colonel's handsome but care-worn face. The count sat with his back turned. In that black evening gown she was simply beyond the power of adjectives. What shoulders, what an incomparable throat! Mr. Robert's bird grew cold; the bouquet from his glass fainted and died away. How her face lighted when she laughed, and [illegible] curve ran from her lips to her young bosom! But never once did she look in his direction.

At ten o'clock Miss Annesley rose, and the count escorted her to the elevator, returning almost immediately. He and the colonel drew their heads together. From time to time the count shrugged, or the colonel shook his head. Again and again the Russian dipped the end of his cigar into his coffee-cup, which he frequently replenished.

But for Mr. Robert the gold had turned to gilt, the gorgeous to the gaudy. She was gone. The imagination moves as swiftly as light, leaping from one castle in air to another, and still another. Mr. Robert was the architect of some fine ones, I may safely assure you. And he didn't mind in the least that they tumbled down as rapidly as they builded: only, the incentive was gone. What the colonel had to say to the count, or the count to the colonel, was of no interest to him; so he made an orderly retreat.

I am not so old as not to appreciate his sleeplessness that night. Some beds are hard, even when made of the softest down.

In the morning he telephoned to the Holland House. The Annesleys, he was informed, had departed for parts unknown. The count had left directions to forward any possible mail to the Russian Embassy, Washington. Sighs in the doloroso; the morning papers and numerous cigars; a whisky and soda; a game of indifferent billiards with an affable stranger; another whisky and soda; and a gradual reclamation of Mr. Robert's interest in worldly affairs.

She was gone.

CHAPTER IV.

A FAMILY REUNION.

Warburton had not been in the city of Washington within 12 years. In the past his furloughs had been spent at his brother's country home in Larchmount, out of New York City. Thus when he left the train at the Baltimore and Potomac station he hadn't the slightest idea where Scott Circle was. He looked around in vain for the smart cab of the northern metropolis. All he saw was a line of omnibuses and a few ramshackle vehicles that 20 years back might very well have passed for victorias. A grizzled old negro, in command of one of these sea-going conveyances, caught Warburton's eye and hailed jovially. Our hero (as the good novelist of the past generation would say, taking their readers into their innermost confidences) handed him his traveling case and stepped in.

"Whar to, suh?" asked the commodore.

"Scott Circle, and don't pommel that old nag's bones in trying to get there. I've plenty of time."

"I reckon I won't pommel him, suh. Skt! skt!" and the vehicle rattled out into broad Pennsylvania Avenue, but for the confusion and absurdity of its architectural structures, the handsomest thoroughfare in America.

Warburton leaned back luxuriously against the faded horse-hair cushion and lighted a cigar, which he smoked with relish, having had a hearty breakfast on the train. It was not quite nine o'clock and a warm October haze lay on the peaceful city. Here were people who did not rush madly about in the pursuit of riches. Rather they proceeded more soberly, even leisurely, as if they knew what the day's work was and the rewards attendant, and were content. Trucks, those formidable engines of commerce, neither rumbled nor thundered along the pavements, nor congested the thoroughfares. Nobody hurried into the shops, nobody hurried out. There were no scampering, yelling newsboys. Instead, along the curbs of the market sat barelegged negro boys, some of them selling papers to those who wanted them and some sandwiched in between baskets of popcorn and peanuts. There was a marked scarcity of the progressive, intrusive white boy. Old negro mammies passed to and fro with the day's provisions.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

That Hap Ward will have an offering containing many goods things in his new vehicle, "The Grafter," goes without saying. This attraction is to be seen at the Grand this week. Mr. Ward has ever been abundantly resourceful in the musical comedy line and the many entertaining productions made by Ward & Vokes, the result of his handiwork. In "The Grafter" it is promised that Ward and his company of fifty people have a work decidedly more ligitimate than anything we have let seen this unctuous comedian in. Of course it has plenty of music and specialty features, but these are simply to maintain an atmosphere and have nothing to do with the complications of the farce. Hap Ward will be seen as "Bill Grafter," "a fellow who could use five" at all times and his method of ingratiating himself in to the good offices of wealthy folks is said to be highly amusing. In the company surrounding Mr. Ward will be found such able players as Lucy Daly, William Friend, William Maxwell, Charles Bates, Donald, Harold, Tony Williams, Richard Barry, Miss Winifred Spaulding, Miss May Thompson, Miss Daisy Dudley and a chorus of forty.

New York is enjoying the privilege of appreciating the merits of "The Galloper." Henry W. Savage, its producer, has it at the Garden theatre with Raymond Hitchcock, surrounded by a numerous company, including Nannette Comstock, Edgar Davenport, May Buckley, T. Daniel Frawley, Helen Lackaye, Scott Cooper, Herbert Corthell and others. The scenes of "The Galloper" are laid in and about Athens during the Graeco-Turkish war, during which conflict Mr. Davis himself was himself a "Galloper," representing the New York Herald and London Times. "The Galloper" is set forth in three scenes. The action is said to abound in amusing situations, which are described as screamingly funny. "The Galloper" will probably be rendered into book form by the author. Mr. Davis is a prolific writer as a war correspondent, novelist and dramatist. Several of his works have been dramatized, but this will be the first instance of any of his stage works being "novelized." The idea of rendering a play into "story" form is not a new one; several authors have hitherto tried it with more or less success. The most notable instance perhaps being the late Wilson Barrett, who "novelized" "The Sign of the Cross," after the play had been successfully produced on the stage.

BARN FIRE DESTROYS "AUTOS."

Engine Horse Has a Stroke on Way to Blaze—Ex-Alderman Hurt.

Orange, Jan. 31.—Two automobiles, a carriage, a quantity of household furniture, carpets, crockery and silver, the property of George W. Ryan, were burned early yesterday in a fire which destroyed a large stable on the place of Dr. E. G. West, 45 Cleveland street, Orange, which is temporarily occupied by Mr. Ryan and his family.

On the way to the fire one of the horses of Engine No. 2 had a stroke of apoplexy and fell in its tracks. Ex-Alderman Daniel J. Moloney was one of those who assisted the driver in straightening out the tangle. He got his hands and arms mashed in the pole chains and had to be taken to the Orange Memorial Hospital. The building was completely gutted. The damage is estimated at $12,500, partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue, his been visiting her cousin at Somerville.

Harry Taylor, of Somerset street, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital, was not so well yesterday. He has been suffering from hiccoughs and other troubles.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

BOWLING.

In the Central Journal Bowling League Tournament, the Park Club, of the borough, is showing up unusually well. In the team standing it is third, with Elizabeth and Westfield tie for first place. Judging from the game being put up lately it will not be long before this aggregation will have a better position. The individual averages show that the Parks are not going to be lost in the shuffle. F. O. Ball is third with an average of 175.11, having played in twenty-one games Barlow is fourth with an average of 175.05, having played in twenty-one games.

The others members of the Park Club team hold good averages and are sure to improve before the season ends on February 13. As yet Key's high score of 254 has not been touched although several big scores have been rolled by the Parks and others in the league. Westfield held the lead so long that some of the bowlers began to think that the finish would find them there. By strenuous effort Elizabeth succeeded in wresting the place from Westfield and are fighting hard to hold its position.

The prizes of the league are the Journal trophy, which must be won three times, and also first team prize—valued at $20, and second team prize—valued at $10.

The Westfield Club team has made the highest score—950—and Keys, of the Elizabeth Club, has rolled the highest individual score—254. The averages of the players over 160 follow:

DIAMOND DUST.

"Gus" Soffell, who will be remembered by the local fans, will go south with the Philadelphia Athletics on this spring training trip.

Ernest Linderman, who pitched for Summit last season, has failed to sign with any team as yet, although his services are being sought after by several managers.

"Hub" Smithson, who was a favorite on the Westfield team, will play again with the Fargo team, of the Northwest League. Before going west he will play with local teams.

"Pete" Lamar has not yet decided whether to return to Dover this season or not. The Morris county fans are anxious to have him on their team if he will accept their offer.

The northwestern part of the State will be overrun with baseball leagues this season, as a Morris county organization is likely. The circuit, it is stated, will include the Pastimes, of Morristown, the Florham A. C., the Chatham F. C. and possibly a Dover or Wharton organization. The Somerset County Baseball League is now under process of formation and the Sussex County League is an assured thing. The success that attended the two Newark amateur baseball leagues is said to have been a potent reason in starting the new organizations.

"Red" Waller has been keeping in form this winter by playing handball in Jersey City courts. This is the first season the auburn-haired twirler made a try at the sport and he has developed into a fast player. Waller has made no arrangements to pitch so far this season, but will probably be seen on one of the strong semi-professional teams. Manager O'Rourke, of the Bridgeport, Connecticut State League, has a hold on this player, but Waller says he will not play in Connecticut under any circumstances. "No more pie crust leagues for me," says Waller. There is some talk that the former Westfielder may wear a Plainfield uniform this season, if plans are formed to bring Manager Daab here.

According to A. P. Konkle, secretary of the Lackawanna Baseball League, the circuit this season is likely to be composed of four clubs—Dover, Chatham, Summit and Orange. The failure of Morristown and Madison to send representatives to recent meetings of the league has brought about a determination to wait no longer for those clubs, but to begin work on the basis of a four-team circuit which has worked very successfully in other parts of the country. Saturday games alone will be played and each of the towns will be represented by strong clubs. Mr. Konkle is the authority for the statement that Chatham will go it alone this season, so the league will lack the hyphenated club, Morristown-Chatham. At a meeting to be held soon the final make-up of the organization will be decided upon.

GOLF.

Among the representative of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association who attended the annual meeting on Monday at the residence of Mrs. C. H. P. Tiffany, New York, were Mrs. N. P. Rogers, represting Baltusrol, and Misses Von Boskerck and Goddard, representing Hillside. The championship is to be played with eight to qualify on the Englewood course, the date to be decided later.

Booraem for Strong's Place.

Trenton, Jan. 31.—That the next law judge of Middlesex county will sign his name "Theodore B. Booraem," was practically settled last evening, and indeed, it would not be surprising if Governor Stokes did not forward Mr. Booraem's name to the Senate for confirmation before the day is over.

—Neuman Brothers have an assortment of fresh vegetables that is larger than any in town. Better see it and make selections.

Scarlet Fever Closes Schools.

Trenton, Jan. 31.—The State Normal and Model Schools, in this city, with the boarding halls of the institutions, have been closed by the principal, Dr. James M. Green, because of the development of two cases of scarlet fever in one of the dormitories. The patients, with one suspect, have been quarantined, and all the other pupils have been sent home.

The regular business meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in the rooms on Madison avenue tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

FIGHT FOR HOME RULE ON THE LIQUOR QUESTION.

Hearing on Temperance Measure Brings Favorable Comment.

Trenton, Jan. 31.—Miller's Local Option bill had a dry hearing in the Assembly Chamber yesterday afternoon. Mr. Miller explained the measure briefly and then Secretary Nash, of the State Local Option League, said New Jersey was one of four States where home rule did not prevail on the temperance question. The Rev. Dr. L. I. Scott, moderator of the Presbyterv, introduced the Rev. Dr. Rogan, of Flemington, who said he favored it because it was a common sense bill. The Rev. J. Ward Gamble, of Trenton, representing the Methodist Conference, said party politics should be kept out of this fight. He asserted that the Democrats were out of power because they coquetted with the liquor and racetrack elements. The Pepublican party would bave to help the temperance people now, he said, or be turned down.

G. Moses, of Newark, counsel for the society, argued that the bill was drawn as liberally as possible, under the circumstances. He said the saloon should be an economic and moral question, and not political. He thought the bill was fair, and there was no attempt to prevent a man treating his friends in his home. There was no attempt at sumptuary laws.

LEGISLATURE TAKES VACATION.

In Session a Night and Half a Day, Then Adjourns.

Trenton, Jan. 31.—The Legislature adjourned for the week yesterday. The House quit work at noon yesterday and the Senate got through late yesterday afternoon. The House indulged in second and third readings and there were a few minor bills introduced.

In executive session the following nominations were received from the Governor and referred: Edward S. Atwater, judge of the District Court of Elizabeth; Benjamin F. Jones, judge of the District Court of Orange; David E. Titsworth, member-at-large of the Board of Geological Survey; J. Howard Willier, member of the board of the Home for Soldiers and Sailors.

The following bill was introduced in the Senate:

Providing that street railway franchises in cities shall not be granted for a longer period than five years, renewable at the option of the governing body. For a longer concession, a vote of the people must be taken at the next regular election.

SPONSOR FOR NEW AUTO BILL.

Proposes to Limit Speed in City Streets to Six Miles An Hour.

Trenton, Jan. 31.—Senator Jackson is sponsor for a new automobile bill which limits the speed on city streets to six miles an hour and prohibits the use of any motor vehicle equipped to maintain a speed of more than twenty miles an hour.

The license fee is fixed at $1, to be used for enforcing the provisions of the act, and provision is made for the assessment of the machine at its full value by the assessor of the locality where the machine is owned. The bill was prepared by Spencer Weart and has the indorsement of the State Agricultural and Highways Associations.

William J. Kelley, of Oak Tree, will leave tomorrow for Crescent City, Florida, where he will visit his son-in-low and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell, who have been there for some time.
